For about 70 years the Jews had no temple. The first local synagogues probably developed during this time, as gathering places where Jews could hear readings from the Old Testament and pray. The last few verses of Chronicles hint that a more hopeful time is coming when the temple will be rebuilt. These verses are repeated at the beginning of Ezra. Most scholars believe Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah were originally connected in one book.

INTRODUCTION

Beginning Again

For the exiles from Babylon, news almost too good to be true

Many of the older priests and Levites and family heads, who had seen the former temple, wept aloud . . . while many others shouted for joy. 3:12

Ezra begins with exiles returning to a ruined city—a brush-covered ghost town burned and pillaged nearly 50 years before by an overpowering Babylonian army. Would Jerusalem now have a new beginning?

Psalm 126 captures the returning exiles' feelings: "We were like men who dreamed. Our mouths were filled with laughter, our tongues with songs of joy." The Persian Empire had conquered mighty Babylon and, under the emperor Cyrus, offered all Jews a chance to return to their land. It was too good to believe.

A New Start with God

One poet in exile had written, "If I forget you, O Jerusalem, may my right hand forget its skill" (Psalm 137:5). These returned exiles were the minority who, decades afterwards, had not forgotten. They treasured their spiritual heritage more than the houses and businesses they had built in Babylon. They wanted to live and worship in the place God had given his people. Any sacrifice was worth this opportunity. Their first impulse when they arrived was to rebuild the temple, God's home.

The tolerant Persians (whose official policy was to encourage the local religion in every area they governed) had even brought out the silver and gold temple articles, carefully preserved in a Babylonian temple as though waiting on God's timing. When the returned exiles laid the foundation to the new temple, the sound of their shouting (and noisy weeping) could be heard from far away (3:13). The temple, after all, was the place where they would meet God. It symbolized a new start with him.

The Problems of Beginning Again

God had opened the way, but the exiles needed determination to follow it. The book of Ezra divides into three parts, each one dealing with an obstacle that arose. The first part tells how, immediately after the return of the exiles, their neighbors in the surrounding countryside became hostile. After their bogus offer of "help" was turned down, these neighbors began a campaign of opposition. They managed to stop further progress on the temple.

It lay in ruins for nearly 20 more years, until the prophets Haggai and Zechariah (whose messages are recorded in the books named after them) again stirred up interest in building. This "second push" is described in chapters 5 and 6. When opposition arose this time, the Israelites managed to push through—again with the assistance of a Persian king.

Another problem preoccupies the final four chapters. Ezra, the man after whom this book is named, actually arrived in Jerusalem during this period, 80 years after the first party. The temple had by then been up for half a century. But the "new beginning" stood in severe jeopardy again. The Israelites had begun to mingle (and compromise their faith) with the hostile people around them. Ezra's leadership, which came from deep biblical faith and genuine sorrow over sin, forced a radical, painful solution.

Ezra Leads Up to Jesus

The book of Ezra introduces an entirely new period in Israel's history—a period in which they became more like a church than a nation. Israelites before the exile had given much of their energy to fighting enemy armies. Now they focused on fighting sin and spiritual compromise.

The minority who returned could build a temple only with the permission of a foreign government in Persia. They had lost political independence, yet they clung to their religion, especially to the Old Testament Scriptures and temple worship. They feared repeating the mistakes that had sent them into exile. True, they did flirt with spiritual compromise. Yet when God's prophets spoke, people responded.

As those who had chosen a ruined Jerusalem over a prosperous Babylon, the returned Jews looked to God instead of to government for help. Still they dreamed, more than ever, of the powerful Messiah the prophets promised. This dream, and their strong determination to obey the law of God, continued right up until the time of Jesus, about 450 years after Ezra's last words.

How to Read Ezra

The book of Ezra describes several highly emotional events. Yet it reads like a historical report, citing official documents, letters, and lists written over an 80-year span. You are often left to imagine for yourself the feelings of the returning exiles. The book can, therefore, seem confusing and dry unless you take time to imagine how the scenes must have looked and to reflect on how people must have felt.

The three distinct periods Ezra deals with all have the same theme: a new beginning for God's people. In each situation God gave opportunity and the outside world threatened it. God's people drifted back and forth in their response. Carefully take note of the 'messages' from both God and the world, and how the Israelites responded. Examine Ezra's model, as an unwavering man of the law as well as of deep personal faith.

To understand how Ezra fits into Israel's long-term pattern of response to God and the world, read some historical background. Articles on "Ezra," "Haggai" or "Israel: History or" in a Bible dictionary may offer the best summary. The short book of Haggai zeroes in on the crucial months described in Ezra 5:1-2 and makes a valuable companion to any study of Ezra.

Cyrus Helps the Exiles to Return

1 In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD moved the heart of Cyrus king of Persia to make a proclamation throughout his realm and to put it in writing:

2 "This is what Cyrus king of Persia says:

"The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and he has appointed me to build a temple for him at Jerusalem in Judah. 3 Anyone of his people among you—may his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem in Judah and build the temple of the LORD, the God of Israel, the God who is in Jerusalem. 4 And the people of any place where survivors may now be living are to provide him with silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with freewill offerings for the temple of God in Jerusalem."

5 Then the family heads of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and Levites—everyone whose heart God had moved—prepared to go up and build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem. 6 All their neighbors assisted them with articles of silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with valuable gifts, in addition to all the freewill offerings. 7 Moreover, King Cyrus brought out the articles belonging to the temple of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and had placed in the temple of his god. 8 Cyrus king of Persia had them brought by Mithredath the treasurer, who counted them out to Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah.

1:1 Prediction Fulfilled

The fulfilled prophecy was probably Jeremiah 29:10, God's promise to bring Israel back to Jerusalem after 70 years. Additionally, Isaiah 44:28 and 45:1,13 had named Cyrus of Persia as God's agent to see Jerusalem and the temple rebuilt. This is not evidence that Cyrus worshiped Israel's God. He had a policy of religious toleration and contributed to the rebuilding of several nations' temples.

2:1 A People Preserved

Lists of names, whether in the Bible or the telephone book, make dull reading. But the way these names are grouped reveals God's care for the people of Israel. They had not lost track of their Israelite identity during two generations in Babylon. They knew their family record, and they could place themselves according to Israelite families, Israelite towns, and Israelite religious duties in the temple. Like the temple articles, carefully stored in readiness (1:7), these were a people preserved to serve God again.

Rebuilding the Altar

When the seventh month came and the Israelites had worked in their houses, the people assembled as one man in Jerusalem. Then Jeshua son of Jozababed and his fellow priests and Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and his associates began to build the altar of the Lord of Israel to sacrifice burnt offerings in accordance with what is written in the Law of the Lord. Despite their opposition, the people around them, they built the altar on its foundation and sacrificed burnt offerings on it to the Lord, both the morning and evening sacrifices. Then in accordance with what is written, they celebrated the Feast of Tabernacles with the required number of burnt offerings prescribed for each day. After that, they presented the regular burnt offerings, the New Moon sacrifices and the sacrifices for all the appointed sacred seasons to the Lord, as well as those brought as offerings to the Lord. In the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the Lord, though the foundation of the temple had not yet been laid.

Rebuilding the Temple

Then they gave money to the masons and carpenters and gave food and drink and oil to the priests of Judah and Levi, so that they would bring sacrifices by the hand of the priests to the Lord, as ordered by the king of Persia.

At the second month of the second year after they arrived at the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, Jeshua son of Jozababed and the rest of their brethren (the priests and the Levites) and all who had returned from the captivity to Jerusalem began the work, appointing 100 men, seventy each of age and older to supervise the building of the house of the Lord. Jeshua and his sons and brothers and Kadmiel and his sons (the sons of Jedaias) and the sons of Henadab and their sons and brothers—all Levites—joined together in supervising those working on the house of the Lord.

When the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the Lord, the priests in their vestments and with trumpets, and the Levites (the sons of Asaph) with cymbals took their places to praise the Lord, as prescribed by David king of Israel. With praise and thanksgiving they sang to the Lord.

He is good,
his love to Israel endures forever."

And all the people gave a great shout of praise to the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid. But many of the older priests and Levites and family heads, who had seen the former temple, wept aloud when they saw the foundation of this temple being laid, while many others shouted for joy. No one could distinguish the sound of the shouts of joy from the sound of weeping, because the people made so much noise. And the sound was heard far away.

Opposition to the Rebuilding

When the enemies of Judah and Benjamin heard that the exiles were building a temple for the Lord, the God of Israel, they came to Zerubbabel and to the heads of the families and said, "Let us help you build because, like you, we seek your God and have been sacrificing to him since the time of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here."

But Zerubbabel, Jeshua and the rest of the heads of the families of Israel answered, "You have no part with us in building a temple to our God. We alone will build it for the Lord, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus, the king of Persia, commanded us."

Then the peoples around them set out to discourage the people of Judah and make them afraid to go on building. They hired counselors to work against them and frustrate their plans during the entire reign of Cyrus king of Persia and down to the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Later Opposition Under Xerxes and Artaxerxes

At the beginning of the reign of Xerxes, they subjected an accusation against the people of Judah and Jerusalem.

And in the days of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Rehum, Mithredath, Tabeel and the rest of his associates wrote a letter to Artaxerxes. The letter was written in Aramaic script and in the Aramaic language.

Rehum the commanding officer and Shimshai the secretary wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king as follows:

"Rehum the commanding officer and Shimshai the secretary, together with the rest of their associates—the judges and officials over the men from Tripolis, Persia,⁸ Ebrech and Sibbi and the Elamites of Susa,¹⁰ and the other associates whom the great and honorable Ashurbanipal⁹ deported and settled in the city of Samaria and elsewhere in Trans-Euphrates.

To King Artaxerxes

From your servants, the men of Trans-Euphrates:

"The king should know that the Jews who came up to us from you have gone to Jerusalem and are rebuilding that rebellious and wicked city. They are restoring the walls and repairing the foundations.

Furthermore, the king should know that if this city is built and its walls are restored, no more taxes, tribute or duty will be paid, and the royal revenues will suffer. ¹⁴Now since we are under obligation to the palace and it is not proper for us to see the king dishonored, we are sending this message to inform the king, so that a search may be made in the archives of your predecessors. In these records you will find that this city is a rebellious city, troublesome to kings and provinces, a place of rebellion from ancient times. That is why this city was destroyed. ¹⁶We inform the king that if this city is built and its walls are restored, you will be left with nothing in Trans-Euphrates.

¹⁷The king sent this reply:

To Rehum the commanding officer, Shimshai the secretary and the rest of their associates living in Samaria and elsewhere in Trans-Euphrates

Cordial greetings

¹⁸The letter you sent us has been read and translated in my presence. ¹⁹I issued an order and a search was made, and it was found that this city has a long history of revolt against kings and has been a place of rebellion and sedition. ²⁰Jerusalem has had powerful kings ruling over the whole of Trans-Euphrates, and taxes, tribute and duty were paid to them. ²¹Now issue an order to these men to stop work, so that this city will not be rebuilt until I so order. ²²Be careful not to neglect this matter. Why let this threat grow, to the detriment of the royal interests?

²³As soon as the copy of the letter of King Artaxerxes was read to Rehum and Shimshai the secretary and their associates, they went immediately to the Jews in Jerusalem and compelled them by force to stop.

²⁴Thus the work on the house of God in Jerusalem came to a standstill until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Tattenai's Letter to Darius

5 Now Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the prophet, a descendant of Iddo, prophesied to the Jews in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them. ²Then Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua son of Jozadak set to work to rebuild the house of God in Jerusalem. And the prophets of God were with them, helping them.

³At that time Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates went to them and asked, "Who authorized you to rebuild this temple and restore this structure?"

⁴They also asked, "What are the names of the men constructing this building?" ⁵But the eye of their God was watching over the elders of the Jews, and they were not stopped until a report could go to Darius and his written reply be received.

⁶This is a copy of the letter that Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates, the officials of Trans-Euphrates, sent to King Darius. ⁷The report they sent him read as follows:

To King Darius:

Cordial greetings.

⁸The king should know that we went to the district of Judah, to the temple of the great God. The people are building it with large stones and placing the timbers in the walls. The work is being carried on with diligence and is making rapid progress under their direction.

⁹We questioned the elders and asked them, "Who authorized you to rebuild this temple

4:6 A Flash Forward

The section from 4:6 to 4:23 is a glance forward in history. The Israelites would continue to feel opposition from their neighbors even long after the temple was successfully completed. The quarrel described here, during Xerxes' and Artaxerxes' reigns, was not over the temple but the defensive wall to be built around Jerusalem—a wall Nehemiah, with Ezra's help, completed years later.

and that of this story, too. We also asked them their names, so that we could write down the names of our readers for your information.

11 This is the answer they gave us:

12 "When the servants of the God of heaven and earth were rebuilding the temple that was built many years ago, and that a great king had built and founded. But because the king had angered the God of heaven, he handed them over to Nebuchadnezzar the Chaldean, king of Babylon, who destroyed this temple and deported the people to Babylon.

13 "However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree to rebuild this house of God. 14 He even removed from the temple of Babylon the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to the temple in Babylon.

Then King Cyrus gave them to a man named Sheshbazzar, whom he had appointed governor, and he told him, 'Take these articles and go and deposit them in the temple in Jerusalem. And rebuild the house of God on its site.' 15 So this Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundations of the house of God in Jerusalem. From that day to the present it has been under construction but is not yet finished.

Now, if it pleases the king, let a search be made in the royal archives in Babylon to see if King Cyrus did in fact issue a decree to rebuild this house of God in Jerusalem. Then let the king send us his decision in this matter.

The Decree of Darius

6 King Darius then issued an order, and they searched in the archives stored in the treasury at Babylon. 2 A scroll was found in the citadel of Ecbatana in the province of Media, and this was written on it:

Memorandum

3 In the first year of King Cyrus, the king issued a decree concerning the temple of God in Jerusalem.

Let the temple be rebuilt as a place to present sacrifices, and let its foundations be laid. It is to be ninety feet^a high and ninety feet wide. Build three courses of large stones and one of piers. The costs are to be paid for the royal treasury. Also, the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, are to be returned to their places in the temple in Jerusalem. They are to be deposited in the house of God.

4 Now then, Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Buzena, and you, their associates, when at that province, start away from there. Do not interfere with the work on this temple of God. Let the governor of the Jews and the Jewish elders rebuild this house of God on its site.

5 Moreover, I hereby decree what you are to do for these elders of the Jews in the construction of this house of God.

The expenses of these men are to be fully paid out of the royal treasury, such as the revenues of Trans-Euphrates, so that the work will not stop. 6 Whatever is needed—young bulls, rams, male lambs for burnt offerings to the God of heaven, and wheat, salt, wine and oil, as requested by the priests in Jerusalem—must be given them daily without fail. Also, that they may offer sacrifices pleasing to the God of heaven and pray for the well-being of the king and his sons.

7 Furthermore, I decree that if anyone changes this edict, a beam is to be pulled from his house and he is to be lifted up and impaled on it. And for this crime his house is to be made a pile of rubble. 8 May God, who has caused his Name to dwell there, overthrow any king or people who acts a hand to change this decree or to destroy this temple in Jerusalem.

9 I, Darius, have decreed it. Let it be carried out with diligence.

Completion and Dedication of the Temple

10 Then, because of the decree King Darius had sent, Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Buzena, and their associates carried it out with diligence. 11 So the elders of the Jews continued to build and prosper under the preaching of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah, a descendant of Iddo. They finished rebuilding the temple according to the command of the God of Israel and the decrees of Cyrus, Darius and Artaxerxes, kings of Persia. 12 The temple was completed on the third day of the month Adar in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.

13 Then the people of Israel—the priests, the Levites and the rest of the elders—celebrated the dedication of the house of God with joy. 14 For the dedication of this house of God they offered a hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred male lambs and, as a sin offering for all Israel, twelve male goats, one for each of the tribes of Israel. 15 And they presented the priests in their divisions and the Levites in their groups for the service

6:2 The Ring of Truth

In a made-up legend, there is no need to add insignificant, divergent details. All the loose ends tie up neatly. Real life is messier. Here is a typical case: a document was searched for in Babylon, but it unexpectedly turned up in remote Ecbatana, where (history says) Cyrus spent the summer of his first year as king. Such details suggest that Ezra is based on accurate and detailed historical sources.

of God at Jerusalem, according to what is written in the Book of Moses.

The Passover

On the fourteenth day of the first month, the exiles celebrated the Passover. The priests and Levites had purified themselves and were all ceremonially clean. The Levites slaughtered the Passover lamb for their brothers, the priests, and for themselves. So the Israelites who had returned from the exile ate it together with all who had separated themselves from the unclean practices of their Gentile neighbors in order to seek the Lord, the God of Israel. For seven days they celebrated with the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

because the Lord had filled them with joy by changing the attitude of the king of Assyria, so that he assisted them in the work on the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra Comes to Jerusalem

After these things, during the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Shaium, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, the son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukkai, the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest—this Ezra came up from Babylon. He

INSIGHT

Ezra, a Man of the Heart

He applied God's word to himself before preaching it to others

While Ezra was praying and confessing, weeping and throwing himself down before the house of God, a large crowd of Israelites—men, women and children—gathered around him. 10:1

Ezra knew how to get things done. He had the political knowledge to win a Persian king's support for the trip back to Jerusalem, the salesmanship to convince Jewish family leaders to go along, and the organizational know-how to mount the long, complicated, and dangerous expedition.

At the same time, Ezra was a priest who depended on God. He set aside days for fasting and prayer, he knew and lived by the Old Testament law, but used it as a path to a profound relationship with God. When he studied scripture, he applied it to himself before applying it to others.

A Strong Negative Reaction

Ezra's party got to Jerusalem 80 years after the first exiles had returned. Yet within four months the Jewish leaders were asking this latecomer for advice on the most sensitive matters.

They told Ezra that Israelites were marrying their idolatrous neighbors. At the news, Ezra completely lost his composure, tore his clothes, and sat down stunned (9:3). His grief-tilted prayer of repentance inspired a large crowd to join him in bitter weeping. Then and there they resolved to break up the marriages. The women and children were to be sent away. Ezra, a practical man even in his emotional condition, put the machinery into operation and saw it done.

Why did Ezra react so negatively to these marriages? How could he allow children to be sent away from their fathers, families split? Some people see proof that he was racially oriented, bound to exclude non-Jews from Israel.

But race purity was not Ezra's worry. Non-Jews like Rahab and Ruth, who converted to Judaism, had long been accepted into Israel. Ezra 6:21 suggests that outsiders who sought the Lord were still welcomed. Ezra's concern was that intermarriage represented a compromised faith that threatened the future existence of Israel.

Tossing Away One Last Chance

Marriage in those days was more than a personal matter. It created a political and religious alliance between two families. These mixed marriages were tying Israelites to other faiths—for Israel's neighbors worshiped idols, an act God hated. Ezra knew that his God must hold the only place in his people's hearts. They must be a special people with a sense of their unique destiny. The law told them not to intermarry (Exodus 34:15-16, Deuteronomy 7:3-6). (In a related situation Paul instructed Christians not to be "yoked to unbelievers" [2 Corinthians 6:14], though he told Christians already married to non-Christians not to divorce [1 Corinthians 7:12-16].)

Ezra's prayer shows that petty technicalities of the law were far from his mind. His concerns involved the heart. He saw his people falling into the same pattern of compromise that had led God to give them up to the Babylonians years before. Had they learned nothing from their long exile? They were tossing away one last, remarkable chance to start over.

Life Questions Ezra saw intermarriage as a compromise in people's faith. Do people today make other compromises that have the same impact on their faith?

To Ezra the priest, a teacher of the Law of the God of heaven

Greetings

¹³Now I decree that any of the Israelites in my kingdom, including priests and Levites, who wish to go to Jerusalem with you, may go. ¹⁴You are sent by the king and his seven advisers to inquire about Judah and Jerusalem with regard to the Law of your God, which is in your hand. ¹⁵Moreover, you are to take with you the silver and gold that the king and his advisers have freely given to the God of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem, ¹⁶together with all the silver and gold you may obtain from the province of Babylon, as well as the freewill offerings of the people and priests for the temple of their God in Jerusalem. ¹⁷With this money be sure to buy bulls, rams and male lambs, together with their grain offerings and drink offerings, and sacrifice them on the altar of the temple of your God in Jerusalem.

¹⁸You and your brother Jews may then do whatever seems best with the rest of the silver and gold, in accordance with the will of your God. ¹⁹Deliver to the God of Jerusalem all the articles entrusted to you for worship in the temple of your God. ²⁰And anything else needed for the temple of your God that you may have occasion to supply, you may provide from the royal treasury.

without limit. ²³Whatever the God of heaven has prescribed, let it be done with diligence for the temple of the God of heaven. Why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and of his sons? ²⁴You are also to know that you have no authority to impose taxes, tribute or duty on any of the priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, temple servants or other workers at this house of God.

²⁵And you, Ezra, in accordance with the wisdom of your God, which you possess, appoint magistrates and judges to administer justice to all the people of Trans-Euphrates—all who know the laws of your God. And you are to teach any who do not know them. ²⁶Whoever does not obey the law of your God and the law of the king must surely be punished by death, banishment, confiscation of property, or imprisonment.

²⁷Praise be to the LORD, the God of our fathers, who has put it into the king's heart to bring honor to the house of the LORD in Jerusalem in this way. ²⁸And who has extended his good favor to me before the king and his advisers and all the king's powerful officials. Because the hand of the LORD my God was on me, I took courage and gathered leading men from Israel to go up with me.

The Return to Jerusalem

15I assembled them at the canal that flows toward Ahava, and we camped there three days. When I checked among the people and the priests, I found no Levites there. 16So I summoned Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah and Meshullam, who were leaders, and Jorai and Elnathan, who were men of learning. 17and I sent them to Iddo, the leader in Casiphia. I told them what to say to Iddo and his kinsmen, the temple servants in Casiphia, so that they might bring attendants to us for the house of our God. 18Because the gracious hand of our God was on us, they brought us Sherebiah, a capable man, from the descendants of Mahli son of Levi, the son of Israel, and Sherebiah's sons and brothers, 18 men, 19and Hashabiah, together with Jeshuaah from the descendants of Merari, and his brothers and nephews, 20 men. 20They also brought 220 of the temple servants—a body that David and the officials had established to assist the Levites. All were registered by name

21There, by the Ahava Canal, I proclaimed a fast, so that we might humble ourselves before our God and ask him for a safe journey for us and our children, with all our possessions. 22I was ashamed to ask the king for soldiers and horsemen to protect us from enemies on the road, because we had told the king, "The gracious hand of our God is on everyone who looks to him, but his great anger is against all who forsake him." 23So we fasted and petitioned our God about this, and he answered our prayer

24Then I set apart twelve of the leading priests, together with Sherebiah, Hashabiah and ten of their brothers, 25and I weighed out to them the offering of silver and gold and the articles that the king, his advisers, his officials and all Israel present there had donated for the house of our God. 26I weighed out to them 650 talents^a of silver, silver articles weighing 100 talents,^b 100 talents^c of gold, 2720 bowls of gold valued at 1,000 darics,^c and two fine articles of polished bronze, as precious as gold

28I said to them, "You as well as these articles are consecrated to the LORD. The silver and gold are a freewill offering to the LORD, the God of your fathers. 29Guard them carefully until you weigh them out in the chambers of the house of the LORD in Jerusalem before the leading priests and the Levites and the family heads of Israel." 30Then the priests and Levites received the silver and gold and sacred articles that had been weighed out to be taken to the house of our God in Jerusalem.

31On the twelfth day of the first month we set out from the Ahava Canal to go to Jerusalem. The hand of our God was on us, and he protected us from enemies and bandits along the way. 32So we arrived in Jerusalem, where we rested three days.

33On the fourth day, in the house of our God, we weighed out the silver and gold and the sacred articles into the hands of Meremoth son of Uriah, the priest. Eleazar son of Phinehas was with him, and so were the Levites Jozabab son of Joshua and Noadiah son of Binnui. 34Everything was accounted for by number and weight, and the entire weight was recorded at that time

35Then the exiles, who had returned from captivity, sacrificed burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven male lambs and—as a sin offering, twelve male goats. All this was a burnt offering to the LORD. 36They also delivered the king's orders to the royal satraps and to the governors of Trans-Euphrates, who then gave assistance to the people and to the house of God

Ezra's Prayer About Inter-marriage

9 After these things had been done, the leaders came to me and said: "The people of Israel, including the priests and the Levites, have not kept themselves separate from the neighboring peoples with their detestable practices, like those of the Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egyptians and Amorites. 2They have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, and have mingled the holy race with the peoples around them. And the leaders and officials have led the way in this unfaithfulness."

3When I heard this, I tore my tunic and cloak, pulled hair from my head and beard and sat down appalled. 4Then everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel gathered around me because of this unfaithfulness of the exiles. And I sat there appalled until the evening sacrifice.

5Then, at the evening sacrifice, I rose from my self-abasement, with my tunic and cloak torn, and fell on my knees with my hands spread out to the LORD my God and prayed.

"O my God, I am too ashamed and disgraced to lift up my face to you, my God, because our sins are higher than our heads and our guilt has reached to the heavens. 7From the days of our forefathers until now, our guilt has been great. Because of our sins, we and our kings and our priests have been subjected to the sword and captivity, to pillage and humiliation at the hand of foreign kings, as it is today.

8"But now, for a brief moment, the LORD our God has been gracious in leaving us a remnant and giving us a firm place in his sanctuary, and so our God gives light to our eyes and a little relief in our bondage. 9Though we are slaves, our God has not deserted us in our bondage. He has shown us kindness in the sight of the kings of Persia: He has granted us new life to rebuild the house of our God and repair its ruins, and he has given us a wall of protection in Judah and Jerusalem.

10"But now, O our God, what can we say after this? For we have disregarded the commands 11you gave through your servants the

pounds (about 8.5 kilograms)

prophets when you said. The land you are entering to possess is a land polluted by the corruption of its peoples. By their detestable practices they have filled it with their impurity from one end to the other. ¹²Therefore, do not give your daughters in marriage to their sons or take their daughters for your sons. Do not seek a treaty of friendship with them at any time that you may be strong and eat the good things of the land and leave it to your children as an everlasting inheritance.'

What has happened to us is a result of our evil deeds and our great guilt, and yet, our God, you have punished us less than our sins have deserved and have given us a remnant like this. ¹⁴Shall we again break your commands and intermarry with the peoples who commit such detestable practices? Would you not be angry enough with us to destroy us, leaving us no remnant or survivor? ¹⁵O LORD, God of Israel, you are righteous! We are left this day as a remnant. Here we are before you in our guilt, though because of it not one of us can stand in your presence.'

The People's Confession of Sin

10 While Ezra was praying and confessing, weeping and throwing himself down before the house of God, a large crowd of Israelites—men, women and children—gathered around him. They too wept bitterly. ²Then Shecaniah son of Jehiel, one of the descendants of Elam, said to Ezra, 'We have been unfaithful to our God by marrying foreign women from the peoples around us. But in spite of this, there is still hope for Israel. ³Now let us make a covenant before our God to send away all these women and their children, in accordance with the counsel of my lord and of those who fear the commands of our God. Let it be done according to the Law. ⁴Rise up; this matter is in your hands. We will support you, so take courage and do it.'

⁵So Ezra rose up and put the leading priests and Levites and all Israel under oath to do what had been suggested. And they took the oath. ⁶Then Ezra withdrew from before the house of God and went to the room of Jehohanan son of Eliashib. While he was there, he ate no food and drank no water, because he continued to mourn over the unfaithfulness of the exiles.

A proclamation was then issued throughout Judah and Jerusalem for all the exiles to assemble in Jerusalem. ⁸Anyone who failed to appear within three days would forfeit all his property, in accordance with the decision of the officials and elders,

⁹Within the three days, all the men of Judah and Benjamin had gathered in Jerusalem. And on the twentieth day of the ninth month all the people were sitting in the square before the house of God, greatly distressed by the occasion and because of the rain. ¹⁰Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, 'You have been unfaithful; you have married foreign women, adding to Israel's guilt. ¹¹Now make confession to the LORD, the God of your fathers, and do his will. Separate yourselves from the peoples around you and from your foreign wives.'

¹²The whole assembly responded with a loud voice. 'You are right. We must do as you say. ¹³But there are many people here and it is the rainy season, so we cannot stand outside. Besides, this matter cannot be taken care of in a day or two, because we have sinned greatly in this thing. ¹⁴Let our officials act for the whole assembly. Then let everyone in our towns who has married a foreign woman come at a set time, along with the elders and judges of each town, until the fierce anger of our God in this matter is turned away from us.' ¹⁵Only Jonathan son of Asahel and Jahzeiah son of Tikvah, supported by Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite, opposed this.

¹⁶So the exiles did as was proposed. Ezra the priest selected men who were family heads, one from each family division, and all of them designated by name. On the first day of the tenth month they sat down to investigate the cases, ¹⁷and by the first day of the first month they finished dealing with all the men who had married foreign women.

Those Guilty of Intermarriage

¹⁸Among the descendants of the priests, the following had married foreign women: From the descendants of Jeshua son of Jozadak, and his brothers: Maaseiah, Ehezzer, Jarib and Gedaliah. ¹⁹(They all gave their hands in pledge to put away their wives, and for their guilt they each presented a ram from the flock as a guilt offering.)

²⁰From the descendants of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah.

²¹From the descendants of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel and Uzziab.

10:1 Unprecedented Response

Ezra's grief over Israel's spiritual compromise was similar to that of many prophets. But the people's response to Ezra was unprecedented. Pre-exile prophets like Amos or Jeremiah never saw such heartfelt repentance. Evidently the exile really had purified Israel.

10:17 Corrupted Religious Leaders

The problem Ezra had evidently expected to solve in a day (verse 13) took, in fact, two months to sort out. Intermarriage must have been more widespread than he realized. The list of those involved shows that the priests and Levites, who were the religious leaders, had a higher proportion of intermarriage than the rest of the people.

NEHEMIAH

INTRODUCTION

A Man of Action

He set out to build a wall, but left an enduring legacy of leadership

"Don't be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight." 4:14

In the book of Nehemiah we peek inside the personal memoirs of a great leader. You can't mistake his style. He was an organizer, a pragmatic leader. That, no doubt, is why he had made his way to a top position in the the Persian empire, one of the grandest in the history of the world.

Yet his heart was elsewhere—in Jerusalem, a small, troublesome place far from the center of power. When he heard of the difficulties his people were experiencing there, he took his career—and probably his life—in his hands and spoke to the king about it. Shortly thereafter he was touring, by night, the broken-down walls of a city he probably had never seen before.

Nearly 100 years had passed since his people had returned to Jerusalem from exile. Though the temple had been rebuilt, the city was barely occupied. More Jews lived in the outlying villages and towns than in the holy city. They mixed with all kinds of foreigners. They were in danger of losing their identity. Why? Partly because the city lacked a wall.

What's in a Wall?

For lack of a wall the Jews were facing assimilation into the culture of their neighbors. In those days a city without a wall was easy pickings for any robber band. Jews, concerned for security, had scattered among other nationalities in small villages outside Jerusalem. There they were intermarrying and gradually losing their own language, culture and—most important—their own religion. A wall would give them a chance to make Jerusalem a truly Jewish city, keeping it safe and controlling who came and went.

Waiting for a Leader

What had kept them from doing anything about the broken-down wall for nearly 100 years? One obstacle was local resistance—powerful politicians were determined to keep the Jews down. Perhaps another reason was the lack of a leader like Nehemiah. In his memoirs, which fill most of this book, he shows remarkable qualities of leadership: impassioned speech, prayer, organization, resolve, trust in God, quick and determined response to problems, unselfishness. Perhaps his years in the Persian court had been preparing him. Organizing a difficult building project and handling fierce opposition seemed to come easily to him.

Nehemiah was more than a good business manager. He was a man of God. He did not act without prayer, and he did not pray without acting. His prayers punctuate the book. He recognized God's role in all that happened and never forgot to give him credit. He was not looking for earthly status—if he had been, he never would have left Persia.

How to Read Nehemiah

Nehemiah's personality is the outstanding quality of the book that bears his name. No other biblical character gives such clear information about how he "practices the presence of God" while carrying a leadership role. As you read, take note of the qualities that made Nehemiah successful as a leader and man of God. You may also wish to contrast his leadership with Ezra's. They worked in tandem but had very different styles. Nehemiah was an activist, Ezra a student. Nehemiah was outspoken, Ezra more withdrawn. Yet both faced similar problems and had similar success—and the two worked smoothly together.

The books of Ezra and Nehemiah both tell how the disgraced and chastened Jews returned from exile to rebuild their country. As history, Nehemiah includes some long lists of different family groups, as well as a detailed description of who built which parts of the Jerusalem wall. Unless you are an advanced student, you should skim these lists mainly to get an idea of the content of what they were kept. Concentrate more on how the Israelites had been trained and prepared for exile, making them ready to meet new challenges when they returned home.

Nehemiah's Prayer

1 The words of Nehemiah son of Hacaliah:

In the month of Kislev in the twentieth year, while I was in the citadel of Susa, ²Hanani, one of my brothers, came from Judah with some other men, and I questioned them about the Jewish remnant that survived the exile, and also about Jerusalem.

³They said to me, "Those who survived the exile and are back in the province are in great trouble and disgrace. The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates have been burned with fire."

⁴When I heard these things, I sat down and wept. For some days I mourned and fasted and prayed before the God of heaven. ⁵Then I said:

"O LORD, God of heaven, the great and awesome God, who keeps his covenant of love with those who love him and obey his commands, ⁶let your ear be attentive and your eyes open to hear the prayer your servant is praying before you day and night for your servants, the people of Israel. I confess the sins we Israelites, including myself and my father's house, have committed against you. ⁷We have acted very wickedly toward you. We have not obeyed the commands, decrees and laws you gave your servant Moses.

⁸"Remember the instruction you gave your servant Moses, saying, 'If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the nations, ⁹but if you return to me and obey my commands, then even if your exiled people are at the farthest horizon, I will gather them from there and bring them to the place I have chosen as a dwelling for my Name.'

¹⁰"They are your servants and your people, whom you redeemed by your great strength and your mighty hand. ¹¹O Lord, let your ear be attentive to the prayer of this your servant and to the prayer of your servants who delight in revering your name. Give your servant success today by granting him favor in the presence of this man."

I was cupbearer to the king.

Artaxerxes Sends Nehemiah to Jerusalem

²In the month of Nisan in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when wine was brought for him, I took the wine and gave it to the king. I had not been sad in his presence before; ^{2a}so the king asked me, "Why does your face look so sad when you are not ill? This can be nothing but sadness of heart."

I was very much afraid, ³but I said to the king, "May the king live forever! Why should my face not look sad when the city where my fathers are buried lies in ruins, and its gates have been destroyed by fire?"

⁴The king said to me, "What is it you want?"

Then I prayed to the God of heaven, ⁵and I answered the king, "If it pleases the king and if your servant has found favor in his sight, let him send me to the city in Judah where my fathers are buried so that I can rebuild it."

⁶Then the king, with the queen sitting beside him, asked me, "How long will your journey take, and when will you get back?" It pleased the king to send me; so I set a time.

2:4 The "Arrow Prayer"

Nehemiah characteristically prayed to God while he went about his duties. He even "shot an arrow" to God, silently asking him for help in the middle of this crucial conversation with the king. He spontaneously inserted prayers as he wrote his memoirs. Some other examples: 1:5-11; 4:4-5; 5:19; 6:9,14; 13:14,22,31.

¶ also said to him, "If it pleases the king, may I have letters to the governors of Trans-Euphrates, so that they will provide me safe conduct until I arrive in Judah? Also may I have a letter to Asaph, keeper of the king's forest, so he will give me timber to make beams for the gates of the citadel by the temple and for the city wall and for the residence of the temple and for the city wall and for the residence of the temple?" And because the gracious hand of my God was upon me, the king granted my request.¹³ So I went to the governors of Trans-Euphrates and gave them the king's letters. The king had also sent army officers and cavalry with me.

¹⁴When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite official heard about this, they were very much disturbed that someone had come to promote the welfare of the Israelites.

Nehemiah Inspects Jerusalem's Walls

¹⁵I went to Jerusalem, and after staying there three days ¹⁶I set out during the night with a few men. I had not told anyone what my God had put in my heart to do for Jerusalem. There were no mounts with me except the one I was riding on.

¹⁷By night I went out through the Valley Gate toward the Jackal Well and the Dung Gate, examining the walls of Jerusalem, which had been broken down, and its gates, which had been destroyed by fire. ¹⁸Then I moved on toward the Fountain Gate and the King's Pool, but there was not enough room for my mount to get through; ¹⁹so I went up the valley by night, examining the wall. Finally, I turned back and reentered through the Valley Gate. ²⁰The officials did not know where I had gone or what I was doing, because as yet I had said nothing to the Jews or the priests or nobles or officials or any others who would be doing the work.

²¹Then I said to them, "You see the trouble we are in: Jerusalem lies in ruins, and its gates have been burned with fire. Come, let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem, and we will no longer be in disgrace." ²²I also told them about the gracious hand of my God upon me and what the king had said to me.

They replied, "Let us start rebuilding." So they began this good work.

²³But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite official and Geshem the Arab heard about it, they mocked and ridiculed us. "What is this you are doing?" they asked. "Are you rebelling against the king?"

²⁴I answered them by saying, "The God of heaven will give us success. We his servants will start rebuilding, but as for you, you have no share in Jerusalem or any claim or historic right to it."

Builders of the Wall

³Eliashib the high priest and his fellow priests went to work and rebuilt the Sheep Gate. They dedicated it and set its doors in place, building as far as the Tower of the Hundred, which they dedicated, and as far as the Tower of Hananel. ²The men of Jericho built the adjoining section, and Zaccur son of Imri built next to them.

³The Fish Gate was rebuilt by the sons of Has-senaah. They laid its beams and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. ⁴Meremoth son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired the next section. Next to him Meshullam son of Berekiah, the son of Mesh-ezabel, made repairs, and next to him Zadok son of Baana also made repairs. ⁵The next section was repaired by the men of Tekoa, but their nobles would not put their shoulders to the work under their supervisors.^b ⁶The Jeshanah Gate was repaired by Joiada son of Paseah and Meshullam son of Besodeiah. They laid its beams and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. ⁷Next to them, repairs were made by men from Gibeon and Mizpah—Melatah of Gibeon and Jadon of Meronoth—places under the authority of the governor of Trans-Euphrates. ⁸Uzziel son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths, repaired the next section; and Hananiah, one of the perfume-makers, made repairs next to that. They restored^d Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall. ⁹Rephaiah son of Hur, ruler of a half-district of Jerusalem, repaired the next section. ¹⁰Adjoining this, Jedaiah son of Harumaph made repairs opposite his house, and Hattush son of Hashabneiah made repairs next to him. ¹¹Malkijah son of Harim and Hasshub son of Pahath-Moab repaired another section and the Tower of the Ovens. ¹²Shallum son of Hallohesh, ruler of a half-district of Jerusalem, repaired the next section with the help of his daughters.

¹³The Valley Gate was repaired by Hanun and the residents of Zanoah. They rebuilt it and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. They also repaired five hundred yards^e of the wall as far as the Dung Gate.

¹⁴The Dung Gate was repaired by Malkijah son of Recab, ruler of the district of Beth Hakkerem. He rebuilt it and put its doors and bolts and bars in place.

¹⁵The Fountain Gate was repaired by Shallun son of Col-Hozeh, ruler of the district of Mizpah. He rebuilt it, roofing it over and putting its doors and bolts and bars in place. He also repaired the wall of the Pool of Siloam,^f by the King's Garden, as far as the steps going down from the City of

2:10 Powerful Opponents

Both Sanballat and Tobiah were influential local politicians. Sanballat's family governed Samaria and had managed to marry into the high priest's family (see 13:28). Tobiah, an official in Ammon (a small country east of Judah), had family ties and influence among the top Jewish families (see 6:17-19; 13:4,5). There is some evidence both men were from Jewish backgrounds, though they preferred the political status quo in which Jewish identity was diluted.

David. ¹⁶Beyond him, Nehemiah son of Azbuk, ruler of a half-district of Beth Zur, made repairs up to a point opposite the tomb^s of David, as far as the artificial pool and the House of the Heroes.

²²The repairs next to him were made by the priests from the surrounding region. ²³Beyond them, Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs in front of their house, and next to them, Azariah son of Maaseiah the son of Ananiah, made repairs beside his house. ²⁴Next to him, Binnui son of Henadad repaired another section, from Azariah's house to the angle and the corner. ²⁵And Palai son of Uzai worked opposite the angle and the tower projecting from the upper palace near the court of the guard. Next to him, Pedaiiah son of Parosh and the temple servants living on the hill of Ophel made repairs up to a point opposite the Water Gate toward the east and the projecting tower. ²⁷Next to them, the men of Tekoa repaired another section, from the great projecting tower to the wall of Ophel.

²⁸Above the Horse Gate, the priests made repairs, each in front of his own house. ²⁹Next to them, Zadok son of Immer made repairs opposite his house. Next to him, Shemaiah son of Shecaniah, the guard at the East Gate, made repairs. ³⁰Next to him, Hananiah son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. Next to them, Meshullam son of Berekiah made repairs opposite his living quarters. ³¹Next to him, Malkijah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs as far as the house of the temple servants and the merchants, opposite the Inspection Gate, and as far as the room above the corner; ³²and between the room above the corner and the Sheep Gate the goldsmiths and merchants made repairs.

4 When Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, he became angry and was greatly incensed. He ridiculed the Jews, and in the presence of his associates and the army of Samaria, he said, "What are those feeble Jews doing? Will they restore their wall? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they finish in a day? Can they bring the stones back to life from those heaps of rubble—burned as they are?"

³Tobiah the Ammonite, who was at his side, said, "What they are building—if even a fox climbed up on it, he would break down their wall of stones!"

⁴Hear us, O our God, for we are despised. Turn their insults back on their own heads. Give them over as plunder in a land of captivity. ⁵Do not cover up their guilt or blot out their sins from your sight, for they have thrown insults in the face of the builders.

⁶So we rebuilt the wall till all of it reached half its height, for the people worked with all their heart.

⁷But when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites and the men of Ashdod heard that the repairs to Jerusalem's walls had gone ahead and that the gaps were being closed, they were very angry. ⁸They all plotted together to come and fight against Jerusalem and stir up trouble against it. ⁹But we prayed to our God and posted a guard day and night to meet this threat.

¹⁰Meanwhile, the people in Judah said, "The strength of the laborers is giving out, and there is so much rubble that we cannot rebuild the wall."

¹¹Also our enemies said, "Before they know it or see us, we will be right there among them and will kill them and put an end to the work."

¹²Then the Jews who lived near them came and told us ten times over, "Wherever you turn, they will attack us."

¹³Therefore I stationed some of the people behind the lowest points of the wall at the exposed places, posting them by families, with their swords, spears and bows. ¹⁴After I looked things over, I stood up and said to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people, "Don't be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your brothers, your sons and your daughters, your wives and your homes."

¹⁵When our enemies heard that we were aware of their plot and that God had frustrated it, we all returned to the wall, each to his own work.

¹⁶From that day on, half of my men did the work, while the other half were equipped with spears, shields, bows and armor. The officers posted themselves behind all the people of Judah who were building the wall. Those who carried materials did their work with one hand and held a weapon in the other, ¹⁸and each of the builders wore his sword at his side as he worked. But the man who sounded the trumpet stayed with me.

¹⁹Then I said to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people, "The work is extensive and spread out, and we are widely separated from each

Nehemiah felt no difficulty combining prayer and action, as this verse shows: "We prayed to our God and posted a guard." Verse 14 gives another unembarrassed combination of spiritual and military tactics: "Remember the Lord . . . and fight."

²¹So we continued the work with half the men holding spears, from the first light of dawn till the stars came out. ²²At that time I also said to the people: "Have every man and his helper stay inside Jerusalem at night, so they can serve us as guards by night and workmen by day." ²³Neither I nor my brothers nor my men nor the guards with me took off our clothes; each had his weapon, even when I went for water.

Nehemiah Helps the Poor

5 Now the men and their wives raised a great outcry against their Jewish brothers. ²Some were saying: "We and our sons and daughters are numerous, in order for us to eat and stay alive, we must get grain."

³Others were saying, "We are mortgaging our fields, our vineyards and our homes to get grain during the famine."

⁴Still others were saying, "We have had to borrow money to pay the king's tax on our fields and vineyards. ⁵Although we are of the same flesh and blood as our countrymen and though our sons are as good as theirs, yet we have to subject our sons and daughters to slavery. Some of our daughters have already been enslaved, but we are powerless, because our fields and our vineyards belong to others."

⁶"When I heard their outcry and these charges, I was very angry. ⁷I pondered them in my mind and then accused the nobles and officials. I told them, "You are exacting usury from your own countrymen!" So I called together a large meeting to deal with them ⁸and said: "As far as possible, we have bought back our Jewish brothers who were sold to the Gentiles. Now you are selling your brothers, only for them to be sold back to us!" They kept quiet, because they could find nothing to say.

⁹So I continued, "What you are doing is not right. Shouldn't you walk in the fear of our God to avoid the reproach of our Gentile enemies? ¹⁰I and my brothers and my men are also lending the people money and grain. But let the exacting of usury stop! ¹¹Give back to them immediately their fields, vineyards, olive groves and houses, and also the usury you are charging them—the hundredth part of the money, grain, new wine and oil."

¹²"We will give it back," they said. "And we will not demand anything more from them. We will do as you say."

Then I summoned the priests and made the nobles and officials take an oath to do what they had promised. ¹³I also shook out the folds of my robe and said, "In this way may God shake out of his house and possessions every man who does not keep this promise. So may such a man be shaken out and emptied!"

At this the whole assembly said, "Amen," and praised the Lord. And the people did as they had promised.

¹⁴Moreover, from the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, until his thirty-second year—twelve years—neither I nor my brothers ate the food allotted to the governor. ¹⁵But the earlier governors—those preceding me—placed a heavy burden on the people and took forty shekels^a of silver from them in addition to food and wine. Their assistants also lorded it over the people. But out of reverence for God I did not act like that. ¹⁶Instead, I devoted myself to the work on this wall. All my men were assembled there for the work; we did not acquire any land.

¹⁷Furthermore, a hundred and fifty Jews and officials ate at my table, as well as those who came to us from the surrounding nations. ¹⁸Each day one ox, six choice sheep and some poultry were prepared for me, and every ten days an abundant supply of wine of all kinds. In spite of all this, I never demanded the food allotted to the governor, because the demands were heavy on these people.

¹⁹Remember me with favor, O my God, for all I have done for these people.

Further Opposition to the Rebuilding

6 When word came to Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab and the rest of our enemies that I had rebuilt the wall and not a gap was left in it—though up to that time I had not set the doors in the gates—²Sanballat and Geshem sent me this message: "Come, let us meet together in one of the villages^d on the plain of Ono."

But they were scheming to harm me; ³so I sent messengers to them with this reply: "I am carrying on a great project and cannot go down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and go down to you?" ⁴Four times they sent me the same message, and each time I gave them the same answer.

⁵Then, the fifth time, Sanballat sent his aide to me with the same message, and in his hand was an unsealed letter^e in which was written:

"It is reported among the nations—and Geshem^f says it is true—that you and the Jews are plotting to revolt, and therefore you are building the wall. Moreover, according to these reports you are about to become their king^g and have even appointed prophets to make this proclamation about you in Jerusalem: 'There is a king in Judah!' Now this report will get back to the king; so come, let us confer together."

⁸I sent him this reply: "Nothing like what you are saying is happening; you are just making it up out of your head."

⁹They were all trying to frighten us, thinking, "Their hands will get too weak for the work, and it will not be completed."

But I prayed, "Now strengthen my hands."

¹⁰One day I went to the house of Shemaiah son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, who was shut in at his home. He said, "Let us meet in the house of God, inside the temple, and let us close the temple doors, because men are coming to kill you—by night they are coming to kill you."

¹¹But I said, "Should a man like me run away? Or should one like me go into the temple to save his life? I will not go!" ¹²I realized that God had not sent him, but that he had prophesied against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. ¹³He had been hired to intimidate me so that I would commit a sin by doing this, and then they would give me a bad name to discredit me.

¹⁴Remember Tobiah and Sanballat, O my God, because of what they have done; remember also the prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who have been trying to intimidate me

The Completion of the Wall

¹⁵So the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth of Elul, in fifty-two days. ¹⁶When all our enemies heard about this, all the surrounding nations were afraid and lost their self-confidence, because they realized that this work had been done with the help of our God.

¹⁷Also, in those days the nobles of Judah were sending many letters to Tobiah, and replies from Tobiah kept coming to them. ¹⁸For many in Judah were under oath to him, since he was son-in-law to Shecaniah son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam son of Bere-kiah. ¹⁹Moreover, they kept reporting to me his good deeds and then telling him what I said. And Tobiah sent letters to intimidate me.

7 After the wall had been rebuilt and I had set the doors in place, the gatekeepers and the singers and the Levites were appointed. ²¹I put in charge of Jerusalem my brother Hanani, along with^a Hana-niah the commander of the citadel, because he was a man of integrity and feared God more than most men do. ³¹I said to them, "The gates of Jerusalem are not to be opened until the sun is hot. While the gatekeepers are still on duty, have them shut the doors and bar them. Also appoint residents of Jerusalem as guards, some at their posts and some near their own houses."

The List of the Exiles Who Returned

⁴Now the city was large and spacious, but there were few people in it, and the houses had not yet been rebuilt. ⁵So my God put it into my heart to assemble the nobles, the officials and the common people for registration by families. I found the genealogical record of those who had been the first to return. This is what I found written there:

⁶These are the people of the province who came up from the captivity of the exiles whom

Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had taken captive (they returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his own town, ⁷in company with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum and Baanah):

Ezra Reads the Law

When the seventh month came and the israel-8ites had settled in their towns, all the people assembled as one man in the square before the Water Gate. They told Ezra the scribe, bring out the Book of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded for Israel.

95So on the first day of the seventh month Ezra
 the priest brought the Law before the assembly, which was made up of men and women, and all who were able to understand. He read it aloud from daybreak till noon as he faced the square
 before the Water Gate in the presence of the men, women and others who could understand. And all the people listened attentively to the Book of the Law.

96Ezra the scribe stood on a high wooden platform built for the occasion. Beside him on his right stood Mattithiah, Shema, Ananiah, Uriah, Hilkan and Maasiah, and on his left were Pedaiiah, Mish-ael, Malkijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah and Meshullam.

97Ezra opened the book. All the people could see him because he was standing above them, and as he opened it, the people all stood up. 98Ezra praised the Lord, the great God, and all the people lifted their hands and responded, "Amen! Amen!" Then they bowed down and worshiped the Lord with their faces to the ground.

99The Levites—Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maasiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan and Pelaiah—instructed the people in the Law while the people were standing there. 100They read from the Book of the Law of God, making it clear and giving the meaning so that the people could understand what was being read.

101Then Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who were instructing the people said to them all, "This day is sacred to the Lord your God. Do not mourn or weep." For all the people had been weeping as they listened to the words of the Law.

102Nehemiah said, "Go and enjoy choice food and sweet drinks, and send some to those who have nothing prepared. This day is sacred to our Lord. Do not grieve, for the joy of the Lord is your strength."

103The Levites calmed all the people, saying, "Be still, for this is a sacred day. Do not grieve."

104Then all the people went away to eat and

8:9 The Joy of the Lord

People sometimes think of the Old Testament as gloomy. Here, however, (verses 9-12) Israel's leaders urged the people to stop weeping. Sadness, they said, did not suit a sacred day. As they discovered the next day, the law they mourned over commanded not weeping, but an eight-day celebration and campout.

¹³On the second day of the month, the heads of all the families along with the priests and the Levites, gathered around Ezra the scribe to give attention to the words of the Law. ¹⁴They found written in the Law, which the Lord had commanded through Moses, that the Israelites were to live in booths during the feast of the seventh month ¹⁵and that they should proclaim this word and spread it throughout their towns and in Jerusalem: "Go out into the hill country and bring back branches from olive and wild olive trees, and from myrtles, palms and shade trees, to make booths"—as it is written "

¹⁶So the people went out and brought back branches and built themselves booths on their own roofs, in their courtyards, in the courts of the house of God and in the square by the Water Gate and the one by the Gate of Ephraim. ¹⁷The whole company that had returned from exile built booths

A People of the Book

Ezra stood on a wooden platform, reading from a simple scroll

Ezra the priest brought the Law before the assembly . . . He read it aloud from daybreak till noon 8:2-3

Picture it: a vast, hushed crowd watching as Ezra ascends a newly built platform in the square. As he opens the book, they rise. They praise God, hands lifted high; then they bow down, faces in the dirt. Ezra begins to read. His helpers circulate in the crowd, explaining and interpreting what God's Word says. The people listen attentively. And then a strange sound begins to rise, spreading through the multitude. It is the sound of weeping.

The Law Ezra read was very ancient, but that day marked something new. The Jews were becoming, in a way they had never been before, a people of the book. They were being rebuilt, with material as strong as the stones in their newly built city wall.

Throughout their history, they had drawn strength from two sources besides the Law. One was the temple, where they worshiped God. It was a magnificently beautiful building in which they met God. The other was their leadership—first Moses, then Joshua, then the judges, and finally David and his offspring, the kings.

The Disappointing Reality

But these realities had not saved them from disgrace. The temple? For all its splendor it had become a meaningless symbol to most Jews. They had even put idols in it. God had finally allowed the Babylonians to burn the temple down.

After the exile the Jews had made rebuilding the temple their first priority (see Ezra 1-6). But it was no longer an automatic insurance policy. They could never again see the building as a substitute for real devotion to God.

Their leaders? Not one king, over hundreds of years, had come close to matching God's ideal. Most kings had been scoundrels—descendants of David in name only. After the exile, Israel had no king of its own. The Israelites were under the thumb of a Persian, who was determined to keep all power himself.

The Power of the Word

They turned to another source of power: the Word of God. The great gathering of chapter 8 stands in contrast to temples and kings. The splendor of jewels and crowns is replaced by a single man atop a wooden platform, reading from a simple scroll. Yet the words he reads, carefully explained to all, show their power in the way they affect those who hear them. The people are moved to praise God, to weep over their sins, to change their behavior, and to make renewed promises to God.

From this time on, the Jews were known as the people of the book. They lived under foreign domination, so their political leadership became secondary. Their temple, while important, was never again a guarantee of God's presence. Increasingly they studied God's law and tried to obey it. A new kind of leader emerged, following Ezra—the scribe, a student of Scripture. The nation we see at the end of Nehemiah looks very much like the nation we find, after 400 years of Scriptural silence, when Jesus appears. Israelites found their unique strength neither in government nor in worship rituals, but in reverence for God's written Word.

Life Questions: Can you point to ways in which God's Word has been powerful in your life? How has it changed you?

and from the days of Joshua until this day the Israelites had not been at rest. And their law was very strict.

On the first day from the first day to the last, Ezra was with the people of the Law of God. They fasted and wept for seven days, and on the eighth day in accordance with the regulation, there was an assembly.

The Israelites Confess Their Sins

9 On the twentieth-fourth day of the same month, the Israelites gathered together fasting and wearing sackcloth and having dust on their heads. Those of Israelite descent had separated themselves from all foreigners. They stood in their places and confessed their sins and the wickedness of their fathers. They stood where they were and read from the Book of the Law of the Lord. They did so a quarter of the day, and spent another quarter in confession and in worshipping the Lord their God. Standing on the stairs were the Levites—Joshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunai, Sherebiah, Bani and Kenani—who called with loud voices to the Lord their God. And the Levites—Joshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Habbai, Shebaniah and Pethaiah—said: Stand up and praise the Lord your God, who is from everlasting to everlasting.⁴⁵

Blessed be your glorious name, and may it be exalted above all blessing and praise. You alone are the Lord. You made the heavens, even the highest heavens, and all their starry host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them. You give life to everything, and the multitudes of heaven worship you.

You are the Lord God, who chose Abram and brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans and named him Abraham. You found his heart faithful to you, and you made a covenant with him to give to his descendants the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Jebusites and Girgashites. You have kept your promise because you are righteous.

You saw the suffering of our forefathers in Egypt; you heard their cry at the Red Sea.⁴⁶

You sent miraculous signs and wonders against Pharaoh, against all his officials and all the people of his land, for you knew how arrogantly the Egyptians treated them. You made a name for yourself, which remains to this day. You divided the sea before them, so that they passed through it on dry ground, but you hurled their pursuers into the depths, like a stone into mighty waters. By day you led them with a pillar of cloud, and by night with a pillar of fire to give them light on the way they were to take.

You came down on Mount Sinai; you spoke to them from heaven. You gave them regulations and laws that are just and right, and decrees and commands that are good. You made known to them your holy Sabbath and gave them commands, decrees and laws through your servant Moses. In their hunger you gave them bread from heaven and in their thirst you brought them water from the rock. You told them to go in and take possession of the land you had sworn with uplifted hand to give them.

But they, our forefathers, became arrogant and stiff-necked, and did not obey your commands. They refused to listen and failed to remember the miracles you performed among them. They became stiff-necked and in their rebellion appointed a leader in order to return to their slavery. But you are a forgiving God, gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and abounding in love. Therefore you did not desert them, even when they cast for themselves an image of a calf and said, 'This is your god, who brought you up out of Egypt,' or when they committed awful blasphemies.

Because of your great compassion you did not abandon them in the desert. By day the pillar of cloud did not cease to guide them on their path, nor the pillar of fire by night to shine on the way they were to take. You gave your good Spirit to instruct them. You did not withhold your manna from their mouths, and you gave them water for their thirst. For forty years you sustained them in the desert; they lacked nothing, their clothes did not wear out nor did their feet become swollen.

You gave them kingdoms and nations, allotting to them even the remotest frontiers. They took over the country of Sihon, king of Heshbon and the country of Og king of Bashan. You made their sons as numerous as the stars in the sky, and you brought them into the land that you told their fathers to enter and possess. Their sons went in and took possession of the land. You subdued before them the Canaanites, who lived in the land; you handed the Canaanites over to them, along with their kings and the peoples of the land, to deal with them as they pleased. They captured fortified cities and fertile land; they took possession of houses filled with all kinds of good things, wells already dug, vineyards, olive groves and fruit trees in abundance. They ate to the full and were well-nourished; they reveled in your great goodness.

But they were disobedient and rebelled against you; they put your law behind their backs. They killed your prophets, who had admonished them in order to turn them back to you; they committed awful blasphemies. So you handed them over to their enemies, who oppressed them. But when they were oppressed they cried out to you. From heaven you heard them, and in your great compassion you gave them deliverers, who rescued them from the hand of their enemies.

28²⁸But as soon as they were at rest, they again did what was evil in your sight. Then you abandoned them to the hand of their enemies so that they ruled over them. And when they cried out to you again, you heard from heaven, and in your compassion you delivered them time after time.

29²⁹You warned them to return to your law, but they became arrogant and disobeyed your commands. They sinned against your ordinances, by which a man will live if he obeys them. Stubbornly they turned their backs on you, became stiff-necked and refused to listen. 30³⁰For many years you were patient with them. By your Spirit you admonished them through your prophets. Yet they paid no attention, so you handed them over to the neighboring peoples. 31³¹But in your great mercy you did not put an end to them or abandon them, for you are a gracious and merciful God.

32³²Now therefore, O our God, the great, mighty and awesome God, who keeps his covenant of love, do not let all this hardship seem trifling in your eyes—the hardship that has come upon us, upon our kings and leaders, upon our priests and prophets, upon our fathers and all your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria until today. 33³³In all that has happened to us, you have been just; you have acted faithfully, while we did wrong. 34³⁴Our kings, our leaders, our priests and our fathers did not follow your law; they did not pay attention to your commands or the warnings you gave them. 35³⁵Even while they were in their kingdom, enjoying your great goodness to them in the spacious and fertile land you gave them, they did not serve you or turn from their evil ways.

36³⁶But see, we are slaves today, slaves in the land you gave our forefathers so they could eat its fruit and the other good things it produces. 37³⁷Because of our sins, its abundant harvest goes to the kings you have placed over us. They rule over our bodies and our cattle as they please. We are in great distress.

The Agreement of the People

38³⁸In view of all this, we are making a binding agreement, putting it in writing, and our leaders, our Levites and our priests are affixing their seals to it."

30³⁰"We promise not to give our daughters in marriage to the peoples around us or take their daughters for our sons.

31³¹"When the neighboring peoples bring merchandise or grain to sell on the Sabbath, we will not buy from them on the Sabbath or on any holy day. Every seventh year we will forgo working the land and will cancel all debts.

32³²We assume the responsibility for carrying out the commands to give a third of a shekel³² each year for the service of the house

10:31 A Year of Freedom

According to God's law, Jews were supposed to take every seventh day—the Sabbath—off work. Not only that, but every seventh year was a holiday from farming and a time when all debts were cancelled (see Leviticus 25:1-7; Deuteronomy 15:1-11). But these rules for the seventh year were seldom if ever followed; "business as usual" generally prevailed.

³² That is, about 1/3 ounce (about 4 grams).

of our God. ¹³For the bread set out on the table; for the regular grain offerings and burnt offerings for the offerings on the Sabbaths, New Moon festivals and appointed feasts for the holy offerings, for sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and for all the duties of the house of our God.

¹⁴We—the priests, the Levites and the people—have cast lots to determine when each of our families is to bring to the house of our God at set times each year a contribution of wood to burn on the altar of the Lord our God, as it is written in the Law.

¹⁶As it is also written in the Law, we will bring the firstborn of our sons and of our cattle, of our herds and of our flocks to the house of our God, to the priests ministering there.

¹⁷Moreover, we will bring to the storerooms of the house of our God, to the priests, the first of our ground meal, of our grain offerings, of the fruit of all our trees and of our new wine and oil. And we will bring a tithe of our crops to the Levites, for it is the Levites who collect the tithes in all the towns where we work. ¹⁸A priest descended from Aaron is to accompany the Levites when they receive the tithes, and the Levites are to bring a tenth of the tithes up to the house of our God, to the storerooms of the treasury. ¹⁹The people of Israel, including the Levites, are to bring their contributions of grain, new wine and oil to the storerooms where the articles for the sanctuary are kept and where the ministering priests, the gatekeepers and the singers stay.

"We will not neglect the house of our God."

The New Residents of Jerusalem

11 Now the leaders of the people settled in Jerusalem, and the rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of every ten to live in Jerusalem, the holy city, while the remaining nine were to stay in their own towns. ²The people commended all the men who volunteered to live in Jerusalem.

³These are the provincial leaders who settled in Jerusalem (now some Israelites, priests, Levites, temple servants and descendants of Solomon's servants lived in the towns of Judah, each on his own property in the various towns, ⁴while other people from both Judah and Benjamin lived in Jerusalem):

From the descendants of Judah:

Athaiah son of Uziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, a descendant of Perez; ⁵and Maaseiah son of Baruch, the son of Col-Hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joarib, the son of Zechariah, a descendant of Shelah. ⁶The descendants of Perez who lived in Jerusalem totaled 468 able men.

⁷From the descendants of Benjamin:

Sallu son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiiah, ⁸and his followers, Gabbar and Sallai—928 men. ⁹Joel son of Zicri was their chief officer, and Judah son of Hassenuah was over the Second District of the city.

¹⁰From the priests:

Jedaiah, the son of Joiarib, Jakin, ¹¹Seraiah son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, supervisor in the house of God, ¹²and their associates, who carried on work for the temple—822 men, Adaiah son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malkijah, ¹³and his associates, who were heads of families—242 men; Amashsai son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshullemoth, the son of Immer, ¹⁴and his associates, who were able men—128. Their chief officer was Zabdiel son of Haggadolim.

¹⁵From the Levites:

Shemaiah son of Hasshub, the son of Az-nkam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; ¹⁶Shabbethai and Jozabad, two of the heads of the Levites, who had charge of the outside work of the house of God; ¹⁷Mattaniah son of Mica, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, the director who led in thanksgiving and prayer; Bakbukiah, second among his associates; and Abda son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. ¹⁸The Levites in the holy city totaled 284.

¹⁹The gatekeepers:

Akkub, Talmon and their associates, who kept watch at the gates—172 men.

²⁰The rest of the Israelites, with the priests and Levites, were in all the towns of Judah, each on his ancestral property.

²¹The temple servants lived on the hill of Ophel, and Ziha and Gishpa were in charge of them.

²²The chief officer of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mica. Uzzi was one of Asaph's descendants, who were the singers responsible for the service of the house of God. ²³The singers were under the king's orders, which regulated their daily activity.

²⁴Pethahiah son of Meshezabel, one of the descendants of Zerah son of Judah, was the king's agent in all affairs relating to the people.

²⁵As for the villages with their fields, some of the people of Judah lived in Kiriath Arba and its surrounding settlements, in Dibon and its settlements, in Jekabzeel and its villages, ²⁶in Jeshua, in Moladah, in Beth Pelet, ²⁷in Hazar Shual, in Beer-

sang under the direction of Jeremiah. ⁴And on that day they offered great sacrifices, rejoicing because they had given them great joy. The women and children also rejoiced. The sound of rejoicing in Jerusalem could be heard far away.

⁵At that time men were appointed to be in charge of the storerooms for the contributions, tithes, and tithes from the fields around the towns, due to bring into the storerooms the portions required by the Law for the priests and the Levites, for Judah was pleased with the ministering priests and Levites. ⁶They performed the service of the Lord and the service of purification as did also the singers and gatekeepers according to the commands of David and his son Solomon. ⁷For long ago, in the days of David and Asaph, there had been dinners for the singers and for the songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. ⁸So in the days of Zerubbabel and of Nehemiah, all Israel contributed the daily portions for the singers and gatekeepers. They also set aside the portion for the other Levites, and the Levites set aside the portion for the descendants of Aaron.

Nehemiah's Final Reforms

13 On that day the book of Moses was read aloud in the hearing of the people and there it was found written that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever be admitted into the assembly of God, ²because they had not met the Israelites with food and water but had hired Balaam to call a curse down on them. (Our God, however, turned the curse into a blessing.) ³When the people heard this law, they excluded from Israel all who were of foreign descent.

⁴Before this, Eliashib the priest had been put in charge of the storerooms of the house of our God. He was closely associated with Tobiah, ⁵and he had provided him with a large room formerly used to store the grain offerings and incense and temple articles, and also the tithes of grain, new wine and oil prescribed for the Levites, singers and gatekeepers, as well as the contributions for the priests.

⁶But while all this was going on, I was not in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had returned to the king. Some time later I asked his permission ⁷and came back to Jerusalem. Here I learned about the evil thing Eliashub had done in providing Tobiah a room in the courts of the house of God. ⁸I was greatly displeased and threw all Tobiah's household goods out of the room. ⁹I gave orders to purify the rooms, and then I put back into them the equipment of the house of God, with the grain offerings and the incense.

¹⁰I also learned that the portions assigned to the Levites had not been given to them, and that all the Levites and singers responsible for the service had gone back to their own fields. ¹¹So I rebuked the officials and asked them, "Why is the house of God neglected?" Then I called them together and stationed them at their posts.

¹²All Judah brought the tithes of grain, new wine and oil into the storerooms. ¹³I put Shelemiah the priest, Zadok the scribe, and a Levite named Pedaiiah in charge of the storerooms and made Hanan son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah, their assistant, because these men were considered trustworthy. They were made responsible for distributing the supplies to their brothers.

¹⁴Remember me for this, O my God, and do not blot out what I have so faithfully done for the house of my God and its services.

¹⁵In those days I saw men in Judah treading winepresses on the Sabbath and bringing in grain and loading it on donkeys, together with wine, grapes, figs and all other kinds of loads. And they were bringing all this into Jerusalem on the Sabbath. Therefore I warned them against selling food on that day. ¹⁶Men from Tyre who lived in Jerusalem were bringing in fish and all kinds of merchandise and selling them in Jerusalem on the Sabbath to the people of Judah. ¹⁷I rebuked the nobles of Judah and said to them, "What is this wicked thing you are doing—desecrating the Sabbath day?" ¹⁸Didn't your forefathers do the same things, so that our God brought all this calamity upon us and upon this city? Now you are stirring up more wrath against Israel by desecrating the Sabbath."

¹⁹When evening shadows fell on the gates of Jerusalem before the Sabbath, I ordered the doors to be shut and not opened until the Sabbath was over. I stationed some of my own men at the gates so that no load could be brought in on the Sabbath day. ²⁰Once or twice the merchants and sellers of all kinds of goods spent the night outside Jerusalem. ²¹But I warned them and said, "Why do you spend the night by the wall? If you do this again, I will lay hands on you." From that time on they no longer came on the Sabbath. ²²Then I commanded the Levites to purify themselves and go and guard the gates in order to keep the Sabbath day holy.

Remember me for this also, O my God, and show mercy to me according to your great love.

²³Moreover, in those days I saw men of Judah who had married women from Ashdod, Ammon and Moab. ²⁴Half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod or the language of one of the other peoples, and did not know how to speak the language of Judah. ²⁵I rebuked them and called curses down on them. I beat some of the men and pulled out their hair. I made them take an oath in God's name and said: "You are not to give your daughters in marriage to their sons, nor are you to take their daughters in marriage for your sons or for yourselves. ²⁶Was it not because of marriages like these that Solomon king of Israel sinned? Among the many nations there was no king like him. He was loved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel, but even he was led into sin by foreign women. ²⁷Must we hear now that you too are doing all this terrible wickedness and are being unfaithful to our God by marrying foreign women?"

²⁸One of the sons of Joiada son of Eliashib the high priest was son-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite. And I drove him away from me.

²⁹Remember them, O my God, because they each to his own task. I also made provision for contributions of wood at designated times, and for the priests.

Remember me with favor, O my God.

INTRODUCTION

A Profile of Courage

Heroes act while others stand and watch

"I will go to the king, even though it is against the law. And if I perish, I perish." 4:16

What makes a hero? Ask one, and you may find a surprising nonchalance: "I'm sure other people would have done exactly the same thing," they say. "I was just in the right place at the right time."

People become heroes because they take quick action at that "right time," while others stand watching in horror. The true hero recognizes the crisis and moves to meet it. This kind of courage made Esther great—worthy of a book in the Bible.

A Queen Risks Her Life

By the "accident" of her beauty and the "accident" of the former queen's dismissal, Esther found herself queen of one of the greatest powers of the world. Then, when all seemed smooth, her crucial moment came.

This moment has been echoed many times since. As a successful racial minority in the Persian empire, Esther's people, the Jews, had not melted into their surroundings. Others were jealous of their success and separatism. A vengeful prime minister, Haman, made up his mind to destroy them. He issued an edict of government-sponsored genocide.

Would Queen Esther intervene? Doing so would risk her life. And what difference could she make? She was a powerless sex partner to a king who strongly preferred women who never interfered with his wishes. She came only when he called, and he had not called her for a month. And yet she alone, of all the Jews, had access to the king.

Esther's cousin Mordecai reminded her of her unique place. "Who knows but that you have come to royal position for such a time as this?" Esther responded with action. Her courageous words are a classic statement of heroism: "I will go to the king, even though it is against the law. And if I perish, I perish" (Esther 4:16).

Coincidence or Plan?

The book of Esther shows, though indirectly, God's heroic concern for the Jews. The story runs on a series of extraordinary coincidences. Esther just "happened" to be chosen as the new queen. The king just "happened" to be unable to sleep, and when he picked up some reading, just "happened" across an account of a good deed Esther's cousin Mordecai had done. The evil Haman just "happened" along at that crucial moment. These coincidences, along with Esther's courage, tilted terrible events toward the Jews' favor.

Were these really mere coincidences? Or was God behind them? The book of Esther doesn't say directly: God is not mentioned even once, and sometimes seems deliberately left out. But believing readers, whether Jews or Christians, can have no doubt. All of life is under God's command. Nothing just happens. These coincidences were part of God's plan to save the Jews.

God protected his people because he loved them—because he had chosen them from the beginning. Even their enemies knew the power of the Jews. (See Esther 6:13, for instance.) Esther's story is another chapter in the amazing story of God's perpetual love for the Jews. Though sometimes far from his will, this tiny, often hated minority has survived and thrived down the centuries.

From Haman to Hitler, vindictive leaders have hated the Jews. Yet while no other group has been so hated, no other group has shown the Jews' ability to overcome adversity. Nor can any other ethnic group alive today point to such continuity with their ancestors. They have endured as a unique and great people. How? Esther shows that God's exquisite timing—combined with the courage of individuals who "happened" to be in the right place at the right time—made his chosen people prosper.

How to Read Esther

Esther makes such suspenseful reading that most people will find it hard to quit. As in a detective story, every detail folds into another. You don't know from one page to the next how the drama will turn out.

The essence of Esther lies in its characters. Study Esther, Mordecai, Haman, and King Xerxes. What kind of people were they? What were their ambitions? What were their strengths and weaknesses? What crucial moment showed the true character of each? What do you learn from them that can help you rise to the challenge when you are "the right person at the right place at the right time"?

Knowing the historical setting for Esther's story can enrich your study. A good commentary or Bible dictionary (under "Esther") will illuminate many of the details that make Esther such a convincing historical document.

Queen Vashti Deposed

1 This is what happened during the time of Xerxes—the Xerxes who ruled over 127 provinces stretching from India to Cush:² At that time King Xerxes reigned from his royal throne in the citadel of Susa. And in the third year of his reign he gave a banquet for all his nobles and officials. The military leaders of Persia and Media, the princes, and the nobles of the provinces were present.

For a full 180 days he displayed the vast wealth of his kingdom and the splendor and glory of his majesty. When these days were over, the king gave a banquet, lasting seven days, in the enclosed garden of the king's palace, for all the people from the least to the greatest, who were in the citadel of Susa. The garden had hangings of white and blue linen, fastened with cords of white linen and purple material to silver rings on marble pillars. There were couches of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl and other costly stones. Wine was served in goblets of gold, each one different from the other, and the royal wine was abundant, in keeping with the king's liberality. ⁸By the king's command each guest was allowed to drink in his own way, for the king instructed all the wine stewards to serve each man what he wished.

Queen Vashti also gave a banquet for the women in the royal palace of King Xerxes.

¹⁰On the seventh day, when King Xerxes was in high spirits from wine, he commanded the seven eunuchs who served him—Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar and Carcas—

¹¹to bring before him Queen Vashti, wearing her royal crown, in order to display her beauty to the people and nobles, for she was lovely to look at. ¹²But when the attendants delivered the king's command, Queen Vashti refused to come. Then the king became furious and burned with anger.

¹³Since it was customary for the king to consult experts in matters of law and justice, he spoke with the wise men who understood the times. ¹⁴And were closest to the king—Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena and Memucan, the seven nobles of Persia and Media who had special access to the king and were highest in the kingdom.

¹⁵"According to law, what must be done to Queen Vashti?" he asked. "She has not obeyed the command of King Xerxes that the eunuchs have taken to her."

¹⁶Then Memucan replied in the presence of the king and the nobles, "Queen Vashti has done wrong, not only against the king but also against

1:7 The Influence of Wine

Other historical sources bear out the accuracy of this verse. Greek historian Herodotus wrote that the Persians "are very fond of wine, and drink it in large quantities . . . It is also their general practice to deliberate upon affairs of weight when they are drunk . . . Sometimes, however, they are sober at their first deliberation, but in this case they always reconsider the matter under the influence of wine."

was investigated and found to be true, the two officials were hanged on a gallows.² All this was recorded in the book of the annals in the presence of the king.

Haman's Plot to Destroy the Jews

3 After these events, King Xerxes honored Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, elevating him and giving him a seat of honor higher than that of all the other nobles. ²All the royal officials at the king's gate knelt down and paid honor to Haman, for the king had commanded this concerning him. But Mordecai would not kneel down or pay him honor.

³Then the royal officials at the king's gate asked Mordecai, "Why do you disobey the king's command?" ⁴Day after day they spoke to him but he refused to comply. Therefore they told Haman about it to see whether Mordecai's behavior would be tolerated, for he had told them he was a Jew.

⁵When Haman saw that Mordecai would not kneel down or pay him honor, he was enraged. ⁶After having learned who Mordecai's people were, he wanted the idea of killing only Mordecai. Instead, Haman looked for a way to destroy all Mordecai's people, the Jews, throughout the whole kingdom of Xerxes.

⁷In the twelfth year of King Xerxes, in the first month, the month of Nisan, they cast the pur (that is, the lot) in the presence of Haman to select a day and month. And the lot fell on^b the twelfth month, the month of Adar.

⁸Then Haman said to King Xerxes, "There is a certain people dispersed and scattered among the peoples in all the provinces of your kingdom whose customs are different from those of all other people and who do not obey the king's laws; it is not in the king's best interest to tolerate them. ⁹If it pleases the king, let a decree be issued to destroy them, and I will put ten thousand talents^c of silver into the royal treasury for the men who carry out the king's business."

¹²Then on the thirteenth day of the first month the royal secretaries were summoned. They wrote out in the script of each province and in the language of each people all Haman's orders to the king's satraps, the governors of the various provinces and the nobles of the various peoples. These were written in the name of King Xerxes himself and sealed with his own ring. ¹³Dispatches were sent by couriers to all the king's provinces with the order to destroy, kill and annihilate all the Jews— young and old, women and little children—on a single day, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month of Adar, and to plunder their goods. ¹⁴A copy of the text of the edict was to be issued as law in every province and made known to the people of every nationality so they would be ready for that day.

¹⁵Spurred on by the king's command, the couriers went out, and the edict was issued in the citadel of Susa. The king and Haman sat down to drink, but the city of Susa was bewildered.

Mordecai Persuades Esther to Help

4 When Mordecai learned of all that had been done, he tore his clothes, put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the city, wailing loudly and bitterly. ²But he went only as far as the king's gate, because no one clothed in sackcloth was allowed to enter it. ³In every province to which the edict and order of the king came, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping and wailing. Many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

⁴When Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her about Mordecai, she was in great distress. She sent clothes for him to put on instead of his sackcloth, but he would not accept them. ⁵Then Esther summoned Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs assigned to attend her, and ordered him to find out what was troubling Mordecai and why.

⁹Hathach went back and reported to Esther what Mordecai had said. ¹⁰Then she instructed him to say to Mordecai, ¹¹"All the king's officials and the people of the royal provinces know that for any man or woman who approaches the king in the inner court without being summoned the king has but one law: that he be put to death. The only exception to this is for the king to extend the gold scepter to him and spare his life. But thirty days have passed since I was called to go to the king."

¹²When Esther's words were reported to Mordecai, ¹³he sent back this answer: "Do not think that because you are in the king's house you alone of all the Jews will escape. ¹⁴For if you remain silent at this time, relief and deliverance for the Jews will arise from another place, but you and your father's family will perish. And who knows but that you have come to royal position for such a time as this?"

¹⁵Then Esther sent this reply to Mordecai: ¹⁶"Go, gather together all the Jews who are in Susa, and fast for me. Do not eat or drink for three days, night or day. I and my maids will fast as you do. When this is done, I will go to the king, even though it is against the law. And if I perish, I perish."

¹⁷So Mordecai went away and carried out all of Esther's instructions.

Esther's Request to the King

5 On the third day Esther put on her royal robes and stood in the inner court of the palace, in front of the king's hall. The king was sitting on his royal throne in the hall, facing the entrance. 2 When he saw Queen Esther standing in the court, he was pleased with her and held out to her the gold scepter that was in his hand. So Esther approached and touched the tip of the scepter.

3 Then the king asked, "What is it, Queen Esther? What is your request? Even up to half the kingdom, it will be given you."

4 "If it pleases the king," replied Esther, "let the king, together with Haman, come today to a banquet I have prepared for him."

5 "Bring Haman at once," the king said, "so that we may do what Esther asks."

So the king and Haman went to the banquet Esther had prepared. 6 As they were drinking wine, the king again asked Esther, "Now what is your petition? It will be given you. And what is your request? Even up to half the kingdom, it will be granted."

7 Esther replied, "My petition and my request is this. 8 If the king regards me with favor and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and fulfill my request, let the king and Haman come tomorrow to the banquet I will prepare for them. Then I will answer the king's question."

Haman's Rage Against Mordecai

9 Haman went out that day happy and in high spirits. But when he saw Mordecai at the king's gate and observed that he neither rose nor showed fear in his presence, he was filled with rage against Mordecai. 10 Nevertheless, Haman restrained himself and went home.

Calling together his friends and Zeresh, his wife, 11 Haman boasted to them about his vast wealth, his many sons, and all the ways the king had honored him and how he had elevated him above the other nobles and officials. 12 "And that's not all," Haman added. "I'm the only person Queen Esther invited to accompany the king to the banquet she gave. And she has invited me along with the king tomorrow. 13 But all this gives me no satisfaction as long as I see that Jew Mordecai sitting at the king's gate."

14 His wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, "Have a gallows built, seventy-five feet^a high, and ask the king in the morning to have Mordecai hanged on it. Then go with the king to the dinner and be happy." This suggestion delighted Haman, and he had the gallows built.

Mordecai Honored

6 That night the king could not sleep; so he ordered the book of the chronicles, the record of his reign, to be brought in and read to him. 2 It was found recorded there that Mordecai had exposed Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's officers who guarded the doorway, who had conspired to assassinate King Xerxes.

3 "What honor and recognition has Mordecai received for this?" the king asked.

"Nothing has been done for him," his attendants answered.

4 The king said, "Who is in the court?" Now Haman had just entered the outer court of the palace to speak to the king about hanging Mordecai on the gallows he had erected for him.

5 His attendants answered, "Haman is standing in the court."

"Bring him in," the king ordered.

6 When Haman entered, the king asked him, "What should be done for the man the king delights to honor?"

Now Haman thought to himself, "Who is there that the king would rather honor than me?" 7 So he answered the king, "For the man the king delights to honor, 8 have them bring a royal robe the king has worn and a horse the king has ridden, one with a royal crest placed on its head. 9 Then let the robe and horse be entrusted to one of the king's most noble princes. Let them robe the man the king delights to honor, and lead him on the horse through the city streets, proclaiming before him, 'This is what is done for the man the king delights to honor!'"

10 "Go at once," the king commanded Haman. "Get the robe and the horse and do just as you have suggested for Mordecai the Jew, who sits at the king's gate. Do not neglect anything you have recommended."

11 So Haman got the robe and the horse. He robed Mordecai, and led him on horseback through the city streets, proclaiming before him, "This is what is done for the man the king delights to honor!"

12 Afterward Mordecai returned to the king's gate. But Haman rushed home, with his head covered in grief, 13 and told Zeresh his wife and all his friends everything that had happened to him.

His advisers and his wife Zeresh said to him, "Since Mordecai, before whom your downfall has started, is of Jewish origin, you cannot stand against him—you will surely come to ruin!"

14 While they were still talking with him, the king's eunuchs arrived and hurried Haman away to the banquet Esther had prepared.

6:1 Xerxes: A Wild Man

Other historical sources portray Xerxes as a dangerously impulsive king. When a bridge he had ordered built was destroyed in a storm, he commanded that the sea receive 300 lashes, and then had the bridge builders beheaded. When one of his loyal subjects contributed a huge sum toward a military expedition, Xerxes was so enraptured that he returned the money, along with a handsome gift of his own. But when the same man asked Xerxes to let just one of his sons go free from the draft, Xerxes, enraged, ordered the son cut into two and the army to march between the pieces.

Haman Hanged

7 So the king and Haman went to dine with Queen Esther. And as they were drinking wine on that second day, the king again asked, "Queen Esther, what is your petition? It will be given you. What is your request? Even up to half the kingdom, it will be granted."

³Then Queen Esther answered, "If I have found favor with you, O king, and if it pleases your majesty, grant me my life—this is my petition. And spare my people—this is my request. ⁴For I and my people have been sold for destruction and slaughter and annihilation. If we had merely been sold as male and female slaves, I would have kept quiet, because no such distress would justify disturbing the king."^a ⁵King Xerxes asked Queen Esther, "Who is he? Where is the man who has dared to do such a thing?"

⁶Esther said, "The adversary and enemy is this vile Haman."

Then Haman was terrified before the king and queen. ⁷The king got up in a rage, left his wine and went out into the palace garden. But Haman, realizing that the king had already decided his fate, stayed behind to beg Queen Esther for his life.

⁸Just as the king returned from the palace garden to the banquet hall, Haman was falling on the couch where Esther was reclining.

The king exclaimed, "Will he even molest the queen while she is with me in the house?"

As soon as the word left the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face. ⁹Then Harbona, one of the eunuchs attending the king, said, "A gallows seventy-five feet^b high stands by Haman's house. He had it made for Mordecai, who spoke up to help the king."

The king said, "Hang him on it!" ¹⁰So they hanged Haman on the gallows he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king's fury subsided.

The King's Edict in Behalf of the Jews

8 That same day King Xerxes gave Queen Esther the estate of Haman, the enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came into the presence of the king, for Esther had told how he was related to her. ²The king took off his signet ring, which he had reclaimed from Haman, and presented it to Mordecai. And Esther appointed him over Haman's estate.

³Esther again pleaded with the king, falling at his feet and weeping. She begged him to put an end to the evil plan of Haman the Agagite, which he had devised against the Jews. ⁴Then the king extended the gold scepter to Esther and she arose and stood before him.

⁵"If it pleases the king," she said, "and if he regards me with favor and thinks it the right thing to do, and if he is pleased with me, let an order be written overruling the dispatches that Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, devised and wrote to destroy the Jews in all the king's provinces. ⁶For how can I bear to see disaster fall on my people?

How can I bear to see the destruction of my family?"

⁹At once the royal secretaries were summoned—on the twenty-third day of the third month, the month of Sivan. They wrote out all Mordecai's orders to the Jews, and to the satraps, governors and nobles of the 127 provinces stretching from India to Cush.^c These orders were written in the script of each province and the language of each people and also to the Jews in their own script and language. ¹⁰Mordecai wrote in the name of King Xerxes, sealed the dispatches with the king's signet ring, and sent them by mounted couriers, who rode fast horses especially bred for the king.

¹¹The king's edict granted the Jews in every city the right to assemble and protect themselves; to destroy, kill and annihilate any armed force of any nationality or province that might attack them and their women and children; and to plunder the property of their enemies. ¹²The day appointed for the Jews to do this in all the provinces of King Xerxes was the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month of Adar. ¹³A copy of the text of the edict was to be issued as law in every province and made known to the people of every nationality so that the Jews would be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

¹⁴The couriers, riding the royal horses, raced out, spurred on by the king's command. And the edict was also issued in the citadel of Susa.

¹⁵Mordecai left the king's presence wearing royal garments of blue and white, a large crown of gold and a purple robe of fine linen. And the city of Susa held a joyous celebration. ¹⁶For the Jews it was a time of happiness and joy, gladness and honor. ¹⁷In every province and in every city, wherever the edict of the king went, there was joy and gladness among the Jews, with feasting and celebrating. And many people of other nationalities became Jews because fear of the Jews had seized them.

Triumph of the Jews

9 On the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month of Adar, the edict commanded by the king was to be carried out. On this day the enemies of the Jews had hoped to overpower them, but now the tables were turned and the Jews got the upper hand over those who hated them. ²The Jews assembled in their cities in all the provinces of King Xerxes to attack those seeking their destruction. No one could stand against them, because the people of all the other nationalities were afraid of them. ³And all the nobles of the provinces, the satraps, the governors and the king's administra-

men helped the Jews, because fear of Mordecai had seized them. ¹⁴Mordecai was prominent in the palace; his reputation spread throughout the provinces, and he became more and more powerful.

The Jews struck down all their enemies with the sword, killing and destroying them, and they did what they pleased to those who hated them. ¹⁵In the citadel of Susa the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men. They also killed Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, ¹⁶Puratha, Adalia, Aradatha, ¹⁷Armashtha, Arisai, Ardat and Vaizatha. ¹⁸The ten sons of Haman son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews. But they did not lay their hands on the plunder.

The number of those slain in the citadel of Susa was reported to the king that same day. ¹⁹The king said to Queen Esther, "The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men and the ten sons of Haman in the citadel of Susa. What have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? Now what is your petition? It will be given you. What is your request? It will also be granted."

²¹So the king commanded that this be done. An edict was issued in Susa, and they hanged the ten sons of Haman. ²²The Jews in Susa came together on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar, and they put to death in Susa three hundred men, but they did not lay their hands on the plunder.

²³Meanwhile, the remainder of the Jews who were in the king's provinces also assembled to protect themselves and get relief from their enemies. They killed seventy-five thousand of them but did not lay their hands on the plunder. ²⁴This happened on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar, and on the fourteenth they rested and made it a day of feasting and joy.

Purim Celebrated

²⁵The Jews in Susa, however, had assembled on the thirteenth and fourteenth, and then on the fifteenth they rested and made it a day of feasting and joy.

²⁶That is why rural Jews—those living in villages—observe the fourteenth of the month of Adar as a day of joy and feasting, a day for giving presents to each other.

²⁷Mordecai recorded these events, and he sent letters to all the Jews throughout the provinces of King Xerxes, near and far, ²⁸to have them celebrate annually the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar ²⁹as the time when the Jews got relief from their enemies, and as the month when their sorrow was turned into joy and their mourning into a day of celebration. He wrote them to observe the days as days of feasting and joy and giving presents of food to one another and gifts to the poor.

³⁰So the Jews agreed to continue the celebration they had begun, doing what Mordecai had written to them. ³¹For Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had plotted against the Jews to destroy them and had cast the pur (that is, the lot) for their ruin and destruction. ³²But when the plot came to the king's attention, ³³he issued written orders that the evil scheme Haman had devised against the Jews should come back onto his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows. ³⁴(Therefore these days were called Purim, from the word pur.) Because of everything written in this letter and because of what they had seen and what had happened to them, ³⁵the Jews took it upon themselves to establish the custom that they and their descendants and all who join them should without fail observe these two days every year, in the way prescribed and at the time appointed. ³⁶These days should be remembered and observed in every generation by every family, and in every province and in every city. And these days of Purim should never cease to be celebrated by the Jews, nor should the memory of them die out among their descendants.

³⁷So Queen Esther, daughter of Abihail, along with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with full authority to confirm this second letter concerning Purim. ³⁸And Mordecai sent letters to all the Jews in the 127 provinces of the kingdom of Xerxes—words of goodwill and assurance— ³⁹to establish these days of Purim at their designated times, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had decreed for them, and

8:16 What about God?

Why is God's name not mentioned in Esther—especially in obvious places like this one? Scholars suggest several answers to this riddle. Some, reading between the lines, suggest that Esther and Mordecai were not outstanding examples of faith. They were even willing to hide Esther's Jewish background. Esther showed no reluctance to be married to a pagan king and become part of his harem. Most critically, she and Mordecai (along with all the other Jews in Esther) had chosen not to return to Jerusalem with the first wave of Jews nearly half a century before. (The story of that return is told in Ezra 1-6.) Those who stayed in Persia presumably cared more about their finances than about God's plans for the Jews to return to Jerusalem from exile. Perhaps because of this, Esther is told as a secular story, to illustrate God's care over even "secularized" Jews.

10:2 Is Esther Accurate?

Because of the many coincidences in Esther, some have considered it "just a story," having little or no historical validity. Yet as archaeologists have learned more about ancient Persian history, the details of Esther have proven remarkably reliable. Certainly the book presents itself as history: here the author confidently asserts that readers can check the facts in the historical records. These records are lost—but evidently they were known to the early readers of Esther.

²⁵ Or when Esther came before the king

as they had established for themselves and their descendants in regard to their times of fasting and lamentation. ³²Esther's decree confirmed these regulations about Purim, and it was written down in the records.

The Greatness of Mordecai

10 King Xerxes imposed tribute throughout the empire, to its distant shores. ²And all his acts of power and might, together with a full account of the greatness of Mordecai to which the king had raised him, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Media and Persia? ³Mordecai the Jew was second in rank to king Xerxes, preeminent among the Jews, and held in high esteem by his many fellow Jews, because he worked for the good of his people and spoke up for the welfare of all the Jews.

JOB

INTRODUCTION

When Bad Things Happened to a Good Person

Nobody suffered more; nobody deserved it less

"There was no one like him among the sons of men. There is no one on earth like him, he is blameless and upright, a man who fears God and shuns evil." 1:8

How could it happen? At once the world came crashing down on a single innocent man, a man named Job. It seemed like the ultimate in unfairness.

Job lost all his belongings and slaughtered his servants. Then fire from the sky burned up his sheep, and a mighty wind destroyed his house and killed his sons and daughters. Finally, Job came down with a horrible, painful disease. What did I do to deserve such suffering?, he asked.

A Cosmic Contest

The book of Job reads like a detective story in which the readers know far more than the central characters. The very first chapter answers Job's main question: he had done nothing to deserve such suffering. We, the readers, know that, but nobody tells Job and his friends.

Unknown to him, Job was involved in a cosmic test, a contest proposed in heaven but staged on earth. In this extreme test of faith, the best man on earth suffered the worst calamities. Satan had claimed that people like Job love God only because of the good things he provides. Remove those good things, Satan challenged, and Job's faith would melt away along with his riches and reputation.

God's reputation was on the line. Would Job continue to trust him, even while his life was falling apart? This is the crucial question of the book: Would Job turn against God?

Job's wife mocked him: "Are you still holding on to your integrity? Curse God and die!" (2:9). His friends were even crueller: they argued that Job was being punished, that he fully deserved the tragedies crashing into his life. For his part, Job struggled to do what seemed impossible: to keep on believing in a loving, fair God even though all the evidence pointed against such a God.

Job on Trial

It helps to think of this book as a courtroom drama, full of long, eloquent speeches. For most of the book, Job sits in the defendant's chair listening to his friends' harangues. He knows no a priori refutations: what they say about suffering as punishment seems to make sense. Yet he also knows deep in his soul that they are wrong. He does not deserve the treatment he is getting. There has to be some other explanation.

Like all grieving persons, Job went through emotional cycles. He whined, exploded, cajoled, and collapsed in self-pity. He agreed with his friends, then shifted positions and contradicted himself. And occasionally he came up with a statement of brilliant hope.

Finally, Job asked for one thing: an appearance by the one Person who could explain his miserable fate. He wanted to meet God himself, face to face. Eventually Job got his wish; God did show up in person. And when God finally spoke, no one—not Job, nor any of his friends—was prepared for what he had to say.

When We Feel Like Job

Sooner or later we all find ourselves in a position somewhat like Job's. Our world seems to crumble apart. Nothing makes sense any more. God seems distant and silent.

At such moments of great crisis, each one of us is put on trial. In a sense we become actors in a contest like the one Job went through. This book records every step in that process with unflinching honesty. Job's life stands as an example to every person who must go through great suffering.

How to Read Job

The book of Job is regarded as one of the world's truly great literary masterpieces. It contains some of the finest, most expressive poetry in the Bible. Yet first-time readers of Job can easily get lost because the complete "story line" is found in the first two chapters and the last one. Everything in between consists of a series of speeches.

The boldface sectional headings and the phrases that follow, such as "And Job continued his discourse" and "Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied," serve as markers or signposts throughout the book. Rather than reading large sections of the book, read one entire speech by Job, or a speech by Job and a rebuttal from one of his friends.

It may help if you try to summarize the statement behind each speech in one sentence and write that sentence in the margin (For example, "Job protests that he's innocent"). Speakers of that day impressed their audience more by eloquence than by rigorous logic, so the speeches may seem flowery. The issues Job and his friends address, however, are life-and-death ones.

As you read the speeches of Job's friends, remember that their views do not necessarily reflect God's. The book of Job merely records the friends' viewpoints; it does not endorse them.

Prologue

1 In the land of Uz there lived a man whose name was Job. This man was blameless and upright; he feared God and shunned evil. 2He had seven sons and three daughters, 3and he owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen and five hundred donkeys, and had a large number of servants. He was the greatest man among all the people of the East.

4His sons used to take turns holding feasts in their homes, and they would invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. 5When a period of feasting had run its course, Job would send and have them purified. Early in the morning he would sacrifice a burnt offering for each of them, thinking, "Perhaps my children have sinned and cursed God in their hearts." This was Job's regular custom.

Job's First Test

6One day the angels^a came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan^b also came with them. 7The LORD said to Satan, "Where have you come from?"

Satan answered the LORD, "From roaming through the earth and going back and forth in it."

8Then the LORD said to Satan, "Have you considered my servant Job? There is no one on earth like him, he is blameless and upright, a man who fears God and shuns evil."

9"Does Job fear God for nothing?" Satan replied. 10"Have you not put a hedge around him and his household and everything he has? You have blessed the work of his hands, so that his flocks and herds are spread throughout the land. 11But stretch out your hand and strike everything he has, and he will surely curse you to your face."

12The LORD said to Satan, "Very well, then, everything he has is in your hands, but on the man himself do not lay a finger."

Then Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

13One day when Job's sons and daughters were feasting and drinking wine at the oldest brother's house, 14a messenger came to Job and said, "The oxen were plowing and the donkeys were grazing nearby, 15and the Sabeans attacked and carried them off. They put the servants to the sword, and I am the only one who has escaped to tell you!"

16While he was still speaking, another messenger came and said, "The fire of God fell from the sky and burned up the sheep and the servants, and I am the only one who has escaped to tell you!"

JOB 3:19

- they no longer hear the slave driver's shout 19The small and the great are there, and the slave is freed from his master.
 20Why is light given to those in misery,
 and life to the bitter of soul, 21to those who long for death that does not come
 who search for it more than for hidden treasure
 22who are filled with gladness
 and rejoice when they reach the grave?
 23Why is life given to a man whose way is hidden,
 whom God has hedged in?
 24For sighing comes to me instead of food,
 my groans pour out like water.
 25What I feared has come upon me,
 what I dreaded has happened to me.
 26I have no peace, no quietness;
 I have no rest, but only turmoil."

Eliphaz

4 Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied:

- 2 "If someone ventures a word with you, will you be impatient?
 But who can keep from speaking?
 3 Think how you have instructed many,
 how you have strengthened feeble hands.
 4 Your words have supported those who stumbled,
 you have strengthened faltering knees.
 5 But now trouble comes to you, and you are discouraged;
 it strikes you, and you are dismayed.
 6 Should not your piety be your confidence and your blameless ways your hope?
 7 "Consider now: Who, being innocent, has ever perished?
 Where were the upright ever destroyed?
 8 As I have observed, those who plow evil
 and those who sow trouble reap it.
 9 At the breath of God they are destroyed;
 at the blast of his anger they perish.
 10 The lions may roar and growl,
 yet the teeth of the great lions are broken.
 11 The lion perishes for lack of prey,
 and the cubs of the lioness are scattered.
 12 "A word was secretly brought to me,
 my ears caught a whisper of it.
 13 Amid disquieting dreams in the night,
 when deep sleep falls on men,

- 14 fear and trembling seized me
 and made all my bones shake.
 15 A spirit glided past my face,
 and the hair on my body stood on end 16 It stopped,
 but I could not tell what it was.
 A form stood before my eyes,
 and I heard a hushed voice:
 17 "Can a mortal be more righteous than God?
 Can a man be more pure than his Maker?
 18 If God places no trust in his servants, if he charges his angels with error, 19 how much more those who live in houses of clay,
 whose foundations are in the dust,
 who are crushed more readily than a moth!
 20 Between dawn and dusk they are broken to pieces;
 unnoticed, they perish forever.
 21 Are not the cords of their tent pulled up,
 so that they die without wisdom?"^a

5 "Call if you will, but who will answer you?
 To which of the holy ones will you turn?

- 2 Resentment kills a fool,
 and envy slays the simple.
 3 I myself have seen a fool taking root,
 but suddenly his house was cursed.
 4 His children are far from safety,
 crushed in court without a defender.
 5 The hungry consume his harvest,
 taking it even from among thorns,
 and the thirsty pant after his wealth.
 6 For hardship does not spring from the soil,
 nor does trouble sprout from the ground.
 7 Yet man is born to trouble
 as surely as sparks fly upward.
 8 "But if it were I, I would appeal to God;
 I would lay my cause before him.
 9 He performs wonders that cannot be fathomed,
 miracles that cannot be counted.
 10 He bestows rain on the earth;
 he sends water upon the countryside.
 11 The lowly he sets on high,
 and those who mourn are lifted to safety.
 12 He thwarts the plans of the crafty,
 so that their hands achieve no success.
 13 He catches the wise in their craftiness,
 and the schemes of the wily are swept away.
 14 Darkness comes upon them in the daytime;
 at noon they grope as in the night.
 15 He saves the needy from the sword in their mouth;
 he saves them from the clutches of the powerful.
 16 So the poor have hope,
 and injustice shuts its mouth.
 17 "Blessed is the man whom God corrects;
 so do not despise the discipline of the Almighty.^b
 18 For he wounds, but he also binds up;
 he injures, but his hands also heal.
 19 From six calamities he will rescue you;

4:13 Appealing to a Vision

The book of Job includes parallels to most modern-day responses to people in pain. To impress the other listeners with his religious authority, Eliphaz appealed to a mysterious vision in which a "spirit" restated Eliphaz's own line of argument. In the next chapter, he hints that Job should turn to God for a miracle (5:8-10).

^a21 Some interpreters end the quotation after verse 17.

^b17 Hebrew Shaddai, here and throughout Job

in seven no harm will befall you.
 20In famine he will ransom you from death,
 and in battle from the stroke of the sword.
 21You will be protected from the lash of the tongue,
 and need not fear when destruction comes.
 22You will laugh at destruction and famine,
 and need not fear the beasts of the earth.
 23For you will have a covenant with the stones of
 the field,
 and the wild animals will be at peace with
 you 24You will know that your tent is secure;
 you will take stock of your property and find nothing missing.
 25You will know that your children will be many,
 and your descendants like the grass of the earth
 26You will come to the grave in full vigor, like sheaves gathered in season.
 27"We have examined this, and it is true.
 So hear it and apply it to yourself."

Job

6 Then Job replied

2"If only my anguish could be weighed and all my misery be placed on the scales!
 3It would surely outweigh the sand of the seas—
 no wonder my words have been impetuous.
 4The arrows of the Almighty are in me,
 my spirit drinks in their poison,
 God's terrors are marshaled against me 5Does a wild donkey bray when it has grass,
 or an ox bellow when it has fodder?
 6Is tasteless food eaten without salt,
 or is there flavor in the white of an egg?
 7I refuse to touch it,
 such food makes me ill
 8"Oh, that I might have my request, that God would grant what I hope for, 9that God would be willing to crush me,
 to let loose his hand and cut me off!
 10Then I would still have this consolation—
 my joy in unrelenting pain—
 that I had not denied the words of the Holy
 One 11"What strength do I have, that I should still hope?
 12What prospects, that I should be patient?
 13Do I have the strength of stone?

6:9 Why Keep on Living?

Job steadfastly refused to curse God, but he did curse the day he was born. In this speech he asked for a quick death, realizing he could not hold out trusting in God forever. If he died now, at least he would do so believing. His speeches contain some of the most profound expressions of pain and despair in all of literature.

Is my flesh bronze?

13Do I have any power to help myself,
 now that success has been driven from me?

14"A despairing man should have the devotion of his friends,
 even though he forsakes the fear of the Almighty.

15But my brothers are as undependable as intermittent streams,

as the streams that overflow 16when darkened by thawing ice and swollen with melting snow,

17but that cease to flow in the dry season,
 and in the heat vanish from their channels.

18Caravans turn aside from their routes;

20They are distressed, because they had been

they arrive there, only to be disappointed.

21Now you too have proved to be of no help;
 you see something dreadful and are afraid.

22Have I ever said, 'Give something on my ransom me from the clutches of the ruthless'?

24"Teach me, and I will be quiet;
 show me where I have been wrong.

25How painful are honest words!
 But what do your arguments prove?

26Do you mean to correct what I say,
 and treat the words of a despairing man as wind?

27You would even cast lots for the fatherless
 and barter away your friend.

28"But now be so kind as to look at me.
 Would I lie to your face?

 Can my mouth not discern malice?

The night drags on, and I toss till dawn.

 my eyes will never see happiness again.

 He will never come to his house again;

 I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.

8:4 A Mixture of True and False

Although God rejected the overall force of their arguments, Job's three friends said some things that were true and others that were totally false. In this case, Bildad appealed to common sense, ("Surely God does not reject a blameless man"), implying that Job sinned to deserve his suffering. But God specifically had called Job "blameless and upright" (2:3). Elsewhere, a statement by Eliphaz (5:11-13) is quoted approvingly in the New Testament (1 Corinthians 3:19).

What Not to Say to a Hurting Person

Job's friends only made it worse

"Now you too have proved to be of no help." 6:21

You are sitting in a hospital room, where the faint smell of antiseptic lingers and the sound of lowered voices rustles all around you. The doctor's prediction for your friend is bad. You've listened to your friend's anger and despair, and many other emotions. Now it's your turn to reply. Everyone in the room waits for your response.

What do you say to a suffering person? The book of Job gives page after page of examples. Job's three friends, finding him in despair, filled the air with high-sounding advice. But unfortunately they offer models of what not to say. Their main argument only made Job feel worse, and at the end God dismissed them all.

Who Were Job's Friends?

This book gives few details on time and place, but it presents Job as a very wealthy "sheik" of the Middle East. His three friends, from neighboring lands, were also prosperous and well respected. When they first saw Job, they wept aloud and sat with him on the ground, silent, for seven days and nights, overcome with grief (2:13).

After Job finally broke the silence, each friend delivered a flowery speech on Job's dilemma. There are three cycles of speeches in all, with Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar taking turns, allowing Job to respond to each. Eliphaz, who led off, had strong and noble ideas. Bildad was briefer and slightly less sympathetic. Zophar (who did not speak in the third cycle) showed passion and fire.

The friends seemed to crescendo in emotional intensity. In the first cycle (chapters 4-14), they showed hope of winning Job over to their point of view. In the second cycle (chapters 15-21), the speeches grew more severe and threatening. And by the time of the concluding speeches (chapters 22-25), Job's friends were making direct accusations against him.

A Flawed Theory about Suffering

Job's friends believed in a God of love and fairness; their arguments started from that fact. Surely a just God would not allow an innocent man to suffer so much, they reasoned. Most of their comments boil down to one simple theory: Job must have committed some great crime for which God was punishing him. All three believed that good people prosper and bad people suffer; therefore, suffering must betray some hidden sin.

"Surely God does not reject a blameless man or strengthen the hands of evildoers," they said to Job (8:20). Repent, they admonished him, and God will forgive and restore you. Their words got this response from Job: "You . . . smear me with lies; you are worthless physicians, all of you!" (13:4). Job also believed in a loving God, but he knew he was innocent.

When God finally made his appearance, he dismissed the three friends in one sentence to Eliphaz, "I am angry with you and your two friends, because you have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has" (42:7).

Although the Bible elsewhere gives examples of suffering that resulted from a person's sin, Job clearly shows that such a theory cannot be applied in every case. (For a related discussion, see "Healthier, Wealthier, and Wiser," page 156.) It is not for us to try to reason out the specific cause of a person's suffering; God reserves that knowledge for himself.

Life Questions What is the most "unfair" thing that has ever happened to you? How did it affect the way you thought about God?

JOB 9:20

And if it is a matter of justice, who will summon him?^a 20Even if I were innocent, my mouth would condemn me;
 if I were blameless, it would pronounce me
guilty
 21"Although I am blameless,
I have no concern for myself;
I despise my own life.
 22It is all the same; that is why I say,
'He destroys both the blameless and the wicked.'
 23When a scourge brings sudden death,
he mocks the despair of the innocent.
 24When a land falls into the hands of the wicked,
he blindfolds its judges
If it is not he, then who is it?
 25"My days are swifter than a runner;
they fly away without a glimpse of joy.
 26They skim past like boats of papyrus,
like eagles swooping down on their prey.
 27If I say, 'I will forget my complaint,
I will change my expression, and smile,' 28I still dread all my sufferings,
for I know you will not hold me innocent.
 29Since I am already found guilty,
why should I struggle in vain?
 30Even if I washed myself with soap^b and my hands with washing soda, 31you would plunge me into a slime pit
so that even my clothes would detest me.
 32"He is not a man like me that I might answer
him,
that we might confront each other in court.
 33If only there were someone to arbitrate
between us,
to lay his hand upon us both,
 34someone to remove God's rod from me,
so that his terror would frighten me no
more.
 35Then I would speak up without fear of him,
but as it now stands with me, I cannot.

10 "I loathe my very life;
therefore I will give free rein to my complaint
and speak out in the bitterness of my soul.
 2I will say to God: Do not condemn me, but tell me what charges you have against
me.
 3Does it please you to oppress me,
to spurn the work of your hands,

while you smile on the schemes of the
wicked?

4Do you have eyes of flesh?
Do you see as a mortal sees?
 5Are your days like those of a mortal
or your years like those of a man, 6that you must search out my faults
and probe after my sin—7though you know that I am not guilty and that no one can rescue me from your hand?
 8"Your hands shaped me and made me.
Will you now turn and destroy me?
 9Remember that you molded me like clay.
Will you now turn me to dust again?
 10Did you not pour me out like milk
and curdle me like cheese, 11clothe me with skin and flesh and knit me together with bones and sinews?
 12You gave me life and showed me kindness, and in your providence watched over my spirit.
 13"But this is what you concealed in your heart,
and I know that this was in your mind:
 14If I sinned, you would be watching me
and would not let my offense go unpunished.
 15If I am guilty—woe to me!
Even if I am innocent, I cannot lift my head,
for I am full of shame
and drowned in^c my affliction.
 16If I hold my head high, you stalk me like a lion and again display your awesome power against me.
 17You bring new witnesses against me
and increase your anger toward me;
your forces come against me wave upon wave.
 18"Why then did you bring me out of the womb?
I wish I had died before any eye saw me.
 19If only I had never come into being,
or had been carried straight from the womb
to the grave!
 20Are not my few days almost over?
Turn away from me so I can have a moment's joy 21before I go to the place of no return, to the land of gloom and deep shadow,^d 22to the land of deepest night,
of deep shadow and disorder, where even the light is like darkness."

Zophar

11 Then Zophar the Naamathite replied:
 2"Are all these words to go unanswered?
Is this talker to be vindicated?
 3Will your idle talk reduce men to silence?
Will no one rebuke you when you mock?
 4You say to God, 'My beliefs are flawless
and I am pure in your sight.'
 5Oh, how I wish that God would speak, that he would open his lips against you

9:33 Looking for an Arbitrator

Job recognized the enormous gulf between God and people. He poignantly asked for an arbitrator "to lay his hand upon us both." A few such comments of Job, expressing great longing for an advocate, found their full realization in Jesus, who was called the "one mediator between God and men" (1 Timothy 2:5).

^a19 See Septuagint, Hebrew me.^b30 Or snow^c15 Or and aware of^d21 Or and the shadow of death; also in verse 22

and disclose to you the secrets of wisdom,
for true wisdom has two sides Know this: God has even forgotten some of your sin.

Can you fathom the mysteries of God?
Can you probe the limits of the Almighty?
They are higher than the heavens—what can you do?

They are deeper than the depths of the grave—what can you know?
Their measure is longer than the earth and wider than the sea.

¹⁰If he comes along and confines you in prison and convenes a court, who can oppose him?

¹¹Surely he recognizes deceitful men;
and when he sees evil, does he not take note?

¹²But a witless man can no more become wise than a wild donkey's colt can be born a man.^b

¹³Yet if you devote your heart to him
and stretch out your hands to him, ¹⁴if you put away the sin that is in your hand
and allow no evil to dwell in your tent, ¹⁵then you will lift up your face without shame;
you will stand firm and without fear.

¹⁶You will surely forget your trouble, recalling it only as waters gone by.
¹⁷Life will be brighter than noonday,
and darkness will become like morning.

¹⁸You will be secure, because there is hope;
you will look about you and take your rest in safety.

¹⁹You will lie down, with no one to make you afraid,
and many will court your favor.

²⁰But the eyes of the wicked will fail,
and escape will elude them;
their hope will become a dying gasp."

Job

12 Then Job replied:

²"Doubtless you are the people,
and wisdom will die with you!

³But I have a mind as well as you;
I am not inferior to you.
Who does not know all these things?

⁴"I have become a laughingstock to my friends,

though I called upon God and he answered—
a mere laughingstock, though righteous and blameless!

⁵Men at ease have contempt for misfortune
as the fate of those whose feet are slipping.

⁶The tents of marauders are undisturbed, and those who provoke God are secure—
those who carry their god in their hands.^c

⁷"But ask the animals, and they will teach you,
or the birds of the air, and they will tell you; ⁸or speak to the earth, and it will teach you,
or let the fish of the sea inform you.

⁹Which of all these does not know that the hand of the Lord has done this?

¹⁰In his hand is the life of every creature
and the breath of all mankind.

¹¹Does not the ear test words
as the tongue tastes food?

¹²Is not wisdom found among the aged?
Does not long life bring understanding?

¹³"To God belong wisdom and power; counsel and understanding are his.

¹⁴What he tears down cannot be rebuilt;
the man he imprisons cannot be released.

¹⁵If he holds back the waters, there is drought;
if he lets them loose, they devastate the
land.

¹⁶To him belong strength and victory;
both deceived and deceiver are his.

¹⁷He leads counselors away stripped and makes fools of judges.

¹⁸He takes off the shackles put on by kings and ties a loincloth^d around their waist.

¹⁹He leads priests away stripped and overthrows men long established.

²⁰He silences the lips of trusted advisers
and takes away the discernment of elders.

²¹He pours contempt on nobles
and disarms the mighty.

²²He reveals the deep things of darkness and brings deep shadows into the light.

²³He makes nations great, and destroys them;
he enlarges nations, and disperses them.

²⁴He deprives the leaders of the earth of their reason;

he sends them wandering through a trackless waste.

²⁵They grope in darkness with no light;
he makes them stagger like drunkards.

13 "My eyes have seen all this,
my ears have heard and understood it.

²What you know, I also know;
I am not inferior to you.

³But I desire to speak to the Almighty
and to argue my case with God.

⁴You, however, smear me with lies;
you are worthless physicians, all of you!

⁵If only you would be altogether silent!
For you, that would be wisdom.

⁶Hear now my argument;
listen to the plea of my lips.

11:14 Unfair Accusation

Zophar, the least tactful of the three friends, made direct accusations against Job, repeating the common refrain that Job was being punished for some sin. In a speech recorded in chapter 12, Job agreed in principle that God rewards the righteous and punishes the wicked. But in his own case he knew he was innocent. No matter how convincing their arguments, he had to protest against them.

8Will you show him partiality?

9Would it turn out well if he examined you?
Could you deceive him as you might deceive men?
10He would surely rebuke you if you secretly showed partiality.
11Would not his splendor terrify you?
Would not the dread of him fall on you?
12Your maxims are proverbs of ashes;
your defenses are defenses of clay.
13"Keep silent and let me speak;
then let come to me what may.
14Why do I put myself in jeopardy
and take my life in my hands?
15Though he slay me, yet will I hope in him;
I will surely^a defend my ways to his face.
16Indeed, this will turn out for my deliverance,
for no godless man would dare come before him!
17Listen carefully to my words;
let your ears take in what I say.
18Now that I have prepared my case,
I know I will be vindicated.

If so, I will be silent and die
20"Only grant me these two things, O God,
and then I will not hide from you:
21Withdraw your hand far from me,
and stop frightening me with your terrors.
22Then summon me and I will answer,
or let me speak, and you reply.
23How many wrongs and sins have I committed?
Show me my offense and my sin.
24Why do you hide your face
and consider me your enemy?
25Will you torment a windblown leaf?
Will you chase after dry chaff?
26For you write down bitter things against me
and make me inherit the sins of my youth.
27You fasten my feet in shackles;
you keep close watch on all my paths
by putting marks on the soles of my feet.
28"So man wastes away like something rotten,
like a garment eaten by moths.

14 "Man born of woman is of few days and full of trouble.

²He springs up like a flower and withers away;
like a fleeting shadow, he does not endure.

13:15 A Desperate Hope

This statement more than any other shows the depth of Job's faith, and the reason he made good on God's challenge against Satan. He valued his faith in God even above his own life. He asked only for a "day in court," a chance to confront God personally and hear an explanation.

- ³Do you fix your eye on such a one?
Will you bring him^b before you for judgment?
4Who can bring what is pure from the impure?
No one!
5Man's days are determined;
you have decreed the number of his months
and have set limits he cannot exceed.
6So look away from him and let him alone,
till he has put in his time like a hired man.
7"At least there is hope for a tree:
If it is cut down, it will sprout again,
and its new shoots will not fail.
8Its roots may grow old in the ground and its stump die in the soil, 9yet at the scent of water it will bud
and put forth shoots like a plant.
10But man dies and is laid low;
he breathes his last and is no more.
11As water disappears from the sea
or a riverbed becomes parched and dry, 12so man lies down and does not rise;
till the heavens are no more, men will not awake
or be roused from their sleep.
13"If only you would hide me in the grave^c
and conceal me till your anger has passed!
If only you would set me a time
and then remember me!
14If a man dies, will he live again?
All the days of my hard service
I will wait for my renewal^d to come.
15You will call and I will answer you;
you will long for the creature your hands
have made 16Surely then you will count my steps
but not keep track of my sin.
17My offenses will be sealed up in a bag;
you will cover over my sin.
18"But as a mountain erodes and crumbles
and as a rock is moved from its place, 19as water wears away stones
and torrents wash away the soil,
so you destroy man's hope.
20You overpower him once for all, and he is gone;
you change his countenance and send him
away.
21If his sons are honored, he does not know it;
if they are brought low, he does not see it.
22He feels but the pain of his own body
and mourns only for himself."

Eliphaz

15 Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied:

- ²"Would a wise man answer with empty

 and your lips are set against you.

18 Are you the first man ever born?
 Were you brought forth before the hills?
 Did you listen in on God's council?
 Did you get wisdom to yourself?
 What do you know that we do not know?
 What insights do you have that we do not have?

19 The gray-haired and the aged are on our side,
 men even older than your father;
 are not their consolations not enough for you,
 words spoken gently to you?
 Why has your heart carried you away,
 and why do your eyes flash
 so that you vent your rage against God and pour out such words from your mouth?

20 What is man, that he could be pure,
 or one born of woman, that he could be righteous?

21 If God places no trust in his holy ones,
 if even the heavens are not pure in his eyes,
 how much less man, who is vile and corrupt,
 who drinks up evil like water!

22 Listen to me and I will explain to you let me tell you what I have seen,
 what wise men have declared,
 hiding nothing received from their fathers (to whom alone the land was given when no alien passed among them).
 23 All his days the wicked man suffers torment,
 the ruthless through all the years stored up
 for him.
 24 Terrifying sounds fill his ears,
 when all seems well, marauders attack
 him.
 25 He despairs of escaping the darkness;
 he is marked for the sword.
 26 He wanders about—food for vultures,
 he knows the day of darkness is at hand.
 27 Distress and anguish fill him with terror;
 they overwhelm him, like a king poised to attack.
 28 Because he shakes his fist at God
 and vaunts himself against the Almighty, 29 defiantly charging against him with a thick, strong shield.
 30 Though his face is covered with fat
 and his waist bulges with flesh,

31 he will inhabit ruined towns
 and houses where no one lives, houses crumbling to rubble.
 32 He will no longer be rich and his wealth will not endure,
 nor will his possessions spread over the
 land.

33 He will not escape the darkness,
 a flame will wither his shoots,
 and the breath of God's mouth will carry him away.

34 Let him not deceive himself by trusting what is worthless,
 for he will get nothing in return.

35 Before his time he will be paid in full,
 and his branches will not flourish.

36 He will be like a vine stripped of its unripe grapes,
 like an olive tree shedding its blossoms.

37 For the company of the godless will be barren, and fire will consume the tents of those who love bribes.

38 They conceive trouble and give birth to evil;
 their womb fashions deceit."

Job

16 Then Job replied:

2 "I have heard many things like these,
 miserable comforters are you all!
 3 Will your long-winded speeches never end?
 What ails you that you keep on arguing?
 4 I also could speak like you,
 if you were in my place;
 I could make fine speeches against you
 and shake my head at you.
 5 But my mouth would encourage you;
 comfort from my lips would bring you relief.
 6 "Yet if I speak, my pain is not relieved;
 and if I refrain, it does not go away.
 7 Surely, O God, you have worn me out;
 you have devastated my entire household.
 8 You have bound me—and it has become a witness;
 my gauntness rises up and testifies against
 me.
 9 God assails me and tears me in his anger
 and gnashes his teeth at me;
 my opponent fastens on me his piercing eyes.
 10 Men open their mouths to jeer at me;
 they strike my cheek in scorn
 and unite together against me.

15:4 Job's Moods

Job minced no words in his complaints against God. As a result, his friends criticized him for undermining piety and hindering devotion to God. Notably, in his summing-up speech God did not condemn Job's varying moods; he instead dismissed the pious words of Job's friends.

16:9 When God Seems Angry

In his trauma, Job could not help feeling that he was the object of God's anger. Many people who undergo great pain feel the same. In Job's case, however, we know that God was not angry with him. He had held him up before Satan as "a man who fears God and shuns evil" (1:8).

JOB 16:11

God has turned me over to evil men and thrown me into the clutches of the wicked
All was well with me but he shattered me,
he seized me by the neck and crushed me
He has made me his target,
his archers surround me Without pity he pierces my kidneys and spills my gall on the ground
Again and again he bursts upon me,
he rushes at me like a warrior
I have sewed sackcloth over my skin
and buried my brow in the dust.
My face is red with weeping,
deep shadows ring my eyes;
Yet my hands have been free of violence
and my prayer is pure.

O earth, do not cover my blood;
may my cry never be laid to rest!
Even now my witness is in heaven;
my advocate is on high
My intercessor is my friend^a
as my eyes pour out tears to God;
On behalf of a man he pleads with God
as a man pleads for his friend.
Only a few years will pass
before I go on the journey of no return.

17 My spirit is broken
my days are cut short,
the grave awaits me
Surely mockers surround me;
my eyes must dwell on their hostility.

Give me, O God, the pledge you demand.
Who else will put up security for me?
You have closed their minds to understanding;
therefore you will not let them triumph.
If a man denounces his friends for reward,
the eyes of his children will fail.

God has made me a byword to everyone,
a man in whose face people spit.
My eyes have grown dim with grief;
my whole frame is but a shadow.
Upright men are appalled at this;
the innocent are aroused against the ungodly
Nevertheless, the righteous will hold to their ways,
and those with clean hands will grow stronger

But come on, all of you, try again!
I will not find a wise man among you.
My days have passed, my plans are shattered,
and so are the desires of my heart.
These men turn night into day;
in the face of darkness they say, 'Light is near.'
If the only home I hope for is the grave,^b
if I spread out my bed in darkness,
If I say to corruption, 'You are my father,'
and to the worm, 'My mother' or 'My sister,'

Where then is my hope?

Who can see any hope for me?

Will it go down to the gates of death?^c
Will we descend together into the dust?"

Bildad

18 Then Bildad the Shuhite replied:

"When will you end these speeches?
Be sensible, and then we can talk.

Why are we regarded as cattle and considered stupid in your sight?

You who tear yourself to pieces in your anger,
is the earth to be abandoned for your sake?
Or must the rocks be moved from their place?

The lamp of the wicked is snuffed out;
the flame of his fire stops burning.

The light in his tent becomes dark;
the lamp beside him goes out.

The vigor of his step is weakened;
his own schemes throw him down.

His feet thrust him into a net
and he wanders into its mesh.

A trap seizes him by the heel;
a snare holds him fast.

A noose is hidden for him on the ground;
a trap lies in his path.

Terrors startle him on every side
and dog his every step.

Calamity is hungry for him;
disaster is ready for him when he falls.

It eats away parts of his skin;
death's firstborn devours his limbs.

He is torn from the security of his tent
and marched off to the king of terrors.

Fire resides in his tent;
burning sulfur is scattered over his dwelling.

His roots dry up below
and his branches wither above.

The memory of him perishes from the earth;
he has no name in the land.

He is driven from light into darkness
and is banished from the world.

He has no offspring or descendants among his
people,
no survivor where once he lived.

Men of the west are appalled at his fate;
men of the east are seized with horror.

Surely such is the dwelling of an evil man;
such is the place of one who knows not God."

17:12 A Wrong Time for Cheer

Falsely cheerful advice can actually make a suffering person even more discouraged. Job's sentiments in this passage are echoed in a verse from Proverbs: "Like one who takes away a garment on a cold day, or like vinegar poured on soda, is one who sings songs to a heavy heart" (25:20).

19 Then Job replied

¹How long will you torment me
and crush me with words?
²Ten times now you have reproached me,
shamelessly you attack me.
³If it is true that I have gone astray,
my error remains my concern alone.
⁴If indeed you would exalt yourselves above me
and use my humiliation against me, then know that God has wronged me
and drawn his net around me.

⁵"Though I cry, 'I've been wronged!' I get no

⁶He has blocked my way so I cannot pass,
he has shrouded my paths in darkness.

⁷He has stripped me of my honor and removed the crown from my head.

⁸He tears me down on every side till I am gone;
he uproots my hope like a tree.

⁹His anger burns against me;
he counts me among his enemies.

¹⁰His troops advance in force;
they build a siege ramp against me
and encamp around my tent.

¹¹He has alienated my brothers from me,

20 Then Zophar the Naamathite replied.

those who have seen him will say, 'Where is banished like a vision of the night.

⁸The eye that saw him will not see him again;
his place will look on him no more.

and he hides it under his tongue,

and keeps it in his mouth,

him.

¹⁴He will spit out the riches he swallowed;
God will make his stomach vomit them up.

¹⁵He will suck the poison of serpents;
the fangs of an adder will kill him.

¹⁶He will not enjoy the streams,
the rivers flowing with honey and cream.

19:25 An Outburst of Hope

In the midst of his deepest agony, Job expressed astonishing words of hope. This prophecy expands on two other flashes of hope (9:33; 16:19-21). Job did not try to hide his despair and anguish, but, as this verse shows, the trials never crushed all of his hope.

But surely he will have no respite from his craving;
he cannot save himself by his treasure.

Nothing is left for him to devour;
his prosperity will not endure.

In the midst of his plenty, distress will overtake him.

The full force of misery will come upon him.
When he has filled his belly,

God will vent his burning anger against him
and rain down his blows upon him.

Though he flees from an iron weapon,
a bronze-tipped arrow pierces him.

He pulls it out of his back,
the piercing point out of his liver.

Terror will come over him.

Darkness lies in wait for his treasures;
a fire untanned will consume him and devour what is left in his tent.

The heavens will expose his guilt;
the earth will rise up against him.

A flood will carry off his house;
rushing waters on the day of God's wrath.
Such is the fate God allots the wicked,
the heritage appointed for them by God.

Job

21 Then Job replied:

"Listen carefully to my words,
let this be the consolation you give me.

Bear with me while I speak,
and after I have spoken, mock on.

"Is my complaint directed to man?
Why should I not be impatient?

Look at me and be astonished,
clap your hand over your mouth.

When I think about this, I am terrified;
trembling seizes my body.

Why do the wicked live on,
growing old and increasing in power?

They see their children established around
them,

their offspring before their eyes.

Their homes are safe and free from fear;
the rod of God is not upon them.

Their bulls never fail to breed;
their cows calve and do not miscarry.

INSIGHT

What Job Teaches about Suffering

The problem of pain and the book of Job

But those who suffer he delivers in their suffering; he speaks to them in their affliction." 36:15

"Why me?" Almost everyone asks this question when terrible suffering strikes. Lack of food, sickness, no work—each of these raises intense questions about why God allows pain.

Over the centuries, suffering Christians have gained help and comfort from studying the book of Job. The book gives no compact theory of why good people suffer. Nevertheless, the following insights into the problem of suffering do come out of the book of Job.

Principles from Job

1. Some suffering is caused by Satan. Chapters 1 and 2 make the important distinction that God did not cause Job's problems. He allowed them, but Satan actually caused the pain.

2. God is all-powerful and good. Nowhere does the book of Job suggest that God lacks power or goodness. Some people say that God is weak and powerless to prevent human suffering. Others, called deists, assume he runs the world at a distance, without personal involvement. But in Job, God's power is never questioned; only his fairness. And in his final summation speech, God used splendid illustrations from nature to prove his power.

3. Suffering doesn't always come as a result of sin. The Bible supports the general principle that "a man reaps what he sows" even in this life (see Psalms 1:3; 37:25). But other people have no right to apply that general principle to a particular person. Job's friends tried with all their persuasive power. However, when God rendered the final verdict, he said simply, "You have not spoken of me what is right as my servant Job has" (42:7). The Old Testament includes other examples of people who suffered through no fault of their own, such as Abel (Genesis 4) and Uriah (2 Samuel 11). And Jesus spoke out against the notion that suffering implies sin (see John 9:1-5 and Luke 13:1-5).

4. God will reward and punish fairly in a final judgment after death. Job's friends, along with most Old Testament folk, did not have a clearly formed belief in an afterlife. Therefore, they expected that God's fairness—his approval or disapproval of people—had to be shown in this life. Other parts of the Bible teach that God will reward and punish fairly after death.

11 They send forth their children as a flock their little ones, free about.
12 They sing to the noise of tambourine and harp.
13 They make merry to the sound of the flute.
14 They spend their years in prosperity and go down to the grave in peace.^a 15 Yet they say to God, "Leave us alone!
We have no desire to know your ways.
16 Who is the Almighty, that we should serve
him?
17 What would we gain by praying to him?"
18 But their prosperity is not in their own hands,

21:7 Some Wicked People Do Prosper

In most of his speeches Job accepted the general principle that evil people suffer punishment in this life. But in this speech he began to question that theory. He cited examples of wicked people who lived comfortable, successful lives. His meandering thoughts proved so convincing to him that he concluded his friends' advice was "nonsense" (verse 34).

but I stand aloof from the counsel of the wicked.

17 "Yet how often is the lamp of the wicked extinguished?
18 How often does calamity come upon them
the fate God allots in his anger?
19 How often are they like straw before the wind,
like chaff swept away by a gale?
20 It is said, "God stores up a man's iniquity for his evil."
21 Let him repay the man himself, so that he will know it!
22 Let his own eyes see his destruction,
let him drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
23 For what does he care about the family he leaves behind
when his allotted months come to an end?

22 "Can anyone teach knowledge to God, since he judges even the highest?
23 One man dies in full vigor,
completely secure and at ease,
24 His body well nourished,
his bones rich with marrow.
25 Another man dies in bitterness of soul,
never having enjoyed anything good.

^a11 Hebrew sheol. ^b13 Or in an instant. ^c17, 20 Verses 17 and 18 may be taken as exclamations and 19 and 21 as hortatory.
^d24 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

5. God does not condemn doubt and despair. God did not condemn Job's anguished responses, only his ignorance. Job did not take his pain meekly; he cried out in anguish to God. His strong remarks scandalized his friends (see, for example, 15:1-16), but not God. Ironically, despite his bitter speeches, Job earned God's praise, while his pious friends were soundly rebuked.

6. No one person has all the facts about suffering. Neither Job nor his friends had enough facts. Job concluded God was unfair, treating him like an enemy. His friends maintained that God opposed Job because of his sin. All of them later learned they had been viewing the situation from a very limited perspective, blind to the real struggle being waged in heaven.

7. God is never totally silent. Elihu made that point convincingly, reminding Job of dreams, visions, past blessings, even the daily works of God in nature (chapter 33). God also appealed to nature as giving evidence of his wisdom and power. Although he may seem silent, some evidence of him can be found. One contemporary author expressed that truth this way, "Remember in the darkness what you have learned in the light."

8. Well-intentioned advice can sometimes do more harm than good. Job's friends were classic examples of people who let their pride and sense of being right interfere with their compassion. They repeated pious phrases and argued theology with Job. His response: "If only you would be altogether silent! For you, that would be wisdom" (13:5).

9. God asks for faith. God refocused the central issue from the cause of Job's suffering to his response. Mysteriously, God never gave an explanation for the problem of suffering. He did not even inform Job of the reason behind it: the contest recorded in chapters 1 and 2. He concentrated instead on Job's response. The real issue at stake was Job's faith, whether he would continue to trust God even when everything went wrong.

10. Suffering can be used for a higher good. In Job's case, God used a time of very great pain to win an important, even cosmic, victory over Satan. Looking backward, but only looking backward, we can see the "advantage" Job gained by continuing to trust God. Job is often cited as an Old Testament picture of Jesus Christ, who lived a perfectly innocent life but endured great pain and death. The terrible event of Christ's death was also transformed into a great victory.

Thousands of years later, Job's questions have not gone away. People who suffer still find themselves borrowing Job's own words as they cry out against God's seeming lack of concern. But Job affirms that God is not deaf to our cries and is in control of this world no matter how it looks. God did not answer all Job's questions, but his very appearance caused Job's doubts to melt away. Job learned that God cared about him and that God rules the world. It was enough.

Life Questions Do these principles from Job match up with what you have heard about suffering from other Christians?

- 26Side by side they lie in the dust,
and worms cover them both.
- 27I know full well what you are thinking,
the schemes by which you would wrong me.
- 28You say, 'Where now is the great man's house,
the tents where wicked men lived?'
- 29Have you never questioned those who travel?
Have you paid no regard to their accounts—30that the evil man is spared from the day of calamity,
that he is delivered from^a the day of wrath?
- 31Who denounces his conduct to his face?
Who repays him for what he has done?
- 32He is carried to the grave,
and watch is kept over his tomb
- 33The soil in the valley is sweet to him;
all men follow after him,
and a countless throng goes^b before him.
- 34'So how can you console me with your nonsense?
Nothing is left of your answers but falsehood!'

Eliphaz

- 22 Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied
- 2'Can a man be of benefit to God?
Can even a wise man benefit him?
- 3What pleasure would it give the Almighty if you were righteous?
What would he gain if your ways were
blameless?
- 4'Is it for your piety that he rebukes you
and brings charges against you?
- 5Is not your wickedness great?
Are not your sins endless?
- 6You demanded security from your brothers for
no reason,
you stripped men of their clothing, leaving them naked
- 7You gave no water to the weary
and you withheld food from the hungry,
- 8though you were a powerful man, owning
land—
an honored man, living on it.
- 9And you sent widows away empty-handed
and broke the strength of the fatherless.
- 10That is why snares are all around you,
why sudden peril terrifies you,
- 11why it is so dark you cannot see,
and why a flood of water covers you.
- 12'Is not God in the heights of heaven?
And see how lofty are the highest stars!

22:6 The Attacks Get Personal

Unable to convince Job through philosophizing, Eliphaz shifted to more personal attacks against Job's behavior. These arguments were perhaps the unkindest of all, and Job specifically refuted each one in his closing speech (chapters 29-31).

- 13Yet you say, 'What does God know?
Does he judge through such darkness?
- 14Thick clouds veil him, so he does not see us
as he goes about in the vaulted heavens.'
- 15Will you keep to the old path
that evil men have trod?
- 16They were carried off before their time,
their foundations washed away by a flood.
- 17They said to God, 'Leave us alone!
What can the Almighty do to us?'
- 18Yet it was he who filled their houses with good things,
so I stand aloof from the counsel of the
wicked
- 19'The righteous see their ruin and rejoice;
the innocent mock them, saying,
- 20'Surely our foes are destroyed,
and fire devours their wealth.'
- 21'Submit to God and be at peace with him;
in this way prosperity will come to you.
- 22Accept instruction from his mouth
and lay up his words in your heart.
- 23If you return to the Almighty, you will be restored:
If you remove wickedness far from your tent
- 24and assign your nuggets to the dust,
your gold of Ophir to the rocks in the ravines,
- 25then the Almighty will be your gold,
the choicest silver for you.
- 26Surely then you will find delight in the Almighty
and will lift up your face to God.
- 27You will pray to him, and he will hear you,
and you will fulfill your vows.
- 28What you decide on will be done,
and light will shine on your ways.
- 29When men are brought low and you say, 'Lift them up!'
then he will save the downcast.
- 30He will deliver even one who is not innocent,
who will be delivered through the cleanness of your hands."

Job

- 23 Then Job replied:
- 2'Even today my complaint is bitter;
his hand^c is heavy in spite of^d my groaning.
- 3If only I knew where to find him;
if only I could go to his dwelling!
- 4I would state my case before him
and fill my mouth with arguments.
- 5I would find out what he would answer me,
and consider what he would say.
- 6Would he oppose me with great power?
No, he would not press charges against me.
- 7There an upright man could present his case
before him,
and I would be delivered forever from my judge.
- 8'But if I go to the east, he is not there;
if I go to the west, I do not find him.

when he has tested me, I will come forth as gold.
11My feet have closely followed his steps,
I have kept to his way without turning aside.
12I have not departed from the commands of his lips,
I have treasured the words of his mouth
more than my daily bread.

13"But he stands alone, and who can oppose him?

He does whatever he pleases.
14He carries out his decree against me,
and many such plans he still has in store.
15That is why I am terrified before him;
when I think of all this, I fear him.
16God has made my heart faint;
the Almighty has terrified me.
17Yet I am not silenced by the darkness,
by the thick darkness that covers my face.

24 "Why does the Almighty not set times for judgment?
Why must those who know him look in vain
for such days?

2Men move boundary stones;
they pasture flocks they have stolen.
3They drive away the orphan's donkey
and take the widow's ox in pledge.
4They thrust the needy from the path
and force all the poor of the land into hiding.
5Like wild donkeys in the desert,
the poor go about their labor of foraging
— food;
the wasteland provides food for their children.
6They gather fodder in the fields and glean in the vineyards of the wicked.
7Lacking clothes, they spend the night naked;
they have nothing to cover themselves in the cold.
8They are drenched by mountain rains
and hug the rocks for lack of shelter.
9The fatherless child is snatched from the breast;
the infant of the poor is seized for a debt.
10Lacking clothes, they go about naked;
they carry the sheaves, but still go hungry.
11They crush olives among the terraces;
they tread the winepresses, yet suffer thirst.
12The groans of the dying rise from the city,
and the souls of the wounded cry out for help.
But God charges no one with wrongdoing.
13"There are those who rebel against the light,
who do not know its ways
or stay in its paths.
14When daylight is gone, the murderer rises up and kills the poor and needy;

in the night he steals forth like a thief, 15The eye of the adulterer watches for dusk;
he thinks, 'No eye will see me,'
and he keeps his face concealed.
16In the dark, men break into houses,
but by day they shut themselves in;
they want nothing to do with the light.
17For all of them, deep darkness is their morning^a;
they make friends with the terrors of darkness.^c

18"Yet they are foam on the surface of the water;
their portion of the land is cursed,
so that no one goes to the vineyards.
19As heat and drought snatch away the melted snow,
so the grave^d snatches away those who have sinned.

20The womb forgets them,
the worm feasts on them;
evil men are no longer remembered
but are broken like a tree.
21They prey on the barren and childless woman,
and to the widow show no kindness.
22But God drags away the mighty by his power;
though they become established, they have no assurance of life.
23He may let them rest in a feeling of security,
but his eyes are on their ways.
24For a little while they are exalted, and then they are gone;
they are brought low and gathered up like all others;
they are cut off like heads of grain.

25"Is this not so, who can prove me false and reduce my words to nothing?"

Bildad

25 Then Bildad the Shuhite replied:

2"Dominion and awe belong to God;
he establishes order in the heights of heaven.

3Can his forces be numbered?

Upon whom does his light not rise?

4How then can a man be righteous before God?
How can one born of woman be pure?

and the stars are not pure in his eyes,

25:6 Where Is God?

In the speech recorded in chapters 23-24, Job movingly described the feeling of God's absence at his time of greatest need. God must also seem absent to the poor, the fatherless, and all those suffering without relief, he said. Bildad replied with the shortest speech in the book (chapter 25). He questioned whether any person ("who is but a maggot . . . a worm") had the right to challenge God so boldly.

27 And Job continued his discourse

²“As surely as God lives, who has denied and their widows will not weep for them.

¹⁶Though he heaps up silver like dust
and clothes like piles of clay,

¹⁷what he lays up the righteous will wear,
and the innocent will divide his silver.

¹⁸The house he builds is like a moth's cocoon,
like a hut made by a watchman.

¹⁹He lies down wealthy, but will do so no more;
when he opens his eyes, all is gone.

²⁰Terrors overtake him like a flood,
a tempest snatches him away in the night.

²¹The east wind carries him off, and he is gone;
it sweeps him out of his place.

²²It hurls itself against him without mercy
as he flees headlong from its power.

²³It claps its hands in derision and hisses him out of his place.

26:14 A Faint Whisper of God

The book of Job contains some of the best nature poetry ever written; it frequently cites nature as one of the proofs of God's existence. Job himself never denied God's power. All the wonders of nature, he said, are “but the outer fringe of his works,” a faint whisper of God. His complaint was not about power, but about justice. How could a God so powerful treat him so unfairly?

28:1 A Poem on Wisdom

In the midst of one of his most beautiful speeches, Job included a self-contained poem on wisdom. It uses the analogy of mining precious metals to make the point that wisdom cannot be found by any amount of searching (28:1-19). God alone knows where it dwells. In the rest of the poem, Job admitted some things were beyond his understanding, then lapsed into a reminiscence of what life was like before his time of trials.

1The earth, from which food comes,
 is transformed below as by fire.
 2Sapphires^a come from its rocks
 and its dust contains nuggets of gold.
 No bird of prey knows that hidden path,
 no falcon's eye has seen it.
 3Proud beasts do not set foot on it,
 and no lion prowls there.
 4Man's hand assaults the flinty rock
 and lays bare the roots of the mountains.
 5He tunnels through the rock,
 his eyes see all its treasures.
 6He searches^b the sources of the rivers
 and brings hidden things to light.
 7"But where can wisdom be found?
 Where does understanding dwell?
 8Man does not comprehend its worth;
 it cannot be found in the land of the living.
 9The deep says, 'It is not in me';
 the sea says, 'It is not with me.'
 10It cannot be bought with the finest gold,
 nor can its price be weighed in silver.
 11It cannot be bought with the gold of Ophir,
 with precious onyx or sapphires.
 12Neither gold nor crystal can compare with it,
 nor can it be had for jewels of gold.
 13Coral and jasper are not worthy of mention;
 the price of wisdom is beyond rubies.
 14The topaz of Cush cannot compare with it;
 it cannot be bought with pure gold.
 15"Where then does wisdom come from?
 Where does understanding dwell?
 16It is hidden from the eyes of every living thing,
 concealed even from the birds of the air.
 17Destruction^c and Death say,
 'Only a rumor of it has reached our ears.'
 18God understands the way to it and he alone knows where it dwells, 19for he views the ends of the earth and sees everything under the heavens.
 20When he established the force of the wind and measured out the waters, 21when he made a decree for the rain
 and a path for the thunderstorm, 22then he looked at wisdom and appraised it;
 he confirmed it and tested it.
 23And he said to man,
 'The fear of the Lord—that is wisdom,
 and to shun evil is understanding.'"

29 Job continued his discourse:

1"How I long for the months gone by,
 for the days when God watched over me, 2when his lamp shone upon my head and by his light I walked through darkness!
 3Oh, for the days when I was in my prime,
 when God's intimate friendship blessed my house, 4when the Almighty was still with me and my children were around me, 5when my path was drenched with cream
 and the rock poured out for me streams of olive oil

6"When I went to the gate of the city and took my seat in the public square, 7the young men saw me and stepped aside
 and the old men rose to their feet, 8the chief men refrained from speaking and covered their mouths with their hands; 9the voices of the nobles were hushed,
 and their tongues stuck to the roof of their mouths.
 10Whoever heard me spoke well of me,
 and those who saw me commended me, 11because I rescued the poor who cried for help,
 and the fatherless who had none to assist him.
 12The man who was dying blessed me;
 I made the widow's heart sing.
 13I put on righteousness as my clothing;
 justice was my robe and my turban.
 14I was eyes to the blind
 and feet to the lame.
 15I was a father to the needy;
 I took up the case of the stranger.
 16I broke the fangs of the wicked and snatched the victims from their teeth.
 17"I thought, 'I will die in my own house,
 my days as numerous as the grains of sand.
 18My roots will reach to the water,
 and the dew will lie all night on my branches.
 19My glory will remain fresh in me,
 the bow ever new in my hand.'
 20Men listened to me expectantly, waiting in silence for my counsel.
 21After I had spoken, they spoke no more;
 my words fell gently on their ears.
 22They waited for me as for showers
 and drank in my words as the spring rain.
 23When I smiled at them, they scarcely believed it;
 the light of my face was precious to them.
 24I chose the way for them and sat as their chief;
 I dwelt as a king among his troops;
 I was like one who comforts mourners.

30 "But now they mock me,
 men younger than I,
 whose fathers I would have disdained
 to put with my sheep dogs.
 2Of what use was the strength of their hands to me,
 since their vigor had gone from them?
 3Haggard from want and hunger,
 they roamed^d the parched land
 in desolate wastelands at night.
 4In the brush they gathered salt herbs,
 and their food^e was the root of the broom tree.
 5They were banished from their fellow men,
 shouted at as if they were thieves.
 6They were forced to live in the dry stream beds,
 among the rocks and in holes in the ground.
 7They brayed among the bushes

 they were driven out of the land.
 9And now their sons mock me in song;
 I have become a byword among them.
 10They detest me and keep their distance;
 they do not hesitate to spit in my face.
 11Now that God has unstrung my bow and afflicted me,
 they throw off restraint in my presence.
 12On my right the tribe^a attacks;
 they lay snares for my feet,
 they build their siege ramps against me.
 13They break up my road;
 they succeed in destroying me—
 without anyone's helping them.^b 14They advance as through a gaping breach;
 amid the ruins they come rolling in.
 15Terrors overwhelm me;
 my dignity is driven away as by the wind,
 my safety vanishes like a cloud.
 16And now my life ebbs away;
 days of suffering grip me.
 17Night pierces my bones;
 my gnawing pains never rest.
 18In his great power God becomes like clothing
 to me;
 he binds me like the neck of my garment.
 19He throws me into the mud,
 and I am reduced to dust and ashes.
 20I cry out to you, O God, but you do not
 answer;
 I stand up, but you merely look at me.
 21You turn on me ruthlessly;
 with the might of your hand you attack me.
 22You snatch me up and drive me before the
 wind;
 you toss me about in the storm.
 23I know you will bring me down to death,
 to the place appointed for all the living.
 24Surely no one lays a hand on a broken man
 when he cries for help in his distress.
 25Have I not wept for those in trouble?
 Has not my soul grieved for the poor?
 26Yet when I hoped for good, evil came;
 when I looked for light, then came darkness.
 27The churning inside me never stops;
 days of suffering confront me.
 28I go about blackened, but not by the sun;
 I stand up in the assembly and cry for help.
 29I have become a brother of jackals,

 or my foot has hurried after deceit—

 if my heart has been led by my eyes,
 or if my hands have been defiled, 8then may others eat what I have sown,
 and may my crops be uprooted.

 or if I have lurked at my neighbor's door,

 and may other men sleep with her.

 a sin to be judged.

 it would have uprooted my harvest.
 13If I have denied justice to my menservants and maidservants
 when they had a grievance against me,

 What will I answer when called to account?

 them?
 Did not the same one form us both within our mothers?

 or let the eyes of the widow grow weary, 17if I have kept my bread to myself,
 not sharing it with the fatherless—

 father,
 and from my birth I guided the widow—19if I have seen anyone perishing for lack of clothing,
 or a needy man without a garment, 20and his heart did not bless me for warming him with the fleece from my sheep,
 21if I have raised my hand against the fatherless,
 knowing that I had influence in court, 22then let my arm fall from the shoulder,
 let it be broken off at the joint.

31:1 Binding Oaths

This chapter, Job's final line of defense, is written in a form that had legal significance to his hearers. Job was solemnly swearing his innocence in response to a whole series of accusations. He called down curses on himself if he could be proved wrong. The oaths were somewhat like our modern custom of swearing on the Bible "to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." Job's oaths impressed his three friends and effectively ended the debate. Then a new character, Elihu, joined in.

The words of Job are ended.

Elihu

INSIGHT

A Silent Friend Decides to Speak Up

Elihu, out of nowhere, proposes new ideas about suffering

"Not one of you has proved Job wrong; none of you has answered his arguments." 32:12

Up to this point in Job, the action has revolved around Job and his three friends. The debate among them, growing ever more heated, finally breaks off. They have reached a standoff. Job will not admit to any sin deserving of terrible punishment, and his three friends will not back down from their ideas about suffering.

Suddenly, a new voice is heard. Elihu, a young man, has been listening in silence all this time. He can restrain himself no longer. He flares up, first at Job for being so self-righteous and then at the three friends for not coming up with an answer to Job's questions. He refutes all four of them, turning their own words against them.

Is Elihu Right?

Elihu is shocked at Job's vigorous self-defense. Surely God cannot be unjust, he insists. Submit to the pain, even if you don't understand it. Don't blame God; praise him. God has shown too much of his wisdom and perfection, especially in nature, for anyone to doubt him.

Elihu offers a new explanation for Job's pain. Perhaps, he suggests, God gave suffering to Job not as punishment but as a purifying influence. God can use suffering to improve a person, if it is received in the right spirit.

Where did Elihu come from? Who is he? Are his theories right? Mystery surrounds the man. His speeches stand alone, and no one responds to them. As a result, the book of Job gives no clue on whether Elihu expressed a worthy point of view.

Some readers believe Elihu forms a bridge between the flawed theories of Job's three friends and God's own speech. Perhaps his speeches prepare the way for God's. Others see him as repeating the same fine-sounding, but not-quite-true, advice of Job's three friends.

When God does make an entrance, he dismisses Job's friends and has some mild criticism for Job. But he ignores Elihu entirely. Elihu remains a mysterious figure.

Life Questions: Do Elihu's arguments sound familiar? What do you think of friends who have similar thoughts about others who suffer?

the three friends, because they had found no way to refute Job, and yet had condemned him.^a ⁴Now Elihu had waited before speaking to Job because they were older than he. ⁵But when he saw that the three men had nothing more to say, his anger was aroused.

⁶So Elihu son of Barakel the Buzite said.

"I am young in years,
and you are old,
that is why I was fearful,
not daring to tell you what I know.

⁷I thought, 'Age should speak;
advanced years should teach wisdom.'

⁸But it is the spirit^b in a man,
the breath of the Almighty, that gives him
understanding.

⁹It is not only the old^c who are wise,
not only the aged who understand what is right

¹⁰"Therefore I say: Listen to me;
I too will tell you what I know.

¹¹I waited while you spoke,
I listened to your reasoning;
while you were searching for words,

¹²I gave you my full attention.
But not one of you has proved Job wrong,
none of you has answered his arguments.

¹³Do not say, 'We have found wisdom;
let God refute him, not man.'

¹⁴But Job has not marshaled his words against
me,
and I will not answer him with your arguments.

¹⁵"They are dismayed and have no more to say;
words have failed them.

¹⁶Must I wait, now that they are silent,
now that they stand there with no reply?

¹⁷I too will have my say;
I too will tell what I know.

¹⁸For I am full of words,
and the spirit within me compels me,

¹⁹inside I am like bottled-up wine,
like new wineskins ready to burst.

²⁰I must speak and find relief;
I must open my lips and reply.

²¹I will show partiality to no one,
nor will I flatter any man;

²²for if I were skilled in flattery,
my Maker would soon take me away.

33 "But now, Job, listen to my words;
pay attention to everything I say

²I am about to open my mouth;
my words are on the tip of my tongue.

³My words come from an upright heart;
my lips sincerely speak what I know.

⁴The Spirit of God has made me;
the breath of the Almighty gives me life.

⁵Answer me then, if you can;
prepare yourself and confront me.

⁶I am just like you before God,

I too have been taken from clay.

⁷No fear of me should alarm you,
nor should my hand be heavy upon you.

⁸"But you have said in my hearing—
I heard the very words—

⁹I am pure and without sin;
I am clean and free from guilt.

¹⁰Yet God has found fault with me;
he considers me his enemy.

¹¹He fastens my feet in shackles;
he keeps close watch on all my paths.^d

¹²"But I tell you, in this you are not right, for God is greater than man.

¹³Why do you complain to him that he answers none of man's words?^e

¹⁴For God does speak—now one way, now
another—

though man may not perceive it.

¹⁵In a dream, in a vision of the night,
when deep sleep falls on men
as they slumber in their beds,

¹⁶he may speak in their ears
and terrify them with warnings,

¹⁷to turn man from wrongdoing
and keep him from pride,

¹⁸to preserve his soul from the pit,^f
his life from perishing by the sword.^g

¹⁹Or a man may be chastened on a bed of pain
with constant distress in his bones,

²⁰so that his very being finds food repulsive
and his soul loathes the choicest meal.

²¹His flesh wastes away to nothing,
and his bones, once hidden, now stick out.

²²His soul draws near to the pit,^h and his life to the messengers of death.ⁱ

²³"Yet if there is an angel on his side
as a mediator, one out of a thousand,
to tell a man what is right for him,

²⁴to be gracious to him and say,
'Spare him from going down to the pit';
I have found a ransom for him'—

²⁵then his flesh is renewed like a child's;
it is restored as in the days of his youth.

²⁶He prays to God and finds favor with him,
he sees God's face and shouts for joy;
he is restored by God to his righteous state.

²⁷Then he comes to men and says,
'I sinned, and perverted what was right,
but I did not get what I deserved.

²⁸He redeemed my soul from going down to the pit,^j
and I will live to enjoy the light.'

²⁹"God does all these things to a man—twice, even three times—

³⁰to turn back his soul from the pit,^k
that the light of life may shine on him .

³¹"Pay attention, Job, and listen to me;
be silent, and I will speak.

³²If you have anything to say, answer me;
speak up, for I want you to be cleared.

34 Then Elihu said:

1Hear my words, you wise men;
listen to me, you men of learning;
2For the ear tests words
as the tongue tastes food.
3Let us discern for ourselves what is right;
4let us learn together what is good.

5Job says, "I am innocent
but God denies me justice."
6Although I am right,
I am considered a liar,
although I am guiltless,
his arrow inflicts an incurable wound."

7What man is like Job,
who drinks scorn like water?

8He keeps company with evildoers;
he associates with wicked men.

9For he says, "It profits a man nothing
when he tries to please God."

10"So listen to me, you men of understanding.
Far be it from God to do evil,
from the Almighty to do wrong.
He repays a man for what he has done;
he brings upon him what his conduct deserves.

11It is unthinkable that God would do wrong,
that the Almighty would pervert justice.

12Who appointed him over the earth?
Who put him in charge of the whole world?

13If it were his intention and he withdrew his spirit¹⁴ and breath,

14all mankind would perish together and man would return to the dust.

15If you have understanding, hear this;
listen to what I say.

16Can he who hates justice govern?

Will you condemn the just and mighty One?

17Is he not the One who says to kings, "You are
worthless,"

and to nobles, "You are wicked,"

18who shows no partiality to princes and does not favor the rich over the poor, for they are all the work of his hands?

19They die in an instant, in the middle of the night,

the people are shaken and they pass away;

the mighty are removed without human
hand.

21"His eyes are on the ways of men,
he sees their every step."

22There is no dark place, no deep shadow,
where evildoers can hide.

23God has no need to examine men further,
that they should come before him for judgment.

24Without inquiry he shatters the mighty and sets up others in their place.

25Because he takes note of their deeds,
he overthrows them in the night and they are crushed.

26He punishes them for their wickedness
where everyone can see them,

27because they turned from following him
and had no regard for any of his ways.

28They caused the cry of the poor to come before
him,
so that he heard the cry of the needy.
29But if he remains silent, who can condemn
him?

If he hides his face, who can see him?

Yet he is over man and nation alike,

30 to keep a godless man from ruling,
from laying snares for the people.

31"Suppose a man says to God,
"I am guilty but will offend no more."

32Teach me what I cannot see;
if I have done wrong, I will not do so again."

33Should God then reward you on your terms,
when you refuse to repent?

You must decide, not I;
so tell me what you know.

34"Men of understanding declare,
wise men who hear me say to me,

35"Job speaks without knowledge;
his words lack insight."

36Oh, that Job might be tested to the utmost for answering like a wicked man!

37To his sin he adds rebellion;
scornfully he claps his hands among us and multiplies his words against God."

35 Then Elihu said:

2"Do you think this is just?

You say, "I will be cleared by God."

3Yet you ask him, "What profit is it to me,"
and what do I gain by not sinning?"

4"I would like to reply to you and to your friends with you.

5Look up at the heavens and see;
gaze at the clouds so high above you.

6If you sin, how does that affect him?

If your sins are many, what does that do to
him?

7If you are righteous, what do you give to him,
or what does he receive from your hand?

8Your wickedness affects only a man like yourself,

33:30 Pain as a Warning

Elihu did not defend Job as innocent. But his arguments shifted the emphasis of suffering from punishment to warning. Perhaps, he suggested, God allows a man to suffer in order "to turn back his soul from the pit." Primarily, however, Elihu defended God's actions. "It is unthinkable that God would do wrong, that the Almighty would pervert justice" (34:12).

¹⁴ Or Spirit

¹² Or My righteousness is more than God's

¹³ Or you and your righteousness only the sons of men

⁹Men cry out under a load of oppression; they plead for relief from the arm of the powerful

¹⁰But no one says, "Where is God my Maker, who gives songs in the night, ¹¹who teaches more to us than to^a the beasts of the earth and makes us wiser than^b the birds of the air?"

¹²He does not answer when men cry out because of the arrogance of the wicked.

¹³Indeed, God does not listen to their empty plea; the Almighty pays no attention to it.

¹⁴How much less, then, will he listen when you say that you do not see him, that your case is before him and you must wait for him,

¹⁵and further, that his anger never punishes and he does not take the least notice of wickedness.^c

¹⁶So Job opens his mouth with empty talk; without knowledge he multiplies words."

²"Bear with me a little longer and I will show you that there is more to be said in God's behalf

³I get my knowledge from afar; I will ascribe justice to my Maker.

⁴Be assured that my words are not false; one perfect in knowledge is with you.

⁵"God is mighty, but does not despise men; he is mighty, and firm in his purpose.

⁶He does not keep the wicked alive but gives the afflicted their rights.

⁷He does not take his eyes off the righteous; he enthrones them with kings and exalts them forever.

⁸But if men are bound in chains, held fast by cords of affliction, ⁹he tells them what they have done—that they have sinned arrogantly.

¹⁰He makes them listen to correction and commands them to repent of their evil.

35:14 Is God Really Listening?

Readers differ on how true Elihu's words were. But in this chapter he seems to say Job had no right to argue before God or to ask for a personal appearance. Why should God be concerned about one man's wickedness or righteousness? he asks (verse 8). The opening chapters of the book, however, revealed how much hung on Job's responses. And ultimately God did step in and reveal himself. In fact, he made an entrance just as Elihu was explaining why God would not appear.

¹¹If they obey and serve him, they will spend the rest of their days in prosperity and their years in contentment.

¹²But if they do not listen, they will perish by the sword^d and die without knowledge.

¹³"The godless in heart harbor resentment; even when he fetters them, they do not cry for help.

¹⁴They die in their youth, among male prostitutes of the shrines.

¹⁵But those who suffer he delivers in their suffering; he speaks to them in their affliction.

¹⁶"He is wooing you from the jaws of distress to a spacious place free from restriction, to the comfort of your table laden with choice food.

¹⁷But now you are laden with the judgment due the wicked; judgment and justice have taken hold of you.

¹⁸Be careful that no one entices you by riches; do not let a large bribe turn you aside.

¹⁹Would your wealth or even all your mighty efforts sustain you so you would not be in distress?

²⁰Do not long for the night, to drag people away from their homes.^e ²¹Beware of turning to evil, which you seem to prefer to affliction.

²²"God is exalted in his power. Who is a teacher like him?

²³Who has prescribed his ways for him, or said to him, "You have done wrong?"

²⁴Remember to extol his work, which men have praised in song.

²⁵All mankind has seen it; men gaze on it from afar.

²⁶How great is God—beyond our understanding! The number of his years is past finding out.

²⁷"He draws up the drops of water, which distill as rain to the streams/;

²⁸the clouds pour down their moisture and abundant showers fall on mankind.

²⁹Who can understand how he spreads out the clouds,

how he thunders from his pavilion?

³⁰See how he scatters his lightning about him, bathing the depths of the sea.

The Lord Speaks

38 Then the Lord answered Job out of the storm. He said:

"Who is this that darkens my counsel
 with words without knowledge?

Brace yourself like a man;
 I will question you,
 and you shall answer me.

"Where were you when I laid the earth's foundation?

Tell me, if you understand.

 know!

Who stretched a measuring line across it?

 or who laid its cornerstone—

while the morning stars sang together and all the angels^d shouted for joy?

"Who shut up the sea behind doors
 when it burst forth from the womb,

when I made the clouds its garment
 and wrapped it in thick darkness,

when I fixed limits for it and set its doors and bars in place,

when I said, "This far you may come and no farther;

here is where your proud waves halt?"

"Have you ever given orders to the morning,
 or shown the dawn its place,

that it might take the earth by the edges
 and shake the wicked out of it?

The earth takes shape like clay under a seal;
 its features stand out like those of a garment.

The wicked are denied their light,
 and their upraised arm is broken.

"Have you journeyed to the springs of the sea
 or walked in the recesses of the deep?

Have the gates of death been shown to you?
 Have you seen the gates of the shadow of death?

Have you comprehended the vast expanses of
 the earth?

Tell me, if you know all this.

37:7 The Message of a Blizzard

Anyone who has lived in a northern city can identify with Elihu's comment about a snowstorm. A blizzard "stops every man from his labor," as schools, businesses, and buses shut down. It's a reminder, says Elihu, of God's undeniable power.

38:21 God Pulls Out the Stops

God is not above using sarcasm, as this barb directed at Job clearly shows. His entire speech stressed the vast difference between a God of all creation and one puny man like Job. "Do you have an arm like God's?" he asked (40:9).

^a7 Or, he fills all men with fear by his power

And where does darkness reside?
20 Can you take them to their places?
Do you know the paths to their dwellings?
21 Surely you know, for you were already born!
You have lived so many years!

22 "Have you entered the storehouses of the snow
or seen the storehouses of the hail, 23 which I reserve for times of trouble,
for days of war and battle?

24 What is the way to the place where the

or the place where the east winds are scattered over the earth?
25 Who cuts a channel for the torrents of rain,
and a path for the thunderstorm,
26 to water a land where no man lives,

27 to satisfy a desolate wasteland
and make it sprout with grass?

God Speaks to Job

At last, Job gets what he demanded

"Will the one who contends with the Almighty correct him? Let him who accuses God answer him!" 40:2

In the span of a few days Job experienced more tragedy than most people encounter in a lifetime. He scratched himself with shards of pottery and mourned the day he was born. He could not even suffer with dignity; he had to endure his wife's taunts and his friends' ramblings. Nothing anyone said helped him.

Through it all, Job steadfastly refused to turn his back on God. He had only one request. He wanted to hear from God in person. He wanted an explanation straight from the Source.

At last Job got his wish. God answered Job with a speech often quoted for its majesty and beauty. In a touch of irony, God made his entrance just as Elihu was explaining why Job could not expect a direct answer from him.

Not the Expected Message

God's reply resembled a nature lesson more than an explanation of the problem of suffering. He pointed out, one by one, all the creations that gave him greatest pride. In short, God asked Job, "Do you want to try running the universe for a while? Go ahead, try designing an ostrich, or a mountain goat, or even a snowflake."

Astonishingly, the question of suffering itself did not even come up. Yet somehow Job seemed satisfied—humiliated, actually. "Surely I spoke of things I did not understand," he confessed, "things too wonderful for me to know" (42:3).

Job Passes the Test

Job had endured his terrible sufferings in the dark. When he needed God most, God had stayed silent. And that was exactly the point of the contest begun at the beginning of the book, back in chapter 1. Satan had promised God that Job would "surely curse you to your face." He lost the challenge. Despite everything that happened, Job did not curse God. He clung to his belief in a just God, even when everything in his experience seemed to contradict it.

God had some words of correction for Job. No one, not Job and especially not his friends, had the evidence needed to make judgments about how he runs the world. But mainly, God had praise for Job. He called him "my servant," and, in an ironic twist, told the three friends to go to Job and ask for his mercy (42:7-8). Much later, in the book of Ezekiel (14:14), God included Job in a list of the finest human examples of righteousness.

The book of Job ends on a note of surprise. Job's friends, who had spouted all the right pieties and clichés, ask for forgiveness. Job, who had raged and cried out, is given twice as much as he ever had before. "And so he died, old and full of years" (42:17).

Life Questions: In Job's place, what kind of answer would you have wanted from God? Does God's reply to Job surprise you?

- 8^a Would you discredit my justice?^a
 Would you condemn me to justify yourself?
 9 Do you have an arm like God's,
 and can your voice thunder like his?
 10 Then adorn yourself with glory and splendor
 and clothe yourself in honor and majesty.
 11 Unleash the fury of your wrath;
 look at every proud man and bring him low.
 12 Look at every proud man and humble him,
 crush the wicked where they stand.
 13 Bury them all in the dust together;
 shroud their faces in the grave.
 14 Then I myself will admit to you that your own right hand can save you.
- 15 Look at the behemoth^b
 which I made along with you and which feeds on grass like an ox.
 16 What strength he has in his loins,
 what power in the muscles of his belly!
 17 His tail^b sways like a cedar;
 the sinews of his thighs are close-knit.
 18 His bones are tubes of bronze,
 his limbs like rods of iron.
 19 He ranks first among the works of God, yet his Maker can approach him with his sword.
 20 The bulls bring him their produce,
 and all the wild animals play nearby.
 21 Under the lotus plants he lies,
 hidden among the reeds in the marsh.
 22 The lotuses conceal him in their shadow;
 the poplars by the stream surround him.
 23 When the river rages, he is not alarmed;
 he is secure, though the Jordan should surge against his mouth.
 24 Can anyone capture him by the eyes,^c or trap him and pierce his nose?
- 41 Can you pull in the leviathan^d with a fishhook
 or tie down his tongue with a rope?
 2 Can you put a cord through his nose or pierce his jaw with a hook?
 3 Will he keep begging you for mercy?
 Will he speak to you with gentle words?
 4 Will he make an agreement with you

- for you to take him as your slave for life?
 5 Can you make a pet of him like a bird or put him on a leash for your girls?
 6 Will he defer to you for hire?
 Will he shake his tail up among the merchants?
 7 Can you fill his hide with harpoons
 or his head with fishing spears?
 8 If you lay a hand on him,
 you will remember the struggle and never do it again!
 9 Any hope of subduing him is false;
 the mere sight of him is overpowering.
 10 No one is fierce enough to rouse him.
 Who then is able to stand against me?
 11 Who has a claim against me that I must pay?
 Everything under heaven belongs to me.
- 12 I will not fail to speak of his limbs,
 his strength and his graceful form.
 13 Who can strip off his outer coat?
 Who would approach him with a bridle?
 14 Who dares open the doors of his mouth,
 ringed about with his fearsome teeth?
 15 His back has rows of shields tightly sealed together; 16 each is so close to the next that no air can pass between.
 17 They are joined fast to one another,
 they cling together and cannot be parted.
 18 His snorting throws out flashes of light;
 his eyes are like the rays of dawn.
 19 Firebrands stream from his mouth,
 sparks of fire shoot out.
 20 Smoke pours from his nostrils
 as from a boiling pot over a fire of reeds.
 21 His breath sets coals ablaze,
 and flames dart from his mouth.
 22 Strength resides in his neck;
 dismay goes before him.
 23 The folds of his flesh are tightly joined;
 they are firm and immovable.
 24 His chest is hard as rock,
 hard as a lower millstone.
 25 When he rises up, the mighty are terrified;
 they retreat before his thrashing.
 26 The sword that reaches him has no effect,
 nor does the spear or the dart or the javelin.
 27 Iron he treats like straw and bronze like rotten wood.
 28 Arrows do not make him flee;
 slingstones are like chaff to him.
 29 A club seems to him but a piece of straw;
 he laughs at the rattling of the lance.
 30 His undersides are jagged potsherds, leaving a trail in the mud like a threshing sledge.
 31 He makes the depths churn like a boiling caldron
 and stirs up the sea like a pot of ointment.
 32 Behind him he leaves a glistening wake,
 one would think the deep had white hair.
 33 Nothing on earth is his equal—
 a creature without fear.

40:15 What Are Behemoth and Leviathan?

No one is quite sure what is meant by these two words, so the English Bible leaves them untranslated. The behemoth resembles a hippopotamus or elephant. The leviathan has some features of a crocodile and some of a dragon. In other places, the Bible refers to the leviathan as either a whale-like creature (Psalm 104:26) or a serpent or monster of the sea (Isaiah 27:1). God used the leviathan as a symbol of something powerful and uncontrollable. Job got the message: if you can't take on one of God's fearsome creatures, don't attempt to take on God.

Job

42 Then Job replied to the Lord:

²"I know that you can do all things;
no plan of yours can be thwarted

³You asked, 'Who is this that obscures my counsel without knowledge?'

Surely I spoke of things I did not understand,

things too wonderful for me to know

⁴"You said, 'Listen now, and I will speak;
I will question you,
and you shall answer me.'

⁵My ears had heard of you but now my eyes have seen you.

⁶Therefore I despise myself and repent in dust and ashes."

Epilogue

⁷After the Lord had said these things to Job, he said to Eliphaz the Temanite, "I am angry with you and your two friends, because you have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has.
⁸So now take seven bulls and seven rams and go to my servant Job and sacrifice a burnt offering for yourselves. My servant Job will pray for you, and I will accept his prayer and not deal with you according to your folly. You have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has." ⁹So Eliphaz

the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite did what the Lord told them; and the Lord accepted Job's prayer.

¹⁰After Job had prayed for his friends, the Lord made him prosperous again and gave him twice as much as he had before. ¹¹All his brothers and sisters and everyone who had known him before came and ate with him in his house. They comforted and consoled him over all the trouble the Lord had brought upon him, and each one gave him a piece of silver and a gold ring.

¹²The Lord blessed the latter part of Job's life more than the first. He had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, a thousand yoke of oxen and a thousand donkeys. ¹³And he also had seven sons and three daughters. ¹⁴The first daughter he named Jemimah, the second Keziah and the third Keren-Happuch. ¹⁵Nowhere in all the land were there found women as beautiful as Job's daughters, and their father granted them an inheritance along with their brothers.

¹⁶After this, Job lived a hundred and forty years;
he saw his children and their children to the fourth generation. ¹⁷And so he died, old and full of years.

INTRODUCTION

Cries from the Heart

Songs for sorrow as well as joy

You are my hiding place; you will protect me from trouble and surround me with songs of deliverance. 32

Here at the very center of the Bible are songs rising up like a tune from its heart. They capture the innermost thoughts and prayers of Old Testament people—and they still speak directly to our needs.

For every emotion and mood, you can find a psalm to match. The psalms wrestle with the deepest sorrow and ask God the hardest questions about suffering and injustice. Their voice is refreshingly spontaneous. They do not tip flowers, compliments toward God; they cry out to him, or shout for joy before him.

After you read these poems, you can't think of the Old Testament as dry and rule-bound. Nor is the Old Testament God distant and impersonal. In almost every psalm you find the presence of God, not as a philosophical principle, but as an active, strong, and loving ruler—a God who makes a difference in life.

How Did the Psalms Come Together?

While almost half of the psalms are credited to David—at least one was written 500 years after his birth. A number of poets and writers contributed, and about a third of the psalms are completely anonymous.

How did the psalms come together? They seem to have been compiled as a hymnbook for use in temple worship. Some psalms were written from an individual's experiences, but were adapted for congregational use. Directions for musicians were added, along with a few verses to widen the psalms' meaning to everybody.

The psalms show tremendous variation, reflecting the many personalities who contributed their poems and prayers over several centuries. Yet readers have found an inner consistency in the whole book, so they can move from one psalm to the next without being particularly aware that one poem is centuries older than another. Some have called the psalms a Bible within the Bible—different books telling a single story.

Others have compared the book of Psalms to a beautiful cathedral built over centuries. Each wing and each window show the individual genius of its designers, yet all the parts are somehow harmonious. This harmony comes not merely from a common sense of style, but from unity of purpose: the whole cathedral is made for the worship of one and the same God. Just so, the psalms reflect, in a hundred moods and experiences, the never-changing reality of a strong and loving God, who cares for his people.

The Presence of Real Enemies

God is not the only reality in the psalms. Equally persistent are enemies who sneer and hurt and plot violence. They, too, appear in nearly every psalm. For the psalmists, faith in God was a struggle against powerful forces that often seemed more real than God.

The psalm writers frequently asked, "Where are you, God? Why don't you help me?" Despite the love of God, they often felt abandoned, misused, betrayed. They found no guarantee of safety in their closeness to God. The joy and praise that saturate these prayers came, not from an absence of problems, but from a deep conviction that a great God would overcome them.

Jesus, dying on the cross, twice expressed himself in the words of psalms (22:1 and 31:5), and his disciples, in trying to explain his life, quoted from Psalms more than any other book. They appear to have meditated on the psalms often as they considered the meaning of Jesus' life. In the psalms they could see that even the best men—even David, the great king—suffer agony and feel abandoned.

Living by faith is not easy. It was not for David; it was not for Jesus either. These psalms of praise, praise and worship, some of the most beautiful ever written, offer no suggestions or hints as to how to live by faith. Yet while read the questions, struggles and discouragements have a strong voice in these psalms, more powerful still is the voice of joy and victory. In the strength and beauty of God, the Lord himself.

How to Read Psalms

The best way to read the psalms is just the most common way: to make these ancient poems your own and sing them out loud. As many of the psalms catch deep human feelings that you can help being moved by them.

But in all the psalms seem alike, some about such with congratulations or having you will not find it easy to pray these under your understanding of them.

And there are so many psalms. This is the longest book in the Bible. To compensate many people read only selected psalms, skimming over the others. But then they miss the deeper messages found there, including the messages that the New Testament writers use when they quoted Psalms more than any other Old Testament book. The richest lessons many Psalms may come from particularly difficult poems you must read again and again until you begin to see what the author had in mind.

The original Hebrew of these poems probably used no rhyme or strict rhythm as traditional English poems do. Instead the psalmists wrote with parallelism, making one thought by a rhyming thought or by its opposite. For more on this, see Understanding the Bible: Parallelism, page 44. Fortunately, this kind of poem can be translated into almost any language without loss.

Readers may be confused by the psalms' frequent change of voice. In a single poem the psalmist may talk to God, then talk about him, and then return to talking to him, all in rapid succession. This would be strange English prose, but was common in Hebrew poetry.

Because so many of the psalm titles refer to David, you may find it helpful to refer to his life story. It is found in 1 Samuel 16-11, the whole book of 2 Samuel, and the first two chapters of 1 Kings. However, most of the psalms can make perfect sense without reference to any outside information. They merely ask—and reward—time and close attention. Read and reread them. They grow richer with careful study.

BOOK I

Psalms 1-41

Psalm 1

¹Blessed is the man
who does not walk in the counsel of the wicked
or stand in the way of sinners
or sit in the seat of mockers.
²But his delight is in the law of the LORD,
and on his law he meditates day and night.
³He is like a tree planted by streams of water,
which yields its fruit in season
and whose leaf does not wither.
Whatever he does prospers.
⁴Not so the wicked!
They are like chaff
that the wind blows away.
⁵Therefore the wicked will not stand in the
judgment,
nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.
⁶For the LORD watches over the way of the
righteous,
but the way of the wicked will perish.

Psalm 2

¹Why do the nations conspire^a
and the peoples plot in vain?
²The kings of the earth take their stand and the rulers gather together against the LORD
and against his Anointed One.^b

1:4 Blowing in the Wind

The opposite of "a tree planted by streams" (verse 3) should be a tree withered by drought—and so it is in Jeremiah 17:5-8, which paints a similar contrast between good and bad people. This image of the wicked as "chaff," however, is far more absolute—for chaff, utterly worthless even for a fire, is blown away by the wind. God's judgment day is what finally makes the wicked seem like chaff.

2:2 The Messiah in the Psalms

Israelite kings and priests were anointed with oil when they took office. The "Anointed One" probably originally meant "king." It came, however, to stand for more. The Hebrew word is masiah, which became Messiah and translated into Greek as Christos or Christ. This psalm was understood in the New Testament as referring to Jesus—for no Old Testament king ever gained the control of the nations implied here. You can find quotations in Acts 4:25-26; 13:33; Hebrews 1:5; 5:5; and Revelation 2:27; 12:5; and 19:15.

³"Let us break their chains," they say,
"and throw off their fetters."

⁴The One enthroned in heaven laughs;
the Lord scoffs at them.
⁵Then he rebukes them in his anger
and terrifies them in his wrath, saying, ⁶"I have installed my King^c on Zion, my holy hill."

⁷I will proclaim the decree of the LORD:

He said to me, "You are my Son^d;
today I have become your Father."^e

⁸Ask of me,
and I will make the nations your inheritance,
the ends of the earth your possession.
⁹You will rule them with an iron scepter;
you will dash them to pieces like pottery."

¹⁰Therefore, you kings, be wise;
be warned, you rulers of the earth.
¹¹Serve the LORD with fear and rejoice with trembling.
¹²Kiss the Son, lest he be angry
and you be destroyed in your way,
for his wrath can flare up in a moment.
Blessed are all who take refuge in him.

Psalm 3

A psalm of David. When he fled from his son Absalom.

¹O LORD, how many are my foes!
How many rise up against me!
²Many are saying of me,
"God will not deliver him."^a Selah

³But you are a shield around me, O LORD;
you bestow glory on me and lift^b up my head.

⁴To the LORD I cry aloud,
and he answers me from his holy hill. Selah

⁵I lie down and sleep;
I wake again, because the LORD sustains me.

⁶I will not fear the tens of thousands drawn up against me on every side.

⁷Arise, O LORD!
Deliver me, O my God!
Strike all my enemies on the jaw;
break the teeth of the wicked.

⁸From the LORD comes deliverance.
May your blessing be on your people. Selah

Psalm 10^a

- 1 Why, O LORD, do you stand far off?
Why do you hide yourself in times of trouble?
- 2 In his arrogance the wicked man hunts down the weak,
who are caught in the schemes he devises.
- 3 He boasts of the cravings of his heart;
he blesses the greedy and reviles the LORD.
- 4 In his pride the wicked does not seek him;
in all his thoughts there is no room for God.
- 5 His ways are always prosperous,
he is haughty and your laws are far from him.
he sneers at all his enemies.
- 6 He says to himself, "Nothing will shake me, I'll always be happy and never have trouble."
- 7 His mouth is full of curses and lies and threats;
trouble and evil are under his tongue.
- 8 He lies in wait near the villages;
from ambush he murders the innocent,
watching in secret for his victims.
- 9 He lies in wait like a lion in cover,
he lies in wait to catch the helpless;
he catches the helpless and drags them off in his net.
- 10 His victims are crushed, they collapse;
they fall under his strength.
- 11 He says to himself, "God has forgotten;
he covers his face and never sees."
- 12 Arise, LORD! Lift up your hand, O God.
Do not forget the helpless.
- 13 Why does the wicked man revile God?
Why does he say to himself,
"He won't call me to account?"
- 14 But you, O God, do see trouble and grief;
you consider it to take it in hand.
The victim commits himself to you;
you are the helper of the fatherless.
- 15 Break the arm of the wicked and evil man;
call him to account for his wickedness
that would not be found out.
- 16 The LORD is King for ever and ever;
the nations will perish from his land.
- 17 You hear, O LORD, the desire of the afflicted;
you encourage them, and you listen to their cry.
- 18 defending the fatherless and the oppressed,
in order that man, who is of the earth, may terrify no more.

Psalm 11

For the director of music. Of David.

- 1 In the LORD I take refuge.
How then can you say to me:
"Flee like a bird to your mountain."

- 2 For look, the wicked bend their bows,
they set their arrows against the strings
to shoot from the shadows
at the upright in heart.
- 3 When the foundations are being destroyed,
what can the righteous do?"
- 4 The LORD is in his holy temple,
the LORD is on his heavenly throne.
He observes the sons of men;
his eyes examine them.
- 5 The LORD examines the righteous,
but the wicked and those who love
violence
his soul hates.
- 6 On the wicked he will rain
fiery coals and burning sulfur;
a scorching wind will be their lot.
- 7 For the LORD is righteous,
he loves justice;
upright men will see his face.

A psalm of David.

- 1 Help, LORD, for the godly are no more,
the faithful have vanished from among men.
- 2 Everyone lies to his neighbor;
their flattering lips speak with deception.
- 3 May the LORD cut off all flattering lips
and every boastful tongue.
- 4 that says, "We will triumph with our tongues;
we own our lips—who is our master?"
- 5 "Because of the oppression of the weak
and the groaning of the needy,
I will now arise," says the LORD.
"I will protect them from those who malign them."
- 6 And the words of the LORD are flawless,
like silver refined in a furnace of clay,
purified seven times.
- 7 O LORD, you will keep us safe
and protect us from such people forever.
- 8 The wicked freely strut about when what is vile is honored among men.

12:4 Who Owns Your Lips?

Repeatedly the Bible stresses that your talk can do tremendous good or evil. One key distinctive is suggested here: wicked people use words to build themselves up over others. They insist that no one has the right to tell them what to say.

A prayer of David

Hear my righteous plea,
 O LORD, my prayer—
 do not rise from deceitful lips.
 May my statement come from you,
 for my eyes see what is right.

Thou shalt probe my heart and examine me
 at night,
 though you test me, you will find nothing.
 I have resolved that my mouth will not sin.

As for the deeds of men—
 by the word of your lips
 I have kept myself
 from the ways of the violent.

My steps have held to your paths,
 my feet have not slipped.

I call on you, O God, for you will answer me;
 give ear to me and hear my prayer.

Show the wonder of your great love,
 you who save by your right hand
 those who take refuge in you from their foes.

Keep me as the apple of your eye;
 hide me in the shadow of your wings
 from the wicked who assail me,
 from my mortal enemies who surround me.

They close up their callous hearts,
 and their mouths speak with arrogance.

They have tracked me down, they now surround me,
 with eyes alert, to throw me to the ground.

They are like a lion hungry for prey,
 like a great lion crouching in cover.

Rise up, O LORD, confront them, bring them
 down,
 rescue me from the wicked by your sword.

O LORD, by your hand save me from such
 men,
 from men of this world whose reward is in this life.

You still the hunger of those you cherish;
 their sons have plenty,
 and they store up wealth for their children.

And I—in righteousness I will see your face;
 when I awake, I will be satisfied with seeing your likeness.

17:15 The Face of God

While the psalms often ask God to provide "refuge" in a time of trouble, they also look forward to "seeing his face"—a goal that is valuable only to someone who deeply loves God. To see God's face is to see and know him personally, deeply, and without the clouds of mystery that so often make faith difficult.

Psalm 18

For the director of music Of David the servant of the LORD He sang to the LORD the words of this song when the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul He said:

Life after Death

When you die, will it all be over?

You will not abandon me to the grave, nor will you let your Holy One see decay. 16:10

What happens to you after you die? People have always wanted an answer to that, and the psalmists were no different. They lived in an age without effective medicine, in an age when wars were fought hand-to-hand. Dead bodies were a familiar reality. Yet death, however familiar, remained mysterious and frightening to them.

Israelites called the dark and shadowy place where dead people go “Sheol.” When you got there, your life seemed thoroughly finished. The psalmists emphatically did not want to go there, and they asked God, when praying for his help, what possible good there might be in death: “Are your wonders known in the place of darkness, or your righteous deeds in the land of oblivion?” (Psalm 88:12). Sheol was the great leveler: it meant the end of plans, of worship, of a relationship with God (Psalms 146:4; 30:9; 88:5). The dead were found there, not the living.

God's Power over Death

Yet some psalms also hint at a happier view. They hold such a strong view of God's authority that they show—vaguely, but unmistakably—God's power over the grave. For instance, God is in Sheol (Psalm 139:8). He—and only he—can redeem a person from there (49:7-9, 15). God will not let his “Holy One” see decay—a claim that both Peter and Paul saw as a clear prediction of Jesus' resurrection from the dead (Psalm 16:10, quoted in Acts 2:27; 13:35).

What did they expect life after death to be like, if God's power redeemed someone from Sheol? You won't find a clearly defined picture of heaven here; only hints. The psalmists' thoughts center on God's face and his presence. For God is the only unchangeable reality: wherever you are, in life or in death, he will be there. He is the ultimate reward to those who love him.

The expectation of God's face shows through in Psalms 16:8-11; 17:15; 49:15; 73:23-26. But for a clearer perspective on life after death, you must read, in the Old Testament, Isaiah 26:19 and Daniel 12:1-3, and in the New Testament, 2 Corinthians 5:1-10, among many other passages.

19:7 The Names of God

After describing the skies as a reflection of God's glory in the first six verses, Psalm 19 switches gears. From the sun, moon, and stars it turns to consider the beauty of God's law. Reflecting that change, the poem in Hebrew uses a different, more personal name for God. The first six verses refer to God with a general name that anyone, of any religion, might use—just like our English word God. But from verse seven onwards, God is called Yahweh (translated "the Lord")—the personal name God revealed to Moses from the burning bush (Exodus 3:15). The heavens declare the glory of God, but God's law reveals even more—his personal voice to his chosen people. He introduces himself to them by his first name, as it were.

1 beat them as fine as dust borne on the wind,
I poured them out like mud in the streets.

2 You have delivered me from the attacks of the
people.

You have made me the head of nations,
people I did not know are subject to me.

3 As they hear me they obey me,
they come to me and encamp before me.

4 I have said, and my heart has heard.

5 I have seen them trembling from their strongholds.

6 Blessed lives! Praise be to my Rock!
Exalted be God my Savior!

7 He is the God who avenges me,
who subdues nations under me,

8 who saves me from my enemies.
You exalted me above my foes;

from violent men you rescued me.

9 Therefore I will praise you among the nations,
O LORD;

I will sing praises to your name.

10 He gives his king great victories,
he shows unfailing kindness to his anointed,
to David and his descendants forever.

Psalm 19

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

The heavens declare the glory of God,
the skies proclaim the work of his hands.

2 Day after day they pour forth speech,
night after night they display knowledge.

3 There is no speech or language
where their voice is not heard.

4 Their voice goes out into all the earth,
their words to the ends of the world.

In the heavens he has pitched a tent for the sun.

5 which is like a bridegroom coming forth

Psalm 21

For the director of music. A psalm of David

- 1 O LORD, the king rejoices in your strength.
How great is his joy in the victories you give!
- 2 You have granted him the desire of his heart and have not withheld the request of his lips. Selah
- 3 You welcomed him with rich blessings and placed a crown of pure gold on his head.
- 4 He asked you for life, and you gave it to him—
length of days, for ever and ever.
- 5 Through the victories you gave, his glory is great;
you have bestowed on him splendor and majesty
- 6 Surely you have granted him eternal blessings and made him glad with the joy of your presence.
- 7 For the king trusts in the LORD;
through the unfailing love of the Most High
he will not be shaken.
- 8 Your hand will lay hold on all your enemies;
your right hand will seize your foes.
- 9 At the time of your appearing
you will make them like a fiery furnace.
In his wrath the LORD will swallow them up,
and his fire will consume them.
- 10 You will destroy their descendants from the earth,
their posterity from mankind.
Though they plot evil against you and devise wicked schemes, they cannot succeed;
- 12 for you will make them turn their backs
when you aim at them with drawn bow.
- 13 Be exalted, O LORD, in your strength;
we will sing and praise your might.

Psalm 22

For the director of music. To the tune of "The Doe of the Morning." A psalm of David

- 1 My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?
Why are you so far from saving me,
so far from the words of my groaning?
- 2 O my God, I cry out by day, but you do not answer,
by night, and am not silent.
- 3 Yet you are enthroned as the Holy One;
you are the praise of Israel.^a
- 4 In you our fathers put their trust,
they trusted and you delivered them.
- 5 They cried to you and were saved,
in you they trusted and were not disappointed

- 6 But I am a worm and not a man,
scorned by men and despised by the people.
- 7 All who see me mock me;
they hurl insults, shaking their heads.
- 8 "He trusts in the LORD;
let the LORD rescue him.
Let him deliver him,
since he delights in him."
- 9 Yet you brought me out of the womb;
you made me trust in you
even at my mother's breast.
- 10 From birth I was cast upon you;
from my mother's womb you have been my God.
- 11 Do not be far from me,
for trouble is near
and there is no one to help.
- 12 Many bulls surround me;
strong bulls of Bashan encircle me.
- 13 Roaring lions tearing their prey
open their mouths wide against me.
- 14 I am poured out like water,
and all my bones are out of joint.
My heart has turned to wax;
it has melted away within me.
- 15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd,
and my tongue sticks to the roof of my mouth;
you lay me^b in the dust of death.
- 16 Dogs have surrounded me;
a band of evil men has encircled me,
they have pierced^c my hands and my feet.
- 17 I can count all my bones;
people stare and gloat over me.
- 18 They divide my garments among them
and cast lots for my clothing.
- 19 But you, O LORD, be not far off;
O my Strength, come quickly to help me.
- 20 Deliver my life from the sword,
my precious life from the power of the dogs.
- 21 Rescue me from the mouth of the lions;
save^d me from the horns of the wild oxen.
- 22 I will declare your name to my brothers;
in the congregation I will praise you.
- 23 You who fear the LORD, praise him!
All you descendants of Jacob, honor him!
Revere him, all you descendants of Israel!
- 24 For he has not despised or disdained
the suffering of the afflicted one;
he has not hidden his face from him
but has listened to his cry for help.
- 25 From you comes the theme of my praise in the great assembly,
before those who fear you^e will I fulfill my vows.
- 26 The poor will eat and be satisfied,
they who seek the LORD will praise him—
may your hearts live forever!

Psalm 22

A psalm of David

21 All the ends of the earth will remember and turn to the Lord, and all the families of the nations
will bow down before him, 22 for dominion belongs to the Lord
and he rules over the nations.

23 All the rich of the earth will feast and worship,
all who go down to the dust will kneel
before him,
those who cannot keep themselves alive
will serve him;
future generations will be told about the Lord.
24 They will proclaim his righteousness to a people yet unborn
for he has done it.

24 Or through the darkest valley

25 When I come to my affliction, I shall call to the Lord and he will answer me.

26 He makes me hear his voice in great distress,
he leads me beside quiet waters,
27 he restores my soul.
He guides me in paths of righteousness
for his name's sake.

28 Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil,
for you are with me,
your rod and your staff,
they comfort me.

The Song of the Cross

Even the best people sometimes suffer

They divide my garments among them and cast lots for my clothing. 22:18

Sometimes the Old Testament seems like an almost endless stream of stories about good people versus bad people. The good people are the Israelites, and the bad people are the nations around them. The Israelites have moments when they get off track, worshiping idols and acting like their bad neighbors. But when they turn back to God they always seem to win and often win "big." The ending in story after story is happy. God is on their side.

Yet, in Psalm 22, and a few other places, the "good man" story doesn't fit—at all. This poem, credited to David, the great king and man "after God's own heart," tells of tremendous suffering with no relief from God. It sounds like a mob scene, a lynching. The good man's enemies have him. They surround him, jeering, like a pack of dogs. He is helpless and exhausted. All he can do is cry to God.

The psalmist wavers back and forth, first crying out his misery, then taking stock of God's wonderful character, then describing his misery again. The whole poem is a prayer to God. Although this cry has gone up day and night (verse 2), God remains silent.

Whose Humiliations?

Then, at verse 22, the poem takes a dramatic turn, switching from grief to jubilation. Somehow, God has saved the sufferer who, in great excitement, tells others about it. He sees more than his own good fortune: he foresees this deliverance spilling over into the whole world. He predicts the story of God's help told to future generations forever. God will be worshiped by the entire world.

A person might read Psalm 22 as an extravagantly poetic description of David's troubles. But Jesus and the writers of the New Testament saw something more in it. When Jesus was dying on the cross, he had this psalm on his lips (Matthew 27:46). Afterward, when his disciples wanted to explain Jesus' life and sufferings, they turned to this psalm and others like it.

In them the disciples saw a pattern and a foreshadowing. The pattern is redemptive suffering. If good men do not always win, if God seems actually to desert them—if David himself, the great leader and true man of God, knew these pains—then surely no one is exempt. And this suffering has a point. After it (and because of it) come victory and power, and the salvation of the world. This pattern helped Jesus' followers appreciate why Jesus, along with his followers, had to suffer.

A Fulfillment of Prophecy

Psalm 22 also helped the New Testament writers to see Jesus' life as a fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy. Jews had expected a warrior-Messiah, a son of David who, like David, would lead his people to victory through battle. In Psalm 22 they saw that David had left another legacy: victory through suffering. The Messiah would lead his followers in suffering. Only Isaiah had put it more clearly, in his famous "servant" passages (Isaiah 42:1-9; 49:1-7; 50:4-9; 52:13-53:12). Psalm 22 stretches beyond the time of David; Jesus fits it perfectly.

Life Questions: Have you ever seen good come out of suffering for your friends or family?

⁵You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
You anoint my head with oil,
my cup overflows.
⁶Surely goodness and love will follow me
all the days of my life,
and I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

Psalm 24

Of David. A psalm.

¹The earth is the LORD's, and everything in it,
the world, and all who live in it, ²for he founded it upon the seas
and established it upon the waters.
³Who may ascend the hill of the LORD?
Who may stand in his holy place?
⁴He who has clean hands and a pure heart,
who does not lift up his soul to an idol or swear by what is false.^a ⁵He will receive blessing from the LORD and vindication from God his Savior.
⁶Such is the generation of those who seek
him
who seek your face, O God of Jacob.^b Selah ⁷Lift up your heads, O you gates;
be lifted up, you ancient doors,
that the King of glory may come in.
⁸Who is this King of glory?
The LORD strong and mighty,
the LORD mighty in battle.
⁹Lift up your heads, O you gates;
lift them up, you ancient doors,
that the King of glory may come in.
¹⁰Who is he, this King of glory?
The LORD Almighty—
he is the King of glory. Selah

Psalm 25:

Of David.

¹To you, O LORD, I lift up my soul;
²in you I trust, O my God.
Do not let me be put to shame,
nor let my enemies triumph over me.
³No one whose hope is in you will ever be put to shame,
but they will be put to shame
who are treacherous without excuse.
⁴Show me your ways, O LORD,
teach me your paths;
⁵guide me in your truth and teach me,
for you are God my Savior,
and my hope is in you all day long.
⁶Remember, O LORD, your great mercy and
love,
for they are from of old.
⁷Remember not the sins of my youth

and my rebellious ways;
according to your love remember me,
for you are good, O LORD.

⁸Good and upright is the LORD;
therefore he instructs sinners in his ways.
⁹He guides the humble in what is right and teaches them his way.
¹⁰All the ways of the LORD are loving and faithful
for those who keep the demands of his covenant.
¹¹For the sake of your name, O LORD,
forgive my iniquity, though it is great.
¹²Who, then, is the man that fears the LORD?
He will instruct him in the way chosen for
him.
¹³He will spend his days in prosperity,
and his descendants will inherit the land.
¹⁴The LORD confides in those who fear him;
he makes his covenant known to them.
¹⁵My eyes are ever on the LORD, for only he will release my feet from the snare.
¹⁶Turn to me and be gracious to me,
for I am lonely and afflicted.
¹⁷The troubles of my heart have multiplied;
free me from my anguish.
¹⁸Look upon my affliction and my distress
and take away all my sins.
¹⁹See how my enemies have increased and how fiercely they hate me!
²⁰Guard my life and rescue me;
let me not be put to shame,
for I take refuge in you.
²¹May integrity and uprightness protect me,
because my hope is in you.
²²Redeem Israel, O God,
from all their troubles!

Psalm 26

Of David.

¹Vindicate me, O LORD,
for I have led a blameless life;
I have trusted in the LORD
without wavering.
²Test me, O LORD, and try me,
examine my heart and my mind;
³for your love is ever before me,
and I walk continually in your truth.
⁴I do not sit with deceitful men,
nor do I consort with hypocrites;
⁵I abhor the assembly of evildoers
and refuse to sit with the wicked.
⁶I wash my hands in innocence,
and go about your altar, O LORD, ⁷proclaiming aloud your praise
and telling of all your wonderful deeds.
⁸I love the house where you live, O LORD,
the place where your glory dwells.

Psalm 27

Of David

whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the stronghold of my life—
whom shall I be afraid?

when my enemies and my foes attack me,
they will stumble and fall.
³Though an army besiege me,
my heart will not tear;
though war break out against me,
even then will I be confident.
⁴One thing I ask of the LORD,
this is what I seek that I may dwell in the house of the LORD
all the days of my life,
to gaze upon the beauty of the LORD
and to seek him in his temple.
⁵For in the day of trouble
he will keep me safe in his dwelling,
he will hide me in the shelter of his tabernacle
and set me high upon a rock.
⁶Then my head will be exalted above the enemies who surround me,

26:1 Self-Righteous?

This claim to be blameless or righteous—repeated many times in other psalms—should not be stretched too far. Whenever the psalmists examined themselves before God, they acknowledged their deep need for forgiveness (see 143:2; 19:12; 32:1-5; and 130:3).

Here, though, the issue is God's fairness. Knowing little about life after death, the psalmists expected that good people would do better in this life than bad people. They were deeply puzzled when they did not. Didn't God control every event? In calling for justice, they emphasized that they had been more faithful to God than their enemies.

Compared to the people plotting murder and betrayal against him, the psalmist was blameless. In a wholehearted, sincere way he had followed God. He was no hypocrite. He responds like a person swearing in court about his traffic accident: "My driving is blameless." He doesn't mean he never makes a mistake. He means only that he doesn't deserve punishment.

at his tabernacle will I sacrifice with shouts of joy;

I will sing and make music to the LORD.

⁷Hear my voice when I call, O LORD;
be merciful to me and answer me.

⁸My heart says of you, "Seek his face!"
Your face, LORD, I will seek.

⁹Do not hide your face from me,
do not turn your servant away in anger;
you have been my helper.
Do not reject me or forsake me,
O God my Savior.

¹⁰Though my father and mother forsake me,
the LORD will receive me.

¹¹Teach me your way, O LORD;
lead me in a straight path
because of my oppressors.

¹²Do not turn me over to the desire of my foes,
for false witnesses rise up against me,
breathing out violence.

¹³I am still confident of this:
I will see the goodness of the LORD
in the land of the living.

¹⁴Wait for the LORD;
be strong and take heart
and wait for the LORD.

as I lift up my hands

but harbor malice in their hearts.

repay them for what their hands have done and bring back upon them what they

Lyrics for the Living God

The psalms were meant to be sung—and shouted

Sing to him a new song; play skillfully, and shout for joy. 33:3

William Booth, believing the 19th-century English church had become too refined to reach the cities' poor, took the gospel into the streets. He organized his workers into a "salvation army," complete with uniforms and military rank.

With hecklers and drunks abounding, the "army" didn't always find preaching easy or safe. A local builder, Charles William Fry, offered himself and his three sons as bodyguards. As it happened all four played brass instruments, which they carried along to accompany singing.

Booth's rowdier supporters were soon dragging along concertinas, bells, hunting horns, banjos, tambourines, and drums to praise the Lord. Said one leader, "It sounds as if a brass band's gone out of its mind."

Salvation Army recruits did not stick to traditional hymns but invented their own words for rousing popular tunes. "Here's to Good Old Whiskey" became "Storm the Forts of Darkness." Booth had his doubts about this trend until one night, hearing a beautiful rendition of "Bless His Name, He Sets Me Free," he asked about the tune. "Why, Mr. Booth, that's 'Champagne Charlie Is My Name,'" the embarrassed singer replied.

"That settles it," Booth said. "Why should the devil have all the best tunes?" Soon 400 bands were crashing about England, playing hit tunes with Christian words.

The Best Music Available

David and his people would have liked that spirit. Many of the psalms were meant to be sung, and sung joyfully. Modern church formality seems far removed from their frequent command: "Sing for joy! Shout aloud!" Their instruments included cymbals, tambourines, trumpets, ram's horns, harps, and lyres. Sometimes dancing erupted. The world, in the psalmist's imagination, can't contain the delight God inspires. A new song must be sung. "Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth, burst into jubilant song" (98:4).

First Chronicles 15:16 and 23:5 report that David appointed 4,000 professional musicians to provide their services to the temple. They offered the best music available, and the congregation joined in. Nobody knows exactly what it sounded like, but scholars doubt it was all soft and soothing. Musicians improvised. Most of the instruments used suggest rousing, rhythmic sound.

Every generation of Christians renews the discovery of this "new song," sometimes through the music of their forebears, sometimes in a form that shocks their solemn elders. The Salvation Army did, and so did the Jesus Movement of the 60's. David would not have been surprised. He jolted his own wife with spontaneous dancing (see 1 Chronicles 15:29). When people know God, they come to life with a jubilant song on their lips.

Life Questions: When you sing to God, what kind of emotions do you hope to feel? What kind of music contributes to that?

11 Come, my children, listen to me;
I will teach you the fear of the LORD

and deliver you from all your troubles;
and your eyes shall see the LORD
and your heart shall find him.
and your heart shall find him.
and your heart shall find him.

12 The righteous cry out, and the LORD hears
and his anger is kindled against those who do evil.
and he will deliver them from all their troubles.
and he will deliver them from all their troubles.

13 The righteous cry out, and the LORD hears
them,

he delivers them from all their troubles.

14 The LORD is close to the brokenhearted
and saves those who are crushed in spirit.

15 A righteous man may have many troubles,
but the LORD delivers him from them all;

16 the LORD protects all his bones,
not one of them will be broken.

17 Evil will slay the wicked;
the foes of the righteous will be condemned.

18 The LORD redeems his servants;
no one will be condemned who takes refuge
in him.

Psalm 35

Of David.

1 Contend, O LORD, with those who contend with me;

fight against those who fight against me.

2 Take up shield and buckler;
arise and come to my aid.

44:9 Is God Frightening?

"Fear of the Lord" is a phrase you find frequently in the Old Testament. Does it mean that we should be frightened of God? Apparently not. "Fear of the Lord" gradually became a standard phrase for a good relationship with God. A good relationship begins with a reverent sense that God is so powerful and righteous that we dare not take him lightly. But it goes on from awe to a sense of deep security, as this psalm fully demonstrates.

Brandish spear and javelin against those who pursue me
Save to my soul
I am your salvation

4 May those who seek my life be disgraced and put to shame
may those who plot my ruin
be turned back in dismay

5 May they be like chaff before the wind with the angel of the Lord driving them
away

6 May their path be dark and slippery with the angel of the Lord pursuing them Since they hid their net for me without cause and without cause dug a pit for me

7 May ruin overtake them by surprise
may the net they hid entangle them,
may they fall into the pit to their ruin

8 Then my soul will rejoice in the Lord and delight in his salvation

9 My whole being will exclaim,
'Who is like you, O Lord?'

You rescue the poor from those too strong for
them,
the poor and needy from those who rob
them "

11 Ruthless witnesses come forward, they question me on things I know nothing about

12 They repay me evil for good and leave my soul forlorn.

13 Yet when they were ill, I put on sackcloth and humbled myself with fasting
When my prayers returned to me unanswered,

14 I went about mourning
as though for my friend or brother
I bowed my head in grief
as though weeping for my mother

15 But when I stumbled, they gathered in glee, attackers gathered against me when I was unaware

They slandered me without ceasing

16 Like the ungodly they maliciously mocked,
they gnashed their teeth at me

17 O Lord, how long will you look on?

Rescue my life from their ravages,
my precious life from these lions

18 I will give you thanks in the great assembly, among throngs of people I will praise you

19 Let not those gloat over me who are my enemies without cause, let not those who hate me without reason maliciously wink the eye

20 They do not speak peaceably,
but devise false accusations
against those who live quietly in the land

21 They gape at me and say "Aha! Aha!"
With our own eyes we have seen it

22 O LORD, you have seen this—be not silent
Do not be far from me—O Lord

23 Awake and rise to my defense!
Contend for me—my God and Lord

43 On and back the way

44 Septuagint, Hebrew may mean ungodly circle of mockers

²⁴Vindicate me in your righteousness, O LORD
my God,
do not let them gloat over me.
²⁵Do not let them think, "Aha, just what we wanted!"
or say, "We have swallowed him up."

²⁶May all who gloat over my distress
be put to shame and confusion;
may all who exalt themselves over me
be clothed with shame and disgrace.
²⁷May those who delight in my vindication
shout for joy and gladness;
may they always say, "The LORD be exalted,
who delights in the well-being of his servant."
²⁸My tongue will speak of your
righteousness
and of your praises all day long.

Psalm 36

For the director of music. Of David the servant of
the LORD

¹An oracle is within my heart concerning the sinfulness of the wicked:^a There is no fear of God
before his eyes.
²For in his own eyes he flatters himself
too much to detect or hate his sin.
³The words of his mouth are wicked and deceitful;
he has ceased to be wise and to do good.
⁴Even on his bed he plots evil;
he commits himself to a sinful course
and does not reject what is wrong.
⁵Your love, O LORD, reaches to the heavens,
your faithfulness to the skies.
⁶Your righteousness is like the mighty mountains,
your justice like the great deep.
O LORD, you preserve both man and beast.
⁷How priceless is your unfailing love!
Both high and low among men find^b refuge in the shadow of your wings.
⁸They feast on the abundance of your house;
you give them drink from your river of delights.
⁹For with you is the fountain of life;
in your light we see light.
¹⁰Continue your love to those who know you,
your righteousness to the upright in heart.
¹¹May the foot of the proud not come against
me,
nor the hand of the wicked drive me
away.
¹²See how the evildoers lie fallen—thrown down, not able to rise!

Psalm 37^c

Of David

¹Do not fret because of evil men or be envious of those who do wrong; ²for like the grass they will soon wither,
like green plants they will soon die away.
³Trust in the LORD and do good,
dwell in the land and enjoy safe pasture.
⁴Delight yourself in the LORD and he will give you the desires of your heart.
⁵Commit your way to the LORD;
trust in him and he will do this:
⁶He will make your righteousness shine like the dawn,
the justice of your cause like the noonday
sun.
⁷Be still before the LORD and wait patiently for
him;
do not fret when men succeed in their ways,
when they carry out their wicked schemes.
⁸Refrain from anger and turn from wrath;
do not fret—it leads only to evil.
⁹For evil men will be cut off,
but those who hope in the LORD will inherit
the land.
¹⁰A little while, and the wicked will be no more;
though you look for them, they will not be found.
¹¹But the meek will inherit the land
and enjoy great peace.
¹²The wicked plot against the righteous and gnash their teeth at them; ¹³but the LORD laughs at the wicked,
for he knows their day is coming.
¹⁴The wicked draw the sword and bend the bow
to bring down the poor and needy,
to slay those whose ways are upright.
¹⁵But their swords will pierce their own hearts,
and their bows will be broken.
¹⁶Better the little that the righteous have than the wealth of many wicked; ¹⁷for the power of the wicked will be broken,
but the LORD upholds the righteous.
¹⁸The days of the blameless are known to the LORD,
and their inheritance will endure forever.
¹⁹In times of disaster they will not wither;
in days of famine they will enjoy plenty.
²⁰But the wicked will perish:
The LORD's enemies will be like the beauty of the fields,
they will vanish—vanish like smoke.
²¹The wicked borrow and do not repay,
but the righteous give generously.
²²Those the LORD blesses will inherit the land,

^a1 Or heart. Sin proceeds from the wicked.

^b7 Or love. O God! Men find, or love! Both heavenly beings and men find.

but those he curses will be cut off.

²³If the LORD delights in a man's way,
he makes his steps firm;

²⁴though he stumble, he will not fall,
for the LORD upholds him with his hand.

²⁵I was young and now I am old,
yet I have never seen the righteous forsaken or their children begging bread.

²⁶They are always generous and lend freely;
their children will be blessed.

²⁷Turn from evil and do good;
then you will dwell in the land forever.

²⁸For the LORD loves the just
and will not forsake his faithful ones.

They will be protected forever,
but the offspring of the wicked will be cut off;

²⁹the righteous will inherit the land
and dwell in it forever.

³⁰The mouth of the righteous man utters
wisdom,
and his tongue speaks what is just.

³¹The law of his God is in his heart;
his feet do not slip.

³²The wicked lie in wait for the righteous,
seeking their very lives;

³³but the LORD will not leave them in their power
or let them be condemned when brought to trial.

³⁴Wait for the LORD
and keep his way
He will exalt you to inherit the land;
when the wicked are cut off, you will see it.

³⁵I have seen a wicked and ruthless man flourishing like a green tree in its native soil,

³⁶but he soon passed away and was no more;
though I looked for him, he could not be found

³⁷Consider the blameless, observe the upright;
there is a future^a for the man of peace.

³⁸But all sinners will be destroyed;
the future^b of the wicked will be cut off

³⁹The salvation of the righteous comes from the LORD,

he is their stronghold in time of trouble.

⁴⁰The LORD helps them and delivers them;
he delivers them from the wicked and saves
them.

because they take refuge in him.

Psalm 38

A psalm of David A petition

¹O LORD, do not rebuke me in your anger or discipline me in your wrath ²For your arrows have pierced me,
and your hand has come down upon me.

^{a,27} Or there will be posterity

^{b,38} Or posterity

³Because of your wrath there is no health in my body,

my bones have no soundness because of my
sin

⁴My guilt has overwhelmed me
like a burden too heavy to bear

⁵My wounds fester and are loathsome
because of my sinful folly.

⁶I am bowed down and brought very low,
all day long I go about mourning

⁷My back is filled with searing pain;
there is no health in my body.

⁸I am feeble and utterly crushed;
I groan in anguish of heart.

⁹All my longings lie open before you, O LORD;
my sighing is not hidden from you.

¹⁰My heart pounds, my strength fails me;
even the light has gone from my eyes.

¹¹My friends and companions avoid me because of my wounds;

my neighbors stay far away.

¹²Those who seek my life set their traps,
those who would harm me talk of my ruin;
all day long they plot deception.

¹³I am like a deaf man, who cannot hear,
like a mute, who cannot open his mouth;

¹⁴I have become like a man who does not hear,
whose mouth can offer no reply.

¹⁵I wait for you, O LORD;
you will answer, O Lord my God.

¹⁶For I said, "Do not let them gloat or exalt themselves over me when my foot slips."

¹⁷For I am about to fall,
and my pain is ever with me.

¹⁸I confess my iniquity;
I am troubled by my sin.

¹⁹Many are those who are my vigorous enemies;
those who hate me without reason are numerous.

²⁰Those who repay my good with evil
slander me when I pursue what is good.

²¹O LORD, do not forsake me;
be not far from me, O my God.

²²Come quickly to help me,
O Lord my Savior.

Psalm 39

For the director of music. For Jeduthun.
A psalm of David.

¹I said, "I will watch my ways
and keep my tongue from sin;
I will put a muzzle on my mouth
as long as the wicked are in my presence."

²But when I was silent and still,
not even saying anything good,
my anguish increased.

³My heart grew hot within me,
and as I meditated, the fire burned;
then I spoke with my tongue:

4 "Show me, O LORD, my life's end,
 and the number of my days;
 let me know how fleeting is my life.
 5 You have made my days a mere handbreadth;
 the span of my years is as nothing before
 you.
 6 Each man's life is but a breath. Selah
 7 Man is a mere phantom as he goes to and fro:
 He bustles about, but only in vain;
 he heaps up wealth, not knowing who will get it.
 8 But now, LORD, what do I look for?
 My hope is in you.
 9 Save me from all my transgressions;
 do not let me make the scorn of fools.
 10 I was silent, I would not open my mouth,
 for you are the one who has done this.
 Remove your scourge from me;
 I am overcome by the blow of your hand.
 11 You rebuke and discipline men for their sin;
 you consume their wealth like a moth—
 each man is but a breath. Selah 12 "Hear my prayer, O LORD,
 listen to my cry for help;
 be not deaf to my weeping.
 For I dwell with you as an alien,
 a stranger, as all my fathers were.
 13 Look away from me, that I may rejoice again
 before I depart and am no more."

Psalm 40

For the director of music. Of David. A psalm

1 I waited patiently for the LORD;
 he turned to me and heard my cry.
 2 He lifted me out of the slimy pit,
 out of the mud and mire;
 he set my feet on a rock
 and gave me a firm place to stand.
 3 He put a new song in my mouth,
 a hymn of praise to our God.
 Many will see and fear
 and put their trust in the LORD.
 4 Blessed is the man who makes the LORD his trust,
 who does not look to the proud,
 to those who turn aside to false gods.⁴

39:10 Wrestling with God

Not all the psalms have a happy ending. Some, such as this one and Psalms 44 and 88, are intensely sad. They try to make sense out of suffering, and fail. They ask God for help and receive none. The Bible's inclusion of such hopeless cries eloquently testifies to God's acceptance of human struggles. These psalms are not the final word on suffering. They show, however, that wrestling with God has value even when you fail to find answers.

5 Many, O LORD my God,
 are the wonders you have done.
 The things you planned for us
 no one can recount to you,
 were I to speak and tell of them,
 they would be too many to declare.

6 Sacrifice and offering you did not desire,
 but my ears you have pierced;⁶
 burnt offerings and sin offerings
 you did not require.

7 Then I said, "Here I am, I have come—
 it is written about me in the scroll."⁴

8 I desire to do your will, O my God;
 your law is within my heart."

9 I proclaim righteousness in the great assembly;
 I do not seal my lips,
 as you know, O LORD.

10 I do not hide your righteousness in my heart;
 I speak of your faithfulness and salvation.
 I do not conceal your love and your truth
 from the great assembly.

11 Do not withhold your mercy from me, O LORD;
 may your love and your truth always protect
 me.

12 For troubles without number surround me, my sins have overtaken me, and I cannot see.

They are more than the hairs of my head,
 and my heart fails within me.

13 Be pleased, O LORD, to save me,
 O LORD, come quickly to help me.

14 May all who seek to take my life
 be put to shame and confusion;
 may all who desire my ruin
 be turned back in disgrace.

15 May those who say to me, "Aha! Aha!"
 be appalled at their own shame.

16 But may all who seek you rejoice and be glad in you;
 may those who love your salvation always say,
 "The LORD be exalted!"

17 Yet I am poor and needy;
 may the Lord think of me.
 You are my help and my deliverer;
 O my God, do not delay.

3 The LORD will sustain him on his sickbed
 and restore him from his bed of illness.

 they imagine the worst for me, saying,

 9Even my close friend, whom I trusted,
 he who shared my bread,
 has lifted up his heel against me.
 10But you, O LORD, have mercy on me;

 11I know that you are pleased with me,
 for my enemy does not triumph over me.
 12In my integrity you uphold me
 and set me in your presence forever.

13Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel,
 from everlasting to everlasting.

Psalm 42^a

For the director of music. A maskil^b of the Sons of Korah

1As the deer pants for streams of water,
 so my soul pants for you, O God.
 2My soul thirsts for God, for the living God.
 When can I go and meet with God?
 3My tears have been my food
 day and night,
 while men say to me all day long,
 "Where is your God?"
 4These things I remember
 as I pour out my soul:
 how I used to go with the multitude,

leading the procession to the house of God,
 with shouts of joy and thanksgiving
 among the festive throng.

5Why are you downcast, O my soul?
 Why so disturbed within me?
 Put your hope in God,
 for I will yet praise him,
 my Savior and my God.

My soul is downcast within me;
 therefore I will remember you
 from the land of the Jordan,
 the heights of Hermon—from Mount Mizar 7Deep calls to deep in the roar of your waterfalls;
 all your waves and breakers
 have swept over me.

8By day the LORD directs his love,
 at night his song is with me—
 a prayer to the God of my life.

9I say to God my Rock,
 "Why have you forgotten me?
 Why must I go about mourning,
 oppressed by the enemy?"
 10My bones suffer mortal agony
 as my foes taunt me,
 saying to me all day long,
 "Where is your God?"

11Why are you downcast, O my soul?
 Why so disturbed within me?
 Put your hope in God,
 for I will yet praise him,
 my Savior and my God.

Psalm 43

1Vindicate^a me, O God,
 and plead my cause against an ungodly
 nation;
 rescue me from deceitful and wicked men.
 2You are God my stronghold.
 Why have you rejected me?
 Why must I go about mourning,
 oppressed by the enemy?
 3Send forth your light and your truth,
 let them guide me;
 let them bring me to your holy mountain,
 to the place where you dwell.
 4Then will I go to the altar of God,
 to God, my joy and my delight.
 I will praise you with the harp,
 O God, my God.

5Why are you downcast, O my soul?
 Why so disturbed within me?
 Put your hope in God,
 for I will yet praise him,
 my Savior and my God.

41:1 A Key Characteristic

The psalmist was severely ill. Enemies and rivals—and even a close friend, verse 9—whispered that he was dying. What made him so confident that God would heal him? He knew that God helps those who show "regard for the weak." Since he had shown integrity in this, he confidently expected God to show mercy to him. Jesus reflected this value when he said, "Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy" (Matthew 5:7).

^aIn many Hebrew manuscripts Psalms 42 and 43 constitute one psalm.
^bHebrew manuscripts: Septuagint and Syriac: most Hebrew manuscripts praise him for his saving help.

Psalm 44

For the director of music. Of the Sons of Korah.
A maskil.^a

- 1 We have heard with our ears, O God;
our fathers have told us
what you did in their days,
in days long ago.
2 With your hand you drove out the nations
and planted our fathers;
you crushed the peoples
and made our fathers flourish.
3 It was not by their sword that they won the
land
nor did their arm bring them victory;
it was your right hand, your arm,
and the light of your face, for you loved
them.
4 You are my King and my God,
who decrees^b victories for Jacob.
5 Through you we push back our enemies;
through your name we trample our foes.
6 I do not trust in my bow,
my sword does not bring me victory;
7 but you give us victory over our enemies,
you put our adversaries to shame.
8 In God we make our boast all day long,
and we will praise your name forever. Selah
9 But now you have rejected and humbled us;
you no longer go out with our armies.
10 You made us retreat before the enemy,
and our adversaries have plundered us.
11 You gave us up to be devoured like sheep
and have scattered us among the nations.
12 You sold your people for a pittance,
gaining nothing from their sale.
13 You have made us a reproach to our neighbors,
the scorn and derision of those around us.
14 You have made us a byword among the
nations,
the peoples shake their heads at us.
15 My disgrace is before me all day long,
and my face is covered with shame.
16 At the taunts of those who reproach and revile
me,
because of the enemy, who is bent on revenge.
17 All this happened to us,
though we had not forgotten you or been false to your covenant.
18 Our hearts had not turned back;
our feet had not strayed from your path.
19 But you crushed us and made us a haunt for jackals
and covered us over with deep darkness.
20 If we had forgotten the name of our God
or spread out our hands to a foreign god, 21 would not God have discovered it,
since he knows the secrets of the heart?

22 Yet for your sake we face death all day long;
we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered.

23 Awake, O Lord! Why do you sleep?
Rouse yourself! Do not reject us forever.

24 Why do you hide your face
and forget our misery and oppression?

25 We are brought down to the dust;
our bodies cling to the ground.

26 Rise up and help us;
redeem us because of your unfailing love.

my tongue is the pen of a skillful writer.
2 You are the most excellent of men

3 Gird your sword upon your side, O mighty
one;
clothe yourself with splendor and majesty.
4 In your majesty ride forth victoriously in behalf of truth, humility and
righteousness;
let your right hand display awesome deeds.
5 Let your sharp arrows pierce the hearts of the

let the nations fall beneath your feet.
6 Your throne, O God, will last for ever and a scepter of justice will be the scepter of your

7 You love righteousness and hate wickedness;
therefore God, your God, has set you above

8 All your robes are fragrant with myrrh and from palaces adorned with ivory

the music of the strings makes you glad.

INSIGHT

A Wedding Fit for a King

Why should this poem be found in a book of prayers?

Your throne, O God, will last for ever and ever. 45:6

In the middle of a book of heartfelt prayers, a wedding poem suddenly appears. Does Psalm 45 belong here? Its "noble theme" (verse 1) is not God's kindness, but the excellence of his majesty the king as he prepares to take a bride. While most of the psalms express an intimacy with God that could have been written yesterday, "thrones," "scepters," and royal robes make us think of an old world.

To understand why this psalm was included we need to know, first, that the king in biblical times was more than just a symbol. He was the president and the commanding general and the chief justice of the Supreme Court, all rolled into one. An unjust or cowardly king could cost his people their lives. A clever, successful king, on the other hand, could assure them of prosperity.

When the Israelites wished the king well, therefore, they wished themselves well. Seeing their king decked out in finery was like looking at a picture of their own success. And when their king made a happy and fruitful marriage, it assured them of stable leadership for years to come. The king's welfare represented the welfare of God's people.

The Promise to David

David was the first good king Israel had known. God had told David that his "house" would endure forever (2 Samuel 7:16). This meant that Israel would endure, too. When David's people combined this promise with the other benefits God had promised to Abraham and Moses, they could foresee a great future for their small, poor, war-weary nation.

Yet David's descendants disappointed these hopes. Israel remained a small, hemmed-in nation. Gradually, Israelites began to expect another king who would live up to the Bible's praises and promises. They called him "the Anointed," (for kings and priests took office through an official anointing with oil, like our swearing in). When they read psalms that mentioned the king, they thought of this coming ruler.

As the years went by and Israel's kings failed miserably, Israel's longing grew stronger and stronger. People looked for "the consolation of Israel" (Luke 2:25). The word for "the Anointed" became Messiah, or (in Greek) Christ.

Only when "the Anointed" came—in Jesus—did the extravagant language of Psalm 45:6-7 (along with unusual descriptions in Psalms 2 and 110) make sense. These verses were quoted in Hebrews 1:8-9 to show that the king the Jews had long expected could be no ordinary man. The long turned out to be God—as verse 6 had suggested. The poem that seemed to be only about a king's marriage turned out, in the end, to be about God's marriage to humanity.

I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted in the earth."

47:9 Who Are God's People?

While the Israelites often thought of themselves as exclusively God's people, Psalms contains frequent references to a day when "the nations"—that is, all ethnic groups—will exultantly praise God. In this psalm they not only join in, they do so as "the people of the God of Abraham"—that is, as insiders included in God's covenant with the Jews.

"What right have you to recite my laws or take my covenant on your lips?

you thought I was altogether like you. But I will rebuke you and accuse you to your face.

49:15 Money Can't Buy Life

How do you make sense of a world in which bad people get rich and actually oppress good people? This psalm ponders this riddle and finds the answer on the other side of death. Money can do many things, but it simply cannot buy an escape from the grave. "No man can redeem the life of another . . . no payment is ever enough—that he should live on forever" (verses 7-9). But "God will redeem my soul from the grave," says verse 15, "he will surely take me to himself."

50:9 Does God Need Our Gifts?

People often try to bargain with God, thinking that by their good deeds they can get God to do what they want. Old Testament people sometimes viewed their animal sacrifices this way: not as an act of commitment and fellowship with God, but as a way to manipulate God into putting his stamp of approval on their plans. These majestic words from God scorn such a view. He is rich beyond their dreams; he has no need of their offerings. What matters to him is the attitude they take toward him.

David Caught in the Act

Israel had a strange way to remember its heroes

Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight. 51:4

David found a place in the hearts of Israelites something like the one Gandhi found in the hearts of Indians. Both men led their nations through dark hours with courage, wisdom, and deep faith.

But there are essential differences in the way they are remembered. The Bible does not cover up the faults and sins of leaders. Nations tend to cover up the faults of their leaders and even invent stories about their spotless honesty.

For David, no cover-up was attempted. Just the opposite: Psalm 51 publishes David's anguished reaction when he was caught in sin. The story behind the psalm is told in 2 Samuel 11 and 12—a sordid tale of adultery, intrigue, and murder. David, the greatest king in Israel's history, acted like the worst.

David apparently thought nothing of his crime until the prophet Nathan accused him to his face. Then, in tears, David confessed—and this poem was one result. It was recorded (along with the story of David's deeds) in the holy Scriptures. It may well have been used in worship services, as a guide for others' confession.

David's Greatest Legacy

All nations have heroes. Israel may have been alone in making heroic literature about its heroes' failings. In confessing his failures openly, David was certainly unique among all leaders of his day. He knew his place before God, and this humility made him an example for his people.

Ultimately Israel remembered David more for his devotion to God than for his military achievements. In centuries to come, Israel looked for a "son of David" to come and save them. They wanted a truly strong leader—one humble enough to know that God must lead the leaders.

62:7 The Hideout

In the years when David was an outlaw from King Saul, his hideouts included a "rock" in the desert (1 Samuel 23:25-28), as well as a "stronghold" (1 Samuel 22:4). As an experienced fighter, David knew the value of such defenses. He recognized, however, that he owed his safety to God, his true rock and fortress.

- My soul clings to you;
your right hand upholds me
- They who seek my life will be destroyed;
they will go down to the depths of the earth
- They will be given over to the sword and become food for jackals
- But the king will rejoice in God,
all who swear by God's name will praise
him,
while the mouths of liars will be silenced

Psalm 64

For the director of music. A psalm of David

- Hear me, O God, as I voice my complaint, protect my life from the threat of the enemy
- Hide me from the conspiracy of the wicked,
from that noisy crowd of evildoers
- They sharpen their tongues like swords
and aim their words like deadly arrows
- They shoot from ambush at the innocent man,
they shoot at him suddenly, without fear
- They encourage each other in evil plans,
they talk about hiding their snares;
they say, "Who will see them?"
- They plot injustice and say,
"We have devised a perfect plan!"
Surely the mind and heart of man are cunning.

- But God will shoot them with arrows;
suddenly they will be struck down
- He will turn their own tongues against them
and bring them to ruin;
all who see them will shake their heads in scorn

- All mankind will fear,
they will proclaim the works of God
and ponder what he has done.
- Let the righteous rejoice in the Lord
and take refuge in him,
let all the upright in heart praise him!

and from your bounty, O God, you provided

68:24 The Way They Worshiped

Many of the psalms were sung in the temple, to worship God. Exactly how people worshiped, however, is difficult to know. This psalm offers unmistakable clues to how it was used—in a procession leading to the temple. It may have first been sung when David brought the ark—the sign of God's actual presence—into Jerusalem (2 Samuel 6; 1 Chronicles 15-16). Or it may have been used in one of the annual festivals that drew Israelites from all over to the capital.

³I am worn out calling for help;
my throat is parched.

My eyes fail,
looking for my God.

⁴Those who hate me without reason outnumber the hairs of my head;
many are my enemies without cause,
those who seek to destroy me.

I am forced to restore what I did not steal.

⁵You know my folly, O God;
my guilt is not hidden from you.

⁶May those who hope in you not be disgraced because of me,
O Lord, the LORD Almighty;
may those who seek you
not be put to shame because of me,
O God of Israel.

⁷For I endure scorn for your sake,
and shame covers my face.

⁸I am a stranger to my brothers,
an alien to my own mother's sons;

⁹for zeal for your house consumes me,
and the insults of those who insult you fall
on me.

¹⁰When I weep and fast,
I must endure scorn;

¹¹when I put on sackcloth,
people make sport of me.

¹²Those who sit at the gate mock me,
and I am the song of the drunkards.

¹³But I pray to you, O LORD,
in the time of your favor;
in your great love, O God,
answer me with your sure salvation.

¹⁴Rescue me from the mire,
do not let me sink;
deliver me from those who hate me,
from the deep waters.

69:9 Foreshadowing Jesus

Psalm 69 was quoted repeatedly in the New Testament as a prediction of Jesus. "Zeal for your house consumes me" was quoted in John 2:17, for instance, when Jesus drove out the moneychangers, and Romans 15:3 quoted the second half of that verse, referring to Jesus' self-sacrificial attitude.

Why did the New Testament writers see Jesus in this psalm? The psalm was attributed to David, the great king. Yet none of David's greatness and majesty are described. Instead, the psalm is a cry of suffering from a righteous man, alienated even from his family because of his zeal for God. It is strange: Israel's greatest hero is portrayed as a helpless victim because of his faith in God. Yet Jesus filled this pattern completely. He did not, however, follow every part of the psalm: instead of the curses this psalm directs toward enemies, Jesus prayed that God would forgive the men murdering him.

 May they be blotted out of the book of life and glorify him with thanksgiving.

 This will please the Lord more than an ox,
 more than a bull with its horns and hoofs.

 you who seek God, may your hearts live!
 The Lord hears the needy

 and rebuild the cities of Judah.

 2 Rescue me and deliver me in your
 righteousness;
 turn your ear to me and save me.

 may those who want to harm me

 I will praise you more and more.

 of your salvation all day long,
 though I know not its measure.
 16 I will come and proclaim your mighty acts,
 O Sovereign Lord;
 I will proclaim your righteousness, yours alone.

 and to this day I declare your marvelous
 deeds.

Psalm 72

Of Solomon

1Endow the king with your justice, O God,
 the royal son with your righteousness.
 2He will judge your people in righteousness,
 your afflicted ones with justice.
 3The mountains will bring prosperity to the
 people,
 the hills the fruit of righteousness.
 4He will defend the afflicted among the people and save the children of the needy;
 he will crush the oppressor.
 5He will endure^a as long as the sun,
 as long as the moon, through all
 generations.
 6He will be like rain falling on a mown field,
 like showers watering the earth.
 7In his days the righteous will flourish;
 prosperity will abound till the moon is no
 more.
 8He will rule from sea to sea and from the River^b to the ends of the earth.^d

71:18 A View from Old Age

Older people have a peculiar privilege: the chance to see God's faithfulness over a lifetime. Their troubles do not grow smaller as the years go by (see verses 9-11), but their experiences can strengthen confidence that God will deliver as he always has (verses 20-21).

9The desert tribes will bow before him and his enemies will lick the dust.
 10The kings of Tarshish and of distant shores
 will bring tribute to him,
 the kings of Sheba and Seba
 will present him gifts.
 11All kings will bow down to him
 and all nations will serve him.
 12For he will deliver the needy who cry out,
 the afflicted who have no one to help.
 13He will take pity on the weak and the needy
 and save the needy from death.
 14He will rescue them from oppression and
 violence,
 for precious is their blood in his sight.
 15Long may he live!
 May gold from Sheba be given him.
 May people ever pray for him
 and bless him all day long.
 16Let grain abound throughout the land;
 on the tops of the hills may it sway.
 Let its fruit flourish like Lebanon;
 let it thrive like the grass of the field.
 17May his name endure forever;
 may it continue as long as the sun.
 All nations will be blessed through him,
 and they will call him blessed.

18Praise be to the Lord God, the God of Israel,
 who alone does marvelous deeds.
 19Praise be to his glorious name forever;
 may the whole earth be filled with his glory,
 Amen and Amen.

20This concludes the prayers of David son of Jesse.

72:20 The Five Books

Psalms was probably made into one big book from five separate collections. These are set off in our Bible as Book I, Book II, and so on, each book ending with a concluding line of praise. The contents sometimes overlap: Psalm 14 in Book I turns up again as Psalm 53 in Book II. Part of Psalm 40 (Book I) becomes Psalm 70 (Book II), and parts of Psalms 57 and 60 make up Psalm 108 (Book IV). Other less noticeable differences stand out between the different books. But perhaps the most eloquent proof that all these psalms were not originally collected together is found at the end of Psalm 72, "This concludes the prayers of David son of Jesse." Since 18 more "psalms of David" appear in Psalms, it seems very likely that Psalm 72:20 originally concluded a songbook. Later, this collection was incorporated into the book of Psalms.

Psalm 73

A psalm of Asaph

Surely God is good to Israel,
to those who are pure in heart

²But as for me, my feet had almost slipped;
I had nearly lost my foothold for I envied the arrogant
when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

³They have no struggles,
their bodies are healthy and strong.^a ⁴They are free from the burdens common to man

they are not plagued by human ills.
Their pride is their necklace;
they boast of themselves with violence
from their callous hearts comes iniquity^b;
the evil conceits of their minds know no limits

⁵They scoff, and speak with malice;
in their arrogance they threaten oppression.
Their mouths lay claim to heaven,
and their tongues take possession of the
earth

Therefore their people turn to them and drink up waters in abundance.^c
They say, "How can God know?
Does the Most High have knowledge?"

⁶This is what the wicked are like—always carefree, they increase in wealth.

⁷Surely in vain have I kept my heart pure;
in vain have I washed my hands in innocence

⁸All day long I have been plagued;
I have been punished every morning.

⁹If I had said, "I will speak thus,"
I would have betrayed your children.

¹⁰When I tried to understand all this,
it was oppressive to me

¹¹Until I entered the sanctuary of God;
then I understood their final destiny.

¹²Surely you place them on slippery ground;
you cast them down to ruin.

¹³How suddenly are they destroyed,

completely swept away by terrors!
²⁰As a dream when one awakes,
so when you arise, O Lord,
you will despise them as fantasies.

²¹When my heart was grieved
and my spirit embittered, ²²I was senseless and ignorant;
I was a brute beast before you.

²³Yet I am always with you;
you hold me by my right hand.

²⁴You guide me with your counsel,
and afterward you will take me into glory.

²⁵Whom have I in heaven but you?
And earth has nothing I desire besides you.

²⁶My flesh and my heart may fail,
but God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever

²⁷Those who are far from you will perish;
you destroy all who are unfaithful to you.

²⁸But as for me, it is good to be near God.
I have made the Sovereign Lord my refuge;
I will tell of all your deeds.

Psalm 74

A maskil^d of Asaph.

¹Why have you rejected us forever, O God?
Why does your anger smolder against the sheep of your pasture?

²Remember the people you purchased of old,
the tribe of your inheritance, whom you redeemed—

Mount Zion, where you dwelt.

³Turn your steps toward these everlasting ruins,
all this destruction the enemy has brought on the sanctuary.

⁴Your foes roared in the place where you met with us;

they set up their standards as signs.

⁵They behaved like men wielding axes
to cut through a thicket of trees.

⁶They smashed all the carved paneling
with their axes and hatchets.

⁷They burned your sanctuary to the ground;
they defiled the dwelling place of your Name.

⁸They said in their hearts, "We will crush them completely!"

They burned every place where God was worshiped in the land.

⁹We are given no miraculous signs;
no prophets are left,
and none of us knows how long this will be.

¹⁰How long will the enemy mock you, O God?
Will the foe revile your name forever?

¹¹Why do you hold back your hand, your right
hand?

Take it from the folds of your garment and destroy them!

73:4 The Rewards of Bad Character

Some people are deeply disturbed when they see evil people living without a care. Does a bad life always make you unhappy? Not in the short run, according to this description. In fact, the life of the wicked sometimes looks enviable. Only in the light of eternity is godly living always more rewarding.

77:3 How to Spend a Sleepless Night

Sleeplessness afflicts millions, and this psalm shows it is nothing new. Anxiety tormented the psalmist while he lay awake at night. What to do! He deliberately turned his thoughts to the past, remembering what God had done for him and for his people.

*10 Or: Surely the wrath of men brings you praise and with the remainder of wrath you arm yourself

3 I remembered you, O God, and I groaned;
I mused, and my spirit grew faint
4 You kept my eyes from closing;
I was too troubled to speak
5 I thought about the former days,
the years of long ago;
6 I remembered my songs in the night
My heart mused and my spirit
inquired:

7 "Will the Lord reject forever?
Will he never show his favor again?
8 Has his unfailing love vanished forever?
Has his promise failed for all time?
9 Has God forgotten to be merciful?
Has he in anger withheld his compassion?"

10 Then I thought, "To this I will appeal:

the years of the right hand of the Most High "

11 I will remember the deeds of the Lord,
yes, I will remember your miracles of long ago
12 I will not ^{ago} forget on all your works and consider all your mighty deeds.

13 Your ways, O God, are holy
What god is so great as our God?
14 You are the God who performs miracles;
you display your power among the peoples.
15 With your mighty arm you redeemed your
people,

the descendants of Jacob and Joseph Selah

the waters saw you and writhed;
the very depths were convulsed.

Remembering Back

The past can give you hope for the future

I will remember the deeds of the Lord. 77:11

Many of the psalms are poems of remembrance. When things get bad, these poems often refer to the past—particularly to the great events when, under Moses, the Israelite nation began. God freed the Israelites from Egyptian slavery, carried them through the Red Sea, gave them directions for living, and ushered them into the promised land. This miraculous beginning was as significant to Jews as the cross is to Christians.

The Israelites even had an "anniversary day"—known as Passover—to remember it. Every spring Passover reminded them of their escape from Egypt. It's no accident that Easter often falls on the same week. Both days celebrate liberation from slavery.

The memories weren't all positive. The Israelites could, in fact, be brutally frank about their early failings. Even as they remembered how persistently wonderful God had been, they also remembered how rebellious, complaining, and forgetful they had been. Yet they had one great, happy reason to celebrate: God had kept his promise to love them.

Hope in a Time of Despair

Psalm 77 is a "remembering" poem. It starts with deep despair. "Will the Lord reject forever? Will he never show his favor again? Has God forgotten to be merciful? Has he in anger withheld his compassion?" (77:7,9). Imagine a wife asking such questions about her husband.

Then thoughts turn, deliberately, to the past. Remember the turmoil at the banks of the Red Sea? Could anything be worse? But in that turbulent water they had seen the Lord's power: he had led them through to safety. He would do the same again.

The historical psalms (77, 78, 105, 106) invite us, along with the Israelites, to relive history. We can recall God's work—his powerful victories recorded all through Scripture, his promises and proofs of love toward his people. And we can refer to God's history with us as individuals, too. Who cannot count some blessings, some undeserved favors? Through such remembering we are strengthened to face the future, and to recommit ourselves to trusting God's care.

Life Questions: If you were to refer to a single past event for encouragement, what would it be?

the skies resounded with thunder,
 your arrows flashed back and forth 18Your thunder was heard in the whirlwind, your lightning lit up the world,
 the earth trembled and quaked 19Your path led through the sea,
 your way through the mighty waters,
 though your footprints were not seen 20You led your people like a flock
 by the hand of Moses and Aaron

Psalm 78

A maskil^a of Asaph

1O my people, hear my teaching,
 listen to the words of my mouth
 2I will open my mouth in parables,
 I will utter hidden things, things from of old 3What we have heard and known,
 what our fathers have told us 4We will not hide them from their children,
 we will tell the next generation
 the praiseworthy deeds of the Lord,
 his power, and the wonders he has done 5He decreed statutes for Jacob and established the law in Israel, which he commanded our forefathers
 to teach their children, 6so the next generation would know them,
 even the children yet to be born,
 and they in turn would tell their children.
 7Then they would put their trust in God and would not forget his deeds
 but would keep his commands 8They would not be like their forefathers—
 a stubborn and rebellious generation,
 whose hearts were not loyal to God,
 whose spirits were not faithful to him.

9The men of Ephraim, though armed with bows,
 turned back on the day of battle, 10they did not keep God's covenant
 and refused to live by his law.
 11They forgot what he had done,
 the wonders he had shown them.
 12He did miracles in the sight of their fathers
 in the land of Egypt, in the region of Zoan.
 13He divided the sea and led them through;
 he made the water stand firm like a wall.
 14He guided them with the cloud by day
 and with light from the fire all night.
 15He split the rocks in the desert and gave them water as abundant as the seas,
 16he brought streams out of a rocky crag
 and made water flow down like rivers.
 17But they continued to sin against him, rebelling in the desert against the Most High
 18They willfully put God to the test

by demanding the food they craved 19They spoke against God, saying,
 "Can God spread a table in the desert?
 20When he struck the rock, water gushed out,
 and streams flowed abundantly
 But can he also give us food?
 Can he supply meat for his people?"

21When the Lord heard them, he was very angry,
 his fire broke out against Jacob,
 and his wrath rose against Israel, 22for they did not believe in God or trust in his deliverance 23Yet he gave a command to the skies above and opened the doors of the heavens; 24he rained down manna for the people to eat,
 he gave them the grain of heaven.
 25Men ate the bread of angels,
 he sent them all the food they could eat.
 26He let loose the east wind from the heavens
 and led forth the south wind by his power.
 27He rained meat down on them like dust,
 flying birds like sand on the seashore.
 28He made them come down inside their camp,
 all around their tents 29They ate till they had more than enough,
 for he had given them what they craved.
 30But before they turned from the food they craved,
 even while it was still in their mouths, 31God's anger rose against them;
 he put to death the sturdiest among them,
 cutting down the young men of Israel.

32In spite of all this, they kept on sinning;
 in spite of his wonders, they did not believe.
 33So he ended their days in futility
 and their years in terror.
 34Whenever God slew them, they would seek
 him;
 they eagerly turned to him again.
 35They remembered that God was their Rock,
 that God Most High was their Redeemer.
 36But then they would flatter him with their mouths,
 lying to him with their tongues;
 37their hearts were not loyal to him,
 they were not faithful to his covenant.
 38Yet he was merciful;
 he forgave their iniquities
 and did not destroy them.
 Time after time he restrained his anger
 and did not stir up his full wrath.
 39He remembered that they were but flesh,
 a passing breeze that does not return.

40How often they rebelled against him in the desert
 and grieved him in the wasteland!
 41Again and again they put God to the test;
 they vexed the Holy One of Israel.
 42They did not remember his power—
 the day he redeemed them from the oppressor,

Psalm 84

For the director of music. To the tune of "The Lilies of the Covenant." Of Asaph. A psalm.

1 How long, O LORD God of Israel,

you who lead Joseph like a flock,

2 how long enthroned between the cherubim, shine forth

3 from Ephraim, Benjamin and Manasse

4 and give your might

5 now and save us.

6 Answer us, O God,

7 make your face shine upon us

8 so we may be saved.

9 O LORD God Almighty,

10 how long will your anger smolder

11 against the prayers of your people?

12 You have fed them with the bread of tears;

13 you have made them drink tears by the bowl.

14 You have made us a source of contention to our enemies

15 and our enemies mock us.

16 Restore us, O God Almighty;

17 make your face shine upon us,

18 that we may be saved.

19 You brought a vine out of Egypt;

20 you drove out the nations and planted it.

21 You cleared the ground for it,

22 and it took root and filled the land.

23 The mountains were covered with its shade

24 the mighty cedars with its branches;

25 it sent out its boughs to the Sea,^a

26 its shoots as far as the River.^b

27 Why have you broken down its walls

28 so that all who pass by pick its grapes?

29 Boars from the forest ravage it

30 and the creatures of the field feed on it.

31 Return to us, O God Almighty!

32 Look down from heaven and see!

33 Watch over this vine,

34 the root your right hand has planted,

35 the son you have raised up for yourself.

36 Your vine is cut down, it is burned with fire;

37 at your rebuke your people perish.

38 Let your hand rest on the man at your right
hand,

39 the son of man you have raised up for yourself.

40 Then we will not turn away from you;

41 revive us, and we will call on your name.

42 Restore us, O LORD God Almighty;

43 make your face shine upon us,

44 that we may be saved.

82:1 Among “the Gods”

Human beings like to think of themselves as godlike—able to do whatever they like. Many commentators believe this psalm’s snort of disdain is aimed at human judges and “powers that be” who set themselves up as little gods. What will become of their arrogance if they defy God? They will “die like men!” The grave is a perfect answer to their pretensions.

When Jesus was accused of blasphemy for claiming to be God’s Son, he referred his critics to this psalm (John 10:35). If Scripture could apply such lofty terminology to sinful human beings, was it not possible that a perfect man could be God’s own Son?

13 Make them like tumbleweed, O my God,

 may they perish in disgrace.

84:4 Homecoming

“Home Sweet Home” probably adorns more plaques than any other motto. Home is a place where you can lay down your tired body and bruised ego in safety. Psalm 84 contains the same idea, but with a dramatic difference. Home is in God’s house, a place that brings comfort right down into your bones. You’d rather spend one day near God, praising him, than a thousand days anywhere else.

O LORD, do not draw near to trouble

You have put me in the lowest pit,
in the darkest depths.
Your wrath is heavily upon me,
and you have overwhelmed me with all your waves.
You have taken from me my closest friends
and have made me repulsive to them.
I am troubled and cannot escape,
my eyes are full of grief.
I call to you, O LORD, every day,
I spread out my hands to you.
O LORD, show your wonders to the dead?
O LORD, who are dead rise up and praise
you.
I am declared in the grave,

Are your wonders known in the place of

88:1 Successful Children of a Rebellious Father

Psalm 88 is the last of 12 psalms ascribed to "the Sons of Korah." Korah, a rebel against Moses' leadership, died in his rebellion (Numbers 16). His children were spared, and many years later David chose their clan to found a temple choir (1 Chronicles 6:31-37). Apparently these psalms were part of a musical collection they used.

15 From my youth I have been afflicted and close to death;

I have suffered your terrors and am in despair.

16 Your wrath has swept over me;
your terrors have destroyed me.

17 All day long they surround me like a flood;
they have completely engulfed me.

18 You have taken my companions and loved ones from me;
the darkness is my closest friend.

Psalm 89

2 I will declare that your love stands firm

BOOK IV

Psalm 90-100

Psalm 90

A prayer of Moses the man of God.

Lord, you have been our dwelling place
throughout all generations
Before the mountains were born

89-95 How Long Lasts the Shame?

God as this psalm notes, had made tremendous promises to David and to his ancestors (see 2 Samuel 7:4-17). But what do you do when God's promises don't match your experience? This psalm was probably written after the Babylonians had deported the young king Jehoiachin (see here and 2 Kings 24:8-15, and torn down Jerusalem (see verse 40 and 2 Kings 25:10). It gives no explanation of how God's promises fit with this humiliation and suffering. But it offers a model of how to respond, taking the problem straight to God in the frankest terms. Only when Jesus came centuries later did Israel see God fulfill these promises to honor and love a "son of David" as his own Son (verses 26-29).

or you brought forth the earth and the world from everlasting to everlasting you are God

⁷You turn men back to dust,

⁸Return to dust. O sons of men for a thousand years in your sight are like a day that has just gone by,
or like a watch in the night.

⁹You sweep us away in the sleep of death
they are like the new grass of the morning though in the morning it springs up new by evening it is dry and withered.

¹⁰We are consumed by your anger
and terrified by your indignation.
¹¹You have set our iniquities before you
our secret sins in the light of your presence.

¹²Our days pass away under your wrath
we finish our years with a moan.
¹³The length of our days is seventy years—
or eighty, if we have the strength,
yet their span is but trouble and sorrow,
for they quickly pass, and we fly away.

¹⁴Who knows the power of your anger?
For your wrath is as great as the fear that is due you.

¹⁵Teach us to number our days aright,
that we may gain a heart of wisdom.

¹⁶Rejoice, O LORD! How long will it be?
Have compassion on your servants.

¹⁷Season us in the morning with your unfailing
love,
that we may sing for joy and be glad all our days.

¹⁸Make us glad for as many days as you have afflicted us,
for as many years as we have seen trouble.
¹⁹May your deeds be shown to your servants,
your splendor to their children.

²⁰May the favor of the LORD our God rest upon
us,
establish the work of our hands for us—
yes, establish the work of our hands.

Psalm 91

He who dwells in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.¹

²I will say of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress,
my God, in whom I trust."

³Surely he will save you from the fowler's snare and from the deadly pestilence.

⁴He will cover you with his feathers,
and under his wings you will find refuge;
his faithfulness will be your shield and rampart.

⁵You will not fear the terror of night,
nor the arrow that flies by day,

⁶nor the pestilence that stalks in the darkness,
nor the plague that destroys at midday.

⁷A thousand may fall at your side,

ten thousand at your right hand,
but it will not come near you.

⁸You will only observe with your eyes and see the punishment of the wicked.

⁹If you make the Most High your dwelling—
even the LORD, who is my refuge—

¹⁰then no harm will befall you,

no disaster will come near your tent.

¹¹For he will command his angels concerning
you

to guard you in all your ways;

¹²they will lift you up in their hands,
so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.

¹³You will tread upon the lion and the cobra;
you will trample the great lion and the serpent.

¹⁴"Because he loves me," says the LORD, "I will rescue him;

I will protect him, for he acknowledges my
name.

¹⁵He will call upon me, and I will answer him;

I will be with him in trouble,

I will deliver him and honor him.

¹⁶With long life will I satisfy him
and show him my salvation."

Psalm 92

A psalm. A song. For the Sabbath day.

¹It is good to praise the LORD and make music to your name, O Most High,

²to proclaim your love in the morning
and your faithfulness at night,

³to the music of the ten-stringed lyre
and the melody of the harp.

⁴For you make me glad by your deeds, O LORD;
I sing for joy at the works of your hands.

⁵How great are your works, O LORD,
how profound your thoughts!

⁶The senseless man does not know,
fools do not understand,

⁷that though the wicked spring up like grass
and all evildoers flourish,
they will be forever destroyed.

⁸But you, O LORD, are exalted forever.

⁹For surely your enemies, O LORD,
surely your enemies will perish;
all evildoers will be scattered.

¹⁰You have exalted my horn like that of a wild ox,

fine oils have been poured upon me.

¹¹My eyes have seen the defeat of my adversaries;

my ears have heard the rout of my wicked
foes.

¹²The righteous will flourish like a palm tree,
they will grow like a cedar of Lebanon;

¹³planted in the house of the LORD,

¹ Or get the best of them

² Or beauty

³ Hebrew Shaddai

⁴ Or He says

¹⁰ Horn here symbolizes strength

For I will shake the earth, and I will build it;
 I will set the sea in motion, and I will build it;
 I will set the sea in motion, and I will build it;
 I will set the sea in motion, and I will build it;
 I will set the sea in motion, and I will build it;

Psalm 93

The Lord reigns. He is seated in majesty;
 He is seated in majesty;
 He is seated in majesty;
 He is seated in majesty;
 He is seated in majesty;

The seas have lifted up, O Lord;
 The seas have lifted up their voice;
 The seas have lifted up their pounding
 waves.

Mightier than the thunder of the great waters,
 mightier than the breakers of the sea,
 the Lord on high is mighty.

Your statutes stand firm;
 holiness adorns your house
 for endless days. O Lord.

Psalm 94

O Lord, the God who avenges,
 O God who avenges, shine forth;
 Rise up, O Judge of the earth;
 pay back to the proud what they deserve.
 How long will the wicked, O Lord,
 how long will the wicked be jubilant?

They pour out arrogant words,
 all the evildoers are full of boasting.

They crush your people, O Lord;
 they oppress your inheritance.

They slay the widow and the alien;
 they murder the fatherless.

They say, "The Lord does not see,
 the God of Jacob pays no heed."

Take heed, you senseless ones among the
 people,

you fools, when will you become wise?

Does he who implanted the ear not hear?
 Does he who formed the eye not see?

Does he who disciplines nations not punish?
 Does he who teaches man lack knowledge?

The Lord knows the thoughts of man;
 he knows that they are futile.

Blessed is the man you discipline, O Lord,
 the man you teach from your law;

you grant him relief from days of trouble,
 till a pit is dug for the wicked.

For the Lord will not reject his people;
 he will never forsake his inheritance.

Judgment will again be founded on
 righteousness,
 and all the upright in heart will follow it.

Who will take up for me against the wicked?
 Who will take a stand for me against evildoers?

When the Lord has given me help,
 I would never have dwelt in the silence of death.

When I said, "My foot is slipping,
 my feet have failed,"
 when anxiety was great within me, your consolation brought me to joy and joy; as a trumpet theme he allied with you,

 and that brings on victory by its descent.

They band together against the righteous and condemn the innocent to death.

When the Lord has become my fortress,
 and my God the rock in whom I take refuge,

he will repay them for their sin
 and destroy them for their wickedness;
 the Lord our God will destroy them.

Psalm 95

Come, let us sing for joy to the Lord;
 let us shout aloud to the Rock of our salvation.

Let us come before him with thanksgiving
 and extol him with music and song.

For the Lord is the great God,
 the great King above all gods;
 In his hand are the depths of the earth,
 and the mountain peaks belong to him.

The sea is his, for he made it,
 and his hands formed the dry land.

Come, let us bow down in worship,
 let us kneel before the Lord our Maker;

For he is our God,
 and we are the people of his pasture,
 the flock under his care.

Today, if you hear his voice,
 do not harden your hearts as you did at Meribah,^a
 as you did that day at Massah^b in the desert,

where your fathers tested and tried me,
 though they had seen what I did.

95:8 Rebellion

One of Israel's worst memories involved a place known as Massah and Meribah. There, on their way to the promised land, the Israelites ran out of water (Exodus 17:1-7) and rebelled against Moses and God. Because of their lack of faith, God made them wander the wilderness for 40 years.

Now, hundreds of years later, Psalm 95 warns another generation of Israelites not to repeat the mistake that had made their forebears miss "God's rest." In the New Testament Hebrews 4:1-13 argues that "God's rest" means not merely the promised land of Israel, but a state of peaceful unity with God. The warning still applies.

^a Meribah means quarreling.

^b Massah means testing.

¹⁰For forty years I was angry with that generation.
 I said, "They are a people whose hearts go astray
 and they have not known my ways."
¹¹So I declared on oath in my anger,
 They shall never enter my rest."

Psalm 96

¹Sing to the LORD a new song,
 sing to the LORD, all the earth.
²Sing to the LORD, praise his name;
 proclaim his salvation day after day.
³Declare his glory among the nations,
 his marvelous deeds among all peoples.
⁴For great is the LORD and most worthy of praise:
 he is to be feared above all gods.
⁵For all the gods of the nations are idols,
 but the LORD made the heavens.
⁶Splendor and majesty are before him;
 strength and glory are in his sanctuary.
⁷Ascribe to the LORD, O families of nations,
 ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.
⁸Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name;
 bring an offering and come into his courts.
⁹Worship the LORD in the splendor of his holiness,
 tremble before him, all the earth.
¹⁰Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns."
 The world is firmly established, it cannot be moved;
 he will judge the peoples with equity.
¹¹Let the heavens rejoice, let the earth be glad;
 let the sea resound, and all that is in it;
¹²let the fields be jubilant, and everything in them.
 Then all the trees of the forest will sing for joy;
¹³they will sing before the LORD, for he comes,
 he comes to judge the earth.
 He will judge the world in righteousness
 and the peoples in his truth.

Psalm 97

¹The LORD reigns, let the earth be glad;
 let the distant shores rejoice.
²Clouds and thick darkness surround him;
 righteousness and justice are the foundation of his throne.
³Fire goes before him
 and consumes his foes on every side.
⁴His lightning lights up the world;
 the earth sees and trembles.
⁵The mountains melt like wax before the LORD,
 before the Lord of all the earth.
⁶The heavens proclaim his righteousness,
 and all the peoples see his glory.
⁷All who worship images are put to shame,
 those who boast in idols—

worship him, all you gods!

⁸Zion hears and rejoices and the villages of Judah are glad because of your judgments, O LORD.
⁹For you, O LORD, are the Most High over all
 the earth,
 you are exalted far above all gods.
¹⁰Let those who love the LORD hate evil,
 for he guards the lives of his faithful ones
 and delivers them from the hand of the wicked.
¹¹Light is shed upon the righteous and joy on the upright in heart.
¹²Rejoice in the LORD, you who are righteous,
 and praise his holy name.

Psalm 98

A psalm.

¹Sing to the LORD a new song,
 for he has done marvelous things;
 his right hand and his holy arm
 have worked salvation for him.
²The LORD has made his salvation known and revealed his righteousness to the nations.
³He has remembered his love
 and his faithfulness to the house of Israel;
 all the ends of the earth have seen
 the salvation of our God.
⁴Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth,
 burst into jubilant song with music;
⁵make music to the LORD with the harp,
 with the harp and the sound of singing, ⁶with trumpets and the blast of the ram's horn—
 shout for joy before the LORD, the King.
⁷Let the sea resound, and everything in it,
 the world, and all who live in it.
⁸Let the rivers clap their hands,
 let the mountains sing together for joy;
⁹let them sing before the LORD,
 for he comes to judge the earth.
 He will judge the world in righteousness
 and the peoples with equity.

Psalm 99

¹The LORD reigns,
 let the nations tremble;
 he sits enthroned between the cherubim,
 let the earth shake.
²Great is the LORD in Zion;
 he is exalted over all the nations.
³Let them praise your great and awesome name—
 he is holy.
⁴The King is mighty, he loves justice—
 you have established equity;
 in Jacob you have done

Psalm 100

A psalm. For giving thanks

1 Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth.
 2 Worship the LORD with gladness;
 come before him with joyful songs.
 3 Know that the LORD is God.
 It is he who made us, and we are his;
 we are his people, the sheep of his pasture.

4 Enter his gates with thanksgiving
 and his courts with praise;
 give thanks to him and praise his name.
 5 For the LORD is good and his love endures
 forever;
 his faithfulness continues through all generations.

Psalm 101

Of David. A psalm.

1 I will sing of your love and justice;
 to you, O LORD, I will sing praise.
 2 I will be careful to lead a blameless life—
 when will you come to me?

I will walk in my house
 with blameless heart.

3 I will set before my eyes
 no vile thing.

The deeds of faithless men I hate;
 they will not cling to me.

4 Men of perverse heart shall be far from me;
 I will have nothing to do with evil.

5 Whoever slanders his neighbor in secret,
 him will I put to silence;
 whoever has haughty eyes and a proud heart,
 him will I not endure.

6 My eyes will be on the faithful in the land,
 that they may dwell with me;

he whose walk is blameless
 will minister to me

7 No one who practices deceit
 will dwell in my house,
 no one who speaks falsely will stand in my presence

8 Every morning I will put to silence
 all the wicked in the land,
 I will cut off every evildoer
 from the city of the LORD.

Psalm 102

A prayer of an afflicted man. When he is faint and pours out his lament before the LORD.

1 Hear my prayer, O LORD;
 let my cry for help come to you.

2 Do not hide your face from me
 when I am in distress.

Turn your ear to me;
 when I call, answer me quickly.

3 For my days vanish like smoke;
 my bones burn like glowing embers.

4 My heart is blighted and withered like grass.
 I forget to eat my food.

5 Because of my loud groaning
 I am reduced to skin and bones.

6 I am like a desert owl,
 like an owl among the ruins.

7 I lie awake; I have become like a bird alone on a roof.

8 All day long my enemies taunt me;
 those who rail against me use my name as a curse.

9 For I eat ashes as my food and mingle my drink with tears

10 because of your great wrath, for you have taken me up and thrown me
 aside.

11 My days are like the evening shadow;
 I wither away like grass.

12 But you, O LORD, sit enthroned forever;
 your renown endures through all
 generations.

13 You will arise and have compassion on Zion,
 for it is time to show favor to her;
 the appointed time has come.

14 For her stones are dear to your servants;
 her very dust moves them to pity.

15 The nations will fear the name of the LORD.

101:7 The Company You Keep

Some friends build you up, others tear you down.
 That's true for people in influential positions, also.
 "Politics makes strange bedfellows," they say, because a politician must work with people from various political factions, whether he admires them or not. But here David, the head of state, pledges to steer clear of all shady alliances. He wants a clean administration, from the top down.

Psalm 104

1 Praise the Lord, O my soul.
O Lord my God, you are very great;
you are clothed with splendor and majesty.
2 He wraps himself in light as with a garment;
he stretches out the heavens like a tent
3 and lays the beams of his upper chambers on their waters.
He makes the clouds his chariot
and rides on the wings of the wind.
4 He makes winds his messengers,^b flames of fire his servants.
5 He set the earth on its foundations;
it can never be moved.
6 You covered it with the deep as with a garment,
the waters stood above the mountains.

7But at your rebuke the waters fled,
at the sound of your thunder they took to flight.

8They flowed over the mountains,
they went down into the valleys
to the place you assigned for them.
9You set a boundary they cannot cross,
never again will they cover the earth.

10He makes springs pour water into the ravines,
it flows between the mountains.

11They give water to all the beasts of the field,
the wild donkeys quench their thirst.
The birds of the air nest by the waters,
they sing among the branches.

12He waters the mountains from his upper chambers.

the earth is satisfied by the fruit of his work.

14He makes grass grow for the cattle,

*15 That is, the hyrax or rock badger.

and plants for man to cultivate,
bringing forth food from the earth.

16The trees that produce the fruit of oil

17The trees of the forest are well watered,
the cedars of Lebanon that he planted.

18There the birds make their nests,
the stork her nest of reeds.

19The high mountains belong to the wild goats,
the crags are a refuge for the animals.

20The moon marks off the seasons,
and the sun knows when to rise.

and all the beasts of the forest find rest.

and seek their food from God.

The Beauty of Nature

Creation sings God's praise

How many are your works, O Lord! In wisdom you made them all. 104.24

Psalm 104 shows appreciation for every aspect of nature, even creatures like wild goats, lions, and the "leviathan," the whale or sea monster. The Israelites, as herders and farmers, had no romantic idealization of the outdoors. Nobody who herds sheep thinks of them as soft and fluffy pets. But to the poet who wrote Psalm 104, creatures that are no "use" to anyone still have intrinsic worth—especially to God.

The author saw how the world fits together, everything in its proper sphere. At night wild animals hunt, at daybreak humans go out to work. The rain falls, nourishing crops for people and grass for cattle, but also watering the forest to provide a place for birds to nest.

God's Perfect Work

The intertwining of nature is not, for the psalmist, like a complex machine, dangerously sensitive. Things fit together because an intimate, personal God watches over them. Animals eat on schedule not just because their habitat contains adequate food, but because God gives them their food "at the proper time." Every breath of life depends on his will. So do the weather, the winds and clouds, the water supply, the very stability of the earth. The psalmist doesn't just marvel over the complexity and beauty of nature; in it he sees the work of God.

Modern people are often preoccupied with the fear of overcrowding and poisoning nature. The psalms show no such fear, for overcrowding and pollution were not major problems in that preindustrial civilization. Yet interestingly enough, this psalm ends with a wish that God would clean up the earth—cleanse it of sinners, who mar its perfection by their rejection of God's will. The beauty of the earth, made by God, calls out for purity—purity of the heart.

Life Questions: How does nature affect you? How do you affect it?

they return and lie down in their dens 23Then man goes out to his work,
 to his labor until evening 24How many are your works, O LORD!
 In wisdom you made them all,
 the earth is full of your creatures 25There is the sea, vast and spacious, teeming with creatures beyond number—living things both large and small 26There the ships go to and fro, and the leviathan, which you formed to frolic there.
 27These all look to you to give them their food at the proper time.
 28When you give it to them,
 they gather it up;
 when you open your hand,
 they are satisfied with good things.
 29When you hide your face,
 they are terrified;
 when you take away their breath,
 they die and return to the dust.
 30When you send your Spirit,
 they are created,
 and you renew the face of the earth.
 31May the glory of the LORD endure forever;
 may the LORD rejoice in his works—32he who looks at the earth, and it trembles, who touches the mountains, and they
 smoke.
 33I will sing to the LORD all my life;
 I will sing praise to my God as long as I live.
 34May my meditation be pleasing to him,
 as I rejoice in the LORD.
 35But may sinners vanish from the earth and the wicked be no more.
 Praise the LORD, O my soul.
 Praise the LORD.^a

Psalm 105

1Give thanks to the LORD, call on his name;
 make known among the nations what he has done.
 2Sing to him, sing praise to him;
 tell of all his wonderful acts.
 3Glory in his holy name;
 let the hearts of those who seek the LORD
 rejoice.
 4Look to the LORD and his strength;
 seek his face always.
 5Remember the wonders he has done,
 his miracles, and the judgments he pronounced,
 6O descendants of Abraham his servant,
 O sons of Jacob, his chosen ones 7He is the LORD our God,
 his judgments are in all the earth 8He remembers his covenant forever,

the word he commanded, for a thousand
 generations,
 9the covenant he made with Abraham,
 the oath he swore to Isaac.
 10He confirmed it to Jacob as a decree,
 to Israel as an everlasting covenant 11"To you I will give the land of Canaan as the portion you will inherit." 12When they were but few in number,
 few indeed, and strangers in it, 13they wandered from nation to nation,
 from one kingdom to another.
 14He allowed no one to oppress them;
 for their sake he rebuked kings:
 15"Do not touch my anointed ones;
 do my prophets no harm."
 16He called down famine on the land and destroyed all their supplies of food; 17and he sent a man before them—
 Joseph, sold as a slave.
 18They bruised his feet with shackles,
 his neck was put in irons, 19till what he foretold came to pass,
 till the word of the LORD proved him true.
 20The king sent and released him,
 the ruler of peoples set him free.
 21He made him master of his household,
 ruler over all he possessed, 22to instruct his princes as he pleased and teach his elders wisdom.
 23Then Israel entered Egypt;
 Jacob lived as an alien in the land of Ham.
 24The LORD made his people very fruitful;
 he made them too numerous for their foes, 25whose hearts he turned to hate his people,
 to conspire against his servants.
 26He sent Moses his servant,
 and Aaron, whom he had chosen.
 27They performed his miraculous signs among
 them,
 his wonders in the land of Ham.
 28He sent darkness and made the land dark—for had they not rebelled against his words?
 29He turned their waters into blood,
 causing their fish to die.
 30Their land teemed with frogs,
 which went up into the bedrooms of their rulers.
 31He spoke, and there came swarms of flies,
 and gnats throughout their country 32He turned their rain into hail,
 with lightning throughout their land, 33he struck down their vines and fig trees
 and shattered the trees of their country.
 34He spoke, and the locusts came,
 grasshoppers without number;
 35they ate up every green thing in their land,
 ate up the produce of their soil 36Then he struck down all the firstborn in their
 land,
 the firstfruits of all their manhood.

^a35 Hebrew Hallelu Yah, in the Septuagint this line stands at the beginning of Psalm 105

17He brought out Israel, laden with silver and gold,
 and from among their tribes no one faltered.
 18Egypt was glad when they left,
 because dread of Israel had fallen on them.
 19He spread out a cloud as a covering,
 and a fire to give light at night.
 20They asked, and he brought them quail
 and satisfied them with the bread of heaven.
 21He opened the rock, and water gushed out;
 like a river it flowed in the desert.
 22For he remembered his holy promise
 given to his servant Abraham.
 23He brought out his people with rejoicing,
 his chosen ones with shouts of joy;
 24he gave them the lands of the nations,
 and they fell heir to what others had toiled
 for—25that they might keep his precepts and observe his laws.
 Praise the LORD.^a

Psalm 106

1Praise the LORD.^b
 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good;
 his love endures forever.
 2Who can proclaim the mighty acts of the LORD
 or fully declare his praise?
 3Blessed are they who maintain justice,
 who constantly do what is right.
 4Remember me, O LORD, when you show favor to your people,
 come to my aid when you save them,
 5that I may enjoy the prosperity of your chosen ones,
 that I may share in the joy of your nation
 and join your inheritance in giving praise.
 6We have sinned, even as our fathers did;
 we have done wrong and acted wickedly.
 7When our fathers were in Egypt,
 they gave no thought to your miracles;
 they did not remember your many kindnesses,
 and they rebelled by the sea, the Red Sea.^c 8Yet he saved them for his name's sake,
 to make his mighty power known.
 9He rebuked the Red Sea, and it dried up;
 he led them through the depths as through a
 desert.
 10He saved them from the hand of the foe;
 from the hand of the enemy he redeemed
 them.
 11The waters covered their adversaries;
 not one of them survived.
 12Then they believed his promises and sang his praise.
 13But they soon forgot what he had done
 and did not wait for his counsel.
 14In the desert they gave in to their craving;
 in the wasteland they put God to the test.
 15So he gave them what they asked for,

but sent a wasting disease upon them.
 16In the camp they grew envious of Moses and of Aaron, who was consecrated to the
 LORD.
 17The earth opened up and swallowed Dathan;
 it buried the company of Abiram.
 18Fire blazed among their followers;
 a flame consumed the wicked.
 19At Horeb they made a calf and worshiped an idol cast from metal.
 20They exchanged their Glory
 for an image of a bull, which eats grass.
 21They forgot the God who saved them,
 who had done great things in Egypt, 22miracles in the land of Ham
 and awesome deeds by the Red Sea.
 23So he said he would destroy them—
 had not Moses, his chosen one,
 stood in the breach before him
 to keep his wrath from destroying them.
 24Then they despised the pleasant land;
 they did not believe his promise.
 25They grumbled in their tents
 and did not obey the LORD.
 26So he swore to them with uplifted hand
 that he would make them fall in the desert.
 27make their descendants fall among the nations
 and scatter them throughout the lands.
 28They yoked themselves to the Baal of Peor
 and ate sacrifices offered to lifeless gods; 29they provoked the LORD to anger by their wicked deeds,
 and a plague broke out among them.
 30But Phinehas stood up and intervened,
 and the plague was checked.
 31This was credited to him as righteousness for endless generations to come.
 32By the waters of Meribah they angered the
 LORD,
 and trouble came to Moses because of them;
 33for they rebelled against the Spirit of God,
 and rash words came from Moses' lips.^d 34They did not destroy the peoples
 as the LORD had commanded them, 35but they mingled with the nations
 and adopted their customs.
 36They worshiped their idols,
 which became a snare to them.
 37They sacrificed their sons

106:12 The Turning Point

When the Israelites praised God, their thoughts turned naturally back to the time when God (through Moses) freed them from slavery and gave them a country all their own. In it they saw God's pure graciousness. They had done nothing to win their freedom; God had done it all. Similarly, Christians look back to Jesus' death and resurrection, which freed them from sin's slavery.

110:1 The Son of God

Jesus quoted this verse in Mark 12:35-37 to show that the Messiah would not be merely a human military leader, as many Jews expected. Here David refers to the coming King (David's descendant) as "my Lord." If the Messiah were strictly his human descendant, David would not address him so respectfully.

A Mysterious Figure

He came "out of nowhere" to win great respect

"You are a priest forever, in the order of Melchizedek." 110:4

The Bible has a shadowy figure who is mentioned only three times, yet has great importance. Melchizedek came "out of nowhere" in Genesis 14:18-20 as a priest whom Abraham honored. Melchizedek never reappeared. But Psalm 110 mentions him in referring to the Messiah, the conquering king whom Israelites expected. And in the New Testament, the book of Hebrews devotes more than a chapter to Melchizedek's significance. Why so? The answer has to do with Israel's longing for great leadership.

Israel had three important kinds of leaders: prophets, priests, and kings. Prophets told the truth, revealing God's righteousness. Kings were to put righteousness into effect, as head of the government. Priests were to see that God met his people in worship: they represented God to the people, and the people to God. According to the God-given Israelite constitution, kings and priests always came from different tribes: a priest from the Levite family and a king from the Judah family. Ordinarily, a king could not be a priest.

Total Leadership

The Messiah, however, must be a total leader: a perfect king governing justly, a perfect prophet revealing God's truth, a perfect priest bringing God and people together. But how could he be all three, when priests and kings were supposed to come from different families? Wouldn't that violate God's law?

Psalm 110 suggests (and Hebrews 7 amplifies) the answer. Melchizedek's example proves that a priest need not necessarily come from the proper family. Melchizedek was not even a Jew, let alone from the Levite family. He knew nothing about the temple or the Old Testament law, for these came after his time. Yet his spiritual power impressed Abraham. Melchizedek showed the kind of leadership Christ was to bring. He was both a priest and a king.

Psalm 110's brief praise provides a thread between the Old and New Testaments. It hints that the Messiah would be greater than David, while David's descendant. And by tracing the Messiah's roots to Melchizedek, it established his credibility as both priest and king.

Life Questions: What are the "proper channels" you expect to see spiritual leadership come from? Has God ever led you through someone outside those channels?

113:1 Psalms of the Last Supper

Psalms 113 to 118 were traditionally sung at the Passover meal—the first two before the meal, the last four after. These were probably the last songs Jesus sang with his disciples before his death (Mark 14:26).

11You who fear him, trust in the LORD—
he is their help and shield.

A Love Poem to God's Law

How could Scripture inspire such poetry?

17 So my hands to your commands, which I love 119:48

Psalm 119 is a special poem. This poem takes a very systematic form: the acrostic, where each line of each stanza begins with a letter from the Hebrew alphabet, 4 in the first stanza, 8 in the second, and so on, through all 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet.

But the subject is the biggest surprise. Psalm 119 is a long, passionate love poem about God's law.

How do you fall in love with law? Most people admit that rules are necessary, and appreciate them grudgingly. But no one writes love poems about laws.

The word translated "law" doesn't merely mean rules. It expresses the totality of God's written instructions. The poet sees life full of uncertainties, of enemies, of pain. But God has given a reliable guide for living—like pavement underneath after you have been stuck in mud. Obeying God's law, to the psalmist, is no slavery—rather it is freedom. "I run in the path of your commands, for you have set my heart free" (verse 32).

On the Edge of Death

Psalm 119 is not written from an ivory tower. The poet has apparently been near death (verse 87) and even as he writes, "the wicked are waiting to destroy" him (verse 95). But in this dangerous situation he has learned to hang on to God's wisdom. The lesson is so valuable he has become grateful for his sufferings: "It was good for me to be afflicted, so that I might learn your decrees" (verse 71).

The psalmist simply does not see God's law as a dusty, rigid rulebook. He hears God's loving voice in it. "The earth is filled with your love, O Lord, teach me your decrees" (verse 64). "Your statutes . . . are the joy of my heart" (verse 111).

God's laws channel God's love into the poet's life. They protect him from doing wrong, give him wisdom to understand his situation. They make new life flow into him. No wonder he writes with such thankfulness. In God's word he finds more than direction. He finds God himself.

Life Questions Do you ever feel with the psalmist that life has become frighteningly out of control? How can God's law help you regain confidence?

11 You rebuke the arrogant, who are cursed and who stray from your commands; 12 Remove from me scorn and contempt,
for I keep your statutes.
13 Though rulers sit together and slander me,
your servant will meditate on your decrees.
14 Your statutes are my delight;
they are my counselors.

15 I am laid low in the dust;
preserve my life according to your word.
16 Reminded my ways and you answered me;
teach me your decrees.
17 Let me understand the teaching of your precepts,
then I will meditate on your wonders.
18 My soul is weary with sorrow;
strengthen me according to your word.
19 Keep me from deceitful ways;
be gracious to me through your law.
20 I have chosen the way of truth;
I have set my heart on your laws.
21 Hold fast to your statutes, O Lord;
do not let me be put to shame.
22 Run in the path of your commands,
for you have set my heart free.

H He

23 Teach me, O Lord, to follow your decrees,
then I will keep them to the end.
24 Give me understanding, and I will keep your
law
and obey it with all my heart.
25 Direct me in the path of your commands,
for there I find delight.
26 Turn my heart toward your statutes
and not toward selfish gain.
27 Turn my eyes away from worthless things;
preserve my life according to your word.
28 Fulfill your promise to your servant,
so that you may be feared.
29 Take away the disgrace I dread,
for your laws are good.
30 How I long for your precepts!
Preserve my life in your righteousness.

W Waw

31 May your unfailing love come to me, O Lord, your salvation according to your promise.
32 Then I will answer the one who taunts me,
for I trust in your word.
33 Do not snatch the word of truth from my
mouth,
for I have put my hope in your laws.
34 I will always obey your law,
for ever and ever.
35 I will walk about in freedom,
for I have sought out your precepts.
36 I will speak of your statutes before kings
and will not be put to shame, 37 for I delight in your commands
because I love them.

38 I lift up my hands up your commands, which I love,
and I meditate on your decrees.

39 Remember your word to your servant,

but I do not turn from your law.
42 Remember your ancient laws, O Lord,
and I find comfort in them.
43 Indignation grips me because of the wicked,
who have forsaken your law.
44 Your decrees are the theme of my song
wherever I lodge.
45 In the night I remember your name, O Lord,
and I will keep your law.
46 This has been my practice:
I obey your precepts.

N Heth

47 You are my portion, O Lord;
I have promised to obey your words.
48 I have sought your face with all my heart;
be gracious to me according to your promise.
49 I have considered my ways
and have turned my steps to your statutes.
50 I will hasten and not delay
to obey your commands.
51 Though the wicked bind me with ropes,
I will not forget your law.
52 At midnight I rise to give you thanks
for your righteous laws.
53 I am a friend to all who fear you;
to all who follow your precepts.
54 The earth is filled with your love, O Lord;
teach me your decrees.

T Teth

55 Do good to your servant
according to your word, O Lord.
56 Teach me knowledge and good judgment,
for I believe in your commands.
57 Before I was afflicted I went astray,
but now I obey your word.
58 You are good, and what you do is good;
teach me your decrees.

119:55 Lying in Bed

The psalms consider every aspect of life—even the thoughts that come while lying in bed at night. You can easily become obsessed with other people's wrongs against you. But you can also turn your thoughts to God and quiet your anxieties while strengthening your commitment. Other psalms that refer to such nighttime thoughts, good and bad, are these: 4:4; 6:6; 16:7; 17:3; 63:6; 77:2; 102:7; and 119:62, 148.

69 Though the arrogant have smeared me with lies,
I keep your precepts with all my heart.
70 Their hearts are callous and unfeeling,
but I delight in your law.
71 It was good for me to be afflicted
so that I might learn your decrees.
72 The law from your mouth is more precious to me than thousands of pieces of silver and gold.

Yodh

73 Your hands made me and formed me;
give me understanding to learn your commands.
74 May those who fear you rejoice when they see me,
for I have put my hope in your word.
75 I know, O LORD, that your laws are righteous,
and in faithfulness you have afflicted me.
76 May your unfailing love be my comfort,
according to your promise to your servant.
77 Let your compassion come to me that I may live,
for your law is my delight.
78 May the arrogant be put to shame for wronging me without cause;
but I will meditate on your precepts.
79 May those who fear you turn to me,
those who understand your statutes.
80 May my heart be blameless toward your decrees,
that I may not be put to shame.

Kaph

81 My soul faints with longing for your salvation,
but I have put my hope in your word.
82 My eyes fail, looking for your promise;
I say, "When will you comfort me?"
83 Though I am like a wineskin in the smoke,
I do not forget your decrees.
84 How long must your servant wait?
When will you punish my persecutors?
85 The arrogant dig pitfalls for me,
contrary to your law.
86 All your commands are trustworthy;
help me, for men persecute me without cause.
87 They almost wiped me from the earth,
but I have not forsaken your precepts.
88 Preserve my life according to your love,
and I will obey the statutes of your mouth.

Lamedh

89 Your word, O LORD, is eternal;
it stands firm in the heavens.
90 Your faithfulness continues through all generations;
you established the earth, and it endures.
91 Your laws endure to this day,
for all things serve you.
92 If your law had not been my delight,
I would have perished in my affliction.
93 I will never forget your precepts,

for by them you have preserved my life.
94 Save me, for I am yours;
I have sought out your precepts.
95 The wicked are waiting to destroy me,
but I will ponder your statutes.
96 To all perfection I see a limit;
but your commands are boundless.

Mem

97 Oh, how I love your law!
I meditate on it all day long.
98 Your commands make me wiser than my enemies,
for they are ever with me.
99 I have more insight than all my teachers,
for I meditate on your statutes.
100 I have more understanding than the elders,
for I obey your precepts.
101 I have kept my feet from every evil path
so that I might obey your word.
102 I have not departed from your laws,
for you yourself have taught me.
103 How sweet are your words to my taste,
sweeter than honey to my mouth!
104 I gain understanding from your precepts;
therefore I hate every wrong path.

Nun

105 Your word is a lamp to my feet
and a light for my path.
106 I have taken an oath and confirmed it,
that I will follow your righteous laws.
107 I have suffered much;
preserve my life, O LORD, according to your word.
108 Accept, O LORD, the willing praise of my mouth,
and teach me your laws.
109 Though I constantly take my life in my hands,
I will not forget your law.
110 The wicked have set a snare for me,
but I have not strayed from your precepts.
111 Your statutes are my heritage forever;
they are the joy of my heart.
112 My heart is set on keeping your decrees to the very end.

Samekh

113 I hate double-minded men,
but I love your law.
114 You are my refuge and my shield;
I have put my hope in your word.
115 Away from me, you evildoers,
that I may keep the commands of my God!
116 Sustain me according to your promise, and I will live;
do not let my hopes be dashed.
117 Uphold me, and I will be delivered;
I will always have regard for your decrees.
118 You reject all who stray from your decrees,
for their deceitfulness is in vain.
119 All the wicked of the earth you discard like dross;
therefore I love your statutes.

39 My flesh trembles in fear of you
I stand in awe of your laws.

6 Avin

111 I have done what is righteous and just do not leave me to my oppressors.
112 Ensure your servant's well being,
let not the arrogant oppress me.
113 My eyes fail, looking for your salvation,
looking for your righteous promise.
114 Deal with your servant according to your love
and teach me your decrees.
115 I am your servant, give me discernment
that I may understand your statutes.
116 It is time for you to act, O Lord;
your law is being broken.
117 Because I love your commands
more than gold, more than pure gold, 118 and because I consider all your precepts right,
I hate every wrong path.

7 Pe

119 Your statutes are wonderful,
therefore I obey them.
120 The unfolding of your words gives light,
it gives understanding to the simple.
121 Open my mouth and pant,
longing for your commands.
122 Turn to me and have mercy on me, as you always do to those who love your
name.
123 Direct my footsteps according to your word,
let no sin rule over me.
124 Redeem me from the oppression of men,
that I may obey your precepts.
125 Make your face shine upon your servant
and teach me your decrees.
126 Streams of tears flow from my eyes,
for your law is not obeyed.

8 Tsadhe

127 Righteous are you, O Lord,
and your laws are right.
128 The statutes you have laid down are righteous,
they are fully trustworthy.
129 My zeal wears me out,
for my enemies ignore your words.
130 Your promises have been thoroughly tested,
and your servant loves them.
131 Though I am lowly and despised,
I do not forget your precepts.
132 Your righteousness is everlasting,
and your law is true.
133 Trouble and distress have come upon me,
but your commands are my delight.
134 Your statutes are forever right,
give me understanding that I may live.

9 Qoph

135 I call with all my heart, answer me, O Lord,
and I will obey your decrees.
136 I call out to you, save me,
and I will keep your statutes.
137 Rise before dawn and cry for help,

I have put my hope in your word.
138 My eyes stay open through the watches of the night,
that I may meditate on your promises.
139 Hear my voice in accordance with your love, preserve my life, O Lord, according to your laws.
140 Those who devise wicked schemes are near,
but they are far from your law.
141 Yet you are near, O Lord,
and all your commands are true.
142 Long ago I learned from your statutes that you established them to last forever.

10 Resh

143 Look upon my suffering and deliver me,
for I have not forgotten your law.
144 Defend my cause and redeem me,
preserve my life according to your promise.
145 Salvation is far from the wicked,
for they do not seek out your decrees.
146 Your compassion is great, O Lord;
preserve my life according to your laws.
147 Many are the foes who persecute me,
but I have not turned from your statutes.
148 I look on the faithless with loathing,
for they do not obey your word.
149 See how I love your precepts, preserve my life, O Lord, according to your
love.
150 All your words are true;
all your righteous laws are eternal.

11 Sin and Shun

151 Rulers persecute me without cause,
but my heart trembles at your word.
152 Rejoice in your promise,
like one who finds great spoil.
153 I hate and abhor falsehood,
but I love your law.
154 Seven times a day I praise you
for your righteous laws.
155 Great peace have they who love your law,
and nothing can make them stumble.
156 I wait for your salvation, O Lord,
and I follow your commands.
157 Obey your statutes,
for I love them greatly.
158 Obey your precepts and your statutes,
for all my ways are known to you.

12 N Taw

159 May my cry come before you, O Lord, give me understanding according to your word.
160 May my supplication come before you,
deliver me according to your promise.
161 May my lips overflow with praise,
for you teach me your decrees.
162 May my tongue sing of your word,
for all your commands are righteous.
163 May your hand be ready to help me,
for I have chosen your precepts.
164 I long for your salvation, O Lord,

and your law is my delight
 For we are that I may praise you and may your law be within me of days marked like a hand stamp and your statutes
 as your statutes are within me

Psalm 120

A song of ascents

My soul is weary of crying and my distresses are before me. (1) I turn from wrath
 and anger

What will be the result
 and what more trouble? (2) distressed tongue?
 He will punish you with a warrior's charge
 with burning coals of the desert fire
 When to me that I dwell in Asshur that I live among the tents of Kedar How long have I lived among those who hate peace
 I am a man of peace
 but when I speak they are the war

Psalm 121

A song of ascents

Lift up my eyes to the hills
 where does my help come from?
 My help comes from the Lord
 the Maker of heaven and earth
 He will not let your foot slip—
 he who watches over you will not slumber indeed, he who watches over Israel will not slumber or sleep
 The Lord is your shade at your right hand
 the sun will not harm you by day
 nor the moon by night
 The Lord will keep you from all harm—
 he will watch over your life
 the Lord will watch over your coming and going both now and hereafter

Psalm 122

A song of ascents. Of David

If renewed with those who said to me
 "Let us go to the house of the Lord."
 Our feet are standing in your gates, O Jerusalem Jerusalem is built like a city that is closely compacted together.
 That is where the tribes go up,
 the tribes of the Lord,
 to praise the name of the Lord

according to the statute given to Israel
 There the thrones by judgment stand the thrones of the house of David

When by the power of heaven
 they those who have you to serve May there be peace within your walls and security within your citadels
 For the sake of my brothers and friends
 I will say, "Peace be within you"
 For the sake of the house of the Lord our God
 I will seek your prosperity

Psalm 123

A song of ascents

If lift up my eyes to you to you whose throne is in heaven
 As the eyes of slaves look to the hand of their master
 as the eyes of a maid look to the hand of her mistress
 so our eyes look to the Lord our God,
 till he shows us his mercy
 Have mercy on us, O Lord, have mercy on us,
 for we have endured much contempt
 We have endured much rebuke from the proud
 much contempt from the arrogant

Psalm 124

A song of ascents. Of David

If the Lord had not been on our side—
 let Israel say—
 If the Lord had not been on our side
 when men attacked us
 when their anger flared against us
 they would have swallowed us alive,
 the flood would have engulfed us,
 the current would have swept over us,
 the raging waters
 would have swept us away

124:7 Deeper and Deeper

Some trouble is quick—bang and it's over. But with other trouble trying to escape only gets you more deeply entangled. Spreading gossip, for instance, may lead you into all kinds of unexpected consequences as the gossip spreads. If you try to undo the damage, you only make it worse.

That's exactly the picture of "the Fowler's snare." The bird that caught its neck in the noose only tightened the snare's choke-hold by struggling. The bird could not get out by its own effort. But this time, says David, the snare has miraculously broken, and the bird has flown to safety. When you escape that way, there's only one person to thank, the Lord.

⁶Praise be to the LORD,
who has not let us be torn by their teeth ⁷We have escaped like a bird out of the fowler's snare,
the snare has been broken,
and we have escaped ⁸Our help is in the name of the LORD,
the Maker of heaven and earth

Psalm 125

A song of ascents

¹Those who trust in the LORD are like Mount Zion,
which cannot be shaken but endures forever ²As the mountains surround Jerusalem,
so the LORD surrounds his people
both now and forevermore
³The scepter of the wicked will not remain
over the land allotted to the righteous,
for then the righteous might use their hands to do evil ⁴Do good, O LORD, to those who are good,
to those who are upright in heart ⁵But those who turn to crooked ways
the LORD will banish with the evildoers.
Peace be upon Israel

Psalm 126

A song of ascents

¹When the LORD brought back the captives to Zion,
we were like men who dreamed.^b ²Our mouths were filled with laughter, our tongues with songs of joy
Then it was said among the nations,
"The LORD has done great things for them."
The LORD has done great things for us,
and we are filled with joy ³Restore our fortunes,^c O LORD,
like streams in the Negev ⁴Those who sow in tears
will reap with songs of joy.
⁵He who goes out weeping,
carrying seed to sow,
will return with songs of joy,
carrying sheaves with him

Psalm 127

A song of ascents. Of Solomon

¹Unless the LORD builds the house,
its builders labor in vain.
Unless the LORD watches over the city,
the watchmen stand guard in vain.
²In vain you rise early and stay up late,

toiling for food to eat—
for he grants sleep to those he loves.

³Sons are a heritage from the LORD,
children a reward from him ⁴Like arrows in the hands of a warrior are sons born in one's youth.
⁵Blessed is the man whose quiver is full of them.
They will not be put to shame when they contend with their enemies in the gate.

Psalm 128

A song of ascents

¹Blessed are all who fear the LORD, who walk in his ways ²You will eat the fruit of your labor;
blessings and prosperity will be yours.
³Your wife will be like a fruitful vine
within your house;
your sons will be like olive shoots
around your table.
⁴Thus is the man blessed
who fears the LORD.
⁵May the LORD bless you from Zion
all the days of your life;
may you see the prosperity of Jerusalem, ⁶ and may you live to see your children's children.

Peace be upon Israel.

Psalm 129

A song of ascents.

¹They have greatly oppressed me from my youth—
let Israel say—²they have greatly oppressed me from my
youth,
but they have not gained the victory over
me.
³Plowmen have plowed my back
and made their furrows long.
⁴But the LORD is righteous;

129:3 The Right Words

You can't improve on the vivid images used in great poetry. If someone asks you, "What's it about?" you can only quote the poem. The psalms are full of such unforgettable language. "Plowmen have plowed my back and made their furrows long" makes you grit your teeth with the sense of oppression. "May they be like grass on the roof, which withers before it can grow" (verse 6) says it better than any alternate phrase like, "Let their successes amount to nothing."

^a Or LORD restored the fortunes of the prisoners for^b Or men restored to health^c Or bring back our captives^d Or eat— I for while they sleep

he has cut me free from the cords of the wicked

May all who hate Zion
be turned back in shame
May they be like grass on the roof,
which withers before it can grow,
with it the reaper cannot fill his hands,
nor the one who gathers fill his arms.
May those who pass by not say,
"The blessing of the Lord be upon you,
we bless you in the name of the Lord."

Psalm 130

A song of ascents

1 Out of the depths I cry to you, O Lord;
2 O Lord, hear my voice Let your ears be attentive to my cry for mercy
3 If you, O Lord, kept a record of sins,
O Lord, who could stand?
4 But with you there is forgiveness, therefore you are feared
5 I wait for the Lord, my soul waits, and in his word I put my hope 6 My soul waits for the Lord
more than watchmen wait for the morning,
more than watchmen wait for the morning
7 O Israel, put your hope in the Lord, for with the Lord is unfailing love
and with him is full redemption.
8 He himself will redeem Israel
from all their sins.

Psalm 131

A song of ascents. Of David.

My heart is not proud, O Lord,
my eyes are not haughty;
I do not concern myself with great matters
or things too wonderful for me.
But I have stilled and quieted my soul,
like a weaned child with its mother,
like a weaned child is my soul within me.

131-2 A Child with Its Mother

How trusting is a baby? Not very: some would say, the babies cry violently as soon as they feel the slightest hunger. It is the weaned child, a little older, who has learned to trust its mother to feed it and simply ask for food instead of wailing. The profound simplicity of this patience is David's model for how he—and all Israel—should wait on the Lord. The apostle Paul comments similarly, "I have learned the secret of being content in any and every situation . . . I can do everything through him who gives me strength" (Philippians 4:12-13).

10 Israel, put your hope in the Lord
both now and forevermore

Psalm 132

A song of ascents

1 O LORD, remember David and all the hardships he endured.
2 He swore an oath to the LORD and made a vow to the Mighty One of Jacob 3 "I will not enter my house or go to my bed
4 I will allow no sleep to my eyes,
no slumber to my eyelids,
5 till I find a place for the LORD,
a dwelling for the Mighty One of Jacob."
6 We heard it in Ephrathah,
we came upon it in the fields of Jaar^a 7 "Let us go to his dwelling place;
let us worship at his footstool—
8 arise, O LORD, and come to your resting place, you and the ark of your might.
9 May your priests be clothed with
righteousness,
may your saints sing for joy."
10 For the sake of David your servant,
do not reject your anointed one.
11 The LORD swore an oath to David,
a sure oath that he will not revoke:
"One of your own descendants
I will place on your throne—12 if your sons keep my covenant and the statutes I teach them, then their sons will sit on your throne for ever and ever."
13 For the LORD has chosen Zion,
he has desired it for his dwelling:
14 "Thus is my resting place for ever and ever;
here I will sit enthroned, for I have desired
it—
15 I will bless her with abundant provisions;
her poor will I satisfy with food.
16 I will clothe her priests with salvation,
and her saints will ever sing for joy.
17 "Here I will make a horn^c grow for David and set up a lamp for my anointed one.
18 I will clothe his enemies with shame,
but the crown on his head will be resplendent."

Psalm 133

A song of ascents. Of David

1 How good and pleasant it is when brothers live together in unity!

running down on the beard,
running down on Aaron's beard,

Psalm 134

A song of ascents

¹Praise the LORD, all you servants of the LORD who minister by night in the house of the
 LORD

²Lift up your hands in the sanctuary
 and praise the LORD

³May the LORD, the Maker of heaven and earth, bless you from Zion

Psalm 135

Praise the LORD ^a

Praise the name of the LORD;
 praise him, you servants of the LORD, ²you who minister in the house of the LORD,
 in the courts of the house of our God.

³Praise the LORD, for the LORD is good;
 sing praise to his name, for that is pleasant.
⁴For the LORD has chosen Jacob to be his own,
 Israel to be his treasured possession.

⁵I know that the LORD is great,
 that our Lord is greater than all gods.

⁶The LORD does whatever pleases him,
 in the heavens and on the earth,
 in the seas and all their depths ⁷He makes clouds rise from the ends of the
 earth,

he sends lightning with the rain
 and brings out the wind from his
 storehouses

⁸He struck down the firstborn of Egypt,
 the firstborn of men and animals.

⁹He sent his signs and wonders into your midst, O Egypt,
 against Pharaoh and all his servants.

¹⁰He struck down many nations and killed mighty kings—

¹¹Sihon king of the Amorites, Og king of Bashan
 and all the kings of Canaan—

¹²and he gave their land as an inheritance,
 an inheritance to his people Israel.

¹³Your name, O LORD, endures forever, your renown, O LORD, through all
 generations.

¹⁴For the LORD will vindicate his people and have compassion on his servants.

¹⁵The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
 made by the hands of men.

¹⁶They have mouths, but cannot speak,
 eyes, but they cannot see;

¹⁷they have ears, but cannot hear,
 nor is there breath in their mouths.
¹⁸Those who make them will be like them,
 and so will all who trust in them.

¹⁹O house of Israel, praise the LORD;
 O house of Aaron, praise the LORD;

²⁰O house of Levi, praise the LORD;
 you who fear him, praise the LORD.

²¹Praise be to the LORD from Zion,
 to him who dwells in Jerusalem.

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 136

¹Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good.
His love endures forever.

²Give thanks to the God of gods.
His love endures forever.

³Give thanks to the Lord of lords:
His love endures forever.

⁴to him who alone does great wonders,
His love endures forever.

⁵who by his understanding made the heavens,
His love endures forever.

⁶who spread out the earth upon the waters,
His love endures forever.

⁷who made the great lights—
His love endures forever.

⁸the sun to govern the day,
His love endures forever.

⁹the moon and stars to govern the night;
His love endures forever.

¹⁰to him who struck down the firstborn of

His love endures forever.

¹¹and brought Israel out from among them
His love endures forever.

¹²with a mighty hand and outstretched arm;
His love endures forever.

¹³to him who divided the Red Sea^b asunder
His love endures forever.

¹⁴and brought Israel through the midst of it,
His love endures forever.

¹⁵but swept Pharaoh and his army into the Red Sea;
His love endures forever.

¹⁶to him who led his people through the desert,
His love endures forever.

¹⁷who struck down great kings,
His love endures forever.

¹⁸and killed mighty kings—
His love endures forever.

¹⁹Sihon king of the Amorites
His love endures forever.

²⁰and Og king of Bashan—
His love endures forever.

²¹and gave their land as an inheritance,
His love endures forever.

²²an inheritance to his servant Israel;
His love endures forever.

Psalm 137

By the rivers of Babylon we sat and wept
when we remembered Zion.

There on the poplars

we hung our harps

For there our captors asked us for songs,
our tormentors demanded songs of joy;
they said, "Sing us one of the songs of Zion."

"How can we sing the songs of the LORD
while in a foreign land?"

"Singer, sing! O Jerusalem

may my right hand forget its skill!

"May my tongue cling to the roof of my mouth

if I do not remember you

if I do not consider Jerusalem

my inquest!"

Remember, O LORD, what the Edomites did on the day Jerusalem fell
"Tear it down," they cried,
"tear it down to its foundations!"

O Daughter of Babylon, doomed to destruction,

happy is he who repays you for what you have done to us—

He who seizes your infants and dashes them against the rocks

Psalm 138

Of David.

I will praise you, O LORD, with all my heart;
before the "gods" I will sing your praise.

I will bow down toward your holy temple and will praise your name for your love and your faithfulness, for you have exalted above all things
your name and your word.

When I called, you answered me,
you made me bold and stouthearted.

May all the kings of the earth praise you,
O LORD,
when they hear the words of your mouth.
May they sing of the ways of the LORD,

What about Curses?

Bitter emotions expressed in sorrow

happy is he who seizes your infants and dashes them against the rocks. 137:8-9

The so-called "cursing psalms" come as a shock. Psalm 137 is the most famous example. In a gorgeous lament from exile, the poet crescendoes to wish that God would bless anyone who kills a Babylonian baby.

To many people, this wish seems too bitter to belong in the Bible. Aren't Christians supposed to love their enemies and pray for those who persecute them (Matthew 5:44)? Even in the Old Testament, enemies were not to be treated unkindly (Exodus 23:4). How does this outburst fit into God's Word?

A Cry for Justice

To answer we must go to the courtroom, where more and more judges are allowing the victims of a crime to testify during sentencing. A mother who has lost her child to a murderer may spout wild and even vindictive emotions as she stands to demand the death sentence. Still the court needs to hear her. She alone knows fully what was lost. She alone feels the full outrage of the crime.

The cursing psalms voice such "victim testimony" to God, the judge. They always assume that the punishment they ask for is deserved. For example, Psalm 109 calls down curses on a man who hounded to death the poor and the needy and the brokenhearted. He loved to pronounce a curse—may it come on him" (109:16-17).

Psalm 137 was written out of similar anguish. As a nation, Babylon had callously murdered, earning punishment. The Bible says that God hears the cries of the innocent. He promises to punish those who have hurt them.

With all his teaching on forgiving enemies, Jesus did not change this idea of justice. He taught that justice will be done by God after death. (See, for instance, Matthew 25:31-46.) But Old Testament Israelites had only vague ideas about life after death. For them, justice had to be done in this life, before their eyes. They asked for it in the cursing psalms.

for the glory of the LORD is great.

⁶Though the LORD is on high, he looks upon the lowly.

but the proud he knows from afar.

⁷Though I walk in the midst of trouble, you preserve my life;

you stretch out your hand against the anger of my foes,

with your right hand you save me.

⁸The LORD will fulfill his purpose for me; your love, O LORD, endures forever—do not abandon the works of your hands.

Psalm 139

For the director of music Of David A psalm.

¹O LORD, you have searched me and you know me.

²You know when I sit and when I rise;—you perceive my thoughts from afar.

³You discern my going out and my lying down, you are familiar with all my ways

⁴Before a word is on my tongue you know it completely, O LORD.

⁵You hem me in—behind and before;

you have laid your hand upon me
⁶Such knowledge is too wonderful for me, too lofty for me to attain ⁷Where can I go from your Spirit? Where can I flee from your presence?

⁸If I go up to the heavens, you are there, if I make my bed in the depths,^a you are there.

⁹If I rise on the wings of the dawn, if I settle on the far side of the sea, ¹⁰even there your hand will guide me, your right hand will hold me fast.

¹¹If I say, "Surely the darkness will hide me and the light become night around me," ¹²even the darkness will not be dark to you; the night will shine like the day, for darkness is as light to you.

¹³For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb.

¹⁴I praise you because I am fearfully and wonderfully made;

your works are wonderful, I know that full well

¹⁵My frame was not hidden from you when I was made in the secret place.

Mercy for Your Enemies

What about mercy? Isn't our duty to forgive our enemies, and love them? How do the cursing psalms fit with that?

Three things must be said. First, while no mercy shows through in the "cursing" psalms, that doesn't mean the people who wrote them were wholly unmerciful. David, credited with some of the strongest cursing psalms, showed extraordinary mercy toward Saul, his vengeful enemy. The cursing psalms are unbridled cries of agony. They honestly reflect the way people felt. Their authors' lives sometimes balanced this cry with compassion.

Second, the psalmists wrote before Jesus offered forgiveness to all by dying, as God's Son, in people's place. Even today many people find it difficult to accept Jesus' teaching on forgiving enemies, for it means forgiving rapists, child molesters, mass murderers. We can only forgive them because Jesus paid the price for their crimes. The psalmists lived before that payment.

Third, the cursing psalms prepared the way for forgiveness. You can only be genuinely merciful if you start with a full appreciation of guilt. The judge who carelessly lets a criminal off on a technicality is not showing mercy. Maybe he or she just lacks sympathy for the crime's victim. True mercy comes when victims themselves turn and forgive the people who hurt them, releasing them to liberty.

Jesus the Victim

The cursing psalms express the hideousness of violence and injustice. Unless you feel the depth of this, you cannot understand the depth of God's forgiveness, offered freely to anyone who pleads for mercy. God is not merely letting people off on a legal technicality. He hears the cry of their victims, and more: he shares it. In Jesus, God was the victim, beaten, cursed, killed.

The New Testament actually quoted two of the cursing psalms, referring to Judas's betrayal of Jesus. These psalms speak of bitter injustice, and Jesus suffered the ultimate injustice. But the final word comes from Jesus himself: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

If we follow Jesus' example, we dare not mouth the cursing psalms when we think of our enemies. These psalms are not for us to borrow from, as are other psalms. Yet these cursing psalms remind us of the bitter suffering many experience, and reading them can impel us to fight for justice. More, they remind us to forgive. For God, hearing such cries from the victim, having suffered as they suffer, forgives. So can we.

Life Questions What is the worst injustice you have ever experienced? Did you feel some of the anger expressed in the cursing psalms? Were you able to forgive?

How long shall we forsake Zion?
How long shall we say,
We will not build our tower,

no one cares for my life.

- 3I cry to you, O LORD;
I say, "You are my refuge,
my portion in the land of the living."
4Listen to my cry,
for I am in desperate need;
rescue me from those who pursue me,
for they are too strong for me.
5Set me free from my prison,
that I may praise your name.

Then the righteous will gather about me
because of your goodness to me.

Psalm 143

A psalm of David

- 1O LORD, hear my prayer,
listen to my cry for mercy;
in your faithfulness and righteousness
come to my relief.
2Do not bring your servant into judgment,
for no one living is righteous before you.
3The enemy pursues me,
he crushes me to the ground,
he makes me dwell in darkness
like those long dead.
4So my spirit grows faint within me;
my heart within me is dismayed.
5I remember the days of long ago;
I meditate on all your works
and consider what your hands have done.
6I spread out my hands to you;
my soul thirsts for you like a parched land.
Selah
7Answer me quickly, O LORD;
my spirit fails.
Do not hide your face from me
or I will be like those who go down to the pit.
8Let the morning bring me word of your unfailing love,
for I have put my trust in you.
Show me the way I should go,
for to you I lift up my soul.
9Rescue me from my enemies, O LORD,
for I hide myself in you.
10Teach me to do your will,
for you are my God;
may your good Spirit
lead me on level ground.

- 11For your name's sake, O LORD, preserve my life;
in your righteousness, bring me out of trouble.
12In your unfailing love, silence my enemies;
destroy all my foes,
for I am your servant.

Psalm 144

Of David.

- 1Praise be to the LORD my Rock,
who trains my hands for war,
my fingers for battle.
2He is my loving God and my fortress,
my stronghold and my deliverer,
my shield, in whom I take refuge,
who subdues peoples^a under me.
3O LORD, what is man that you care for him,
the son of man that you think of him?
4Man is like a breath;
his days are like a fleeting shadow.
5Part your heavens, O LORD, and come down;
touch the mountains, so that they smoke.
6Send forth lightning and scatter the enemies;
shoot your arrows and rout them.
7Reach down your hand from on high;
deliver me and rescue me
from the mighty waters,
from the hands of foreigners
whose mouths are full of lies,
whose right hands are deceitful.
8I will sing a new song to you, O God;
on the ten-stringed lyre I will make music to
you.
9to the One who gives victory to kings, who delivers his servant David from the deadly sword.
10Deliver me and rescue me
from the hands of foreigners
whose mouths are full of lies,
whose right hands are deceitful.
11Then our sons in their youth will be like well-nurtured plants,
and our daughters will be like pillars carved to adorn a palace.
12Our barns will be filled with every kind of provision.
Our sheep will increase by thousands,
by tens of thousands in our fields;
13our oxen will draw heavy loads.^b
There will be no breaching of walls,
no going into captivity,
no cry of distress in our streets.
14Blessed are the people of whom this is true;
blessed are the people whose God is the LORD.

Psalm 145

A psalm of praise. Of David.

- 1I will exalt you, my God the King;
I will praise your name for ever and ever.
2Every day I will praise you and extol your name for ever and ever.

This psalm is an acrostic poem: the verses of which (including verse 16) begin with the successive letters of the Hebrew alphabet.

Great is the Lord and most worthy of praise.
His greatness no one can fathom.
A new generation will commend your works to another.

They will tell of your mighty acts.
They will speak of the glorious splendor of your majesty

and I will meditate on your wonderful works.

They will tell of the power of your awesome
works

and I will proclaim your great deeds.

They will celebrate your abundant goodness and exultantly sing of your righteousness.

The Lord is gracious and compassionate,
slow to anger and rich in love.

The Lord is good to all

he has compassion on all he has made.

All you have made will praise you. O Lord, your saints will extol you.

They will tell of the glory of your kingdom and speak of your might.

So that all men may know of your mighty acts
and the glorious splendor of your kingdom.

Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
and your dominion endures through all
generations.

The Lord is faithful to all his promises
and loving toward all he has made.

The Lord upholds all those who fall
and lifts up all who are bowed down.

The eyes of all look to you,
and you give them their food at the proper time.

You open your hand
and satisfy the desires of every living thing.

The Lord is righteous in all his ways
and loving toward all he has made.

The Lord is near to all who call on him,
to all who call on him in truth.

He fulfills the desires of those who fear him;
he hears their cry and saves them.

The Lord watches over all who love him,
but all the wicked he will destroy.

My mouth will speak in praise of the Lord.
Let every creature praise his holy name
for ever and ever.

Psalm 146

Praise the Lord.

Praise the Lord, O my soul.

I will praise the Lord all my life,
and sing praise to my God as long as I live.

Do not put your trust in princes

or mortal men who cannot save.

When their spirit departs, they return to the ground.

on that very day their plans come to nothing.

Blessed is he whose help is the God of Jacob,
whose hope is in the Lord his God.

The Maker of heaven and earth,
the sea and everything in them,
the Lord who remains faithful forever.

He upholds the cause of the oppressed
and gives food to the hungry.

The Lord sets prisoners free.

The Lord gives sight to the blind.

The Lord lifts up those who are bowed down,
the Lord loves the righteous.

The Lord watches over the alien
and sustains the fatherless and the widow,
but he frustrates the ways of the wicked.

The Lord reigns forever.

Your God, O Zion, for all generations.

Praise the Lord.

Psalm 147

Upraise the Lord.

How good it is to sing praises to our God,
how pleasant and fitting to praise him!

The Lord builds up Jerusalem;
he gathers the exiles of Israel.

He heals the brokenhearted
and binds up their wounds.

He determines the number of the stars
and calls them each by name.

Great is our Lord and mighty in power;
his understanding has no limit.

The Lord sustains the humble
but casts the wicked to the ground.

Sing to the Lord with thanksgiving;
make music to our God on the harp.

He covers the sky with clouds;
he supplies the earth with rain
and makes grass grow on the hills.

He provides food for the cattle and for the young ravens when they call.

His pleasure is not in the strength of the horse,
nor his delight in the legs of a man.

The Lord delights in those who fear him,
who put their hope in his unfailing love.

Exalt the Lord, O Jerusalem.

praise your God, O Zion,

for he strengthens the bars of your gates and blesses your people within you.

147:11 God's Great Concern

PROVERBS

INTRODUCTION

Uncommon Sense

A most down-to-earth book

If you call out for insight and cry aloud for understanding, and if you look for it as for silver and search for it as for hidden treasure, then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God. 2:3-5

Proverbs is probably the most down-to-earth book in the Bible. Its education prepares you for the street and the marketplace, not the schoolroom (Proverbs 1:20-21 expresses this poetically). The book offers the warm advice you get by growing up in a good family: practical guidance for successfully making your way in the world. It covers small questions as well as large: talking too much, visiting neighbors too often, being unbearably cheerful too early in the morning.

The first nine chapters, which explain the purpose of Proverbs's wisdom, are spoken from father to son. Fifteen times the fatherly voice says, "My son." Some of the advice seems particularly well suited to young people: warnings against joining gangs, for instance, or urgent cautions against sex outside marriage. But the central message of Proverbs applies to anyone, old or young: "Get wisdom at all costs." It is a plea to strain your mind and your ears searching for the wise way to live.

Virtue Is Not Its Only Reward

Anybody can find exceptions to the generalities of Proverbs. For instance, Proverbs 28:19 proclaims that "he who works his land will have abundant food," but the one who chases fantasies will have his fill of poverty." Yet farmers who work hard go hungry in a drought, and dreamers sometimes become rich.

Proverbs simply tells how life works most of the time. You can worry about the exceptions after you have learned the rule. Try to live by the exceptions, and you court disaster.

The rule is that the godly, moral, hardworking, and wise will reap many rewards. Those who learn the practical and godly wisdom of Proverbs not only sleep better, they succeed and become able to help their family and friends. Fools and scoffers, though they appear successful, will eventually pay the cost of their lifestyle.

Much of Proverbs's practical advice makes no mention of God, and its concern for success may therefore seem quite secular. But if you take the book as a whole, it becomes obvious that the lifestyle Proverbs teaches depends on a healthy respect for God (1:7) affecting every aspect of life (3:5-7). Proverbs frankly concedes that the wise path will not be chosen by many: it is easier to live carelessly and godlessly. But those who choose to live by Proverbs will get success and safety, and more: they will get to know God himself. "Then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God" (2:5).

How to Read Proverbs

People love to quote proverbs, which often express truth about life in an elegant, witty kernel. You'll find more humor in Proverbs than anywhere else in the Bible.

Yet Proverbs may well be the most abused book in the Bible. People often quote the proverbs as though they were absolute promises from God or rigid rules for living. In fact, few of the proverbs should be read that way. And some proverbs, read by themselves, would give you a distorted point of view.

To understand Proverbs, you should not hunt through it for proverbs you like. You should study the whole book to get its overall point of view. This takes time, for Proverbs covers dozens of subjects in subtle detail.

Each of the more than 500 proverbs is a tough nut you have to crack before you get the inner meat. Read Proverbs slowly, but not for too long at one sitting.

Some people like to read a small number of proverbs each day in addition to their regular Bible readings. Others concentrate on memorizing proverbs so they can run them through their heads as they go on about the day. Whatever technique you use, keep two things in mind: think carefully about each proverb, and try to put each into the bigger context of the teachings of all of Proverbs. To help you see the total picture of Proverbs's teaching on some key subjects, ten insights scattered throughout Proverbs briefly introduce ten subjects and list relevant proverbs.

The book of Proverbs is divided into two main parts: an introduction in the first nine chapters and the proverbs themselves in the remaining 22 chapters. If you skip the introduction, you won't understand the point of Proverbs as a book. It introduces Lady Wisdom and explains what she can do for you.

Prologue: Purpose and Theme

1 The proverbs of Solomon son of David, king of Israel:

- ²for attaining wisdom and discipline;
for understanding words of insight;
- ³for acquiring a disciplined and prudent life,
doing what is right and just and fair;
- ⁴for giving prudence to the simple,
knowledge and discretion to the young—
- ⁵let the wise listen and add to their learning, and let the discerning get guidance—
- ⁶for understanding proverbs and parables,
the sayings and riddles of the wise.

⁷The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge,
but fools^a despise wisdom and discipline.

Exhortations to Embrace Wisdom

Warning Against Enticement

- ⁸Listen, my son, to your father's instruction
and do not forsake your mother's teaching
- ⁹They will be a garland to grace your head and a chain to adorn your neck.
- ¹⁰My son, if sinners entice you,
do not give in to them

^a7 The Hebrew words rendered fool in Proverbs, and often elsewhere in the Old Testament, denote one who is morally deficient.

¹¹If they say, "Come along with us;
let's lie in wait for someone's blood,
let's waylay some harmless soul, ¹²let's swallow them alive, like the grave,^a and whole like those who go down to the
pit;

¹³we will get all sorts of valuable things
and fill our houses with plunder, ¹⁴throw in your lot with us,
and we will share a common purse"—

¹⁵my son, do not go along with them,
do not set foot on their paths,
for their feet rush into sin,
they are swift to shed blood.

¹⁶How useless to spread a net
in full view of all the birds!

¹⁷These men lie in wait for their own blood,
they waylay only themselves!

¹⁸Such is the end of all who go after ill-gotten gain,
it takes away the lives of those who get it.

Warning Against Rejecting Wisdom

²⁰Wisdom calls aloud in the street,
she raises her voice in the public squares, ²¹at the head of the noisy streets^b she cries out,
in the gateways of the city she makes her speech

²²How long will you simple ones^c love your simple ways?
How long will mockers delight in mockery
and fools hate knowledge?

²³If you had responded to my rebuke,
I would have poured out my heart to you and made my thoughts known to you ²⁴But since you rejected me when I called and no one gave heed when I stretched out my hand,

²⁵since you ignored all my advice
and would not accept my rebuke, ²⁶in turn will laugh at your disaster,
I will mock when calamity overtakes you—

²⁷when calamity overtakes you like a storm, when disaster sweeps over you like a whirlwind,
when distress and trouble overwhelm you

1:22 Three Problem People

Mockers, fools, the simple: Proverbs keeps using these words to define the "bad characters" we should stay away from. What kind of people are they? The "simple" are the least harmful group: they live without thinking and are too lazy to change. But they, like the others, will end up sorry. "Fools" are smarter but have made a conscious decision to live by their own lights, independent of God and independent of advice. "Mockers," worst of all, are rebels against God who make their prideful position known to everyone. They mock God, but God will mock them in the end (1:26).

²⁸Then they will call to me but I will not
answer;

they will look for me but will not find me

²⁹Since they hated knowledge and did not choose to fear the Lord,

³⁰since they would not accept my advice
and spurned my rebuke,

³¹they will eat the fruit of their ways
and be filled with the fruit of their schemes

³²For the waywardness of the simple will kill
them,

and the complacency of fools will destroy
them,

³³but whoever listens to me will live in safety and be at ease, without fear of harm."

Moral Benefits of Wisdom

2 My son, if you accept my words
and store up my commands within you, ²turning your ear to wisdom
and applying your heart to understanding,

³and if you call out for insight and cry aloud for understanding,

⁴and if you look for it as for silver and search for it as for hidden treasure,

⁵then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God

⁶For the Lord gives wisdom, and from his mouth come knowledge and
understanding

⁷He holds victory in store for the upright, he is a shield to those whose walk is
blameless,

⁸for he guards the course of the just
and protects the way of his faithful ones.

⁹Then you will understand what is right and just
and fair—every good path

¹⁰For wisdom will enter your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul

¹¹Discretion will protect you,
and understanding will guard you

¹²Wisdom will save you from the ways of wicked
men,

from men whose words are perverse,

¹³who leave the straight paths
to walk in dark ways,

¹⁴who delight in doing wrong
and rejoice in the perverseness of evil,

¹⁵whose paths are crooked
and who are devious in their ways

¹⁶It will save you also from the adulteress, from the wayward wife with her seductive
words,

¹⁷who has left the partner of her youth and ignored the covenant she made before God^d

¹⁸For her house leads down to death and her paths to the spirits of the dead.

¹⁹None who go to her return or attain the paths of life.

²⁰Thus you will walk in the ways of good men

- and keep to the paths of the righteous.
 21For the upright will live in the land,
 and the blameless will remain in it, 22but the wicked will be cut off from the land,
 and the unfaithful will be torn from it

Further Benefits of Wisdom

- 3 My son, do not forget my teaching,
 but keep my commands in your heart, 2for they will prolong your life many years and bring you prosperity 3Let love and faithfulness never leave you;
 bind them around your neck,
 write them on the tablet of your heart
 4Then you will win favor and a good name in the sight of God and man.
 5Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; 6in all your ways acknowledge him,
 and he will make your paths straight.^a 7Do not be wise in your own eyes;
 fear the LORD and shun evil.
 8This will bring health to your body
 and nourishment to your bones.
 9Honor the LORD with your wealth,
 with the firstfruits of all your crops;
 10then your barns will be filled to overflowing,
 and your vats will brim over with new wine 11My son, do not despise the LORD's discipline and do not resent his rebuke, 12because the LORD disciplines those he loves,
 as a father^b the son he delights in.
 13Blessed is the man who finds wisdom,
 the man who gains understanding, 14for she is more profitable than silver and yields better returns than gold.
 15She is more precious than rubies;
 nothing you desire can compare with her.
 16Long life is in her right hand;
 in her left hand are riches and honor.
 17Her ways are pleasant ways,
 and all her paths are peace 18She is a tree of life to those who embrace her;
 those who lay hold of her will be blessed.
 19By wisdom the LORD laid the earth's foundations,
 by understanding he set the heavens in
 place;
 20by his knowledge the deeps were divided,
 and the clouds let drop the dew

3:6 Walking with God

In the original Hebrew, "in all your ways acknowledge him" is more literally "in all your ways know him." This fundamental statement of how to relate to God implies more than mere reverence. Nodding in God's direction is not enough: you must know him by living closely with him, relating to him personally in every aspect of your life.

- 21My son, preserve sound judgment and discernment,
 do not let them out of your sight;
 22they will be life for you,
 an ornament to grace your neck 23Then you will go on your way in safety,
 and your foot will not stumble.
 24When you lie down, you will not be afraid;
 when you lie down, your sleep will be sweet.
 25Have no fear of sudden disaster
 or of the ruin that overtakes the wicked, 26for the LORD will be your confidence and will keep your foot from being snared.
 27Do not withhold good from those who deserve
 it,
 when it is in your power to act 28Do not say to your neighbor,
 "Come back later, I'll give it tomorrow" —
 when you now have it with you 29Do not plot harm against your neighbor, who lives trustfully near you.
 30Do not accuse a man for no reason —
 when he has done you no harm.
 31Do not envy a violent man or choose any of his ways, 32for the LORD detests a perverse man
 but takes the upright into his confidence.
 33The LORD's curse is on the house of the
 wicked,
 but he blesses the home of the righteous.
 34He mocks proud mockers
 but gives grace to the humble.
 35The wise inherit honor,
 but fools he holds up to shame.

Wisdom Is Supreme

- 4 Listen, my sons, to a father's instruction;
 pay attention and gain understanding.
 2I give you sound learning,
 so do not forsake my teaching.
 3When I was a boy in my father's house,
 still tender, and an only child of my mother, 4he taught me and said,
 "Lay hold of my words with all your heart;
 keep my commands and you will live."
 5Get wisdom, get understanding;
 do not forget my words or swerve from
 them.
 6Do not forsake wisdom, and she will protect
 you;
 love her, and she will watch over you.
 7Wisdom is supreme; therefore get wisdom.
 Though it cost all you have,^c get
 understanding.
 8Esteem her, and she will exalt you;
 embrace her, and she will honor you.
 9She will set a garland of grace on your head and present you with a crown of splendor." 10Listen, my son, accept what I say,
 and the years of your life will be many.
 11I guide you in the way of wisdom

^a6. Or will direct your paths and lead you along straight paths.

 12When you walk, your steps will not be hampered.
 when you run, you will not stumble.
 13Hold on to instruction, do not let it go, guard it well, for it is your life.
 14Do not set foot on the path of the wicked or walk in the way of evil men.
 15Avoid it, do not travel on it; turn from it and go on your way.
 16For they cannot sleep till they do evil; they are robbed of slumber till they make someone fall.
 They eat the bread of wickedness and drink the wine of violence.

8The path of the righteous is like the first gleam of dawn,
 shining ever brighter till the full light of day.
 19But the way of the wicked is like deep darkness;
 they do not know what makes them stumble.

4:8 A Lifelong Quest

A father's advice can easily degenerate into, "Don't do this, don't do that." But the fatherly advice of Proverbs isn't preoccupied with rules. Instead, this father tries to help his son develop a love for the best things in life—just as his father did for him. This love for the best—and most of all for wisdom—begins with listening to your father's advice, but it goes beyond taking instructions. The love of wisdom becomes a lifelong quest that may make you wiser than your father.

Warning Against Adultery

Whom Should You Marry?

A good partner can make or break your life

Better to live on a corner of the roof than share a house with a quarrelsome wife. 21:9

In ancient times women were often viewed as men's property, good for bearing children and not much more. Proverbs, addressed to young men approaching the age of marriage, takes a different view. It holds up marriage as a crucial choice, to be made with great care.

A good wife (or husband, we can assume) will make or break her partner's life. Her duties lay the foundation for her family's welfare (14:1; 31:10-31). She shares with her husband the most significant task of teaching their children the way of wisdom (1:8-9; 6:20). Therefore, her character matters far more than her physical beauty.

Not that Proverbs ignores the physical side of love. It urges marriage partners to rejoice in their love, to be captivated by it (5:18-19). It warns young people against sexual sin precisely because this wastes sexuality on unsatisfying, unloving relationships. Sex ought to be saved for the long-lasting, productive joy of marriage.

Proverbs on sexual sin: 2:16-19; 5:1-23; 6:20-35; 7:6-27; 23:26-28.

Proverbs on marriage: 5:15-19; 12:4; 14:1; 18:22; 19:13-14; 21:9,19; 27:15,16; 31:10-31.

Life Questions: What qualities make a good marriage partner?

¹⁰lest strangers feast on your wealth and your toil enrich another man's house.
¹¹At the end of your life you will groan,
when your flesh and body are spent.
¹²You will say, "How I hated discipline!
How my heart spurned correction!
¹³I would not obey my teachers or listen to my instructors ¹⁴I have come to the brink of utter ruin
in the midst of the whole assembly."

¹⁵Drink water from your own cistern, running water from your own well.
¹⁶Should your springs overflow in the streets,
your streams of water in the public squares?
¹⁷Let them be yours alone,
never to be shared with strangers ¹⁸May your fountain be blessed, and may you rejoice in the wife of your
youth
¹⁹A loving doe, a graceful deer—
may her breasts satisfy you always,
may you ever be captivated by her love.
²⁰Why be captivated, my son, by an adulteress?
Why embrace the bosom of another man's wife?
²¹For a man's ways are in full view of the LORD,
and he examines all his paths.
²²The evil deeds of a wicked man ensnare him;
the cords of his sin hold him fast.
²³He will die for lack of discipline,
led astray by his own great folly.

Warnings Against Folly

6 My son, if you have put up security for your neighbor,
if you have struck hands in pledge for
another,
²if you have been trapped by what you said,
ensnared by the words of your mouth, ³then do this, my son, to free yourself,
since you have fallen into your neighbor's
hands
Go and humble yourself,
press your plea with your neighbor!
⁴Allow no sleep to your eyes,
no slumber to your eyelids ⁵Free yourself, like a gazelle from the hand of the hunter,
like a bird from the snare of the fowler.
⁶Go to the ant, you sluggard;
consider its ways and be wise!
⁷It has no commander,
no overseer or ruler,
⁸yet it stores its provisions in summer
and gathers its food at harvest.
⁹How long will you lie there, you sluggard?
When will you get up from your sleep?
¹⁰A little sleep, a little slumber,
a little folding of the hands to rest—¹¹and poverty will come on you like a bandit and scarcity like an armed man.^a ¹²A scoundrel and villain,

who goes about with a corrupt mouth, ¹³who winks with his eye, signals with his feet
and motions with his fingers, ¹⁴who plots evil with deceit in his heart—
he always stirs up dissension.
¹⁵Therefore disaster will overtake him in an instant;
he will suddenly be destroyed—without remedy.
¹⁶There are six things the LORD hates,
seven that are detestable to him:
¹⁷haughty eyes,
a lying tongue,
hands that shed innocent blood, ¹⁸a heart that devises wicked schemes,
feet that are quick to rush into evil, ¹⁹a false witness who pours out lies and a man who stirs up dissension among brothers.

Warning Against Adultery

²⁰My son, keep your father's commands
and do not forsake your mother's teaching.
²¹Bind them upon your heart forever;
fasten them around your neck.
²²When you walk, they will guide you;
when you sleep, they will watch over you;
when you awake, they will speak to you.
²³For these commands are a lamp,
this teaching is a light,
and the corrections of discipline
are the way to life, ²⁴keeping you from the immoral woman,
from the smooth tongue of the wayward
wife
²⁵Do not lust in your heart after her beauty
or let her captivate you with her eyes, ²⁶for the prostitute reduces you to a loaf of bread,
and the adulteress preys upon your very life.
²⁷Can a man scoop fire into his lap without his clothes being burned?
²⁸Can a man walk on hot coals
without his feet being scorched?
²⁹So is he who sleeps with another man's wife;
no one who touches her will go unpunished.
³⁰Men do not despise a thief if he steals to satisfy his hunger when he is starving.
³¹Yet if he is caught, he must pay sevenfold, though it costs him all the wealth of his house.
³²But a man who commits adultery lacks
judgment;
whoever does so destroys himself.
³³Blows and disgrace are his lot,
and his shame will never be wiped away;
³⁴for jealousy arouses a husband's fury,
and he will show no mercy when he takes
revenge
³⁵He will not accept any compensation, he will refuse the bribe, however great it is

Warning Against the Adulteress

- 7 My son, keep my words
and store up my commands within you.
2 Keep my commands and you will live;
guard my teachings as the apple of your eye.
3 Bind them on your fingers;
write them on the tablet of your heart.
4 Say to wisdom, "You are my sister,"
and call understanding your kinsman;
5 they will keep you from the adulteress,
from the wayward wife with her seductive words
6 At the window of my house
I looked out through the lattice.
7 I saw among the simple,
I noticed among the young men,
a youth who lacked judgment.
8 He was going down the street near her corner,
walking along in the direction of her house 9 at twilight, as the day was fading,
as the dark of night set in.
10 Then out came a woman to meet him,
dressed like a prostitute and with crafty intent 11 (She is loud and defiant,
her feet never stay at home;
12 now in the street, now in the squares,
at every corner she lurks.)
13 She took hold of him and kissed him
and with a brazen face she said:
14 "I have fellowship offerings^a at home;
today I fulfilled my vows.
15 So I came out to meet you;
I looked for you and have found you!
16 I have covered my bed
with colored linens from Egypt.
17 I have perfumed my bed
with myrrh, aloes and cinnamon.
18 Come, let's drink deep of love till morning;
let's enjoy ourselves with love!
19 My husband is not at home;
he has gone on a long journey.
20 He took his purse filled with money
and will not be home till full moon."
21 With persuasive words she led him astray;
she seduced him with her smooth talk.
22 All at once he followed her

7:2 The Apple of Your Eye

The "apple of your eye" is an Old English expression for the eye's center, or pupil. The whole body is tuned to protect that pupil from harm: eyelids reflexively snap shut at the slightest hint of danger; tear ducts bathe your eye with a cleansing liquid if any irritant enters; nerve endings scream "danger" at the slightest pain or pressure. Proverbs urges you to take as much care of its teachings as you do of your eye.

like an ox going to the slaughter,

pay attention to what I say.
25 Do not let your heart turn to her ways
or stray into her paths.
26 Many are the victims she has brought down;
her slain are a mighty throng.
27 Her house is a highway to the grave,^d
leading down to the chambers of death.

Wisdom's Call

- 8 Does not wisdom call out?
Does not understanding raise her voice?
2 On the heights along the way,
where the paths meet, she takes her stand;
3 beside the gates leading into the city,
at the entrances, she cries aloud:
4 "To you, O men, I call out;
I raise my voice to all mankind.
5 You who are simple, gain prudence;
you who are foolish, gain understanding.
6 Listen, for I have worthy things to say;
I open my lips to speak what is right.
7 My mouth speaks what is true,
for my lips detest wickedness.
8 All the words of my mouth are just;
none of them is crooked or perverse.
9 To the discerning all of them are right;
they are faultless to those who have knowledge.
10 Choose my instruction instead of silver,
knowledge rather than choice gold, 11 for wisdom is more precious than rubies,
and nothing you desire can compare with her.
12 "I, wisdom, dwell together with prudence;
I possess knowledge and discretion.
13 To fear the LORD is to hate evil;
I hate pride and arrogance,
evil behavior and perverse speech.
14 Counsel and sound judgment are mine;
I have understanding and power.
15 By me kings reign
and rulers make laws that are just;

and all nobles who rule on earth.^e 17 I love those who love me,
and those who seek me find me.

8:13 The Fear of the Lord

The phrase "fear of the Lord" doesn't mean fright or terror. It means "a good relationship with God," based on reverence and respect for him and his commands. Here, for instance, the fear of the Lord means righteous living.

Invitations of Wisdom and of Folly

9 Wisdom has built her house:
 she has hewn out its seven pillars.
 She has prepared her meat and mixed her
 wine,
 she has also set her table.
²She has sent out her maids, and she calls from the highest point of the city:
³"Let all who are simple come in here!"
 she says to those who lack judgment.

 and drink the wine I have mixed.

 whoever rebukes a wicked man incurs

God and "How-to-Succeed"

Does Proverbs care more for success than for God?

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. 9:10

Bookstores are full of "how-to" books, each promising to teach you how to make a success of yourself by just following a few simple rules. Is Proverbs an ancient "how-to" book? It seems, at first look, more interested in success and prosperity than in God. Many of the proverbs can be adopted by those who have no love for God.

But if you look at Proverbs as a book, rather than a collection of unrelated fragments, you will find that its "how-tos" of wise living can't be separated from God. While some proverbs observe the hard facts of life—that bribes are effective, for instance, or that money does buy friends of a kind—the book never for a moment endorses success techniques that involve immorality. More important, a deep sense of people's sin and their utter dependence on God pervades Proverbs. Wisdom, that fundamental tool for living, starts with the fear of God and leads to a knowledge of him.

The words LORD or God are actually mentioned nearly 100 times, so a complete study of God's place in Proverbs takes you through virtually the entire book.

Proverbs on God's relationship to wisdom: 1:7; 2:5-9; 8:22-31; 9:10; 22:17-19.

Proverbs on sin: 15:8; 16:6; 20:9; 24:11,12; 28:9,13.

Proverbs on trust in God: 3:5-12; 14:26,27; 16:20; 18:10; 19:21; 21:31; 29:25,26; 30:5-9.

Proverbs on God's blessing: 10:22,27,29; 15:16.

Other proverbs of particular interest: 11:1; 20:12; 21:3; 17:3; 19:3; 28:5.

Life Questions. What are your plans for success? Is God's will the basis of your life or an afterthought?

Do not rebuke a mocker or he will hate you;
 rebuke a wise man and he will love you.
 Instruct a wise man and he will be wiser still,
 teach a righteous man and he will add to his learning.

10:1 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

and knowledge of the Holy One is understanding

For through me your days will be many,
 and years will be added to your life.

If you are wise, your wisdom will reward you,
 if you are a mocker, you alone will suffer."

The woman Folly is loud,
 she is undisciplined and without knowledge.

She sits at the door of her house,
 on a seat at the highest point of the city,

calling out to those who pass by,
 who go straight on their way.

"Let all who are simple come in here!"
 she says to those who lack judgment.

Stolen water is sweet,
 food eaten in secret is delicious!"

But little do they know that the dead are there, that her guests are in the depths of the grave."

Proverbs of Solomon

10 The proverbs of Solomon.

A wise son brings joy to his father,
 but a foolish son grief to his mother.

Ill-gotten treasures are of no value,
 but righteousness delivers from death.

The Lord does not let the righteous go hungry
 but he thwarts the craving of the wicked.

Lazy hands make a man poor,
 but diligent hands bring wealth.

He who gathers crops in summer is a wise son,
 but he who sleeps during harvest is a disgraceful son.

10:1 Making Sense of Parallelism

"Parallelism" is a technical term for the form of Hebrew poetry that repeats a thought in slightly different ways. "Synonymous parallelism" is found in Proverbs 15:30, "A cheerful look brings joy to the heart, and good news gives health to the bones." "Antithetical parallelism," in which a thought is followed by its opposite, is found in 14:30, "A heart at peace gives life to the body, but envy rots the bones."

In studying parallelism the trick is to compare each part with its pair in the other half of the proverb. For instance, in 14:30 "a heart at peace" pairs with its opposite, "envy," and "rots the bones" is the opposite of "gives life to the body." Sometimes these comparisons reveal subtle shades of meaning.

Blessings crown the head of the righteous,
 but violence overwhelms the mouth of the wicked.^b

The memory of the righteous will be a blessing,
 but the name of the wicked will rot.

The wise in heart accept commands,
 but a chattering fool comes to ruin.

The man of integrity walks securely,
 but he who takes crooked paths will be found out.

He who winks maliciously causes grief,
 and a chattering fool comes to ruin.

The mouth of the righteous is a fountain of life,
 but violence overwhelms the mouth of the
 wicked.

Hatred stirs up dissension,
 but love covers over all wrongs.

Wisdom is found on the lips of the discerning,
 but a rod is for the back of him who lacks
 judgment.

Wise men store up knowledge,
 but the mouth of a fool invites ruin.

The wealth of the rich is their fortified city,
 but poverty is the ruin of the poor.

The wages of the righteous bring them life,
 but the income of the wicked brings them punishment.

He who heeds discipline shows the way to life,
 but whoever ignores correction leads others astray.

He who conceals his hatred has lying lips,
 and whoever spreads slander is a fool.

When words are many, sin is not absent,
 but he who holds his tongue is wise.

The tongue of the righteous is choice silver,
 but the heart of the wicked is of little value.

The lips of the righteous nourish many,
 but fools die for lack of judgment.

The blessing of the Lord brings wealth,
 and he adds no trouble to it.

A fool finds pleasure in evil conduct,
 but a man of understanding delights in
 wisdom.

10:12 The Greatest of These Is Love

If you think of love as restricted to the New Testament, Proverbs will surprise you. Here love is the all-purpose cure, covering all wrongs. It is worth searching for. It should be expressed openly.

Some of the proverbs on love are found in the following passages: 3:3-4; 9:8; 10:12; 14:22; 15:17; 16:6; 17:9; 19:22; 20:6,28; 21:21; 27:5.

12:17 Deeper Meanings

Some proverbs, disarmingly obvious at first glance, offer deep truth when chewed on. For instance, verse 17 seems to merely repeat the obvious. But its underlying meaning is that a person's character determines his or her actions. You can reflect at length on what this implies about why you do what you do.

What Makes People Poor?

A clear-eyed view of wealth and poverty

The wealth of the rich is their fortified city, but poverty is the ruin of the poor. 10:15

Poor people are lazy," says one person. Someone else claims the opposite: "They are poor because the rich control the system." People tend to oversimplify when they discuss wealth and poverty. Curiously, both sides may quote Proverbs to prove their point.

You have to read all of Proverbs to get its subtle view. It says people are poor for various reasons: because of laziness and drunkenness, but also because the rich oppress them. People get rich for various reasons too: because of hard work, because of the Lord's blessing, because they cheated.

Proverbs gives an evenhanded view of what money does for people. Wealth brings benefits, including eager friends, Proverbs says; but it also brings worries and troubles. Proverbs strongly urges the rich and powerful to be generous and fair to poor people. It remains remarkably clear-eyed about the tangled causes of poverty and about the dangers and benefits of wealth.

Proverbs on money: 10:4,15,22; 11:4,16,28; 13:8,18,22,23; 14:20,23,31; 15:16; 18:23; 19:1,4,17; 20:13; 21:5,17; 22:1,2,4,7,9,16,22,23; 23:5; 28:3,6,8,11,19,20,22,27; 29:7,14; 30:7-9.

Verbal Dynamite

Even truthful words can damage other people

A perverse man stirs up dissension, and a gossip separates close friends. 16:28

What could be wrong with just talking, as long as you don't actually lie? Proverbs sees plenty of danger. Words are dynamite; they can destroy people. They should be carefully weighed before they are spoken. Even truthful words can damage. Yet they can also save a friend from going wrong. Proverbs speaks strongly about both the danger of gossip and the good done when someone justly rebukes his friend.

"The tongue has the power of life and death," Proverbs 18:21 says, "and those who love it will eat its fruit." Proverbs teaches the skill of speaking so as to give life.

Proverbs on the importance of words: 10:11,20; 12:14; 15:4; 17:10; 18:21; 25:11.

Proverbs on the wrong way to speak: 6:16-19; 11:9,12,13; 12:18; 13:3; 16:27,28; 18:8,13; 26:23-28; 29:5.

Proverbs on the right way to speak: 10:14,21,32; 12:25; 15:1,23,28; 16:13,23,24; 17:27,28; 25:12,15; 27:5,6; 28:23.

Proverbs on the dangers of words: 10:19; 14:23.

a haughty spirit before a fall.

15:25 Who Cares About the Poor?

In Old Testament society the most helpless person was the widow. With no one to protect her, she could only watch as her late husband's land was grabbed by wicked neighbors. But a widow was never completely helpless. The Lord was on her side. In the final analysis her condition was more secure than that of her proud, rich neighbor.

How to Raise Children

Family members should be allies, not adversaries

Train a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not turn from it. 22:6

“Spare the rod and spoil the child” may be the most famous of the Bible’s proverbs. Proverbs calls punishment a form of love and says that parents who won’t discipline their children are in danger of ruining them (29:15). But that much-quoted maxim is only a small part of what Proverbs has to offer on the subject of bringing up children.

The overwhelming emphasis of Proverbs is on verbal encouragement and teaching. The whole book is framed as a father’s words to his son, teaching him those “facts of life” that have nothing to do with biology. Again and again he pleads, “Listen, my son.” Mother has equally important words (1:8; 6:20). The parent-child conversation is a warm one, and Proverbs 17:6 bears out what the whole book implies: parents and children are not meant to be adversaries, but allies in life who are proud of each other.

Proverbs on parent-child relationships: 3:11,12; 10:1,5; 13:1,24; 14:26; 15:20; 17:6,21; 19:18,26,27; 20:20; 22:6,15; 23:13-16,22-25; 27:11; 29:15,17; 31:28.

Read Proverbs 16 2;

1. The first group of people who are not allowed to enter the country are those who are not citizens of the United States.

- 17The heart of the discerning acquires knowledge;
the ears of the wise seek it out.
- 18A gift opens the way for the giver
and ushers him into the presence of the great.
- 19The first to present his case seems right,
till another comes forward and questions him.
- 20Casting the lot settles disputes and keeps strong opponents apart.
- 21An offended brother is more unyielding than a fortified city,
and disputes are like the barred gates of a citadel.
- 22From the fruit of his mouth a man's stomach is filled, with the harvest from his lips he is satisfied.
- 23The tongue has the power of life and death,
and those who love it will eat its fruit.
- 24He who finds a wife finds what is good and receives favor from the LORD.
- 25A poor man pleads for mercy,
but a rich man answers harshly.
- 26A man of many companions may come to ruin,
but there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother.
- 19 Better a poor man whose walk is blameless
than a fool whose lips are perverse.
- 2It is not good to have zeal without knowledge,
nor to be hasty and miss the way.
- 3A man's own folly ruins his life,
yet his heart rages against the LORD.
- 4Wealth brings many friends,
but a poor man's friend deserts him.
- 5A false witness will not go unpunished,
and he who pours out lies will not go free.
- 6Many curry favor with a ruler,
and everyone is the friend of a man who gives gifts.
- 7A poor man is shunned by all his relatives—
how much more do his friends avoid him!

18:24 How to Be a Good Friend

The Old Testament puts great emphasis on close family relationships. Surprisingly, however, Proverbs rates a good friend even higher, for he or she "sticks closer than a brother." Fair-weather friends are common (14:20), and the wrong kind of companions will bring you trouble. But a true friend loves you at all times, even when things are bad.

Some key proverbs on being a good friend and neighbor can be found in the following passages: 3:27-28; 11:12; 12:26; 17:9,17; 18:24; 22:24-25; 25:20; 26:18-19; 27:6,9-10,14,17; 28:23; 29:5.

- Though he pursues them with pleading,
they are nowhere to be found.
- 8He who gets wisdom loves his own soul,
he who cherishes understanding prospers.
- 9A false witness will not go unpunished,
and he who pours out lies will perish.
- 10It is not fitting for a fool to live in luxury—
how much worse for a slave to rule over princes!
- 11A man's wisdom gives him patience,
it is to his glory to overlook an offense.
- 12A king's rage is like the roar of a lion,
but his favor is like dew on the grass.
- 13A foolish son is his father's ruin,
and a quarrelsome wife is like a constant dripping.
- 14Houses and wealth are inherited from parents,
but a prudent wife is from the LORD.
- 15Laziness brings on deep sleep,
and the shiftless man goes hungry.
- 16He who obeys instructions guards his life,
but he who is contemptuous of his ways will die.
- 17He who is kind to the poor lends to the LORD,
and he will reward him for what he has done.
- 18Discipline your son, for in that there is hope;
do not be a willing party to his death.
- 19A hot-tempered man must pay the penalty;
if you rescue him, you will have to do it again.
- 20Listen to advice and accept instruction,
and in the end you will be wise.
- 21Many are the plans in a man's heart,
but it is the LORD's purpose that prevails.
- 22What a man desires is unfailing love;
better to be poor than a liar.
- 23The fear of the LORD leads to life:
Then one rests content, untouched by trouble.
- 24The sluggard buries his hand in the dish;
he will not even bring it back to his mouth!
- 25Flog a mocker, and the simple will learn prudence;
rebuke a discerning man, and he will gain knowledge.

19:25 Can the Simple Learn?

"The simple"—those who live without thinking—are rarely convinced to change, because they don't listen. One lesson may get through to them, though: seeing one of their "leading friends" punished.

INSIGHT

The Problem with Laziness Becoming a sluggard requires little effort

A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest—and poverty will come on you like a bandit. 24:33

The "sluggard" is a very lazy person. His only exercise is turning on his bed. Proverbs says he is hinged to it. Any far-fetched excuse—"there is a lion in the streets!"—will keep him from going to work. Proverbs laughs at the sluggard a little, but uses him to teach serious lessons. You can be like him very easily, for it doesn't require much: "a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest." Putting things off, making excuses, sleeping in: who doesn't sometimes fall victim to these tendencies?

The result of such a life? Poverty, frustration, broken relationships. The sluggard still wants the luxuries hard work earns, but he never gets them. "The sluggard's craving will be the death of him" (21:25).

Proverbs on laziness: 6:6-11; 10:4,26; 12:24,27; 13:4; 15:19; 19:15,24; 20:4; 21:25; 22:13; 24:30-34; 26:13-16.

Life Questions. What attributes of a sluggard do you recognize in yourself? Do you think of these as serious?

But he who guards his soul stays far from them.

¹Train a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not turn from it.

²The rich rule over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender.

³He who sows wickedness reaps trouble, and the rod of his fury will be destroyed.

⁴A generous man will himself be blessed, for he shares his food with the poor.

⁵Drive out the mocker, and out goes strife; quarrels and insults are ended.

⁶He who loves a pure heart and whose speech is gracious will have the king for his friend.

⁷The eyes of the Lord keep watch over knowledge, but he frustrates the words of the unfaithful.

⁸The king says, "There is a lion outside!" or "He will be murdered in the streets!"

⁹The mouth of an adulteress is a deep pit; he who falls under the Lord's wrath will fall into it.

¹⁰Truth is wound up in the heart of a child, but the rod of discipline will drive it far from him.

¹¹He who oppresses the poor to increase his wealth, and he who gives gifts to the rich—both come to poverty.

Sayings of the Wise

¹²Pay attention and listen to the sayings of the wise,

apply your heart to what I teach,

¹³for it is pleasing when you keep them in your heart,

and have all of them ready on your lips.

¹⁴So that your trust may be in the Lord, I teach you today, even you.

¹⁵Have I not written thirty^a sayings for you,

sayings of counsel and knowledge,

¹⁶teaching you true and reliable words so that you can give sound answers to him who sent you?

¹⁷Do not exploit the poor because they are poor, and do not crush the needy in court, ¹⁸for the Lord will take up their case and will plunder those who plunder them.

¹⁹Do not make friends with a hot-tempered man, do not associate with one easily angered, ²⁰for you may learn his ways and get yourself ensnared.

²¹Do not be a man who strikes hands in pledge or puts up security for debts;

²²if you lack the means to pay, your very bed will be snatched from under you.

²³Do not move an ancient boundary stone set up by your forefathers.

²⁴Do you see a man skilled in his work? He will serve before kings; he will not serve before obscure men.

23 When you sit to dine with a ruler,

note well what is before you, and put a knife to your throat

if you are given to gluttony.

³Do not crave his delicacies, for that food is deceptive.

⁴Do not wear yourself out to get rich; have the wisdom to show restraint.

⁵Cast but a glance at riches, and they are gone, for they will surely sprout wings and fly off to the sky like an eagle.

⁶Do not eat the food of a stingy man, do not crave his delicacies;

⁷for he is the kind of man who is always thinking about the cost.⁴ "Eat and drink," he says to you, but his heart is not with you.

⁸You will vomit up the little you have eaten and will have wasted your compliments.

⁹Do not speak to a fool, for he will scorn the wisdom of your words.

¹⁰Do not move an ancient boundary stone or encroach on the fields of the fatherless, ¹¹for their Defender is strong; he will take up their case against you.

¹²Apply your heart to instruction and your ears to words of knowledge.

¹³Do not withhold discipline from a child; if you punish him with the rod, he will not die.

¹⁴Punish him with the rod and save his soul from death.⁵

¹⁵My son, if your heart is wise, then my heart will be glad,

¹⁶my inmost being will rejoice when your lips speak what is right.

22:6 Can Good Parents Produce Bad Children?

An individual proverb shouldn't be read as either an invariable rule or a binding promise from God. Proverbs 10:4 generalizes truthfully, "diligent hands bring wealth," but you would not have to look too far to find an exception to the rule. Verse 6, a famous proverb, reinforces the importance of early training in forming a person's lifelong character. But you can find individuals who, though well brought up, choose to reject their training. Proverbs studies life the way it normally works. The general rule is this: good parents raise good children.

^a Or Seventy ^b Or not formerly written, or not written excellent for as he puts on a feast, so he is ^c Hebrew Shewl

^d Or who ^e Or for as he thinks within himself, / so he is; or

17 Do not let your heart envy sinners, but always be zealous for the fear of the Lord.

18 There is surely a future hope for you,
and your hope will not be cut off.

19 Listen, my son, and be wise,
and keep your heart on the right path.
20 Do not join those who drink too much wine
or gorge themselves on meat,

21 for drunkards and gluttons become poor,
and drowsiness clothes them in rags.

22 Listen to your father, who gave you life,
and do not despise your mother when she is
old.

23 Buy the truth and do not sell it,
get wisdom, discipline and understanding.

24 The father of a righteous man has great joy,
he who has a wise son delights in him.

25 May your father and mother be glad,
may she who gave you birth rejoice!

26 My son, give me your heart and let your eyes keep to my ways,

27 for a prostitute is a deep pit
and a wayward wife is a narrow well.

28 Like a bandit she lies in wait,
and multiplies the unfaithful among men.

29 Who has woe? Who has sorrow?
Who has strife? Who has complaints?
Who has needless bruises? Who has bloodshot eyes?

30 Those who linger over wine,
who go to sample bowls of mixed wine—

31 Do not gaze at wine when it is red,
when it sparkles in the cup,
when it goes down smoothly!

32 In the end it bites like a snake

and prowls like a viper.

33 Your eyes will see strange sights,
and your mind imagine confounding things.

34 You will be like one sleeping on the high,
lying on top of the rooftops.

35 They hit me, you will say, "but I in my turn they beat me, but I don't feel it!"

When will I wake up
so I can find another drink?"

24 Do not envy wicked men,
do not desire their company,

2 for their hearts plot violence,
and their lips talk about making trouble.

3 By wisdom a house is built and through understanding it is established, 4 through knowledge its rooms are filled with rare and beautiful treasures.

5 A wise man has great power,
and a man of knowledge increases strength, 6 for waging war you need guidance,
and for victory many advisers.

7 Wisdom is too high for a fool,
in the assembly at the gate he has nothing to say.

8 He who plots evil
will be known as a schemer.
9 The schemes of folly are sin.

23:35 The Dangers of Wine

Wine was common in biblical times, but its dangers were recognized. Proverbs contains some of the strongest warnings in the Bible against overindulgence: 20:1; 21:17; 23:20,21; 23:30-35; 31:4-7.

The Supreme Gift of Wisdom

First, learn to listen

He who walks with the wise grows wise, but a companion of fools suffers harm. 13:20

Proverbs judges every thought or action by one standard: "Is this wise?" The word wisdom brings up pictures of gray-haired old men muttering obscure philosophic maxims. But that is almost the opposite of what Proverbs means by the word. Wisdom is above all practical and down to earth. Young people as well as old can and should have it. Wisdom teaches you how to live. It combines understanding with discipline—the kind of discipline an athlete needs in training. It also adds a healthy dose of good common sense—except that common sense isn't, and never has been, common.

How do you become a wise person? You must first begin to listen. Wisdom is freely available to those who will stop talking and start paying attention—to God and his Word, to parents, to wise counselors. Anybody can become wise, Proverbs says. Wisdom is not reserved for a brainy elite. But becoming wise requires self-discipline to study and humbly seek wisdom at every opportunity.

Proverbs on becoming a wise person: 2:1-6; 9:1-10; 10:1,5,8,14,19,23; 11:2; 12:18; 13:10,20; 14:8; 15:7,31; 16:23; 17:24; 18:15; 19:11,20; 20:1; 21:11,20,30; 23:4; 29:3,8,11,15; 30:5,6.

Life Questions Think over the last two years of your life. To whom do you listen? Who has the greatest influence on you?

and men detest a mocker

¹⁰If you falter in times of trouble,
how small is your strength!

¹¹Rescue those being led away to death;
hold back those staggering toward slaughter.

¹²If you say, "But we know nothing about this,"
does not he who weighs the heart perceive
it?

Does not he who guards your life know it?
Will he not repay each person according to what he has done?

¹³Fat honey, my son, for it is good,
honey from the comb is sweet to your taste.

¹⁴Know also that wisdom is sweet to your soul;
if you find it, there is a future hope for you,
and your hope will not be cut off

¹⁵Do not lie in wait like an outlaw against a righteous man's house,
do not raid his dwelling place;
¹⁶for though a righteous man falls seven times,
he rises again,
but the wicked are brought down by
calamity

¹⁷Do not gloat when your enemy falls;
when he stumbles, do not let your heart
rejoice,

¹⁸for the LORD will see and disapprove
and turn his wrath away from him.

¹⁹Do not fret because of evil men or be envious of the wicked, ²⁰for the evil man has no future hope,
and the lamp of the wicked will be snuffed out.

²¹Fear the LORD and the king, my son,
and do not join with the rebellious, ²²for these two will send sudden destruction
upon them,
and who knows what calamities they can bring?

Further Sayings of the Wise

²³These also are sayings of the wise:

To show partiality in judging is not good:

²⁴Whoever says to the guilty, "You are innocent"—
peoples will curse him and nations denounce
him.

²⁵But it will go well with those who convict the
guilty,
and rich blessing will come upon them.

²⁶An honest answer
is like a kiss on the lips.

²⁷Finish your outdoor work
and get your fields ready;
after that, build your house.

²⁸Do not testify against your neighbor without cause,

or use your lips to deceive

²⁹Do not say, "I'll do to him as he has done to
me,

I'll pay that man back for what he did."

³⁰I went past the field of the sluggard, past the vineyard of the man who lacks
judgment,

³¹thorns had come up everywhere,
the ground was covered with weeds,
and the stone wall was in ruins.

³²I applied my heart to what I observed and learned a lesson from what I saw:

³³A little sleep, a little slumber,
a little folding of the hands to rest—

³⁴and poverty will come on you like a bandit
and scarcity like an armed man ^a

More Proverbs of Solomon

25 These are more proverbs of Solomon, copied by the men of Hezekiah king of Judah:

²It is the glory of God to conceal a matter;
to search out a matter is the glory of kings.

³As the heavens are high and the earth is deep,
so the hearts of kings are unsearchable.

⁴Remove the dross from the silver,
and out comes material for^b the silversmith;

⁵remove the wicked from the king's presence, and his throne will be established through
righteousness.

⁶Do not exalt yourself in the king's presence,
and do not claim a place among great men;

⁷it is better for him to say to you, "Come up here," than for him to humiliate you before a nobleman.

What you have seen with your eyes

⁸ do not bring^c hastily to court, for what will you do in the end
if your neighbor puts you to shame?

⁹If you argue your case with a neighbor,
do not betray another man's confidence,

¹⁰or he who hears it may shame you and you will never lose your bad reputation.

¹¹A word aptly spoken

25:1 Good Government

Proverbs lists three kings in its credits: Solomon (1:1; 10:1), Hezekiah (25:1), and Lemuel (31:1). So, naturally, it shows concern for what makes good government. The qualities needed in a king still apply to governmental heads today. Proverbs doesn't mention political philosophy or administrative efficiency. Justice and fairness matter most.

Proverbs on good government include the following: 14:35; 16:10,12-13; 20:26; 22:11; 25:4-5; 29:4,14; 31:3-5.

The Making of a Fool

Even a genius can be one

As a dog returns to its vomit, so a fool repeats his folly. 26:11

Fools, in modern English, are people who lack brains. But the word has a different meaning in the Bible. Fools may have high IQs. People may admire their reputation for success. Yet a wise person views them as a disaster.

One of the Bible's worst insults is "You fool!" People become fools by ignoring the wisdom God offers them, preferring to follow the crowd or their own conceited opinions. They may think themselves very clever, but their cleverness will land them in trouble.

Proverbs aims its sharpest warnings, not against acting immorally, but against becoming a fool. If you develop such a character, no set of rules can keep you out of trouble. A wise person ought to learn to recognize a fool from far away, and stay out of his or her path.

Poignant proverbs on foolishness: 1:7; 10:8; 12:15,16,23; 14:8,9,16,24; 15:14; 17:10,12,16; 18:2,6; 20:3; 26:3,11; 27:22; 28:26; 29:11.

Life Questions: Do you know anyone whom Proverbs would call a fool? If so, how should you relate to him or her?

- ¹²Do you see a man wise in his own eyes?
There is more hope for a fool than for him.
- ¹³The sluggard says, "There is a lion in the road,
a fierce lion roaming the streets!"
- ¹⁴As a door turns on its hinges,
so a sluggard turns on his bed.
- ¹⁵The sluggard buries his hand in the dish;
he is too lazy to bring it back to his mouth.
- ¹⁶The sluggard is wiser in his own eyes
than seven men who answer discreetly.
- ¹⁷Like one who seizes a dog by the ears

firebrands or deadly arrows
- ¹⁹is a man who deceives his neighbor
and says, "I was only joking!"
- ²⁰Without wood a fire goes out;
without gossip a quarrel dies down.
- ²¹As charcoal to embers and as wood to fire,
so is a quarrelsome man for kindling strife.
- ²²The words of a gossip are like choice morsels;
they go down to a man's inmost parts.
- ²³Like a coating of glaze^a over earthenware
are fervent lips with an evil heart.
- ²⁴A malicious man disguises himself with his lips,
but in his heart he harbors deceit.
- ²⁵Though his speech is charming, do not believe
him,
for seven abominations fill his heart.
- ²⁶His malice may be concealed by deception,
but his wickedness will be exposed in the assembly.
- ²⁷If a man digs a pit, he will fall into it;
if a man rolls a stone, it will roll back on him.
- ²⁸A lying tongue hates those it hurts,

26:13 The Excuses of a Lazy Man

At first glance some proverbs, like this one, appear incomplete and pointless. But this proverb cleverly pinpoints a lazy man's habit of seeing dangerous obstacles to every plan and making incredible excuses. He will not go anywhere (on a road) or even get out of his house (into the streets) because his imagination conjures up all the things that could go wrong.

- but provocation by a fool is heavier than both.
- ⁴Anger is cruel and fury overwhelming,
but who can stand before jealousy?
- ⁵Better is open rebuke
than hidden love.
- ⁶Wounds from a friend can be trusted,
but an enemy multiplies blows.
- ⁷He who is full loathes honey,
but to the hungry even what is bitter tastes sweet.
- ⁸Like a bird that strays from its nest
is a man who strays from his home.
- ⁹Perfume and incense bring joy to the heart,
and the pleasantness of one's friend springs
from his earnest counsel.
- ¹⁰Do not forsake your friend and the friend of your father,
and do not go to your brother's house when disaster strikes you—better a neighbor nearby than a brother far
away.
- ¹¹Be wise, my son, and bring joy to my heart;
then I can answer anyone who treats me with contempt.
- ¹²The prudent see danger and take refuge,
but the simple keep going and suffer for it.
- ¹³Take the garment of one who puts up security
for a stranger;
hold it in pledge if he does it for a wayward woman.
- ¹⁴If a man loudly blesses his neighbor early in the morning,
it will be taken as a curse.
- ¹⁵A quarrelsome wife is like a constant dripping on a rainy day;
- ¹⁶restraining her is like restraining the wind
or grasping oil with the hand.
- ¹⁷As iron sharpens iron,
so one man sharpens another.
- ¹⁸He who tends a fig tree will eat its fruit,
and he who looks after his master will be honored.
- ¹⁹As water reflects a face,
so a man's heart reflects the man.

and neither are the eyes of man.
- ²¹The crucible for silver and the furnace for gold, grinding him like grain with a pestle,

you will not remove his folly from him.
- ²³Be sure you know the condition of your flocks,
give careful attention to your herds;
- ²⁴for riches do not endure forever,
and a crown is not secure for all generations.

A Matter of Life and Death

More than mere survival

There is a way that seems right to a man, but in the end it leads to death. 14:12

Proverbs frequently talks about life and death. Wise living, it says, tends to make you live longer, while foolish living will push you into an early grave.

If you take this observation at face value, you'll have a problem: plenty of people who live foolishly survive into old age. But Proverbs's concept of life and death includes much more than physical survival. By life, Proverbs means "real living" full of peace and joy and wisdom. By death, it means spiritual as well as physical decay. A person who misses the way of wisdom may be as good as dead, even though he is still walking around.

Proverbs on "real living": 3:18,21,22; 4:23; 8:34-36; 10:11,16; 12:28; 13:12; 14:27,30; 15:4,27; 18:21; 19:23; 21:21; 28:16.

Proverbs on "real dying": 2:16-18; 5:3-6,22,23; 10:21; 14:12,32; 15:10; 19:16; 21:25; 27:20.

Life Questions Can you remember a specific experience that represents, for you, "real living"? How about "real dying"?

ECCLESIASTES

INTRODUCTION

When Life Seems Senseless

A book for our time

Meaningless! Meaningless! says the Teacher. "Utterly meaningless! Everything is meaningless!" (1:2)

In this world there are only two tragedies," said Oscar Wilde. "One is not getting what one wants—and the other is getting it." This paradoxical proverb has often proved true.

World's Richest Man

Many poor people think that if they only had more money they would be happy. Howard Hughes was the world's richest man when he was only forty-five years old. Twenty years later, at sixty-five, he still had all his money but was probably the world's most miserable man. He had retreated from society, living in small dark rooms in hotels, keeping all the sun out. He was dirty; his beard grew down to his waist and his hair fell down his back. His fingernails were two inches long. His huge body had shrunk to nothing.

A Rich King

There once was another very, very rich man who found that riches did not satisfy. His name was Solomon. He wrote a book about it called Ecclesiastes. This rich king had tasted just about everything life could offer. Wealth? No one could exceed him in luxury (2:4-9). Wisdom? The whole world knew how wise he was (1:13-18). Fame? He was king, the most famous man of his time (1:12). Systematically he sampled all of life's pleasures and powers, yet all ultimately disappointed him. All proved meaningless.

What is the point of life? he asked. You work hard, and someone else gets all the credit. You struggle to be good, and evil people take advantage of you. You accumulate money, and it just goes to spoiled children. You seek pleasure, and it turns sour on you. And everyone—rich or poor, good or evil, meets the same end. We all die. There is only one word to describe this life: meaningless.

Life Under the Sun

Ecclesiastes strikes a responsive chord in our age. No century has seen such progress, and yet such despair. What is the purpose of life anyway? Is there any ultimate meaning? "Is that all there is?" asked one songwriter after listing life's pleasures.

A key phrase in this book, "under the sun," describes the world lived on one level, apart from God and without any belief in the afterlife. If you live on that level, you may well conclude that life is meaningless.

Ecclesiastes gives some words of hope, including the final summary: "Fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man" (12:13). That's the positive message, the "lesson" of Ecclesiastes. But such positive words are almost overwhelmed by the author's powerful negative example. You could summarize his whole life in Jesus' one statement, "What good will it be for a man if he gains the whole world, yet forfeits his soul?" (Matthew 16:26).

How to Read Ecclesiastes

Ecclesiastes attracts extreme reactions. For several hundred years, Jewish scholars fiercely debated whether the book should even be included in the Old Testament. Yet novelist Thomas Wolfe said of it, "Ecclesiastes is the greatest single piece of writing I have ever known, and the wisdom expressed in it the most lasting and profound."

Because of the book's unique nature, it is important to keep certain principles in mind while reading it. Consider Ecclesiastes as a whole. The Teacher was exploring various philosophies of life. During his search, he tried different approaches, including hedonism, the unrestrained pursuit of pleasure. The book honestly records the author's search without endorsing it.

At times the author concludes with despairing statements that directly contradict other parts of the Bible (for example, the recurring phrase, "Everything is meaningless"). Read such individual statements in their context. Just as the book of Job contains arguments that God directly relented later, so Ecclesiastes contains many isolated statements that contradict its final conclusion.

Ecclesiastes performs two very valuable functions. First, it should stimulate compassion for those who are trapped in despair and live in a meaningless world, alone, without God. The author brilliantly captures the futility and meaninglessness of that world, expressing a philosophy of life widespread in the 20th century.

But the book includes more than despair. It also blends in proverbs about how life should be lived, pungent observations that can be easily overlooked. Look for these nuggets of wisdom, especially toward the end of the book. (You may also find it helpful to balance out Ecclesiastes with the more confident advice of Proverbs.)

By asking questions, the author of Ecclesiastes helped prepare for the answers God ultimately provided. The Teacher concluded, "Everything is meaningless!" under the sun, but when Jesus Christ came he promised life "to the full" (John 10:10).

Everything Is Meaningless

1 The words of the Teacher,^a son of David, king in Jerusalem:

²"Meaningless! Meaningless!" says the Teacher.

"Utterly meaningless!
Everything is meaningless."

³What does man gain from all his labor
at which he toils under the sun?

⁴Generations come and generations go,
but the earth remains forever

⁵The sun rises and the sun sets,
and hurries back to where it rises.

⁶The wind blows to the south and turns to the north,
round and round it goes,

ever returning on its course.

⁷All streams flow into the sea,
yet the sea is never full.

To the place the streams come from,
there they return again.

⁸All things are wearisome,
more than one can say.

The eye never has enough of seeing,
nor the ear its fill of hearing.

⁹What has been will be again,
what has been done will be done again;
there is nothing new under the sun.

¹⁰Is there anything of which one can say,
"Look! This is something new"?

It was here already, long ago;
it was here before our time.

¹¹There is no remembrance of men of old,
and even those who are yet to come

^a1 Or leader of the assembly also in verses 2 and 12

will not be remembered
by those who follow

Wisdom Is Meaningless

3] the Teacher was king over Israel in Jerusalem. 4] devoted myself to study and to explore by wisdom all that is done under heaven. What a heavy burden God has laid on men! 4] have seen all the things that are done under the sun; all of them are meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

15] What is twisted cannot be straightened,
what is lacking cannot be counted.

16] I thought to myself, "Look, I have grown and increased in wisdom more than anyone who has reigned over Jerusalem before me. I have experienced much of wisdom and knowledge." 17] Then I applied myself to the understanding of wisdom, and also of madness and folly, but I learned that this, too, is a chasing after the wind.

18] For with much wisdom comes much sorrow,
the more knowledge, the more grief.

Pleasures Are Meaningless

2] I thought in my heart, "Come now, I will test you with pleasure to find out what is good." But that also proved to be meaningless. 2] Laughter, I said, is foolish. And what does pleasure accomplish? 3] I tried cheering myself with wine, and embracing folly—my mind still guiding me with wisdom. I wanted to see what was worthwhile for men to do under heaven during the few days of their lives.

4] I undertook great projects: I built houses for myself and planted vineyards. 5] I made gardens and parks and planted all kinds of fruit trees in them. 6] I made reservoirs to water groves of flourishing trees. 7] I bought male and female slaves and had other slaves who were born in my house. I also owned more herds and flocks than anyone in Jerusalem before me. 8] I amassed silver and gold for myself, and the treasure of kings and provinces. I acquired men and women singers and a harem as well—the delights of the heart of man. 9] I became greater by far than anyone in Jerusalem before me. In all this my wisdom stayed with me.

10] I denied myself nothing my eyes desired;

I refused my heart no pleasure.

My heart took delight in all my work,
and thus was the reward for all my labor.

2:1 The World Outside the Palace

The first two chapters of Ecclesiastes tell of "the Teacher's" own experience of despair and meaninglessness. The life described in this autobiographical section resembles that of King Solomon. In the rest of the book, the Teacher examines the world around him to see if others have found answers to life "under the sun." To his disappointment, he finds the same pattern repeated over and over.

11] Yet when I surveyed all that my hands had done
and what I had toiled to achieve, everything was meaningless, a chasing after
the wind,
nothing was gained under the sun.

Wisdom and Folly Are Meaningless

12] Then I turned my thoughts to consider
wisdom,

and also madness and folly.

What more can the king's successor do than what has already been done?

13] I saw that wisdom is better than folly,
just as light is better than darkness.

14] The wise man has eyes in his head,
while the fool walks in the darkness;
but I came to realize that the same fate overtakes them both.

15] Then I thought in my heart,

"The fate of the fool will overtake me also.
What then do I gain by being wise?"

I said in my heart,

"This too is meaningless."

16] For the wise man, like the fool, will not be long remembered,

in days to come both will be forgotten.

Like the fool, the wise man too must die!

Toil Is Meaningless

17] So I hated life, because the work that is done under the sun was grievous to me. All of it is meaningless, a chasing after the wind. 18] I hated all the things I had toiled for under the sun, because I must leave them to the one who comes after me.

19] And who knows whether he will be a wise man or a fool? Yet he will have control over all the work into which I have poured my effort and skill under the sun. This too is meaningless.

20] So my heart began to despair over all my toilsome labor under the sun. 21] For a man may do his work with wisdom, knowledge and skill, and then he must leave

all he owns to someone who has not worked for it.
This too is meaningless and a great misfortune.

22] What does a man get for all the toil and anxious striving with which he labors under the sun? 23] All his days his work is pain and grief, even at night
his mind does not rest. This too is meaningless.

24] A man can do nothing better than to eat and drink and find satisfaction in his work. This too, I see, is from the hand of God. 25] For without him, who can eat or find enjoyment? 26] To the man who pleases him, God gives wisdom, knowledge and happiness, but to the sinner he gives the task of gathering and storing up wealth to hand it over to the one who pleases God. This too is meaningless,
a chasing after the wind.

A Time for Everything

3] There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven:

2] a time to be born and a time to die.

10] The meaning of the Hebrew for this phrase is uncertain.

- a time to plant and a time to uproot,
 1 a time to kill and a time to heal,
 a time to tear down and a time to build,
 4 a time to weep and a time to laugh,
 a time to mourn and a time to dance,
 5 a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them,
 a time to embrace and a time to refrain,
 6 a time to search and a time to give up,
 a time to keep and a time to throw away,
 a time to tear and a time to mend,
 a time to be silent and a time to speak,
 8 a time to love and a time to hate,
 a time for war and a time for peace.

⁹What does the worker gain from his toil? ¹⁰I have seen the burden God has laid on men. ¹¹He has made everything beautiful in its time. He has also set eternity in the hearts of men; yet they cannot fathom what God has done from beginning to end. ¹²I know that there is nothing better for men than to be happy and do good while they live. ¹³That everyone may eat and drink, and find satisfaction in all his toil—this is the gift of God. ¹⁴I know that everything God does will endure forever; nothing can be added to it and nothing taken from it. God does it so that men will revere him.

¹⁵Whatever is has already been,
 and what will be has been before;
 and God will call the past to account.^a ¹⁶And I saw something else under the sun:

In the place of judgment—wickedness was there, in the place of justice—wickedness was there

¹⁷I thought in my heart,

"God will bring to judgment
 both the righteous and the wicked,
 for there will be a time for every activity,
 a time for every deed."

¹⁸I also thought, "As for men, God tests them so that they may see that they are like the animals. ¹⁹Man's fate is like that of the animals; the same fate awaits them both: As one dies, so dies the other. All have the same breath^b; man has no advantage over the animal. Everything is meaningless. ²⁰All go to the same place; all come from dust, and to dust all return. ²¹Who knows if the spirit of man rises upward and if the spirit of the animal^c goes down into the earth?"

3:20 Is There an Afterlife?

Old Testament writers said very little about the afterlife. Not until Jesus' coming did God reveal details about heaven and hell. In this passage, the author wonders aloud whether death will be the end of everything. Yet he also adds some intriguing hints about the future. God "has set eternity in the hearts of men," he declares (verse 11). He also refers to a time of future judgment (verse 17).

²²So I saw that there is nothing better for a man than to enjoy his work, because that is his lot. For who can bring him to see what will happen after him?

Oppression, Toil, Friendlessness

⁴ Again I looked and saw all the oppression that was taking place under the sun:

I saw the tears of the oppressed—
 and they have no comforter;
 power was on the side of their oppressors—
 and they have no comforter.

²And I declared that the dead,
 who had already died,
 are happier than the living,
 who are still alive

¹But better than both
 is he who has not yet been,
 who has not seen the evil
 that is done under the sun.

⁴And I saw that all labor and all achievement spring from man's envy of his neighbor. This too is meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

⁵The fool folds his hands and ruins himself.

⁶Better one handful with tranquillity
 than two handfuls with toil
 and chasing after the wind.

⁷Again I saw something meaningless under the sun:

⁸There was a man all alone;
 he had neither son nor brother.
 There was no end to his toil,
 yet his eyes were not content with his wealth.

"For whom am I toiling," he asked,
 "and why am I depriving myself of enjoyment?"

This too is meaningless—
 a miserable business!

⁹Two are better than one,
 because they have a good return for their work:

¹⁰If one falls down,
 his friend can help him up.

But pity the man who falls
 and has no one to help him up!

¹¹Also, if two lie down together, they will keep warm.

But how can one keep warm alone?

¹²Though one may be overpowered,
 two can defend themselves.

A cord of three strands is not quickly broken.

Advancement Is Meaningless

¹³Better a poor but wise youth than an old but foolish king who no longer knows how to take warning. ¹⁴The youth may have come from prison to the kingship, or he may have been born in poverty within his kingdom. ¹⁵I saw that all who lived and walked under the sun followed the youth, the king's successor. ¹⁶There was no end to all the

^a15 Or God calls back the past

^b19 Or spirit

^c21 Or Who knows the spirit of man, which rises upward, or the spirit of the animal which people who were before them. But those who came later were not pleased with the successor. This too is meaningless—a chasing after the wind.

Stand in Awe of God

5 Guard your steps when you go to the house of God. Listen to hear rather than to offer the word. For those who do not know that they do wrong.

Do not be quick with your mouth,
do not be hasty in your heart
to utter anything before God.
For he is in heaven

and you are on earth,
so let your words be few.

A dream comes when there are many cares,
and the speech of a fool when there are many words.

When you make a vow to God, do not delay in fulfilling it. He has no pleasure in fools; fulfill your vow. It is better not to vow than to make a vow and not fulfill it. Do not let your mouth lead you astray. And do not protest to the temple messenger. My vow was a mistake. Why should God be angry at what you say and destroy the work of your hands? Much dreaming and many words are meaningless. Therefore stand in awe of God.

Riches Are Meaningless

If you see the poor oppressed in a district, and justice and rights denied, do not be surprised at such things, for one official is eyed by a higher one, and over them both are others higher still. The increase from the land is taken by all; the king himself profits from the fields.

Whoever loves money never has money enough,
whoever loves wealth is never satisfied with his income.
This too is meaningless.

As goods increase,
so do those who consume them.
And what benefit are they to the owner
except to feast his eyes on them?

The sleep of a laborer is sweet,
whether he eats little or much,
but the abundance of a rich man permits him no sleep.

I have seen a grievous evil under the sun:
wealth hoarded to the harm of its owner,
or wealth lost through some misfortune,
so that when he has a son
there is nothing left for him.
Naked a man comes from his mother's womb,
and as he comes, so he departs.
He takes nothing from his labor
that he can carry in his hand.

This too is a grievous evil.

As a man comes, so he departs,
and what does he gain,
since he toils for the wind?

All his days he eats in darkness,

with great frustration, affliction and anger.

Then I realized that it is good and proper for a man to eat and drink, and to find satisfaction in his toilsome labor under the sun during the few days of life God has given him—for this is his lot. Moreover, when God gives any man wealth and possessions, and enables him to enjoy them, to accept his lot and be happy in his work—this is a gift of God. He seldom reflects on the days of his life, because God keeps him occupied with gladness of heart.

6 I have seen another evil under the sun, and it weighs heavily on men: God gives a man wealth, possessions and honor, so that he lacks nothing his heart desires, but God does not enable him to enjoy them, and a stranger enjoys them instead. This is meaningless, a grievous evil.

A man may have a hundred children and live many years; yet no matter how long he lives, if he cannot enjoy his prosperity and does not receive proper burial, I say that a stillborn child is better off than he. It comes without meaning, it departs in darkness, and in darkness its name is shrouded. Though it never saw the sun or knew anything, it has more rest than does that man—even if he lives a thousand years twice over but fails to enjoy his prosperity. Do not all go to the same place?

All man's efforts are for his mouth,
yet his appetite is never satisfied.

What advantage has a wise man
over a fool?

What does a poor man gain
by knowing how to conduct himself before others?

Better what the eye sees
than the roving of the appetite.
This too is meaningless,
a chasing after the wind.

Whatever exists has already been named,
and what man is has been known;
no man can contend
with one who is stronger than he.

The more the words,
the less the meaning,
and how does that profit anyone?

For who knows what is good for a man in life, during the few and meaningless days he passes through like a shadow? Who can tell him what will happen under the sun after he is gone?

5:18 Good for Something

As he tasted various attractions in life—work, food, drink, success—the Teacher decided that all are “meaningless.” None gave ultimate satisfaction. But in passages like this one, he admits that such good things are gifts from God and have a temporary value. Some possessions are better than none, wisdom is better than ignorance, life is better than death.

Wisdom

- 7 A good name is better than fine perfume,
and the day of death better than the day of birth
- 8 It is better to go to a house of mourning
than to go to a house of feasting;
for death is the destiny of every man;
the living should take this to heart.
- 9 Sorrow is better than laughter,
because a sad face is good for the heart.
- 10 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning,
but the heart of fools is in the house of pleasure
- 11 It is better to heed a wise man's rebuke than to listen to the song of fools.
- 12 Like the crackling of thorns under the pot,
so is the laughter of fools.
This too is meaningless
- 13 Extortion turns a wise man into a fool,
and a bribe corrupts the heart.
- 14 The end of a matter is better than its beginning,
and patience is better than pride.
- 15 Do not be quickly provoked in your spirit,
for anger resides in the lap of fools.
- 16 Do not say, "Why were the old days better than these?"
For it is not wise to ask such questions.
- 17 Wisdom, like an inheritance, is a good thing
and benefits those who see the sun.
- 18 Wisdom is a shelter
as money is a shelter,
but the advantage of knowledge is this:
that wisdom preserves the life of its possessor
- 19 Consider what God has done:
Who can straighten
what he has made crooked?
- 20 When times are good, be happy;
but when times are bad, consider:
God has made the one
as well as the other.
Therefore, a man cannot discover anything about his future.
- 21 In this meaningless life of mine I have seen
both of these:
a righteous man perishing in his righteousness,
and a wicked man living long in his wickedness.
- 22 Do not be overrighteous, neither be overwise—
why destroy yourself?
- 23 Do not be overwicked,
and do not be a fool—
why die before your time?
- 24 It is good to grasp the one and not let go of the other.
The man who fears God will avoid all extremes.^a

- 25 Wisdom makes one wise man more powerful than ten rulers in a city.
- 26 There is not a righteous man on earth
who does what is right and never sins.
- 27 Do not pay attention to every word people say,
or you may hear your servant cursing you—
- 28 for you know in your heart that many times you yourself have cursed others.
- 29 All this I tested by wisdom and I said,
"I am determined to be wise"—
but this was beyond me.
- 30 Whatever wisdom may be,
it is far off and most profound—
who can discover it?
- 31 So I turned my mind to understand,
to investigate and to search out wisdom and
the scheme of things and to understand the stupidity of wickedness
and the madness of folly.
- 32 I find more bitter than death
the woman who is a snare, whose heart is a trap
and whose hands are chains.
The man who pleases God will escape her,
but the sinner she will ensnare.
- 33 "Look," says the Teacher,^b "this is what I have discovered:
"Adding one thing to another to discover the scheme of things—
34 while I was still searching but not finding—
I found one upright man among a thousand,
but not one upright woman among them
all.
- 35 This only have I found:
God made mankind upright, but men have gone in search of many schemes."
- 8 Who is like the wise man?
Who knows the explanation of things?
Wisdom brightens a man's face and changes its hard appearance.

Obey the King

- 2 Obey the king's command, I say, because you

7:29 Is It God's Fault?

In many ways the book of Ecclesiastes echoes its companion book of Job. Both are "philosophical," asking the hardest questions about life. But this verse shows a difference in the approach of each. In his anguish, Job sometimes questioned the character of God himself, demanding a personal explanation. At no time did the Teacher of Ecclesiastes "blame" God for the unfairness and meaninglessness he saw around him. "God made mankind upright," he concludes, "but men have gone in search of many schemes."

^a18 Or will follow them both

^b27 Or leader of the assembly took an oath before God. ³Do not be in a hurry to leave the king's presence. Do not stand up for a bad cause, for he will do whatever he pleases. ⁴Since a king's word is supreme, who can say to him, "What are you doing?"

⁵Whoever obeys his command will come to no harm, and the wise heart will know the proper time
and procedure.

⁶For there is a proper time and procedure for every matter though a man's misery weighs heavily upon him.

⁷Since no man knows the future,
who can tell him what is to come?

⁸No man has power over the wind to contain it,
so no one has power over the day of his death.

As no one is discharged in time of war,
so wickedness will not release those who practice it.

⁹All this I saw, as I applied my mind to everything done under the sun. There is a time when a man lords it over others to his own^a hurt. ¹⁰Then too, I saw the wicked buried—those who used to come and go from the holy place and receive praise^c in the city where they did this. This too is meaningless.

¹¹When the sentence for a crime is not quickly carried out, the hearts of the people are filled with schemes to do wrong. ¹²Although a wicked man commits a hundred crimes and still lives a long time, I know that it will go better with God-fearing men, who are reverent before God. ¹³Yet because the wicked do not fear God, it will not go well with them, and their days will not lengthen like a shadow.

¹⁴There is something else meaningless that occurs on earth: righteous men who get what the wicked deserve, and wicked men who get what the righteous deserve. This too, I say, is meaningless. ¹⁵So I commend the enjoyment of life, because nothing is better for a man under the sun than to eat and drink and be glad. Then joy will accompany him in his work all the days of the life God has given him under the sun.

¹⁶When I applied my mind to know wisdom and to observe man's labor on earth—his eyes not seeing sleep day or night—¹⁷then I saw all that God has done. No one can comprehend what goes on under the sun. Despite all his efforts to search it out, man cannot discover its meaning. Even if a wise man claims he knows, he cannot really comprehend it.

A Common Destiny for All

9 So I reflected on all this and concluded that the righteous and the wise and what they do are in God's hands, but no man knows whether love or hate awaits him. ²All share a common destiny—

the righteous and the wicked, the good and the bad,^d the clean and the unclean, those who offer sacrifices and those who do not.

As it is with the good man,
so with the sinner;
as it is with those who take oaths,
so with those who are afraid to take them.

³This is the evil in everything that happens under the sun: The same destiny overtakes all. The hearts of men, moreover, are full of evil and there is madness in their hearts while they live, and afterward they join the dead. ⁴Anyone who is among the living has hope^e—even a live dog is better off than a dead lion!

⁵For the living know that they will die,
but the dead know nothing,
they have no further reward,
and even the memory of them is forgotten.

⁶Their love, their hate
and their jealousy have long since vanished;
never again will they have a part in anything that happens under the sun.

⁷Go, eat your food with gladness, and drink your wine with a joyful heart, for it is now that God favors what you do. ⁸Always be clothed in white, and always anoint your head with oil. ⁹Enjoy life with your wife, whom you love, all the days of this meaningless life that God has given you under the sun—all your meaningless days. For this is your lot in life and in your toilsome labor under the sun. ¹⁰Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with all your might, for in the grave,^f where you are going, there is neither working nor planning nor knowledge nor wisdom.

¹¹I have seen something else under the sun:

The race is not to the swift
or the battle to the strong,
nor does food come to the wise
or wealth to the brilliant
or favor to the learned;
but time and chance happen to them all.

¹²Moreover, no man knows when his hour will come:

As fish are caught in a cruel net,
or birds are taken in a snare,

9:11 Life Is Unfair

Chapters 8 and 9 eloquently voice the unfairness of life. People don't get what they deserve, claims the Teacher. Good men suffer while wicked men prosper. Everything seems determined only by time and chance. The Teacher's doubts about the afterlife (see 3:20) affected all his thinking, because he saw the utter unfairness of life around him. In contrast, New Testament authors, with a solid belief in the afterlife, showed confidence that God would ultimately judge all people with fairness.

Wisdom Better Than Folly

¹³I also saw under the sun this example of wisdom that greatly impressed me: ¹⁴There was once a small city with only a few people in it. And a powerful king came against it, surrounded it and built huge siegeworks against it. ¹⁵Now there lived in that city a man poor but wise, and he saved the city by his wisdom. But nobody remembered that poor man. ¹⁶So I said, "Wisdom is better than strength." But the poor man's wisdom is despised, and his words are no longer heeded

¹⁷The quiet words of the wise are more to be heeded

than the shouts of a ruler of fools

¹⁸Wisdom is better than weapons of war,
but one sinner destroys much good

10 As dead flies give perfume a bad smell,
so a little folly outweighs wisdom and honor

²The heart of the wise inclines to the right,
but the heart of the fool to the left.

³Even as he walks along the road,
the fool lacks sense
and shows everyone how stupid he is.

⁴If a ruler's anger rises against you,
do not leave your post;
calmness can lay great errors to rest.

⁵There is an evil I have seen under the sun,
the sort of error that arises from a ruler:

⁶Fools are put in many high positions,
while the rich occupy the low ones.

⁷I have seen slaves on horseback,
while princes go on foot like slaves.

⁸Whoever digs a pit may fall into it;
whoever breaks through a wall may be bitten
by a snake.

⁹Whoever quarries stones may be injured by them;
whoever splits logs may be endangered by them.

¹⁰If the ax is dull
and its edge unsharpened,
more strength is needed
but skill will bring success.

¹¹If a snake bites before it is charmed,
there is no profit for the charmer.

¹²Words from a wise man's mouth are gracious,
but a fool is consumed by his own lips.

¹³At the beginning his words are folly;
at the end they are wicked madness—

¹⁴and the fool multiplies words.

No one knows what is coming—who can tell him what will happen after
him?

¹⁵A fool's work wearies him;
he does not know the way to town.

¹⁶Woe to you, O land whose king was a
servant

and whose princes feast in the morning.

¹⁷Blessed are you, O land whose king is of noble birth

and whose princes eat at a proper time—
for strength and not for drunkenness.

¹⁸If a man is lazy, the rafters sag;
if his hands are idle, the house leaks

¹⁹A feast is made for laughter,
and wine makes life merry,
but money is the answer for everything.

²⁰Do not revile the king even in your thoughts,
or curse the rich in your bedroom,
because a bird of the air may carry your words,
and a bird on the wing may report what you
say

Bread Upon the Waters

11 Cast your bread upon the waters,
for after many days you will find it again.

²Give portions to seven, yes to eight,
for you do not know what disaster may come upon the land.

³If clouds are full of water,
they pour rain upon the earth.
Whether a tree falls to the south or to the north,
in the place where it falls, there will it lie.

⁴Whoever watches the wind will not plant;
whoever looks at the clouds will not reap.

⁵As you do not know the path of the wind, or how the body is formed^b in a mother's womb,
so you cannot understand the work of God,
the Maker of all things.

⁶Sow your seed in the morning,
and at evening let not your hands be idle,
for you do not know which will succeed,
whether this or that,
or whether both will do equally well.

Remember Your Creator While Young

⁷Light is sweet,
and it pleases the eyes to see the sun.

⁸However many years a man may live,

11:5 Beyond Understanding

Even the Teacher, a man who possessed brilliant powers of wisdom and observation, had to conclude some things are beyond understanding. Failing in his attempt to "figure out" life, he fell back on simple advice: fear God and obey him, no matter how things seem to you. In essence, he concluded in favor of a life of faith. For him, an old man, much of life had already passed; in eloquent poetry he describes the decay that was already at work in his body (12:1-7). Thus he stressed, "Remember your Creator in the days of your youth" (12:1).

^a16 Or king is a child

^b5 Or know how life (or the spirit) / enters the body being formed

let him know them all but let him remember the days of darkness, for they will be many everything to come is meaningless

be happy, young man, while you are young,
 and let your heart give you joy in the days of your youth

Follow the ways of your heart
 and whatever your eyes see,
 but know that for all these things

cast will bring you to judgment
 so then, banish anxiety from your heart and cast off the troubles of your body
 for youth and vigor are meaningless.

12 Remember your Creator
 in the days of your youth,
 before the days of trouble come
 and the years approach when you will say,
 "I find no pleasure in them!"— before the sun and the light and the moon and the stars grow dark,

 and the clouds return after the rain;
 when the keepers of the house tremble,
 and the strong men stoop,
 when the grinders cease because they are few,
 and those looking through the windows
 grow dim;

when the doors to the street are closed
 and the sound of grinding fades;
 when men rise up at the sound of birds,
 but all their songs grow faint;
 when men are afraid of heights
 and of dangers in the streets,
 when the almond tree blossoms and the grasshopper drags himself along and desire no longer is stirred then man goes to his eternal home and mourners go about the streets

"Remember him—before the silver cord is severed,
 or the golden bowl is broken;
 before the pitcher is shattered at the spring,
 or the wheel broken at the well,
 and the dust returns to the ground it came from,
 and the spirit returns to God who gave it.

"Meaningless! Meaningless!" says the Teacher "
 "Everything is meaningless!"

The Conclusion of the Matter

⁹Not only was the Teacher wise, but also he imparted knowledge to the people. He pondered and searched out and set in order many proverbs.
¹⁰The Teacher searched to find just the right words, and what he wrote was upright and true.

¹¹The words of the wise are like goads, their collected sayings like firmly embedded nails—given by one Shepherd. ¹²He warned, my son, of anything in addition to them.

Of making many books there is no end, and much study wearies the body.

¹³Now all has been heard;
 here is the conclusion of the matter:
 Fear God and keep his commandments,
 for this is the whole duty of man.

¹⁴For God will bring every deed into judgment,
 including every hidden thing,
 whether it is good or evil.

SONG OF SONGS

■ INTRODUCTION ■

An Intoxicating Love

A poem about love the way it's meant to be

Many waters cannot quench love; rivers cannot wash it away. 8:7

Snap the radio on, zip to any station, and what are you likely to hear? Love songs. Songs of new love, songs of disappointed love, songs of grateful love, songs of crazy love. Times change, but through history the flow of love songs is a constant.

Penty of people are shocked to find an explicit love song in the Bible—complete with erotic lyrics. But Song of Songs is exactly that. It shows no embarrassment about lovers enjoying each other's bodies and talking about it. Consequently, intermittent attempts have been made to rule Song of Songs out of the Bible or to make it for "Adults Only." In 16th-century Spain, for instance, professor Fray Luis de Leon was dragged out of his classroom and imprisoned for four years. His crime? He translated Song of Songs into Spanish.

Allegorical Interpretation

More often, Song of Songs has been read as though it had nothing to do with lovers at all. Many have interpreted it as an allegory of love between God and his people. Some of these interpretations identify every poetic detail with some corresponding facet of our relationship to God. For instance, the bride's hair may be interpreted as non-Jewish nations who come to Christ. The famous saint Bernard of Clairvaux, using this allegorical approach, wrote 86 sermons on the first two chapters of Song of Songs.

Nowadays, few follow that kind of interpretation. Most scholars believe that the poem was intended to celebrate love between a newly married couple. God values love between a man and a woman. That's why he placed this song in his holy Bible. It may have been sung first at a wedding.

True Love

These lovers love to look at each other. They love to tell each other what they feel. They revel in the sensuous—the beauty of nature, the scent of perfumes and spices. They are openly erotic. Their intoxication with love sounds quite up-to-date, not so different from what you hear on the radio. Yet Song of Songs conveys a very different atmosphere from most modern love songs. The explicit lyrics never become even slightly dirty. This love comes from the garden of Eden, when both man and woman were naked and unashamed. It is tender, filled with delight, natural. You sense no shame or guilt; you feel that God is with the two as they love.

The lovers act as equals. Both woman and man take the initiative in praising each other. They don't flirt or play games; they say what they mean.

Yet they show caution and dignity in their love. While at the peak of joy, the lovers repeatedly warn others not to stir up love prematurely (2:7; 3:5; 8:4). They recognize the dangerously explosive side of love. "For love is as strong as death, its jealousy unyielding as the grave. It burns like blazing fire, like a mighty flame" (8:6).

How to Read Song of Songs

Since love songs are always popular, many people approach Song of Songs with great expectations. However, readers often find the book different from what they had expected.

Two main problems may hinder today's reader. One is the poetic imagery. No modern lover would say, "Your hair is like a flock of goats" (4:1), or, "Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon" (7:4). While some images in Song of Songs appeal—"His banner over me is love" (2:4) or "Love is as strong as death" (8:6)—the majority of the book's metaphors sound strange to our ears.

Most of the comparisons aren't visual, but emotional. For instance, when the lover tells his breasts that look like two towers — he isn't saying that her breasts look like deer antlers. He's pointing out the same tender feelings baby deer do. When you read the Song of Songs, you don't ask "What did these things (pomegranates, myrrh, etc.) look like?" but ask "What did the lovers feel when they thought of them?"

A second problem: Song of Songs is hard to follow. One part doesn't seem connected to the next. It is as if a series of photos of a couple in love — photos not necessarily in order. Put them in one photo album, they show the profound feelings of newly married lovers.

Though Song of Songs is primarily about love on the human level, many Christians and Jews have read it as a book about God's love. This was probably not the author's original intent, but it is a legitimate and inspiring way to look at the book. After all, God made human love, and other parts of the Bible suggest its similarity to God's love. (See Hosea 1-3 and Ephesians 5:22-33.) Song of Songs never makes this connection, but it does present a love so rich, so full, so unashamed that it's natural to think of God and his love for us.

1 Solomon's Song of Songs

Beloved:

- ²Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth—
for your love is more delightful than wine.
- ³Pleasing is the fragrance of your perfumes;
your name is like perfume poured out.
No wonder the maidens love you!
- ⁴Take me away with you—let us hurry!
Let the king bring me into his chambers.

Friends

- We rejoice and delight in you^a;
we will praise your love more than wine.

Beloved

- How right they are to adore you^b!

⁵Dark am I, yet lovely.

O daughters of Jerusalem,
dark like the tents of Kedar,
like the tent curtains of Solomon.

⁶Do not stare at me because I am dark,
because I am darkened by the sun.

My mother's sons were angry with me
and made me take care of the vineyards,
my own vineyard I have neglected.

⁷Tell me, you whom I love, where you graze your flock

and where you rest your sheep at midday.

Why should I be like a veiled woman beside the flocks of your friends?

Friends

- ⁸If you do not know, most beautiful of women, follow the tracks of the sheep and graze your young goats
by the tents of the shepherds.

Lover

- ⁹I liken you, my darling, to a mare
harnessed to one of the chariots of Pharaoh.
- ¹⁰Your cheeks are beautiful with earrings,
your neck with strings of jewels.
- ¹¹We will make you earrings of gold,
studded with silver.

Beloved

- ¹²While the king was at his table,
my perfume spread its fragrance.
- ¹³My lover is to me a satchet of myrrh resting between my breasts.
- ¹⁴My lover is to me a cluster of henna blossoms
from the vineyards of En Gedi.

Lover

- ¹⁵How beautiful you are, my darling!
Oh, how beautiful!
Your eyes are doves.

Beloved

- ¹⁶How handsome you are, my lover!
Oh, how charming!
And our bed is verdant.

Lover

The beams of our house are cedars,
our rafters are firs

Beloved

2 I am a rose^a of Sharon
2 a lily of the valleys

Lover

I like a lily among thorns
is my darling among the maidens

Beloved

I like an apple tree among the trees of the forest is my lover among the young men is it right to sit in his shade
and his fruit is sweet to my taste
He has taken me to the banquet hall,
and his banner over me is love Strengthen me with raisins refresh me with apples
for I am faint with love
His left arm is under my head,
and his right arm embraces me
Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you
by the gazelles and by the does of the field,
Do not arouse or awaken love
until it so desires

Listen, My lover!

Look! Here he comes capering across the mountains,
bounding over the hills

My lover is like a gazelle or a young stag.
Look! There he stands behind our wall, gazing through the windows,
peering through the lattice

My lover spoke and said to me,
Arise, my darling,
my beautiful one, and come with me.

See! The winter is past,
the rains are over and gone

Flowers appear on the earth;
the season of singing has come,
the cooing of doves
is heard in our land

The fig tree forms its early fruit;
the blossoming vines spread their fragrance.

Arise, come, my darling,
my beautiful one, come with me."

Lover

My dove in the clefts of the rock,
in the hiding places on the mountainside,

show me your face,
let me hear your voice,
for your voice is sweet,
and your face is lovely.

15 Catch for us the foxes,
the little foxes
that ruin the vineyards,
our vineyards that are in bloom.

Beloved

16 My lover is mine and I am his,
he browses among the lilies.

17 Until the day breaks
and the shadows flee,
turn, my lover,
and be like a gazelle
or like a young stag
on the rugged hills.^c

3 All night long on my bed
I looked for the one my heart loves;
I looked for him but did not find him.
21 I will get up now and go about the city,
through its streets and squares;
I will search for the one my heart loves.
So I looked for him but did not find him.

The watchmen found me
as they made their rounds in the city.
"Have you seen the one my heart loves?"

4 Scarcely had I passed them
when I found the one my heart loves.
I held him and would not let him go till I had brought him to my mother's house,^e
to the room of the one who conceived me.

5 Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you
by the gazelles and by the does of the field:
Do not arouse or awaken love
until it so desires.

6 Who is this coming up from the desert
like a column of smoke,
perfumed with myrrh and incense
made from all the spices of the merchant?

7 Look! It is Solomon's carriage, escorted by sixty warriors,
the noblest of Israel,

8 All of them wearing the sword,
all experienced in battle,
each with his sword at his side,
prepared for the terrors of the night.

9 King Solomon made for himself the carriage;
he made it of wood from Lebanon.

10 Its posts he made of silver,
its base of gold.

Its seat was upholstered with purple,
its interior lovingly inlaid
by^d the daughters of Jerusalem.

2:4 His Banner over Me

A "banner" was a large military flag that held a fighting unit together in battle. In the noise and dust of the fight, soldiers needed a visible sign to keep them oriented. For these lovers, a public and visible declaration of love forms a "banner," keeping them together.

3:5 Let Love Sleep

If love is so wonderful, as this poem beautifully sings, shouldn't people pursue it recklessly? Yet the beloved warns them not to. Three times she urges others not to force love, but to let it develop at its own rate. Love should wait for its proper time.

^a1 Or Lover

^b1 Possibly a member of the crocus family

^c17 Or the hills of Bethel

^d10 Or its inlaid interior a gift of love from

as they made their rounds in the city.
 They beat me, they bruised me;
 they took away my cloak,
 those watchmen of the walls!
 O daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you—
 if you find my lover,
 what will you tell him?
 Tell him I am taint with love

Friends

How is your beloved better than others,
 most beautiful of women?
 How is your beloved better than others,
 that you charge us so?

Beloved

My lover is radiant and ruddy, outstanding among ten thousand.
 His head is purest gold,
 his hair is wavy
 and black as a raven
 His eyes are like doves
 by the water streams,
 washed in milk,
 mounted like jewels
 His cheeks are like beds of spice yielding perfume.
 His lips are like lilies
 dripping with myrrh
 His arms are rods of gold set with chrysolite
 His body is like polished ivory decorated with sapphires.^a His legs are pillars of marble set on bases of pure gold.
 His appearance is like Lebanon,
 choice as its cedars
 His mouth is sweetness itself;
 he is altogether lovely.
 This is my lover, this my friend,
 O daughters of Jerusalem.

Friends

Where has your lover gone,
 most beautiful of women?
 Which way did your lover turn,
 that we may look for him with you?

Beloved

My lover has gone down to his garden,
 to the beds of spices,
 to browse in the gardens
 and to gather lilies.
 I am my lover's and my lover is mine;
 he browses among the lilies.

Lover

You are beautiful, my darling, as Tirzah, lovely as Jerusalem,
 majestic as troops with banners
 Turn your eyes from me,
 they overwhelm me
 Your hair is like a flock of goats descending from Gilead.

Your teeth are like a flock of sheep
 coming up from the washing Each has its twin,
 not one of them is alone.
 Your temples behind your veil
 are like the halves of a pomegranate.
 Sixty queens there may be,
 and eighty concubines,
 and virgins beyond number;
 but my dove, my perfect one, is unique,
 the only daughter of her mother,
 the favorite of the one who bore her
 The maidens saw her and called her blessed;
 the queens and concubines praised her.

Friends

Who is this that appears like the dawn,
 fair as the moon, bright as the sun,
 majestic as the stars in procession?

Lover

I went down to the grove of nut trees
 to look at the new growth in the valley, to see if the vines had budded
 or the pomegranates were in bloom.
 Before I realized it,
 my desire set me among the royal chariots of my people.^b

Friends

Come back, come back, O Shulammite; come back, come back, that we may gaze on
 you!

Lover

Why would you gaze on the Shulammite
 as on the dance of Mahanaim?

How beautiful your sandaled feet,
 O prince's daughter!
 Your graceful legs are like jewels,
 the work of a craftsman's hands.
 Your navel is a rounded goblet
 that never lacks blended wine.
 Your waist is a mound of wheat encircled by lilies.
 Your breasts are like two fawns,
 twins of a gazelle.
 Your neck is like an ivory tower.
 Your eyes are the pools of Heshbon
 by the gate of Bath Rabbim.
 Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon
 looking toward Damascus.
 Your head crowns you like Mount Carmel.
 Your hair is like royal tapestry;
 the king is held captive by its tresses.
 How beautiful you are and how pleasing,
 O love, with your delights!
 Your stature is like that of the palm,
 and your breasts like clusters of fruit
 I said, "I will climb the palm tree,
 I will take hold of its fruit."
 May your breasts be like the clusters of the vine,
 the fragrance of your breath like apples.

^a14 Or sign lazuli

^b12 Or among the chariots of Amminadab or among the chariots of the people of the prince

Beloved

May the wine go straight to my lover,

and his desire is for me

¹¹ Come, my lover, let us go to the countryside,
let us spend the night in the villages.^b

¹² Let us go early to the vineyards to see if the vines have budded,
if their blossoms have opened,
and if the pomegranates are in bloom—
there I will give you my love

¹³ The mandrakes send out their fragrance,
and at our door is every delicacy,
both new and old,
that I have stored up for you, my lover.

8 If only you were to me like a brother, who was nursed at my mother's breasts!—
Then, if I found you outside,
I would kiss you,
and no one would despise me

² I would lead you and bring you to my mother's house—
she who has taught me

I would give you spiced wine to drink,
the nectar of my pomegranates.

⁴ Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you:
Do not arouse or awaken love

Friends

⁵ Who is this coming up from the desert leaning on her lover?

Beloved

Under the apple tree I roused you;
there your mother conceived you,
there she who was in labor gave you birth.

⁶ Place me like a seal over your heart,
like a seal on your arm,
for love is as strong as death,

its jealousy^c unyielding as the grave.^d
It burns like blazing fire,
like a mighty flame.^e

⁷ Many waters cannot quench love;
rivers cannot wash it away.

If one were to give
all the wealth of his house for love,
it^f would be utterly scorned.

Friends

⁸ We have a young sister,
and her breasts are not yet grown.
What shall we do for our sister
for the day she is spoken for?

⁹ If she is a wall,
we will build towers of silver on her.

If she is a door,
we will enclose her with panels of cedar.

Beloved

¹⁰ I am a wall,
and my breasts are like towers.
Thus I have become in his eyes
like one bringing contentment.

¹¹ Solomon had a vineyard in Baal Hamon;
he let out his vineyard to tenants.

Each was to bring for its fruit
a thousand shekels^g of silver.

¹² But my own vineyard is mine to give;
the thousand shekels are for you,

O Solomon,
and two hundred^h are for those who tend
its fruit.

Lover

¹³ You who dwell in the gardens with friends in attendance,
let me hear your voice!

Beloved

¹⁴ Come away, my lover,
and be like a gazelle
or like a young stag
on the spice-laden mountains.

8:1 A Brotherly Kiss

In oriental culture, even a married couple could not express their love publicly. Only a brother and sister could openly kiss. The beloved is wishing she had the right to show their love to the world.

8:6 Love and Death

Death sweeps everything away. It yields to no one, and once you are in its power you cannot escape. So with love: it takes control of your life, and like a gigantic fire, it cannot be doused. Love must be treated with the greatest caution and respect.

ISAIAH

INTRODUCTION

Prophet, Poet, and Politician

His nation at a crossroads, Isaiah rose to meet the challenge

And he looked for justice, but saw bloodshed; for righteousness, but heard cries of distress 5.7

The prophet Isaiah was a giant of Jewish history. The New Testament quotes him more than all the other prophets combined. No other biblical author can match his rich vocabulary and use of imagery. Isaiah spent his days in the corridors of power. He served as adviser to the kings of Judah and helped set the course of his nation.

Days of Crisis

Isaiah lived at a crucial time, midway between the founding of the kingdom under Saul and David and its eventual destruction. A civil war had split the Israelites into North (Israel) and South (Judah), and Isaiah lived in the more pious Southern Kingdom.

When Isaiah began his work, the nation seemed strong and wealthy. But Isaiah saw signs of grave danger. People were using their power to harass the poor. Men went around drunk, women cared more about their clothes than about their neighbors' hunger. People gave lip service to God and kept up the outward appearance of religion but did little more.

Outside dangers loomed even larger. The armies of neighboring Israel were rattling swords and spears at the border. On all sides, monster empires were growing, especially Egypt and Assyria. Judah was caught in the middle. Should the nation choose one of the empires as an ally?

Harsh Words from an Uncompromising Prophet

The nation of Judah, said Isaiah, stood at a crossroads: it could either regain its footing or begin a dangerous slide downward. The prophet did not temper his message for the sake of popular opinion. He had harsh and unyielding words about what changes must take place.

Although he moved in royal circles, Isaiah was hardly a yes-man in politics. Sometimes he stood alone against a tide of optimism. His very name meant "The Lord saves," and he warned kings that relying on military power or wealth or any force other than God would lead to disaster.

Isaiah outlasted four kings, but he finally offended one beyond repair. King Manasseh (notorious for practicing infant sacrifice) found Isaiah's strong words too much to bear. Tradition records that he had Isaiah killed by fastening him between two planks of wood and sawing his body in half.

Manasseh has long since disappeared into obscurity. But Isaiah, through this book, endures as one of the great authors of all time. Sometimes the pen is mightier than the sword.

How to Read Isaiah

In the eighth century B.C. Isaiah wrote the book that bears his name. It is arguably the most eloquent book in the Old Testament, and you will likely recognize many verses and phrases.

Isaiah is full of profound insights into the nature of God and his plan for the earth. Due to its length and its peculiar organization, however, the book may seem hard to grasp.

Remember that Isaiah consists of a collection of many messages on various topics, pulled together into groupings. To understand Isaiah, it helps to think of the book as divided into several major groupings. Here is a summary of them:

Isaiah 1-12: Isaiah's call and messages of warning to Judah during the prosperous days of the kingdom. (These came mostly in the reigns of Uzziah and Jotham: see "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338.)

Isaiah 13-23: Isaiah's messages to all the nations around Judah—including enemies and close allies.

Isaiah 1:1-11 is a view of the earth's future (Isaiah 1:1-11) and specific messages to the people of Judah as they face the Assyrian invasion.
 Isaiah 1:12-17 is an introduction to the book of Isaiah. The focus of the book is on the Assyrian invasion of Judah.
 Isaiah 1:18-26 is an introduction to a very different situation 200 years into the future. Now, however, the Assyrian is the great enemy.
 Isaiah 1:27-31 is a word of hope about the future through the 'suffering servant'.
 Isaiah 1:32-33 is a word of hope about the future through the 'suffering servant'.

 97 he is angry with the nation's leaders,
 98 he is angry with the nation's leaders,
 99 he is angry with the nation's leaders,
 100 he is angry with the nation's leaders,

from the sole of your foot to the top of your head.

There is no soundness—
 only wounds and welts
 and open sores
 not cleansed or bandaged
 or soothed with oil.

Your country is desolate,
 your cities burned with fire;
 your fields are being stripped by foreigners
 right before you,
 and waste as when overthrown by strangers.
 The Daughter of Zion is left
 like a shelter in a vineyard,
 like a hut in a field of melons,
 like a city under siege.
 Unless the Lord Almighty
 had left us some survivors,
 we would have become like Sodom,
 we would have been like Gomorrah.

11 Hear the word of the Lord,
 you rulers of Sodom,
 listen to the law of our God,
 you people of Gomorrah!
 12 The multitude of your sacrifices—
 what are they to me?" says the Lord.

I have more than enough of burnt offerings,
of rams and the fat of fattened animals;
I have no pleasure
in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats.
12 When you come to appear before me,
who has asked this of you,
this trampling of my courts?
13 Stop bringing meaningless offerings!
Your incense is detestable to me
New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations—
I cannot bear your evil assemblies
14 Your New Moon festivals and your appointed feasts
my soul hates
They have become a burden to me;
I am weary of bearing them
15 When you spread out your hands in prayer,
I will hide my eyes from you;
even if you offer many prayers,
I will not listen
Your hands are full of blood,
16 wash and make yourselves clean.
Take your evil deeds
out of my sight!
Stop doing wrong,
17 learn to do right!
Seek justice,
encourage the oppressed.⁴
Defend the cause of the fatherless, plead the case of the widow 18 "Come now, let us reason together,"
says the LORD
Though your sins are like scarlet,
they shall be as white as snow;
though they are red as crimson,
they shall be like wool 19 If you are willing and obedient,
you will eat the best from the land;
20 but if you resist and rebel,
you will be devoured by the sword."
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.
21 See how the faithful city has become a harlot!
She once was full of justice;
righteousness used to dwell in her—
but now murderers!
22 Your silver has become dross,
your choice wine is diluted with water.
23 Your rulers are rebels, companions of thieves;
they all love bribes
and chase after gifts.
They do not defend the cause of the fatherless;
the widow's case does not come before
them
24 Therefore the Lord, the LORD Almighty,
the Mighty One of Israel, declares:
'Ah, I will get relief from my foes
and avenge myself on my enemies.
25 I will turn my hand against you;
I will thoroughly purge away your dross
and remove all your impurities.

26 I will restore your judges as in days of old,
your counselors as at the beginning Afterward you will be called the City of Righteousness,
the Faithful City " 27 Zion will be redeemed with justice,
her penitent ones with righteousness.
28 But rebels and sinners will both be broken,
and those who forsake the LORD will perish.
29 "You will be ashamed because of the sacred oaks
in which you have delighted;
you will be disgraced because of the gardens
that you have chosen.
30 You will be like an oak with fading leaves,
like a garden without water.
31 The mighty man will become tinder
and his work a spark;
both will burn together,
with no one to quench the fire."

The Mountain of the LORD

2 This is what Isaiah son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem:

2 In the last days
the mountain of the LORD's temple will be established
as chief among the mountains;
it will be raised above the hills,
and all nations will stream to it.
3 Many peoples will come and say,
"Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,
to the house of the God of Jacob.
He will teach us his ways,
so that we may walk in his paths."
The law will go out from Zion,
the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
4 He will judge between the nations
and will settle disputes for many peoples.
They will beat their swords into plowshares
and their spears into pruning hooks.
Nation will not take up sword against nation,
nor will they train for war anymore.
5 Come, O house of Jacob,
let us walk in the light of the LORD.

1:23 Much Religion, Little Justice

Isaiah 1 paints a striking picture of conditions in Judah. Descriptions of luxury indicate the nation was prospering economically. There was no shortage of offerings, prayers, and religious celebrations (verses 11-17). But Isaiah condemned Judah for not putting religion into practice by defending weak people, such as widows and the fatherless. The country's prosperity had come at the poor's expense.

⁴ Or: encourage the oppressed

The Day of the Lord

- ⁶You have abandoned your people,
the house of Jacob.
They are full of superstitions from the East;
they practice divination like the Philistines
and clasp hands with pagans.
⁷Their land is full of silver and gold;
there is no end to their treasures.
Their land is full of horses;
there is no end to their chariots.
⁸Their land is full of idols;
they bow down to the work of their hands,
to what their fingers have made.
⁹So man will be brought low
and mankind humbled—
do not forgive them.^a
- ¹⁰Go into the rocks, hide in the ground
from dread of the LORD
and the splendor of his majesty!
¹¹The eyes of the arrogant man will be humbled
and the pride of men brought low;
the LORD alone will be exalted in that day.
- ¹²The LORD Almighty has a day in store
for all the proud and lofty,
for all that is exalted
(and they will be humbled), ¹³for all the cedars of Lebanon, tall and lofty,
and all the oaks of Bashan, ¹⁴for all the towering mountains
and all the high hills, ¹⁵for every lofty tower
and every fortified wall, ¹⁶for every trading ship^b and every stately vessel.
¹⁷The arrogance of man will be brought low and the pride of men humbled;
the LORD alone will be exalted in that day, ¹⁸and the idols will totally disappear.
- ¹⁹Men will flee to caves in the rocks and to holes in the ground
from dread of the LORD
and the splendor of his majesty
when he rises to shake the earth.
²⁰In that day men will throw away to the rodents and bats
their idols of silver and idols of gold,
which they made to worship.
²¹They will flee to caverns in the rocks and to the overhanging crags
from dread of the LORD
and the splendor of his majesty,
when he rises to shake the earth.
- ²²Stop trusting in man,
who has but a breath in his nostrils.
Of what account is he?

Judgment on Jerusalem and Judah

- 3 See now, the Lord,
the LORD Almighty,
is about to take from Jerusalem and Judah
both supply and support:

all supplies of food and all supplies of water, ² the hero and warrior,
the judge and prophet,
the soothsayer and elder,
³ the captain of fifty and man of rank,
the counselor, skilled craftsman and clever enchanter.

⁴ I will make boys their officials;
mere children will govern them.

⁵ People will oppress each other—man against man, neighbor against
neighbor.

The young will rise up against the old,
the base against the honorable.

⁶ A man will seize one of his brothers
at his father's home, and say,
"You have a cloak, you be our leader;
take charge of this heap of ruins!"

⁷ But in that day he will cry out,
"I have no remedy.

I have no food or clothing in my house;
do not make me the leader of the people."

⁸ Jerusalem staggers, Judah is falling;
their words and deeds are against the LORD,
defying his glorious presence.

⁹ The look on their faces testifies against them;
they parade their sin like Sodom;
they do not hide it.

Woe to them!

They have brought disaster upon themselves.

¹⁰ Tell the righteous it will be well with them,
for they will enjoy the fruit of their deeds.

¹¹ Woe to the wicked! Disaster is upon them!
They will be paid back for what their hands have done.

¹² Youths oppress my people,
women rule over them.

O my people, your guides lead you astray;
they turn you from the path.

¹³ The LORD takes his place in court;
he rises to judge the people.

¹⁴ The LORD enters into judgment against the elders and leaders of his people:
"It is you who have ruined my vineyard;
the plunder from the poor is in your houses.

¹⁵ What do you mean by crushing my people and grinding the faces of the poor?"
declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty.

¹⁶ The LORD says,

3:6 Total Anarchy

Isaiah foresees a time of judgment on Judah, when total anarchy will prevail. Leaders will be chosen at random, and the nation's supply of young men will be decimated by war (verse 25). The vivid passage on the haughty women of Zion (3:16-4:1) shows why this book is admired for its writing style.

^a9 Or not raise them up

^b16 Hebrew every ship of Tarshish

The women of Zion are haughty, walking along with outstretched necks,
dattling with their eyes,
tripping along with mincing steps
with ornaments jingling on their ankles.
Therefore the Lord will bring sores on the heads of the women of Zion;
the Lord will make their scalps bald.¹

²In that day the Lord will snatch away their finery: the bangles and headbands and crescent necklaces, ³the earrings and bracelets and veils, ⁴the headaddresses and ankle chains and sashes,
the perfume bottles and charms, ⁵the signet rings and nose rings, ⁶the fine robes and the capes and cloaks, the purses, ⁷and mirrors, and the linen garments and tiaras and shawls.

⁸Instead of fragrance there will be a stench;
instead of a sash, a rope;
instead of well-dressed hair, baldness;
instead of fine clothing, sackcloth;
instead of beauty, branding.

⁹Your men will fall by the sword,
your warriors in battle.

¹⁰The gates of Zion will lament and mourn;
deserted, she will sit on the ground.

In that day seven women will take hold of one man and say, "We will eat our own food
and provide our own clothes;
only let us be called by your name.
Take away our disgrace!"

The Branch of the LORD

²In that day the Branch of the LORD will be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land will be the pride and glory of the survivors in Israel.
³Those who are left in Zion, who remain in Jerusalem, will be called holy, all who are recorded among the living in Jerusalem. ⁴The Lord will wash away the filth of the women of Zion; he will cleanse the bloodstains from Jerusalem by a spirit^a of judgment and a spirit^a of fire. ⁵Then the LORD will create over all of Mount Zion and over those who assemble there a cloud of smoke by day and a glow of flaming fire by night; over all the glory will be a canopy. ⁶It will be a shelter and shade from the heat of the day, and a refuge and hiding place from the storm and rain.

The Song of the Vineyard

I will sing for the one I love
a song about his vineyard:
My loved one had a vineyard
on a fertile hillside.
²He dug it up and cleared it of stones
and planted it with the choicest vines.
He built a watchtower in it and cut out a winepress as well.
Then he looked for a crop of good grapes,
but it yielded only bad fruit.

³"Now you dwellers in Jerusalem and men of Judah,

judge between me and my vineyard."
⁴What more could have been done for my vineyard
than I have done for it?

When I looked for good grapes,
why did it yield only bad?

⁵Now I will tell you what I am going to do to my vineyard:

I will take away its hedge,
and it will be destroyed,

I will break down its wall,
and it will be trampled.

⁶I will make it a wasteland,
neither pruned nor cultivated,
and briers and thorns will grow there.

I will command the clouds not to rain on it."^a

⁷The vineyard of the LORD Almighty
is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah

are the garden of his delight.

And he looked for justice, but saw bloodshed;
for righteousness, but heard cries of distress.

Woes and Judgments

⁸Woe to you who add house to house and join field to field till no space is left
and you live alone in the land.

⁹The LORD Almighty has declared in my hearing.

"Surely the great houses will become desolate,
the fine mansions left without occupants.

¹⁰A ten-acre^b vineyard will produce only a bath^c of wine,
a homer^d of seed only an ephah^e of grain."

¹¹Woe to those who rise early in the morning to run after their drinks,
who stay up late at night
till they are inflamed with wine.

¹²They have harps and lyres at their banquets,
tambourines and flutes and wine,
but they have no regard for the deeds of the LORD,
no respect for the work of his hands.

5:4 What More Could God Have Done?

The "Song of the Vineyard" beautifully summarizes God's message to Judah. Although he had done everything possible to care for the nation, his "vineyard"—the house of Israel—had produced only wild grapes. What else could he do but allow it to grow wild and uncultivated? Jesus used a related analogy in some of his parables (Matthew 20:1-16; 21:33-46; Mark 12:1-12; Luke 13:6-9; 20:9-19).

^a Or the Spirit gallons (about 22 liters)

^b Hebrew ten-yoke, that is, the land plowed by 10 yoke of oxen in one day

^c That is, probably about 6 bushels (about 220 liters)

^d That is, probably about 3/5 bushel (about 22 liters)

Therefore my people will go into exile
for lack of understanding;
their men of rank will die of hunger
and their masses will be parched with thirst.
14 Therefore the grave enlarges its appetite and opens its mouth without limit;
into it will descend their nobles and masses
with all their brawlers and revelers.
15 So man will be brought low
and mankind humbled,
the eyes of the arrogant humbled 16 But the LORD Almighty will be exalted by his justice,
and the holy God will show himself holy by his righteousness.
17 Then sheep will graze as in their own pasture;
lambs will feed among the ruins of the rich.
18 Woe to those who draw sin along with cords of deceit,
and wickedness as with cart ropes, 19 to those who say, "Let God hurry, let him hasten his work
so we may see it
Let it approach,
let the plan of the Holy One of Israel come,
so we may know it."
20 Woe to those who call evil good and good evil,
who put darkness for light
and light for darkness,
who put bitter for sweet
and sweet for bitter.
21 Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes and clever in their own sight.
22 Woe to those who are heroes at drinking wine
and champions at mixing drinks, 23 who acquit the guilty for a bribe,
but deny justice to the innocent.
24 Therefore, as tongues of fire lick up straw and as dry grass sinks down in the flames,
so their roots will decay
and their flowers blow away like dust;
for they have rejected the law of the LORD
Almighty
and spurned the word of the Holy One of Israel.
25 Therefore the LORD's anger burns against his
people;
his hand is raised and he strikes them down.
The mountains shake,
and the dead bodies are like refuse in the streets.
Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.
26 He lifts up a banner for the distant nations,
he whistles for those at the ends of the earth.
Here they come,
swiftly and speedily!
27 Not one of them grows tired or stumbles,
not one slumbers or sleeps;

not a belt is loosened at the waist,
not a sandal thong is broken.
28 Their arrows are sharp,
all their bows are strung;
their horses' hoofs seem like flint,
their chariot wheels like a whirlwind.
29 Their roar is like that of the lion,
they roar like young lions;
they growl as they seize their prey
and carry it off with no one to rescue.
30 In that day they will roar over it like the roaring of the sea.
And if one looks at the land,
he will see darkness and distress;
even the light will be darkened by the clouds.

Isaiah's Commission

6 In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord seated on a throne, high and exalted, and the train of his robe filled the temple. 2 Above him were seraphs, each with six wings: With two wings they covered their faces, with two they covered their feet, and with two they were flying.
3 And they were calling to one another:
"Holy, holy, holy is the LORD Almighty;
the whole earth is full of his glory."

4 At the sound of their voices the doorposts and thresholds shook and the temple was filled with smoke.

5 "Woe to me!" I cried. "I am ruined! For I am a man of unclean lips, and I live among a people of unclean lips, and my eyes have seen the King, the LORD Almighty."

6 Then one of the seraphs flew to me with a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with tongs from the altar. 7 With it he touched my mouth and said, "See, this has touched your lips; your guilt is taken away and your sin atoned for."

8 Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying,
"Whom shall I send? And who will go for us?"
And I said, "Here am I. Send me!"

9 He said, "Go and tell this people:

"Be ever hearing, but never understanding;
be ever seeing, but never perceiving."

10 Make the heart of this people calloused;
make their ears dull
and close their eyes.^c

Otherwise they might see with their eyes,
hear with their ears,
understand with their hearts,
and turn and be healed."

6:2 A Message from God

Isaiah experienced a dramatic call from God to become a prophet. The message was personally delivered by seraphs, a term that appears only here and means "something burning and dazzling." Evidently, seraphs were angels who acted as spokesmen for God.

¹⁴ Hebrew Shool ¹⁷ Septuagint, Hebrew / strangers will eat understanding you will be ever seeing but never perceiving ²⁰ This people's heart has become calloused, they hardly hear with their ears, and they have closed their eyes

^{9,10} Hebrew; Septuagint You will be ever hearing, but never understanding

¹¹Then I said, "For how long, O Lord?"
And he answered.

"Until the cities lie ruined
and without inhabitant,
until the houses are left deserted
and the fields ruined and ravaged, ¹²until the LORD has sent everyone far away
and the land is utterly forsaken.
¹³And though a tenth remains in the land,
it will again be laid waste.

But as the terebinth and oak leave stumps when they are cut down, so the holy seed will be the stump in the
land."

The Sign of Immanuel

7 When Ahaz son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, was king of Judah, King Rezin of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel marched up to fight against Jerusalem, but they could not overpower it.

INSIGHT

Faith in God or the Military?

Where does a weak nation turn for help?

This is the plan determined for the whole world; this is the hand stretched out over all nations. 14:26

What can a small nation do when facing a military giant? Judah found itself in that predicament early in Isaiah's career. When two neighboring nations invaded, the tiny kingdom suffered heavy losses. King Ahaz and the people of Judah were shaken, "as the trees of the forest are shaken by the wind" (7:2). Panicked, Ahaz sought Isaiah's advice.

Isaiah had received a "call" to ministry as dramatic as any recorded in the Bible (chapter 6). King Ahaz knew that Isaiah would deliver a message straight from God, no matter how unpopular. Still, Ahaz was hardly prepared for what Isaiah said: Stay calm, don't worry, simply trust God.

The attacking kings were mere "smoldering stubs of firewood," Isaiah declared (7:4). Whatever happens, don't seek help from an empire like Assyria; if you do, you will invite in the very army that will one day destroy you.

The Long Slide Begins

But Ahaz, reeling from the invasion, wanted quick relief. Ignoring Isaiah's warnings, he negotiated a treaty with mighty Assyria, using as a bribe the treasury of the temple in Jerusalem.

In the short term, Ahaz's decision brought results. No army of that day could match the Assyrian war machine, and all Judah's enemies fell to the onslaught. Israel, to the north, was wiped off the map. At last Judah had peace. But at what cost?

Perhaps as part of the treaty with Assyria, Ahaz began corrupting the Jewish religion. He first closed the doors of the temple to worship, and later replaced the sacred altar to God with a foreign one. He officially adopted Assyria's state religion, going so far as to make a human sacrifice of his sons in a fire. In every way King Ahaz became a puppet king, under the thumb of Assyria. Foreign armies stayed in Judah. Indeed, Assyria's help had come with strings attached.

Messages for Then and Now

The prophet Isaiah was furious. He had grown up in a boom time in Judah, under a good king. Suddenly he saw his country become a mere pawn of Assyria, trading away even its great religious heritage.

Chapters 7-19 record his passionate words, not only against Judah, but against her neighbors also. He told of a reckoning day, when each nation would be punished for its sin and rebellion. The immediate future looked very bleak, and Isaiah minced no words in describing it.

But Isaiah did not stop there. He went on to project far into the future, in familiar words that still stir up hope and longing. This section begins with a question from a king about where to turn for help. It ends with a grand sweep of all of history.

Life Questions. What do you think Isaiah would say if he were alive today about the major countries of the world?

²Now the house of David was told "Aram has allied itself with Ephraim" so the hearts of Ahaz and his people were shaken, as the trees of the forest are shaken by the wind.

³Then the LORD said to Isaiah, "Go out, you and your son Shear Jashub," to meet Ahaz at the end of the aqueduct of the Upper Pool, on the road to the Washerwoman's Field. ⁴Say to him, "Be careful, keep calm and don't be afraid. Do not lose heart because of these two smoldering stubs of firewood—because of the fierce anger of Rezin and Aram and of the son of Remaliah. "Aram, Ephraim and Remaliah's son have plotted your ruin, saying, ⁵"Let us invade Judah, let us tear it apart and divide it among ourselves, and make the son of Tabael king over it." Yet this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"It will not take place,
it will not happen,

⁶for the head of Aram is Damascus,
and the head of Damascus is only Rezin.
Within sixty-five years

Ephraim will be too shattered to be a people.
⁷The head of Ephraim is Samana,
and the head of Samana is only Remaliah's son.

If you do not stand firm in your faith,
you will not stand at all."

⁸Again the LORD spoke to Ahaz, ¹¹"Ask the LORD your God for a sign, whether in the deepest depths or in the highest heights."

¹²But Ahaz said, "I will not ask, I will not put the LORD to the test."

¹³Then Isaiah said, "Hear now, you house of David! Is it not enough to try the patience of men? Will you try the patience of my God also? ¹⁴Therefore the LORD himself will give you a sign: The virgin will be with child and will give birth to a son, and⁴ will call him Immanuel.⁵ ¹⁵He will eat curds and honey when he knows enough to reject the wrong and choose the right. ¹⁶But before the boy knows enough to reject the wrong and choose the right, the land of the two kings you dread will be laid waste. ¹⁷The LORD will bring on you and on your people and on the house of your father a time unlike any since Ephraim broke away from Judah—he will bring the king of Assyria."

¹⁸In that day the LORD will whistle for flies from the distant streams of Egypt and for bees from the land of Assyria. ¹⁹They will all come and settle in the steep ravines and in the crevices in the rocks, on all the thornbushes and at all the water holes. ²⁰In that day the LORD will use a razor hired from beyond the River⁶—the king of Assyria—to shave your head and the hair of your legs, and to take off your beards also. ²¹In that day, a man will keep alive a young cow and two goats. ²²And because of the abundance of the milk they give, he will have curds to eat. All who remain in the land will eat curds and honey. ²³In that day, in every place where there were a thousand vines worth a thousand silver shekels,⁷ there will be only briars and thorns. ²⁴Men will go there with bow and arrow, for the land will be covered with briars and thorns. ²⁵As for all the hills once cultivated by the hoe, you will no longer go there for fear of the briars and thorns, they will become places where cattle are turned loose and where sheep run.

Assyria, the Lord's Instrument

8 The LORD said to me, "Take a large scroll and write on it with an ordinary pen. Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz."² And I will call in Uriah the priest and Zechariah son of Jeberechiah as reliable witnesses for me."

³Then I went to the prophetess, and she conceived and gave birth to a son. And the LORD said to me, "Name him Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz. ⁴Before the boy knows how to say 'My father' or 'My mother,' the wealth of Damascus and the plunder of Samana will be carried off by the king of Assyria."

⁵The LORD spoke to me again:

⁶"Because this people has rejected the gently flowing waters of Shiloah and rejoices over Rezin
and the son of Remaliah,

⁷therefore the LORD is about to bring against
them

the mighty floodwaters of the River—
the king of Assyria with all his pomp.
It will overflow all its channels,
run over all its banks

⁸and sweep on into Judah, swirling over it, passing through it and reaching up to the neck.

Its outspread wings will cover the breadth of your land.

O Immanuel!"

⁹Raise the war cry, you nations, and be shattered!

Listen, all you distant lands.

Prepare for battle, and be shattered!

Prepare for battle, and be shattered!

¹⁰Devise your strategy, but it will be thwarted;

7:14 A Famous Sign

Like so many prophecies, this one probably had two meanings: one for Isaiah's time and another much later. Isaiah urged King Ahaz to seek a sign from God about Judah's safety from its neighbors. Ahaz, notoriously stubborn and ungodly, refused.

Isaiah told of the sign anyway: a young boy would be born, and before he grew out of childhood Judah's feared enemies would be destroyed. Only 12 years after this prediction, the Northern Kingdom of Israel fell. The New Testament sees a further meaning in this prophecy, applying it to the birth of Jesus Christ (Matthew 1:23).

Fear God

¹¹The LORD spoke to me with his strong hand upon me, warning me not to follow the way of this people. He said:

¹²"Do not call conspiracy everything that these people call conspiracy^b,
do not fear what they fear,
and do not dread it.

¹³The LORD Almighty is the one you are to regard as holy,
he is the one you are to fear,
he is the one you are to dread,

¹⁴and he will be a sanctuary;
but for both houses of Israel he will be a stone that causes men to stumble
and a rock that makes them fall.
And for the people of Jerusalem he will be a trap and a snare.

¹⁵Many of them will stumble;
they will fall and be broken,
they will be snared and captured."

¹⁶Bind up the testimony and seal up the law among my disciples

¹⁷I will wait for the LORD, who is hiding his face from the house of Jacob

I will put my trust in him.

¹⁸Here am I, and the children the LORD has given me. We are signs and symbols in Israel from the LORD Almighty, who dwells on Mount Zion.

¹⁹When men tell you to consult mediums and spiritists, who whisper and mutter, should not a people inquire of their God? Why consult the dead on behalf of the living? ²⁰To the law and to the testimony! If they do not speak according to this word, they have no light of dawn. ²¹Distressed and hungry, they will roam through the land, when they are famished, they will become enraged and, looking upward, will curse their king and their God. ²²Then they will look toward the earth and see only distress and darkness and fearful gloom, and they will be thrust into utter darkness.

To Us a Child Is Born

9 Nevertheless, there will be no more gloom for those who were in distress. In the past he humbled the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but in the future he will honor Galilee of the Gentiles, by the way of the sea, along the Jordan—

as men rejoice

when dividing the plunder.
⁴For as in the day of Midian's defeat,
you have shattered
the yoke that burdens them,
the bar across their shoulders,
the rod of their oppressor.

⁵Every warrior's boot used in battle and every garment rolled in blood will be destined for burning,
will be fuel for the fire.

⁶For to us a child is born,
to us a son is given,
and the government will be on his shoulders.

And he will be called Wonderful Counselor,^d Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

⁷Of the increase of his government and peace
there will be no end.

He will reign on David's throne
and over his kingdom,

establishing and upholding it with justice and righteousness from that time on and forever.

The zeal of the LORD Almighty
will accomplish this.

The Lord's Anger Against Israel

⁸The Lord has sent a message against Jacob;
it will fall on Israel.

⁹All the people will know it—Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria—who say with pride
and arrogance of heart,

¹⁰"The bricks have fallen down,
but we will rebuild with dressed stone,
the fig trees have been felled,
but we will replace them with cedars."

¹¹But the LORD has strengthened Rezin's foes against them
and has spurred their enemies on.

¹²Arameans from the east and Philistines from the west

have devoured Israel with open mouth.

Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

¹³But the people have not returned to him who struck them,
nor have they sought the LORD Almighty

9:6 A Child Is Born

Isaiah includes many direct predictions of the coming Messiah, including this passage, which established that the Messiah will come from Galilee (verse 1). The lands Isaiah mentions as "humbled" in verse 1 are the very regions devastated by Assyria's armies (2 Kings 15:29). Thus Isaiah offers a word of distant hope for those parts of his nation most affected by war.

14 So the LORD will cut off from Israel both head and tail, both palm branch and reed in a single day;
15 the elders and prominent men are the head,
the prophets who teach lies are the tail.
16 Those who guide this people mislead them,
and those who are guided are led astray.
17 Therefore the Lord will take no pleasure in the young men,
nor will he pity the fatherless and widows,
for everyone is ungodly and wicked,
every mouth speaks vileness.
Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

18 Surely wickedness burns like a fire;
it consumes briars and thorns,
it sets the forest thickets ablaze,
so that it rolls upward in a column of smoke.
19 By the wrath of the LORD Almighty
the land will be scorched and the people will be fuel for the fire;
no one will spare his brother.
20 On the right they will devour,
but still be hungry;
on the left they will eat,
but not be satisfied
Each will feed on the flesh of his own offspring.
21 Manasseh will feed on Ephraim, and Ephraim on Manasseh;
together they will turn against Judah.

Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

10 Woe to those who make unjust laws,
to those who issue oppressive decrees,
2 to deprive the poor of their rights and withhold justice from the oppressed of
my people,
making widows their prey
and robbing the fatherless.
3 What will you do on the day of reckoning,
when disaster comes from afar?
To whom will you run for help?
Where will you leave your riches?
4 Nothing will remain but to cringe among the captives
or fall among the slain.

Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

God's Judgment on Assyria

5 "Woe to the Assyrian, the rod of my anger,
in whose hand is the club of my wrath!
6 I send him against a godless nation,
I dispatch him against a people who anger
me,
to seize loot and snatch plunder,
and to trample them down like mud in the streets.
7 But this is not what he intends,
this is not what he has in mind,
his purpose is to destroy,

to put an end to many nations
8 "Are not my commanders all kings?" he says.
9 "Has not Calno fared like Carchemish?
Is not Hamath like Arpad,
and Samaria like Damascus?
10 As my hand seized the kingdoms of the idols, kingdoms whose images excelled those of Jerusalem and Samaria—
11 shall I not deal with Jerusalem and her images
as I dealt with Samaria and her idols?" "

12 When the Lord has finished all his work against Mount Zion and Jerusalem, he will say, "I will punish the king of Assyria for the willful pride of his heart and the haughty look in his eyes." 13 For
he says:

"By the strength of my hand I have done this,
and by my wisdom, because I have
understanding

I removed the boundaries of nations,
I plundered their treasures;
like a mighty one I subdued^b their kings.

14 As one reaches into a nest, so my hand reached for the wealth of the
nations;
as men gather abandoned eggs,
so I gathered all the countries;
not one flapped a wing,
or opened its mouth to chirp."

15 Does the ax raise itself above him who swings
it,
or the saw boast against him who uses it?
As if a rod were to wield him who lifts it up,
or a club brandish him who is not wood!
16 Therefore, the Lord, the LORD Almighty, will send a wasting disease upon his sturdy warriors;

under his pomp a fire will be kindled
like a blazing flame.

17 The Light of Israel will become a fire,
their Holy One a flame;
in a single day it will burn and consume
his thorns and his briars.

18 The splendor of his forests and fertile fields
it will completely destroy,
as when a sick man wastes away.

19 And the remaining trees of his forests will be so few
that a child could write them down.

The Remnant of Israel

10:7 God's Hand in History

In this comment, God reveals how he works through history in hidden, indirect ways. The pagan empire Assyria had no idea it was being used by the true God—it dealt with Jerusalem just as it dealt with any nation and its idols (verse 11).
Nevertheless, Assyria would serve God's purpose,
and would one day be punished for its own pride and greed (verse 12).

who beat you with a rod

and lift up a club against you as Egypt did ²⁵Very soon my anger against you will end and my wrath will be directed to their destruction

on all my holy mountain,
for the earth will be full of the knowledge of
the LORD
as the waters cover the sea.

¹⁰In that day the Root of Jesse will stand as a banner for the peoples; the nations will rally to him, and his place of rest will be glorious. ¹¹In that day the LORD will reach out his hand a second time to reclaim the remnant that is left of his people from Assyria, from Lower Egypt, from Upper Egypt,^d from Cush,^e from Elam, from Babylonia,^f from Hamath and from the islands of the sea

and gather the exiles of Israel;
he will assemble the scattered people of Judah
from the four quarters of the earth.

11:1 The Good Old Days

To express his message of hope to the Jewish people, Isaiah appealed to their fondest memories.
This chapter borrows images from three of the greatest events from the past: the prosperous dynasty of David when Israel was united (verse 1);
the Garden of Eden (verses 6-9); and the miracles of the exodus from Egypt (verse 15). Whatever the state of "the good old days," the future time of peace will exceed it.

12:6 A Key Phrase

The first 12 chapters contain specific messages to Judah. But now Isaiah shifts his focus to surrounding nations. He ends the first section with a reference to the "Holy One of Israel," a key phrase that hints at the special relationship between God and his covenant nation. The phrase appears only five times in the rest of the Old Testament, but 26 times in Isaiah.

14:12 Fall of the Morning Star

A name used of Satan—Lucifer, or "morning star"—comes from this verse. The word Lucifer refers to Venus, one of the brightest objects in the sky. Yet, when the sun rises, the light of even the brightest morning star is totally eclipsed.

In context, Isaiah was describing the cruelly oppressive king of Babylon, who swelled with pride but would be brought down to defeat. However, Isaiah may be hinting at a force behind the human king: Satan himself. Isaiah's metaphor of the faded morning star aptly describes the eclipse of the haughty king of Babylon—and of Satan.

A Prophecy Against Assyria

24 The LORD Almighty has sworn,

"Surely, as I have planned, so it will be,
and as I have purposed, so it will stand.
25 I will crush the Assyrian in my land,
on my mountains I will trample him down.
His yoke will be taken from my people,
and his burden removed from their
shoulders."

26 This is the plan determined for the whole world,
this is the hand stretched out over all
nations.

27 For the LORD Almighty has purposed, and who can thwart him?

His hand is stretched out, and who can turn
it back?

A Prophecy Against the Philistines

28 This oracle came in the year King Ahaz died:

29 Do not rejoice, all you Philistines,
that the rod that struck you is broken;
from the root of that snake will spring up a viper, its fruit will be a darting, venomous serpent.

30 The poorest of the poor will find pasture,
and the needy will lie down in safety.
But your root I will destroy by famine;
it will slay your survivors.

31 Wail, O gate! Howl, O city!
Melt away, all you Philistines!
A cloud of smoke comes from the north,
and there is not a straggler in its ranks.

32 What answer shall be given to the envoys of that nation?

"The LORD has established Zion, and in her his afflicted people will find refuge."

A Prophecy Against Moab

15 An oracle concerning Moab:

Ar in Moab is ruined,
destroyed in a night!

Kir in Moab is ruined,
destroyed in a night!

2 Dibon goes up to its temple,
to its high places to weep;
Moab wails over Nebo and Medeba.

Every head is shaved
and every beard cut off.

3 In the streets they wear sackcloth;
on the roofs and in the public squares
they all wail,
prostrate with weeping.

4 Heshbon and Elealeh cry out,
their voices are heard all the way to Jahaz.
Therefore the armed men of Moab cry out,
and their hearts are faint.

5 My heart cries out over Moab;
her fugitives flee as far as Zoar,
as far as Eglath Shelishiyah.
They go up the way to Luhith,
weeping as they go;
on the road to Horonaim
they lament their destruction.

6 The waters of Nimrim are dried up and the grass is withered;
the vegetation is gone
and nothing green is left.

7 So the wealth they have acquired and stored up
they carry away over the Ravine of the Poplars.

8 Their outcry echoes along the border of Moab;
their wailing reaches as far as Eglaim,
their lamentation as far as Beer Elim.

9 Dimon's^a waters are full of blood,
but I will bring still more upon Dimon—
a lion upon the fugitives of Moab
and upon those who remain in the land.

16 Send lambs as tribute to the ruler of the land,
from Sela, across the desert,
to the mount of the Daughter of Zion.

2 Like fluttering birds pushed from the nest,
so are the women of Moab
at the fords of the Arnon.

3 "Give us counsel,
render a decision.
Make your shadow like night—
at high noon.

Hide the fugitives,
do not betray the refugees.

4 Let the Moabite fugitives stay with you;
be their shelter from the destroyer."

The oppressor will come to an end,
and destruction will cease;
the aggressor will vanish from the land.

5 In love a throne will be established;
in faithfulness a man will sit on it—
one from the house^b of David—one who in judging seeks justice and speeds the cause of righteousness.

6 We have heard of Moab's pride—
her overweening pride and conceit,
her pride and her insolence—
but her boasts are empty.

7 Therefore the Moabites wail,
they wail together for Moab.
Lament and grieve
for the men^c of Kir Hareseth.

An Oracle Against Damascus

17 An oracle concerning Damascus:

"See, Damascus will no longer be a city
but will become a heap of ruins.

²The cities of Aroer will be deserted and left to flocks, which will lie down,
with no one to make them afraid.

³The fortified city will disappear from Ephraim,
and royal power from Damascus;
the remnant of Aram will be like the glory of the Israelites,"

declares the LORD Almighty.

⁴"In that day the glory of Jacob will fade;
the fat of his body will waste away.

⁵It will be as when a reaper gathers the standing grain

and harvests the grain with his arm—as when a man gleanes heads of grain in the Valley of Rephaim.

⁶Yet some gleanings will remain,
as when an olive tree is beaten,
leaving two or three olives on the topmost branches,

four or five on the fruitful boughs," declares the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁷In that day men will look to their Maker
and turn their eyes to the Holy One of Israel.

⁸They will not look to the altars,
the work of their hands,
and they will have no regard for the Asherah poles
and the incense altars their fingers have made

⁹In that day their strong cities, which they left because of the Israelites, will be like places abandoned to thickets and undergrowth. And all will be desolation.

¹⁰You have forgotten God your Savior;
you have not remembered the Rock, your fortress

Therefore, though you set out the finest plants
and plant imported vines,

¹¹though on the day you set them out, you make them grow,
and on the morning when you plant them,
you bring them to bud,
yet the harvest will be as nothing in the day of disease and incurable pain.

¹²Oh, the raging of many nations—
they rage like the raging sea!
Oh, the uproar of the peoples—
they roar like the roaring of great waters!

¹³Although the peoples roar like the roar of surging waters,
when he rebukes them they flee far away,
driven before the wind like chaff on the hills,
like tumbleweed before a gale.

¹⁴In the evening, sudden terror!
Before the morning, they are gone!

Go, swift messengers,

16:9 A Prophet's Pain

Although Isaiah often delivered bad news to the nations around him, he never took pleasure in it. Remarkably, he often deeply identified with the pain of other, non-Jewish nations such as Moab (see 15:5). Chapters 15-16 were likely used as sources for Jeremiah 48. (Jeremiah was another prophet who suffered greatly.)

18:2 A People Tall and Smooth-skinned

Isaiah was never afraid of direct political involvement. He consistently spoke out against alliances with any foreign powers. Here, he warned against the "envoys by sea" coming from Cush, a region near Ethiopia or Sudan. Judah's king was often tempted to make alliances with Ethiopia or Egypt, but according to Isaiah, both nations would meet disaster.

Catastrophes Through God's Eyes

An endless cycle of war and death—what did it mean?

At this my body is racked with pain, pangs seize me, like those of a woman in labor; I am staggered by what I hear, I am bewildered by what I see. 21:3

There is one easy way to picture the Middle East of Isaiah's day: simply follow today's newspaper headlines and project backward in time. Then, as now, one nation would invade its neighbor, leveling cities and devastating the land and its people. The prophet Isaiah longed for an end to the cycle, much as modern-day residents of Lebanon or Israel do today.

Isaiah looked at the world with a kind of split vision. Around him, he saw spiritual decay and the dreary cycle of war and death. Yet God had given him a clear vision of what his nation could one day become—a pure people, faithful to God, living in peace with "war no more."

A Kingdom for a Purpose

With God's view of the future shining brightly before him, Isaiah went about reinterpreting history. Others in Judah looked upon military invasions as terrible catastrophes. In contrast, Isaiah—though he felt anguish over the events—saw glimpses of a higher purpose.

Isaiah said that Judah had to endure pain and suffering in order to be purified. He counseled against making political alliances to forestall the punishment. God's people had to go through the fire, and from the trials a remnant—a small remaining number of persons—would emerge that God could then use to accomplish his work. Isaiah went so far as to name his own son "a remnant will return" as a walking object lesson of his message to Judah (see Isaiah 7:3 and footnote).

Why had the Jews been called by God in the first place? They were to be a "light to the Gentiles," Isaiah said, a nation used by God to bring his truth to other nations. And out of the land of Judah God would raise up a great Prince who would rule over all the earth.

Who Is in Charge?

In short, God had not discarded his people, no matter how bleak things looked. The Israelites would ultimately become a missionary nation, pointing others to God.

Above all messages, Isaiah stressed this one: God is in charge of history. To Judah—surrounded by enemies, staggering from invasion, weary of bloodshed—God seemed faraway and distant. Isaiah assured them that the great powers of earth were mere tools in God's hands; he would use them and fling them aside.

Life Questions Isaiah described people who felt afraid and abandoned by God. Have you ever felt like that? How does Isaiah's message offer hope for us today?

They will shudder with fear at the uplifted hand that the Lord Almighty raises against them. ¹⁷And
the land of Judah will bring terror to the Egyptians;
everyone to whom Judah is mentioned will be terrified, because of what the Lord Almighty is planning against them.

¹⁸In that day five cities in Egypt will speak the language of Canaan and swear allegiance to the Lord Almighty. One of them will be called the City of Destruction.^b

¹⁹In that day there will be an altar to the Lord in the heart of Egypt, and a monument to the Lord at its border. ²⁰It will be a sign and witness to the Lord Almighty in the land of Egypt. When they cry out to the Lord because of their oppressors, he will send them a savior and defender, and he will rescue them. ²¹So the Lord will make himself known to the Egyptians, and in that day they will acknowledge the Lord. They will worship with sacrifices and grain offerings, they will make vows to the Lord and keep them. ²²The Lord will strike Egypt with a plague, he will strike them and heal them. They will turn to the Lord, and he will respond to their pleas and heal them.

²³In that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will go to Egypt and the Egyptians to Assyria. The Egyptians and Assyrians will worship together. ²⁴In that day Israel will be the third, along with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing on the earth. ²⁵The Lord Almighty will bless them, saying, "Blessed be Egypt my people, Assyria my handiwork, and Israel my inheritance."

20:2 A Dramatic Object Lesson

Isaiah was an educated and urbane prophet, at home in the corridors of power. His reputation must have made this object lesson very shocking:
for three years he walked around stripped and planned alliance with Egypt and Cush. He had originally opposed an alliance with Assyria. Now he opposed a treaty with other nations as well.

A Prophecy About Tyre

23 A prophecy concerning Tyre
and the people of Tarshish
For Tyre is destroyed

22:12 Smiles Instead of Tears

This chapter may refer to Jerusalem's deliverance recorded in Isaiah 36-37. Isaiah was distressed because in the face of great devastation, Jerusalem was celebrating, not mourning. People had reinforced walls and built water reservoirs to prepare for war, but had not turned to God for help (verse 11). Jews at that time had a certain cockiness about the city of Jerusalem, believing that God would never allow it to fall into enemy hands.

23:1 The Decline of Tyre

In Isaiah's day the city of Tyre was a major power, dominating the sea trade in the eastern Mediterranean. Her many colonies included the island of Cyprus, and her merchants traveled as far as the Indian Ocean and the English Channel. But not long after this prophecy Assyria conquered the city, and Tyre's king fled to Cyprus.

25:6 A Promise of Eternal Life

The Old Testament includes only a few hints about resurrection and the afterlife, and this is one of the strongest. Isaiah follows a devastating chapter on God's judgment of the whole earth (chapter 24) with a bright promise of a future life. Then, death and pain will be abolished (see 25:6-8 and 26:19), and God will reign with perfect justice.

27-1 A Prophecy for the World

Most of Isaiah 1-39 concerns specific nations in the prophet's own time. But chapters 24 to 27 form a unit that seems to sum up all world history. Those chapters contain some of Isaiah's strongest imagery.

¹⁰The fortified city stands desolate, an abandoned settlement, forsaken like the
desert,

there the calves graze,
there they lie down;
they strip its branches bare.

¹¹When its twigs are dry, they are broken off
and women come and make fires with them.
For this is a people without understanding;
so their Maker has no compassion on them,
and their Creator shows them no favor.

¹²In that day the LORD will thresh from the flowing Euphrates to the Wadi of Egypt, and you, O Israelites, will be gathered up one by one. ¹³And in that day a great trumpet will sound. Those who were perishing in Assyria and those who were exiled in Egypt will come and worship the LORD on the holy mountain in Jerusalem.

Woe to Ephraim

28 Woe to that wreath, the pride of Ephraim's
drunkards,

to the fading flower, his glorious beauty,
set on the head of a fertile valley—
to that city, the pride of those laid low by wine!

²See, the LORD has one who is powerful and strong.

Like a hailstorm and a destructive wind,
like a driving rain and a flooding downpour,
he will throw it forcefully to the ground.

³That wreath, the pride of Ephraim's
drunkards,
will be trampled underfoot.

⁴That fading flower, his glorious beauty,
set on the head of a fertile valley,
will be like a fig ripe before harvest—
as soon as someone sees it and takes it in his
hand,
he swallows it.

⁵In that day the LORD Almighty will be a glorious crown,
a beautiful wreath
for the remnant of his people.

⁶He will be a spirit of justice to him who sits in judgment,
a source of strength
to those who turn back the battle at the gate.

⁷And these also stagger from wine
and reel from beer:

Priests and prophets stagger from beer
and are befuddled with wine;
they reel from beer,

they stagger when seeing visions,
they stumble when rendering decisions.

⁸All the tables are covered with vomit
and there is not a spot without filth.

⁹"Who is it he is trying to teach?

To whom is he explaining his message?
To children weaned from their milk,
to those just taken from the breast?

¹⁰For it is

^a by war; the meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain
^b idols

¹⁴ That is, symbols of the goddess Asherah

Do and do, do and do,
rule on rule, rule on rule;
a little here, a little there."

11 Very well then, with foreign lips and strange tongues

God will speak to this people,

12 to whom he said,

"This is the resting place, let the weary rest";

and, "This is the place of repose"—

but they would not listen

13 So then, the word of the LORD to them will become:

Do and do, do and do,
rule on rule, rule on rule;
a little here, a little there—

so that they will go and fall backward,
be injured and snared and captured.

14 Therefore hear the word of the LORD, you scoffers

who rule this people in Jerusalem.

15 You boast, "We have entered into a covenant with death,

with the grave^b we have made an agreement.

When an overwhelming scourge sweeps by,
it cannot touch us,

for we have made a lie our refuge
and falsehood^c our hiding place."

16 So this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"See, I lay a stone in Zion,
a tested stone,

a precious cornerstone for a sure foundation;
the one who trusts will never be dismayed.

17 I will make justice the measuring line
and righteousness the plumb line;

hail will sweep away your refuge, the lie,
and water will overflow your hiding place.

18 Your covenant with death will be annulled;
your agreement with the grave will not stand.

When the overwhelming scourge sweeps by,
you will be beaten down by it.

19 As often as it comes it will carry you away;
morning after morning, by day and by night,
it will sweep through."

The understanding of this message will bring sheer terror.

20 The bed is too short to stretch out on,
the blanket too narrow to wrap around you.

21 The LORD will rise up as he did at Mount Perazim,

he will rouse himself as in the Valley of Gibeon—

to do his work, his strange work,
and perform his task, his alien task.

22 Now stop your mocking,

or your chains will become heavier;

the LORD, the LORD Almighty, has told me
of the destruction decreed against the whole
land.

23 Listen and hear my voice;
pay attention and hear what I say.

24 When a farmer plows for planting, does he plow continually?

Does he keep on breaking up and harrowing
the soil?

25 When he has leveled the surface,
does he not sow caraway and scatter
cummin?

Does he not plant wheat in its place,^d barley in its plot,^d
and spelt in its field?

26 His God instructs him
and teaches him the right way.

27 Caraway is not threshed with a sledge,
nor is a cartwheel rolled over cummin,
caraway is beaten out with a rod,
and cummin with a stick.

28 Grain must be ground to make bread;
so one does not go on threshing it forever.
Though he drives the wheels of his threshing
cart over it,

his horses do not grind it.

29 All this also comes from the LORD Almighty, wonderful in counsel and magnificent in wisdom.

Woe to David's City

29 Woe to you, Ariel, Ariel,
the city where David settled!

Add year to year
and let your cycle of festivals go on.

2 Yet I will besiege Ariel;
she will mourn and lament,
she will be to me like an altar hearth.^e

3 I will encamp against you all around;
I will encircle you with towers
and set up my siege works against you.

4 Brought low, you will speak from the ground;
your speech will mumble out of the dust.
Your voice will come ghostlike from the earth;
out of the dust your speech will whisper.

5 But your many enemies will become like fine dust,

the ruthless hordes like blown chaff.

Suddenly, in an instant,

6 the LORD Almighty will come with thunder and earthquake and great noise, with windstorm and tempest and flames of a devouring fire.

28:24 Like a Wise Farmer

Drawing an analogy from farming, Isaiah shows that God varies his treatment of nations, depending on conditions. Just as different crops—grain, barley, caraway, cummin—require different farming techniques, so each nation requires individual treatment. Those who readily repent need only light punishment, while stubborn nations need further discipline.

^a11 Hebrew sar lasar sar lasar kat lakat kar lakat (possibly meaningless sounds, perhaps a mimicking of the prophet's words, as in verse 13) ^b15 Hebrew Sheol, also in verse 18 ^c15 Or false gods ^d25 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain

^e2 The Hebrew for altar hearth sounds like the Hebrew for Ariel

Then the hordes of all the nations that fight against Ariel
that attack her and her fortress and besiege
her

will be as it is with a dream,
with a vision in the night—
as when a hungry man dreams that he is eating

but he awakens, and his hunger remains;
as when a thirsty man dreams that he is drinking

but he awakens faint, with his thirst unquenched
So will it be with the hordes of all the nations that fight against Mount Zion

⁹Be stunned and amazed
blind yourselves and be sightless,
be drunk, but not from wine,
stagger, but not from beer

¹⁰The Lord has brought over you a deep sleep;
He has sealed your eyes (the prophets),
he has covered your heads (the seers).

¹¹For you this whole vision is nothing but words sealed in a scroll. And if you give the scroll to someone who can read, and say to him, "Read this, please," he will answer, "I can't; it is sealed." ¹²Or if you give the scroll to someone who cannot read, and say, "Read this, please," he will answer,
"I don't know how to read."

¹³The Lord says

"These people come near to me with their mouth
and honor me with their lips,
but their hearts are far from me
Their worship of me
is made up only of rules taught by men."

¹⁴Therefore once more I will astound these
people
with wonder upon wonder,
the wisdom of the wise will perish,
the intelligence of the intelligent will vanish

¹⁵Woe to those who go to great depths
to hide their plans from the Lord, who do their work in darkness and think,
"Who sees us? Who will know?"

¹⁶You turn things upside down, as if the potter were thought to be like the
clay!

Shall what is formed say to him who formed it,
"He did not make me"?
Can the pot say of the potter,
"He knows nothing"?

¹⁷In a very short time, will not Lebanon be turned into a fertile field
and the fertile field seem like a forest?

¹⁸In that day the deaf will hear the words of the scroll,
and out of gloom and darkness
the eyes of the blind will see

¹⁹Once more the humble will rejoice in the Lord;

the needy will rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.

²⁰The ruthless will vanish,
the mockers will disappear,
and all who have an eye for evil will be cut down—

²¹those who with a word make a man out to be guilty,
who ensnare the defender in court
and with false testimony deprive the innocent of justice.

²²Therefore this is what the Lord, who redeemed Abraham, says to the house of Jacob:

"No longer will Jacob be ashamed;
no longer will their faces grow pale.

²³When they see among them their children,
the work of my hands,
they will keep my name holy;
they will acknowledge the holiness of the Holy One of Jacob,
and will stand in awe of the God of Israel.

²⁴Those who are wayward in spirit will gain
understanding;
those who complain will accept instruction."

Woe to the Obstinate Nation

30 "Woe to the obstinate children,"
declares the Lord,
"to those who carry out plans that are not mine,

forming an alliance, but not by my Spirit,
heaping sin upon sin;

²who go down to Egypt
without consulting me;
who look for help to Pharaoh's protection,
to Egypt's shade for refuge.

³But Pharaoh's protection will be to your shame,

Egypt's shade will bring you disgrace.

⁴Though they have officials in Zoan
and their envoys have arrived in Hanes,

⁵everyone will be put to shame
because of a people useless to them,
who bring neither help nor advantage,
but only shame and disgrace."

30:1 Isaiah in His Prime

Isaiah delivered the messages of chapters 28-35 at the peak of his ministry, under Hezekiah. He unleashed six great "woes," or warnings: (1) to drunken, scoffing politicians, 28:1; (2) to those who carry on the form of religion, without true faith, 29:1; (3) to those who hide their plans from God (possibly referring to secret political intrigues), 29:15; (4) to the pro-Egyptian party lobbying for a political alliance, 30:1; (5) to those who trust in military power (horses and chariots) instead of God, 31:1; and (6) to the Assyrian destroyer, 33:1. Seemingly invincible at the time, the Assyrian Empire, too, would face a judgment day.

“An oracle concerning the animals of the Negev
Through a land of hardship and distress,
of lions and lionesses,
of adders and darting snakes,
the envoys carry their riches on donkeys’
backs,
their treasures on the humps of camels,
to that unprofitable nation,
to Egypt whose help is utterly useless
Therefore I call her Rahab the Do-Nothing.
“Go now, write it on a tablet for them,
inscribe it on a scroll,
that for the days to come

it may be an everlasting witness “These are rebellious people, deceitful
children,
children unwilling to listen to the Lord’s instruction
“They say to the seers, “See no more visions!”
and to the prophets,
“Give us no more visions of what is right!
Tell us pleasant things,
prophesy illusions.
“Leave this way,
get off this path,
and stop confronting us
with the Holy One of Israel!”

INSIGHT

A Time of Crisis

Defeat seemed certain to everyone but Isaiah

Assyria will fall by a sword that is not of man.” 31:8

After two dismal decades under King Ahaz, Judah finally saw a ray of hope when Hezekiah ascended the throne. Second Kings summarizes his reign this way: “There was no one like him among all the kings of Judah, either before him or after him” (2 Kings 18:5).

Isaiah reached the peak of his ministry under King Hezekiah, who often sought his advice. The king needed Isaiah’s help; he had inherited a kingdom in mortal danger from Assyria.

Protesting a Foolish Rebellion

How could Judah break free from Assyrian domination? Like other kings before him, Hezekiah thought of joining with other countries. Both Egypt and a rising Babylon seemed eager to court Judah as an ally.

Isaiah, however, said no. He urged Hezekiah to trust only in God. To dramatize his point, the court prophet did a shocking thing: he stalked around stripped and barefoot for three years as a protest against the pro-Egypt lobby (20:1-6). This protest forms the background for some of the strongest speeches in Isaiah’s book (chapters 18-20, 30-31).

Isaiah’s protest failed, however. Not even Hezekiah could resist the temptation to oppose Assyria. First, he shored up the defenses of Jerusalem and built up the city’s water supplies. Then, he formed an alliance of small kingdoms and led an outright rebellion against Assyria.

Revenge of an Empire

Assyria fought back. Its armies smashed into Judah, leveling 46 walled cities and carrying away 200,150 captives. The Assyrian king demanded huge sums of money from Hezekiah, whom he mockingly described as “a bird in a cage.”

Hezekiah, cowering under siege in Jerusalem, once more turned to Isaiah for advice. Should he surrender? Assyrian soldiers were already pressing in around the walls, hurling insults at the demoralized citizens inside.

Isaiah avoided an “I told you so” attitude. Against all odds, he again recommended prayer and reliance on the power of God. Have faith, he said, don’t surrender, don’t fear. Assyria will return home, wounded (37:5-7).

Isaiah’s deep courage and optimism raised the morale of all Jerusalem. And in a spectacular way (37:36; also 2 Kings 19), God took care of the Assyrian army.

An Authentic Hero

Chapters 18-35 contain Isaiah’s messages from this period, including many of the very words that stirred a desperate nation to faith. Without his inspiring example, Jerusalem might have surrendered.

Many of the prophets of Israel and Judah were loners, voices “crying in the wilderness.” Isaiah was an exception. He had the king’s ear at a critical moment in Judah’s history. Because of his effectiveness, Isaiah went down in history as a great statesman and hero.

Life Questions: In your life, what experience has called for the most courage and faith? How did you respond at the time?

Therefore, this is what the Holy One of Israel says

Because you have rejected this message and an oppression
and depended on deceit
this sin will become for you like a high wall, cracked and bulging that collapses suddenly, in an instant
It will break in pieces like pottery shattered so mercilessly that among its pieces not a fragment will be found
for taking coals from a hearth
or sweeping water out of a cistern

This is what the Sovereign Lord, the Holy One of Israel says

In repentance and rest is your salvation in quietness and trust is your strength
but you would have none of it
You said 'No we will flee on horses.'
Therefore you will flee!
You said 'We will ride off on swift horses.'
Therefore your pursuers will be swift!
A thousand will flee
at the threat of one at the threat of five you will all flee away
till you are left
like a flagstaff on a mountaintop
like a banner on a hill "

Yet the Lord longs to be gracious to you,
he rises to show you compassion
For the Lord is a God of justice
Blessed are all who wait for him!

O people of Zion, who live in Jerusalem, you will weep no more How gracious he will be when you cry for help! As soon as he hears, he will answer you. Although the Lord gives you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction, your teachers will be hidden no more; with your own eyes you will see them. Whether you turn to the right or to the left, your ears will hear a voice behind you, saying, "This is the way; walk in it." Then you will denile your idols overlaid with silver and your images covered with gold, you will throw them away like a menstrual cloth and say to them, "Away with you!"

He will also send you rain for the seed you sow in the ground, and the food that comes from the land will be rich and plentiful. In that day your cattle will graze in broad meadows. The oxen and donkeys that work the soil will eat fodder and mash, spread out with fork and shovel. In the day of great slaughter, when the towers fall, streams of water will flow on every high mountain and every lofty hill. The moon will shine like the sun, and the sunlight will be seven times brighter, like the light of seven full days, when the Lord binds up the bruises of his people and heals the wounds he inflicted

See, the Name of the Lord comes from afar,

with burning anger and dense clouds of smoke

his lips are full of wrath,
and his tongue is a consuming fire
his breath is like a rushing torrent rising up to the rock
He shakes the nations in the sieve of destruction.

he places in the jaws of the peoples
a bit that leads them astray

And you will sing
as on the night you celebrate a holy festival;
your hearts will rejoice
as when people go up with flutes
to the mountain of the Lord,
to the Rock of Israel

The Lord will cause men to hear his majestic voice

and will make them see his arm coming down

with raging anger and consuming fire,
with cloudburst, thunderstorm and hail.

The voice of the Lord will shatter Assyria;
with his scepter he will strike them down.

Every stroke the Lord lays on them with his punishing rod
will be to the music of tambourines and harps,
as he fights them in battle with the blows of his arm.

Topheth has long been prepared;
it has been made ready for the king.
Its fire pit has been made deep and wide,
with an abundance of fire and wood;
the breath of the Lord,
like a stream of burning sulfur,
sets it ablaze.

Woe to Those Who Rely on Egypt

31 Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help,

who rely on horses,
who trust in the multitude of their chariots
and in the great strength of their horsemen,
but do not look to the Holy One of Israel,
or seek help from the Lord.

Yet he too is wise and can bring disaster;
he does not take back his words.

He will rise up against the house of the wicked,
against those who help evildoers.

But the Egyptians are men and not God;
their horses are flesh and not spirit.

When the Lord stretches out his hand,
he who helps will stumble,
he who is helped will fall;
both will perish together.

30:27 An End to Punishment

Isaiah spares no words in his fierce descriptions of the punishment awaiting Judah. But as this chapter shows, the punishment will reach an end, and then God will turn on the surrounding evil nations. The fire of judgment will culminate in Topheth (verse 33), a valley near Jerusalem where human sacrifices were offered to the god Molech.

⁴This is what the LORD says to me

"As a lion growls,
a great lion over his prey—
and though a whole band of shepherds is called together against him,
he is not frightened by their shouts or disturbed by their clamor—
so the LORD Almighty will come down to do battle on Mount Zion and on its heights.

⁵Like birds hovering overhead,
the LORD Almighty will shield Jerusalem;
he will shield it and deliver it,
he will 'pass over' it and will rescue it."

⁶Return to him you have so greatly revolted against, O Israelites. ⁷For in that day every one of you will reject the idols of silver and gold your sinful hands have made

⁸"Assyria will fall by a sword that is not of man;
a sword, not of mortals, will devour them.
They will flee before the sword and their young men will be put to forced labor

⁹Their stronghold will fall because of terror;
at sight of the battle standard their commanders will panic,"

declares the LORD,
whose fire is in Zion,
whose furnace is in Jerusalem

The Kingdom of Righteousness

32 See, a king will reign in righteousness and rulers will rule with justice ²Each man will be like a shelter from the wind and a refuge from the storm,
like streams of water in the desert
and the shadow of a great rock in a thirsty
land.

³Then the eyes of those who see will no longer be closed,
and the ears of those who hear will listen.

⁴The mind of the rash will know and
understand,
and the stammering tongue will be fluent and clear.

⁵No longer will the fool be called noble
nor the scoundrel be highly respected.

⁶For the fool speaks folly,
his mind is busy with evil:
He practices ungodliness
and spreads error concerning the LORD;
the hungry he leaves empty
and from the thirsty he withholds water.

⁷The scoundrel's methods are wicked,

he makes up evil schemes
to destroy the poor with lies, even when the plea of the needy is just ⁸But the noble man makes noble plans, and by noble deeds he stands.

The Women of Jerusalem

⁹You women who are so complacent, rise up and listen to me;
you daughters who feel secure,
hear what I have to say!

¹⁰In little more than a year
you who feel secure will tremble;
the grape harvest will fail,
and the harvest of fruit will not come.

¹¹Tremble, you complacent women;
shudder, you daughters who feel secure!
Strip off your clothes,
put sackcloth around your waists.

¹²Beat your breasts for the pleasant fields,
for the fruitful vines

¹³and for the land of my people,
a land overgrown with thorns and briers—
yes, mourn for all houses of merriment and for this city of revelry.

¹⁴The fortress will be abandoned,
the noisy city deserted;
citadel and watchtower will become a wasteland forever,

the delight of donkeys, a pasture for flocks, ¹⁵till the Spirit is poured upon us from on high,
and the desert becomes a fertile field,
and the fertile field seems like a forest.

¹⁶Justice will dwell in the desert and righteousness live in the fertile field.

¹⁷The fruit of righteousness will be peace;
the effect of righteousness will be quietness and confidence forever.

¹⁸My people will live in peaceful dwelling places,
in secure homes,
in undisturbed places of rest.

¹⁹Though hail flattens the forest and the city is leveled completely,

²⁰how blessed you will be,
sowing your seed by every stream,
and letting your cattle and donkeys range free.

Distress and Help

33 Woe to you, O destroyer,
you who have not been destroyed!
Woe to you, O traitor,
you who have not been betrayed!
When you stop destroying,
you will be destroyed;
when you stop betraying,
you will be betrayed.

²O LORD, be gracious to us;
we long for you.

Be our strength every morning,
our salvation in time of distress.

³At the thunder of your voice, the peoples flee;
when you rise up, the nations scatter.

⁴Your plunder, O nations, is harvested as by young locusts;

32:1 Shifting Stance in Time

Isaiah's writings often shift confusingly, describing the present surroundings and then moving on to predict the future. At times Isaiah even projects himself into the future, writing in the past tense about events that have not yet happened. Note the shifting time sequence in this chapter.

like a swarm of locusts men pounce on it 7The LORD is exalted, for he dwells on high;
 he will fill Zion with justice and
 righteousness
 8He will be the sure foundation for your times, a rich store of salvation and wisdom and knowledge
 the fear of the LORD is the key to this treasure^a

Look their brave men cry aloud in the streets;
 the envoys of peace weep bitterly.
 9The highways are deserted
 no travelers are on the roads
 The treaty is broken,
 its witnesses^b are despised,
 no one is respected 10The land mourns^c and wastes away,
 Lebanon is ashamed and withers;
 Sharon is like the Arabah,
 and Bashan and Carmel drop their leaves.

Now will I arise," says the LORD.

Now will I be exalted,
 now will I be lifted up

11You conceive chaff

you give birth to straw,
 your breath is a fire that consumes you.

12The peoples will be burned as if to lime;
 like cut thornbushes they will be set ablaze."

"You who are far away, hear what I have done;
 you who are near, acknowledge my power!

14The sinners in Zion are terrified, trembling grips the godless
 Who of us can dwell with the consuming fire?
 Who of us can dwell with everlasting burning?"

15He who walks righteously
 and speaks what is right,
 who rejects gain from extortion
 and keeps his hand from accepting bribes, who stops his ears against plots of murder and shuts his eyes against contemplating
 evil

16this is the man who will dwell on the heights, whose refuge will be the mountain fortress.
 His bread will be supplied,
 and water will not fail him.

17Your eyes will see the king in his beauty and view a land that stretches afar.

18In your thoughts you will ponder the former terror:

"Where is that chief officer?
 Where is the one who took the revenue?
 Where is the officer in charge of the towers?"

19You will see those arrogant people no more,
 those people of an obscure speech,
 with their strange, incomprehensible tongue.

20Look upon Zion, the city of our festivals;
 your eyes will see Jerusalem,
 a peaceful abode, a tent that will not be moved;

its stakes will never be pulled up,

nor any of its ropes broken.

21There the LORD will be our Mighty One.
 It will be like a place of broad rivers and streams

No galley with oars will ride them,
 no mighty ship will sail them.

22For the LORD is our judge,
 the LORD is our lawgiver,
 the LORD is our king;
 it is he who will save us.

23Your rigging hangs loose:
 The mast is not held secure,
 the sail is not spread.

Then an abundance of spoils will be divided and even the lame will carry off plunder.

24No one living in Zion will say, "I am ill";
 and the sins of those who dwell there will be forgiven.

Judgment Against the Nations

34 Come near, you nations, and listen, pay attention, you peoples!

Let the earth hear, and all that is in it,
 the world, and all that comes out of it!

2The LORD is angry with all nations;
 his wrath is upon all their armies.

He will totally destroy^d them,
 he will give them over to slaughter.

3Their slain will be thrown out,
 their dead bodies will send up a stench;
 the mountains will be soaked with their blood.

4All the stars of the heavens will be dissolved and the sky rolled up like a scroll;
 all the starry host will fall
 like withered leaves from the vine,
 like shriveled figs from the fig tree.

5My sword has drunk its fill in the heavens;
 see, it descends in judgment on Edom,
 the people I have totally destroyed.

6The sword of the LORD is bathed in blood,
 it is covered with fat—
 the blood of lambs and goats,
 fat from the kidneys of rams.

For the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah
 and a great slaughter in Edom.

7And the wild oxen will fall with them,
 the bull calves and the great bulls.
 Their land will be drenched with blood,
 and the dust will be soaked with fat.

34:1 Isaiah the Historian

Isaiah's book includes many references to nations and leaders of his day. Perhaps more than any other prophet, Isaiah had a deep sense of history. In fact, he wrote a life of King Uzziah and a record of the rulers of Israel and Judah (see 2 Chronicles 26:22; 32:32). Although neither of these books has survived, the one that bears his name gives a blow-by-blow analysis of all the nations of his time.

^a Or is a treasure from him

^b Dead Sea Scrolls, Masoretic Text the cities

^c Or dries up

^d The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the LORD, often by totally destroying them, also in verse 5

⁸For the LORD has a day of vengeance,
 a year of retribution, to uphold Zion's cause, ⁹Edom's streams will be turned into pitch,
 her dust into burning sulfur;
 her land will become blazing pitch!
¹⁰It will not be quenched night and day;
 its smoke will rise forever
 From generation to generation it will lie desolate,
 no one will ever pass through it again ¹¹The desert owl and screech owl will possess
 it,
 the great owl and the raven will nest there.
 God will stretch out over Edom
 the measuring line of chaos
 and the plumb line of desolation.
¹²Her nobles will have nothing there to be called a kingdom,
 all her princes will vanish away ¹³Thorns will overrun her citadels, nettles and brambles her strongholds.
 She will become a haunt for jackals,
 a home for owls.
¹⁴Desert creatures will meet with hyenas,
 and wild goats will bleat to each other;
 there the night creatures will also repose
 and find for themselves places of rest.
¹⁵The owl will nest there and lay eggs,
 she will hatch them, and care for her young
 under the shadow of her wings;
 there also the falcons will gather,
 each with its mate.

¹⁶Look in the scroll of the LORD and read:

None of these will be missing,
 not one will lack her mate.
 For it is his mouth that has given the order,
 and his Spirit will gather them together.
¹⁷He allots their portions;
 his hand distributes them by measure.
 They will possess it forever and dwell there from generation to generation.

Joy of the Redeemed

35 The desert and the parched land will be glad;
 the wilderness will rejoice and blossom.
 Like the crocus, ²it will burst into bloom;
 it will rejoice greatly and shout for joy.
 The glory of Lebanon will be given to it,
 the splendor of Carmel and Sharon;
 they will see the glory of the LORD,
 the splendor of our God.

³Strengthen the feeble hands, steady the knees that give way;
⁴say to those with fearful hearts,
 "Be strong, do not fear;
 your God will come,
 he will come with vengeance;
 with divine retribution
 he will come to save you."

⁵Then will the eyes of the blind be opened and the ears of the deaf unstopped.

⁶Then will the lame leap like a deer,
 and the mute tongue shout for joy.
 Water will gush forth in the wilderness
 and streams in the desert ⁷The burning sand will become a pool,
 the thirsty ground bubbling springs.
 In the haunts where jackals once lay,
 grass and reeds and papyrus will grow.

⁸And a highway will be there,
 it will be called the Way of Holiness.
 The unclean will not journey on it;
 it will be for those who walk in that Way;
 wicked fools will not go about on it.
⁹No lion will be there,
 nor will any ferocious beast get up on it;
 they will not be found there.
 But only the redeemed will walk there,
¹⁰and the ransomed of the LORD will return.
 They will enter Zion with singing;
 everlasting joy will crown their heads.
 Gladness and joy will overtake them,
 and sorrow and sighing will flee away.

Sennacherib Threatens Jerusalem

36 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah's reign, Sennacherib king of Assyria attacked
 all the fortified cities of Judah and captured them.
²Then the king of Assyria sent his field commander with a large army from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. When the commander stopped at the aqueduct of the Upper Pool, on the road to the Washerman's Field, ³Eliakim son of Hilkiyah the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went out to him.

⁴The field commander said to them, "Tell Hezekiah,

"This is what the great king, the king of Assyria, says: On what are you basing this confidence of yours? ⁵You say you have strategy and military strength—but you speak only empty words. On whom are you depending, that you rebel against me? ⁶Look
 now, you are depending on Egypt, that splintered reed of a staff, which pierces a man's hand and wounds him if he leans on it! Such is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who depend on him. ⁷And if you say to me, "We are depending on the LORD our God"—isn't he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, saying to Judah and Jerusalem, "You must worship before this altar"?

⁸"Come now, make a bargain with my master, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses—if you can put riders on them! ⁹How then can you repulse one officer of the least of my master's officials, even though you are depending on Egypt for chariots and horsemen? ¹⁰Furthermore, have I come to attack and destroy this land without the LORD? The LORD himself told me to march against this country and destroy it."

^{•11} The precise identification of these birds is uncertain

^{•8} Or / the temple will not stray from it

Then Eliakim, Shebna and Joah said to the field commander: "Please speak to our servants in Aramaic, since we understand it. Don't speak to us in Hebrew in the hearing of the people on the wall."

The commander replied: "Was it only to your master and you that my master sent me to say these things, and not to the men sitting on the wall? They will have to eat their own flesh and drink their own urine?"

Then the commander stood and called out in Hebrew, "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria! This is what the king says: Do not let Hezekiah deceive you. He cannot deliver you! Do not let Hezekiah persuade you to trust in the LORD when he says, 'The LORD will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.'"

"Do not listen to Hezekiah. This is what the king of Assyria says: Make peace with me and come out to me. Then every one of you will eat from his own vine and fig tree and drink water from his own cistern, until I come and take you to a land like your own—a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards."

"Do not let Hezekiah mislead you when he says, 'The LORD will deliver us.' Has the god of any nation ever delivered his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Have they rescued Samaria from my hand? Who of all the gods of these countries has been able to save his land from me? How then can the LORD deliver Jerusalem from my hand?"

But the people remained silent and said nothing in reply, because the king had commanded, "Do not answer him."

Then Eliakim son of Hilkiah the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went to Hezekiah, with their clothes torn, and told him what the field commander had said.

Jerusalem's Deliverance Foretold

37 When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and went into the temple of the LORD. He sent Eliakim the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and the leading priests, all wearing sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. They told him, "This is what Hezekiah says: This day is a day of distress and rebuke and disgrace, as when children come to the point of birth and there is no strength to deliver them. It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the field commander when he speaks to his master the king of Assyria, that he will turn back from the living God, and that he will not come to this city. Therefore pray for the remnant that still remains."

When King Hezekiah's officials came to Isaiah, Isaiah said to them: "Tell your master: This is what the LORD says: Do not be afraid of what you have heard—those words with which the messengers of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me. Listen! I am going to put a spirit in him so that when he hears a certain report, he will return to his own country, and there I will have him cut down with the sword."

When the field commander heard that the king of Assyria had left Lachish, he withdrew and found the king fighting against Libnah.

Now Sennacherib received a report that Tirhakah, the Cushite king of Egypt, was marching out to fight against him. When he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah with this word: "Say to Hezekiah king of Judah: Do not let the god you depend on deceive you when he says, 'Jerusalem will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.' Surely you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries, destroying them completely. And will you be delivered? Did the gods of the nations that were destroyed by my forefathers deliver them—the gods of Cizzan, Hilaran, Rezeph and the people of Eden who were in Tel Assar? Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the king of the city of Sepharvaim, or of Hena or Ivah?"

Hezekiah's Prayer

Hezekiah received the letter from the messengers and read it. Then he went up to the temple of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD. And Hezekiah prayed to the LORD: "O LORD, Almighty God of Israel, enthroned between the cherubim, you alone are God over all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made heaven and earth. Give ear, O LORD, and hear; open your eyes, O LORD, and see; listen to all the words Sennacherib has sent to insult the living God."

It is true, O LORD, that the Assyrian kings have laid waste all these peoples and their lands. They have thrown their gods into the fire and destroyed them, for they were not gods but only wood and stone, fashioned by human hands. Now, O LORD our God, deliver us from his hand, so that all kingdoms on earth may know that you alone, O LORD, are God."

Sennacherib's Fall

Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent a message to Hezekiah: "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Because you have prayed to me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, this is the word the LORD has spoken against him:

"The Virgin (Daughter of Zion) despises and mocks you,
The Daughter of Jerusalem."

³⁷ That is, from the upper part of the region.

³⁸ "O LORD, our God, deliver us from his hand, so that all kingdoms on earth may know that you alone, O LORD, are God."

tosses her head as you flee 23Who is it you have insulted and blasphemed?
 Against whom have you raised your voice
 and lifted your eyes in pride?
 Against the Holy One of Israel!

24By your messengers
 you have heaped insults on the Lord
 And you have said,
 'With my many chariots
 I have ascended the heights of the mountains,
 the utmost heights of Lebanon,
 I have cut down its tallest cedars,
 the choicest of its pines
 I have reached its remotest heights,
 the finest of its forests 25I have dug wells in foreign lands^a and drunk the water there
 With the soles of my feet
 I have dried up all the streams of Egypt.'

26'Have you not heard?
 Long ago I ordained it.
 In days of old I planned it;
 now I have brought it to pass,
 that you have turned fortified cities
 into piles of stone

27Their people, drained of power,
 are dismayed and put to shame.
 They are like plants in the field,
 like tender green shoots,
 like grass sprouting on the roof,
 scorched^b before it grows up.

28'But I know where you stay and when you come and go and how you rage against me.

29Because you rage against me and because your insolence has reached my ears,

I will put my hook in your nose
 and my bit in your mouth,
 and I will make you return
 by the way you came.

30'This will be the sign for you, O Hezekiah:

'This year you will eat what grows by itself,
 and the second year what springs from that.
 But in the third year sow and reap,
 plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

31Once more a remnant of the house of Judah
 will take root below and bear fruit above.

32For out of Jerusalem will come a remnant,
 and out of Mount Zion a band of survivors.
 The zeal of the LORD Almighty
 will accomplish this.

33'Therefore this is what the LORD says concerning the king of Assyria:

'He will not enter this city
 or shoot an arrow here
 He will not come before it with shield
 or build a siege ramp against it.

34By the way that he came he will return;

he will not enter this city."

^adeclares the LORD

35'I will defend this city and save it, for my sake and for the sake of David my
 servant!"

36Then the angel of the LORD went out and put to death a hundred and eighty-five thousand men in the Assyrian camp. When the people got up the next morning, there were all the dead bodies.^c 37 Sennacherib king of Assyria broke camp and withdrew. He returned to Nineveh and stayed there.

38One day, while he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer cut him down with the sword, and they escaped to the land of Ararat. And Esarhaddon his son succeeded him as king.

Hezekiah's Illness

38 In those days Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz went to him and said, "This is what the LORD says: Put your house in order, because you are going to die; you will not recover."

2Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, 3'Remember, O LORD, how I have walked before you faithfully and with wholehearted devotion and have done what is good in your eyes." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah: 5'Go and tell Hezekiah, 'This is what the LORD, the God of your father David, says: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears, I will add fifteen years to your life. 6And I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria. I will defend this city.

7'"This is the LORD's sign to you that the LORD will do what he has promised. 8I will make the shadow cast by the sun go back the ten steps it has gone down on the stairway of Ahaz.'" So the sunlight went back the ten steps it had gone down.

9A writing of Hezekiah king of Judah after his illness and recovery:

38:1 A Bridge Between Two Parts

Unlike the rest of the book, chapters 36-39 mainly consist of history, not Isaiah's messages. These chapters (which closely follow 2 Kings 18:19-20:19) record the central crises in the lives of Isaiah and King Hezekiah, and form a connecting bridge in the book. They introduce the shift in emphasis from Assyria (chapters 1-35) to Babylon (chapters 40-66).

The account begins with Assyria's final assault on Jerusalem. It ends with Hezekiah's biggest blunder, which occurs during a fateful visit from the emissaries of Babylon. In response, Isaiah scolds the king and predicts a future invasion:
 Jerusalem, miraculously saved from Assyria, will finally fall to Babylon.

and be robbed of the rest of my years?"

¹¹I said, "I will not again see the Lord,

no longer will I look on mankind,

world."

Like a shepherd's tent my house

Like a weaver I have rolled up my life,
and he has cut me off from the loom,
day and night you made an end of me.

¹³I waited patiently till dawn,
but like a lion he broke all my bones;
day and night you made an end of me.

¹⁴I cried like a swift or thrush,
I moaned like a mourning dove.
My eyes grew weak as I looked to the heavens.
I am troubled; O Lord, come to my aid!"

¹⁵But what can I say?

He has spoken to me, and he himself has done this.

I will walk humbly all my years
because of this anguish of my soul.

¹⁶Lord, by such things men live;

²²Hezekiah had asked, "What will be the sign that I will go up to the temple of the LORD?"

Envoys From Babylon

39 At that time Merodach-Baladan son of Bala-dan king of Babylon sent Hezekiah letters and a gift, because he had heard of his illness and recovery. ²Hezekiah received the envoys gladly and showed them what was in his storehouses—
the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine oil, his entire armory and everything found among his treasures. There was nothing in his palace or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

³Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah and asked, "What did those men say, and where did they come from?"

"From a distant land," Hezekiah replied, "They came to me from Babylon."

⁴The prophet asked, "What did they see in your palace?"

"They saw everything in my palace," Hezekiah said. "There is nothing among my treasures that I did not show them."

⁵Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD Almighty: ⁶The time will surely come when everything in your palace, and all that your fathers have stored up until this day, will be carried off to Babylon. Nothing will be left, says the LORD. ⁷And some of your descendants, your own flesh and blood who will be born to you, will be taken away, and they will become eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon."

⁸"The word of the LORD you have spoken is good," Hezekiah replied. For he thought, "There will be peace and security in my lifetime."

Comfort for God's People

the rugged places a plain.

⁵And the glory of the LORD will be revealed,
and all mankind together will see it.

spoken."

⁶A voice says, "Cry out."

And I said, "What shall I cry?"

"All men are like grass,
and all their glory is like the flowers of the field.

⁷The grass withers and the flowers fall, because the breath of the LORD blows⁵ on
them.

Surely the people are grass.

⁸The grass withers and the flowers fall,
but the word of our God stands forever."

A New Song

A dramatic change in tone: comfort and hope for the worst of times

Those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint. 40:31

You can sense the change in the very first words of chapter 40. "Comfort, comfort my people," says your God. Speak tenderly to Jerusalem and proclaim to her that her hard service has been completed." Soft, reassuring words replace the harsh warnings of Isaiah's earlier chapters.

During much of Isaiah's life, Judah was confident and strong. But the prophecies beginning in chapter 40 project forward to a radically different scene. The land of Judah has been devastated, and the Jews have been taken captive. Jerusalem lies in ruins. Some 200 years separate what is described in the first part of Isaiah from the latter part. (Many scholars believe these later prophecies were given by another prophet.)

What Happened in the Meantime

To understand the rest of the book of Isaiah, you need to understand what happened in those 200 years. The confident nation Isaiah once knew slid further and further downward. At the same time a new empire, Babylon, gained strength. This new enemy invaded Judah.

The armies of Babylon did something no army had accomplished since King David's time: they conquered Jerusalem itself. Siege engines breached the walls. Judah's king was led out of Jerusalem, blinded. Their homes destroyed, most of the city's inhabitants followed their king in chains. The dark period of Babylonian captivity began.

Prophets of this period, and those who prophesied in advance about the coming catastrophes, faced huge questions. Was God abandoning his "eternal" throne of David? How could he watch in silence as his own nation—his own temple—was ripped to shreds by pagan armies?

Three Great Hopes

Reflecting the change in circumstances, Isaiah 40-66 shifts into a new key. Gone are the bleak predictions of judgment on the Jews. Instead, a majestic message of hope and joy and light breaks in, beginning with the opening words of comfort. The prophet sets out to re-establish faith in God.

What happened to Judah, Isaiah teaches, was not God's defeat. God had in mind a new thing, a plan far more grand than anything seen before.

The author of Isaiah expresses the plan as a series of wonderful reasons for hope. First, he says, will come deliverance from the Babylonian captivity. A new star, a ruler named Cyrus, will arise in the east and set the Jews free. He will allow them to return to Jerusalem to begin the long task of rebuilding a city and a nation. Chapters 40-48 detail God's confident predictions about Cyrus and the relief he would give captive Jews.

Indeed, just such a ruler did ascend to the throne in ancient Persia (present-day Iran). Cyrus smashed Babylon's armies in one decisive battle. As recorded in Ezra 1:1-4, he granted the Jews permission to return to their city and rebuild.

In words that have become very familiar, the book of Isaiah tells of two further hopes for the future. A mysterious figure called "the servant" appears in chapter 49. That servant, through his suffering, would provide a way to rescue the entire world. Finally, in conclusion, the prophet turns to a faraway time, when God will usher in peace for all in a new heaven and new earth. "The Holy One of Israel" (one of Isaiah's favorite names for God) will rule as the God of the whole earth.

Surviving Tough Times

Isaiah 40-66 had immense practical value for the people who first heard it. The Jews, facing a series of great crises, needed the prophet's message of hope: forgiveness was on the way; the Jews, though scattered, would one day be gathered "one by one."

Further, Isaiah teaches that no matter how difficult the circumstances, God can use them for our benefit. Again and again in the Israelites' history, good times led to decadence. In contrast, times of suffering tested and refined the true people of God. Ultimately, suffering would lead to the salvation of all the world.

Life Questions: Try to put yourself in the circumstances of the Jews back then. Would you have found the prophet's words comforting?

lift it up, do not be afraid,
say to the towns of Judah,
"Here is your God!"

¹⁰See, the Sovereign Lord comes with power,
and his arm rules for him;
¹¹See, his reward is with him,
and his recompense accompanies him.

¹²He tends his flock like a shepherd;
He gathers the lambs in his arms
and carries them close to his heart;
he gently leads those that have young.

¹³Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand
or with the breadth of his hand marked off
the heavens?

Who has held the dust of the earth in a basket,
or weighed the mountains on the scales
and the hills in a balance?

¹⁴Who has understood the mind^a of the Lord,
or instructed him as his counselor?

¹⁵Whom did the Lord consult to enlighten him,
and who taught him the right way?
Who was it that taught him knowledge or showed him the path of understanding?

¹⁶Surely the nations are like a drop in a bucket,
they are regarded as dust on the scales,
he weighs the islands as though they were fine dust.

¹⁷Lebanon is not sufficient for altar fires,
nor its animals enough for burnt offerings.

¹⁸Before him all the nations are as nothing,
they are regarded by him as worthless
and less than nothing.

¹⁹To whom, then, will you compare God?
What image will you compare him to?

²⁰As for an idol, a craftsman casts it,
and a goldsmith overlays it with gold
and fashions silver chains for it.

²¹A man too poor to present such an offering selects wood that will not rot.

He looks for a skilled craftsman
to set up an idol that will not topple.

²²Do you not know?

Have you not heard?

Has it not been told you from the beginning?

Have you not understood since the earth
was founded?

²³He sits enthroned above the circle of the earth,
and its people are like grasshoppers.

He stretches out the heavens like a canopy,
and spreads them out like a tent to live in.

²⁴He brings princes to naught and reduces the rulers of this world to nothing.

²⁵No sooner are they planted, no sooner are they sown,
no sooner do they take root in the ground,
than he blows on them and they wither,
and a whirlwind sweeps them away like chaff.

²⁶"To whom will you compare me?

Or who is my equal?" says the Holy One.

²⁷Lift your eyes and look to the heavens:
Who created all these?

He who brings out the starry host one by one,
and calls them each by name

Because of his great power and mighty
strength,
not one of them is missing.

²⁸Why do you say, O Jacob,

and complain, O Israel,

"My way is hidden from the Lord;
my cause is disregarded by my God?"

²⁹Do you not know?

I have you not heard?

The Lord is the everlasting God,
the Creator of the ends of the earth.

He will not grow tired or weary,
and his understanding no one can fathom.

³⁰He gives strength to the weary and increases the power of the weak.

³¹Even youths grow tired and weary,
and young men stumble and fall;

³²but those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength.

They will soar on wings like eagles;
they will run and not grow weary,
they will walk and not be faint.

The Helper of Israel

41 "Be silent before me, you islands!
Let the nations renew their strength!
Let them come forward and speak, let us meet together at the place of
judgment.

²"Who has stirred up one from the east,
calling him in righteousness to his service^b?

He hands nations over to him
and subdues kings before him.

He turns them to dust with his sword,
to windblown chaff with his bow.

³He pursues them and moves on unscathed,
by a path his feet have not traveled before.

⁴Who has done this and carried it through, calling forth the generations from the beginning?

I, the Lord—with the first of them and with the last—I am he."

⁵The islands have seen it and fear;

41:4 How to Understand God

Chapters 40–46 echo the majestic chapters at the end of Job. God shows himself as master of the universe. Before him, nations are like a drop in a bucket (40:15) and people are like grasshoppers (40:22). He taunts all other so-called "gods": such idols are carved of the same tree used to cook supper! (44:12–20). The true God, the God of the Israelites, is the one who created the universe (45:12, 18), who called Abraham (41:8), who rescued the Jews from slavery in Egypt. For the dispirited Jewish survivors of Babylon's invasion, this exalted view of God was a reminder that God had neither vanished nor rejected them.

^a13 Or Spirit; or spirit

^b2 Or / whom victory meets at every step

The voice of the earth trembles and the foundations of the earth are moved and shall begin to shake and say to his destroyer, "Be strong!"
The nations encourage the godlessness and he who smites with the hammer shall be full with their idols the day of the wrath of the Lord. "It is good."
The earth shall shake the idols so it will not topple.

"The Lord is doing for me
what I have chosen
and I shall be like Abraham my friend and I shall see the end of the earth from its furthest corners. I called you and you are my servant."
I have chosen you and have not rejected
you.

No do not fear, for I am with you;
do not be dismayed, for I am your God.
I will strengthen you, yes, I will help you,
and I will set my righteous right hand over you.

All who rage against you will surely be ashamed and disgraced;
all who hate you
will be like chaff and stubble,
and they will be blown away like chaff
by the wind. Do not fear the wrath of the Lord, for he will not punish you forever.
He will have compassion on the humble and will comfort the lowly and will lead the humble and lowly out of darkness into light.

Do not be afraid, O Jerusalem,
for I am with you, declares the Lord,
and I will strengthen you, and I will help you, and I will set my right hand over you. I will make you into a threshing sledge, and you shall thresh the mountains and crush them and you shall tread the high places and you shall break them down, and the wind will pick them up.

And I will bring down their high places, and I will bring down the towers of the strong, and I will bring down the towers of the strong,
and I will bring down the towers of the strong.

The poor and needy search for water
but there is none,
they are parched with thirst,
but I will answer them,
I will say to the God of Israel, "I will not forsake them."
I will make rivers flow on barren heights,
and springs within the valleys.

I will turn the desert into pools of water,
and the parched ground into springs;
I will put in the desert
the cedar and the acacia, the myrtle and the olive,
I will set pine in the wasteland
and juniper and cypress together,
and the people shall see and know
and shall recognize and understand that the hand of the Lord has done this.

that the Holy One of Israel has created it.

"Present your case," says the Lord,
"set forth your arguments," says Jacob's King.

"Bring in your idols to tell us
what is going to happen;
tell us what the former things were,
so that we may consider them
and know their final outcome."

"Or declare to us the things to come;
tell us what the future holds
so we may know that you are gods."
Do something, whether good or bad,
so that we will be dismayed and filled with fear.

But you are less than nothing
and your works are utterly worthless,
he who chooses you is detestable.

"I have stirred up one from the north, and he comes—
one from the rising sun who calls on my
name.

He treads on rulers as if they were mortar,
as if he were a potter treading the clay.
Who told of this from the beginning, so we could know,
or beforehand, so we could say, 'He was right'?

No one told of this,
no one foretold it,
no one heard any words from you.
I was the first to tell Zion, 'Look, here they are!'

I gave to Jerusalem a messenger of good tidings.

But look, but there is no one—
no one among them to give counsel,
no one to give answer when I ask them.

"See, they are all false!
Their deeds amount to nothing,
their images are but wind and confusion."

The Servant of the LORD

42 Here is my servant, whom I uphold,
my chosen one in whom I delight;
I will put my Spirit on him
and he will bring justice to the nations.

He will not shout or cry out,
or raise his voice in the streets.

A bruised reed he will not break,
and a smoldering wick he will not snuff out.
In faithfulness he will bring forth justice;

he will not falter or be discouraged
till he establishes justice on earth.
In his law the islands will put their hope."

This is what God the LORD says—
he who created the heavens and stretched them out,
who spread out the earth and all that comes out of it,
who gives breath to its people,
and life to those who walk on it:
"I, the LORD, have called you in righteousness;
I will take hold of your hand.

I will keep you and will make you
to be a covenant for the people
and a light for the Gentiles, to open eyes that are blind to free captives from prison and to release from the dungeon those who sit in darkness.

* I am the LORD, that is my name!
I will not give my glory to another or my praise to idols.
* See, the former things have taken place,
and new things I declare,
before they spring into being
I announce them to you."

Song of Praise to the Lord

- 10 Sing to the LORD a new song,
his praise from the ends of the earth,
you who go down to the sea, and all that is in
it,
you islands, and all who live in them.
11 Let the desert and its towns raise their voices;
let the settlements where Kedar lives rejoice.
Let the people of Sela sing for joy,
let them shout from the mountaintops.
12 Let them give glory to the LORD
and proclaim his praise in the islands.
13 The LORD will march out like a mighty man,
like a warrior he will stir up his zeal;
with a shout he will raise the battle cry
and will triumph over his enemies.
14 "For a long time I have kept silent,
I have been quiet and held myself back.
But now, like a woman in childbirth,
I cry out, I gasp and pant.
15 I will lay waste the mountains and hills
and dry up all their vegetation;
I will turn rivers into islands
and dry up the pools.
16 I will lead the blind by ways they have not known,
along unfamiliar paths I will guide them,
I will turn the darkness into light before them
and make the rough places smooth.
These are the things I will do;
I will not forsake them.
17 But those who trust in idols,
who say to images, "You are our gods,"
will be turned back in utter shame.

Israel Blind and Deaf

- 18 "Hear, you deaf,
look, you blind, and see!
19 Who is blind but my servant,

and deaf like the messenger I send?
Who is blind like the one committed to me,
blind like the servant of the LORD?
20 You have seen many things, but have paid no attention

your ears are open, but you hear nothing."
21 I pleased the LORD for the sake of his righteousness
to make his law great and glorious.
22 But this is a people plundered and looted,
all of them trapped in pits
or hidden away in prisons.
They have become plunder,
with no one to rescue them;
they have been made loot,
with no one to say, "Send them back."

- 23 Which of you will listen to this or pay close attention in time to come?
24 Who handed Jacob over to become loot,
and Israel to the plunderers?
Was it not the LORD,
against whom we have sinned?
For they would not follow his ways;
they did not obey his law.
25 So he poured out on them his burning anger,
the violence of war.
It enveloped them in flames, yet they did not
understand;
it consumed them, but they did not take it to
heart.

Israel's Only Savior

- 43 But now, this is what the LORD says—
he who created you, O Jacob,
he who formed you, O Israel:
"Fear not, for I have redeemed you;
I have summoned you by name; you are
mine.
2 When you pass through the waters,
I will be with you;
and when you pass through the rivers,
they will not sweep over you.
When you walk through the fire,
you will not be burned;
the flames will not set you ablaze.
3 For I am the LORD, your God,
the Holy One of Israel, your Savior;
I give Egypt for your ransom,
Cush* and Seba in your stead.
4 Since you are precious and honored in my sight,
and because I love you,
I will give men in exchange for you,
and people in exchange for your life.

42:14 Does God Care?

After telling of his power, God goes on to describe the depth of his feelings for his people. He uses tender and sometimes shocking language, especially in this comparison of his pain to that of childbirth.

43:3 Ransom for the Captives

God speaks of providing the nations of Egypt, Cush, and Seba as a ransom or reward for allowing the Jews to return to their land. Historically, Cyrus of Persia permitted the Jews to resettle in the sixth century B.C. Shortly after that, Persia conquered the territories mentioned here.

* That is, the upper Nile region.

⁵Do not be afraid, for I am with you;
I will bring your children from the east
and gather you from the west.
⁶I will say to the north, "Give them up!"
and to the south, "Do not hold them back."
Bring my sons from afar and my daughters from the ends of the earth—
⁷everyone who is called by my name,
whom I created for my glory, whom I formed and made."
⁸Lead out those who have eyes but are blind,
who have ears but are deaf.
⁹All the nations gather together
and the peoples assemble Which of them foretold this and proclaimed to us the former things?
Let them bring in their witnesses to prove they were right,
so that others may hear and say, "It is true."
¹⁰"You are my witnesses," declares the LORD,
"and my servant whom I have chosen,
so that you may know and believe me
and understand that I am he.
Before me no god was formed,
nor will there be one after me.
¹¹I, even I, am the LORD,
and apart from me there is no savior
¹²I have revealed and saved and proclaimed—
I, and not some foreign god among you.
You are my witnesses," declares the LORD,
"that I am God
¹³Yes, and from ancient days I am he.
No one can deliver out of my hand.
When I act, who can reverse it?"

God's Mercy and Israel's Unfaithfulness

¹⁴This is what the LORD says—
your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.
"For your sake I will send to Babylon and bring down as fugitives all the Babylonians,^a
in the ships in which they took pride.
¹⁵I am the LORD, your Holy One,
Israel's Creator, your King."
¹⁶This is what the LORD says—
he who made a way through the sea,
a path through the mighty waters, ¹⁷who drew out the chariots and horses,
the army and reinforcements together,
and they lay there, never to rise again,
extinguished, snuffed out like a wick:
¹⁸"Forget the former things;
do not dwell on the past.
¹⁹See, I am doing a new thing!
Now it springs up; do you not perceive it?
I am making a way in the desert
and streams in the wasteland.
²⁰The wild animals honor me,
the jackals and the owls,
because I provide water in the desert
and streams in the wasteland,
to give drink to my people, my chosen,

²¹the people I formed for myself that they may proclaim my praise ²²"Yet you have not called upon me, O Jacob,
you have not wearied yourselves for me,
O Israel
²³You have not brought me sheep for burnt offerings,
nor honored me with your sacrifices.
I have not burdened you with grain offerings
nor wearied you with demands for incense ²⁴You have not bought any fragrant calamus for
me,
or lavished on me the fat of your sacrifices.
But you have burdened me with your sins
and wearied me with your offenses ²⁵"I, even I, am he who blots out your transgressions, for my own sake, and remembers your sins no more ²⁶Review the past for me,
let us argue the matter together;
state the case for your innocence.
²⁷Your first father sinned;
your spokesmen rebelled against me.
²⁸So I will disgrace the dignitaries of your temple,
and I will consign Jacob to destruction^b and Israel to scorn.

Israel the Chosen

44 "But now listen, O Jacob, my servant,
Israel, whom I have chosen.
²This is what the LORD says—
he who made you, who formed you in the
womb,
and who will help you:
Do not be afraid, O Jacob, my servant,
Jeshurun, whom I have chosen.
³For I will pour water on the thirsty land,
and streams on the dry ground;
I will pour out my Spirit on your offspring,
and my blessing on your descendants.
⁴They will spring up like grass in a meadow,
like poplar trees by flowing streams.
⁵One will say, 'I belong to the LORD';
another will call himself by the name of Jacob;
still another will write on his hand, 'The LORD's,'
and will take the name Israel.

The Lord, Not Idols

⁶"This is what the LORD says—
Israel's King and Redeemer, the LORD
Almighty:
I am the first and I am the last;
apart from me there is no God.
⁷Who then is like me? Let him proclaim it.
Let him declare and lay out before me what has happened since I established my ancient people,
and what is yet to come—
yes, let him foretell what will come.
⁸Do not tremble, do not be afraid.

44:28 Cyrus the Shepherd
 God demonstrated his control over human history
 by using a foreigner, the emperor of a new Medo-Persian empire, to accomplish his will. "I summon you by name and bestow on you a title of honor," said God, "though you do not acknowledge me" (45:4). As predicted in this verse, Cyrus freed the Jewish captives in Babylon and allowed them to return to Jerusalem to rebuild
 the temple.

17 I will break down gates of bronze and cut through bars of iron.
I will give you the treasures of darkness and hidden things which you did not know.
I will show you that I am the Lord,
the God of Israel, who summons you by name.

18 Even the water of the sea will be dried up and the land will be broken up.
I will make the sea into dry land
and the rivers into dry streams.
I will give you the sea for a plain
and the rivers for dry streams.
I will give you the sea for a plain
and the rivers for dry streams.
I will give you the sea for a plain
and the rivers for dry streams.

19 I am the Lord, and there is no other.
I will strengthen you though you have not acknowledged me.
I will save you from the hand of the king
and from the power of the king.
I will save you from the hand of the king
and from the power of the king.
I will save you from the hand of the king
and from the power of the king.

20 You heavens above, rain down righteousness,
and the clouds shower it down.
Let the earth open wide
and let salvation spring up.
Let righteousness grow with it,
the Lord have created it.

21 Woe to him who quarrels with his Maker, to him who is but a potsherd among the potsherds on the ground.
Does the clay say to the potter,
What are you making?

22 Does your work say,
He has no hands?
Woe to him who says to his father,
What have you begotten?
to his mother,
What have you brought to birth?

This is what the Lord says—
the Holy One of Israel, and its Maker.
Concerning things to come,
do you question me about my children,
or give me orders about the work of my
hands?

23 It is I who made the earth and created mankind upon it.
My own hands stretched out the heavens;
I marshaled their starry hosts.

24 I will raise up Cyrus^b in my righteousness:
I will make all his ways straight.
He will rebuild my city
and set my exiles free,
but not for a price or reward,
says the Lord Almighty.

25 This is what the Lord says:

"The products of Egypt and the merchandise of Cush,
and those tall Sabeans—

they will come over to you and will be yours.
They will bring gold and silver and clothing for you in chains.
They will bow down before you
and plead with you, saying,
Truly God is with you, and there is no other,
there is no other god.

26 Truly you are a God who hides himself,
O God and Savior of Israel.

27 All the makers of idols will be put to shame and disgraced.
They will go off into disgrace together.
But Israel will be saved by the Lord
with an everlasting salvation.
You will never be put to shame or disgraced,
in ages everlasting.

28 For this is what the Lord says—
he who created the heavens,
he is God;
he who fashioned and made the earth,
he founded it;
he did not create it to be empty,
but formed it to be inhabited—
he says.

"I am the Lord,
and there is no other.

29 I have not spoken in secret,
from somewhere in a land of darkness,
I have not said to Jacob's descendants,
"Seek me in vain."
I, the Lord, speak the truth;
I declare what is right.

30 "Gather together and come,
assemble, you fugitives from the nations.
Ignorant are those who carry about idols of wood,

who pray to gods that cannot save.

31 Declare what is to be, present it—let them take counsel together.
Who foretold this long ago,
who declared it from the distant past?
Was it not I, the Lord?

And there is no God apart from me,
a righteous God and a Savior;
there is none but me.

32 "Turn to me and be saved,
all you ends of the earth;
for I am God, and there is no other.

33 By myself I have sworn,

45:21 Foretelling the Future

Isaiah contains many predictions of future events. These chapters tell of the rise of Cyrus from the east. Elsewhere, the prophet gives specific predictions about the coming Messiah and about events near the end of time. God uses these predictions as proof of his power and knowledge, challenging the pagan gods to foretell anything (41:23).

47:1 An Evil Queen

Over the centuries, Babylon became a byword for evil among the Jews, for she was the nation that had destroyed Jerusalem and its temple. Psalm 137, composed by captive Jews in Babylon, expresses their anguish. But God predicts that the great queen will become a harlot, surprised by a sudden catastrophe. The tone of this chapter is echoed in the book of Revelation, which applies the symbolism of "Babylon the Great" to another evil empire (Revelation 18).

They are created now and not long ago
you have not heard of them before today
You cannot say
Yes, I know of them
You have neither heard nor understood from of old your ear has not been open Well do I know how treacherous you are,
you were called a rebel from birth
For my own name's sake I delay my wrath, for the sake of my praise I hold it back from
you

so as not to cut you off
I have refined you in the furnace of affliction
How can I let myself be defamed?
I will not yield my glory to another
Listen to me, O Jacob,
Israel, whom I have called:
I am he;
I am the first and I am the last
My own hand laid the foundations of the
earth,
and my right hand spread out the heavens;
when I summon them,
they all stand up together.

Come together, all of you, and listen:
Which of the idols has foretold these things?
The Lord's chosen ally
will carry out his purpose against Babylon;
his arm will be against the Babylonians.
even I, have spoken,
yes, I have called him
I will bring him,
and he will succeed in his mission.
Come near me and listen to this:
"From the first announcement I have not spoken in secret,
at the time it happens, I am there."
And now the Sovereign Lord has sent me,
with his Spirit

Stubborn Israel

18 Listen to this, O house of Jacob,
you who are called by the name of Israel
and come from the line of Judah,
you who take oaths in the name of the Lord and invoke the God of Israel—
but not in truth or righteousness—
You who call yourselves citizens of the holy city
and rely on the God of Israel—
the Lord Almighty is his name
I foretold the former things long ago
my mouth announced them and I made them known,
then suddenly I acted, and they came to pass
For I knew how stubborn you were,
the sinews of your neck were iron,
your forehead was bronze
Therefore I told you these things long ago;
before they happened I announced them to
you
so that you could not say,
My idols did them
my wooden image and metal god ordained
them
You have heard these things, look at them all
Will you not admit them?
From now on I will tell you of new things,
of hidden things unknown to you

19 This is what the Lord says—
your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
"I am the Lord your God,
who teaches you what is best for you,
who directs you in the way you should go.
If only you had paid attention to my commands,
your peace would have been like a river,
your righteousness like the waves of the sea
Your descendants would have been like the sand,
your children like its numberless grains;
their name would never be cut off
nor destroyed from before me."
Leave Babylon,
flee from the Babylonians!
Announce this with shouts of joy and proclaim it
Send it out to the ends of the earth,

Israel Freed

20 Listen to me, O Jacob,
Israel, whom I have called:
I am he;

earth,
and my right hand spread out the heavens;
when I summon them,

And now the Sovereign Lord has sent me,
with his Spirit

say, "The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob

They did not thirst when he led them through the deserts;
he made water flow for them from the rock,
he split the rock
and water gushed out

The Servant of the LORD

49 Listen to me, you islands, hear this, you distant nations
Before I was born the LORD called me
from my birth he has made mention of my name

He made my mouth like a sharpened sword,
in the shadow of his hand he hid me;
he made me into a polished arrow
and concealed me in his quiver

He said to me, "You are my servant,
Israel, in whom I will display my splendor."

But I said, "I have labored to no purpose;
I have spent my strength in vain and for nothing

Yet what is due me is in the LORD's hand,
and my reward is with my God."

And now the LORD says—
he who formed me in the womb to be his servant

to bring Jacob back to him and gather Israel to himself,
for I am honored in the eyes of the LORD and my God has been my strength—

he says

"It is too small a thing for you to be my servant
to restore the tribes of Jacob and bring back those of Israel I have kept.
I will also make you a light for the Gentiles,
that you may bring my salvation to the ends of the earth."

This is what the LORD says—
the Redeemer and Holy One of Israel—
to him who was despised and abhorred by the nation,

to the servant of rulers:

"Kings will see you and rise up,
princes will see and bow down,
because of the LORD, who is faithful,
the Holy One of Israel, who has chosen you."

49:6 Israel's Final Destiny

The book of Isaiah spells out Israel's ultimate destiny: to be a light for the Gentiles and bring salvation to the ends of the earth. Isaiah is not introducing a brand-new thought—God had made clear his intentions in the original covenant (Genesis 22:18). But, along the way, Israel and Judah's desire for political greatness had obscured their original calling.

Restoration of Israel

"This is what the LORD says:

"In the time of my favor I will answer you,
and in the day of salvation I will help you,
I will keep you and will make you
to be a covenant for the people,
to restore the land

and to reassign its desolate inheritances,
to say to the captives, 'Come out,'
and to those in darkness, 'Be free'"

"They will feed beside the roads and find pasture on every barren hill.

They will neither hunger nor thirst,
nor will the desert heat or the sun beat upon them

He who has compassion on them will guide them and lead them beside springs of water.

I will turn all my mountains into roads,
and my highways will be raised up.

See, they will come from afar—
some from the north, some from the west,
some from the region of Aswan."

Shout for joy, O heavens;

rejoice, O earth;

burst into song, O mountains!

For the LORD comforts his people and will have compassion on his afflicted ones

But Zion said, "The LORD has forsaken me,
the Lord has forgotten me."

"Can a mother forget the baby at her breast and have no compassion on the child she has borne?

Though she may forget,
I will not forget you!

See, I have engraved you on the palms of my hands;

your walls are ever before me.

Your sons hasten back,

and those who laid you waste depart from you.

Lift up your eyes and look around;

all your sons gather and come to you.

As surely as I live," declares the LORD,

"you will wear them all as ornaments;

you will put them on, like a bride.

Though you were ruined and made desolate
and your land laid waste,
now you will be too small for your people,
and those who devoured you will be far
away.

The children born during your bereavement
will yet say in your hearing,

"This place is too small for us;

give us more space to live in."

Then you will say in your heart,

"Who bore me these?

I was bereaved and barren;

I was exiled and rejected.

Who brought these up?

Where have they come from?
 This is what the Sovereign LORD says:
 I will look to the Gentiles will fill up my house to the peoples
 they will bring your sons in their arms and carry your daughters on their shoulders Women will be your foster mothers
 they will nurse your motherless
 they will know that I am the LORD
 now who hope in me will not be ashamed
 No murder will be taken from warriors
 no more rescued from the fierce
 This is what the LORD says
 No more will be taken from warriors
 no more retrieved from the fierce and contend with those who contend with
 me
 I will save
 my people from their oppressors
 they will eat their own flesh they will be drunk on their own blood, as with wine
 Then all mankind will know that I, the LORD, am your Savior,
 your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob."

Israel's Sin and the Servant's Obedience

50 This is what the LORD says:
 "Where is your mother's certificate of divorce
 with which I sent her away?
 Or to which of my creditors
 did I owe you?
 Because of your sins you were sold,
 because of your transgressions your mother was sent away
 When I came, why was there no one?
 When I called, why was there no one to
 answer?
 Was my arm too short to ransom you?
 Do I lack the strength to rescue you?
 By a mere rebuke I dry up the sea,
 I turn rivers into a desert;
 their fish rot for lack of water
 and die of thirst.
 I clothe the sky with darkness
 and make sackcloth its covering." 51 The Sovereign LORD has given me an instructed tongue,
 to know the word that sustains the weary.
 He wakens me morning by morning, wakens my ear to listen like one being taught.
52 The Sovereign LORD has opened my ears,
 and I have not been rebellious;
 I have not drawn back.

53 I offered my back to those who beat me, my cheeks to those who pulled out my beard
 I did not hide my face
 from mocking and spitting 54 Because the Sovereign LORD helps me,
 I will not be disgraced
 Therefore have I set my face like flint,
 and I know I will not be put to shame.
55 He who vindicates me is near
 Who then will bring charges against me?
 Let us face each other!
 Who is my accuser?
 Let him confront me!
56 It is the Sovereign LORD who helps me.
 Who is he that will condemn me?
 They will all wear out like a garment,
 the moth will eat them up.
57 Who among you fears the LORD and obeys the word of his servant?
 Let him who walks in the dark,
 who has no light,
 trust in the name of the LORD
 and rely on his God 58 But now, all you who light fires and provide yourselves with flaming torches,
 go, walk in the light of your fires
 and of the torches you have set ablaze.
 This is what you shall receive from my hand:
 You will lie down in torment.

Everlasting Salvation for Zion

51 "Listen to me, you who pursue
 righteousness
 and who seek the LORD:
 Look to the rock from which you were cut and to the quarry from which you were hewn;
52 Look to Abraham, your father,
 and to Sarah, who gave you birth.
 When I called him he was but one,
 and I blessed him and made him many.
53 The LORD will surely comfort Zion and will look with compassion on all her
 ruins;
 he will make her deserts like Eden,
 her wastelands like the garden of the LORD.
 Joy and gladness will be found in her,
 thanksgiving and the sound of singing.
54 "Listen to me, my people;
 hear me, my nation:
 The law will go out from me;
 my justice will become a light to the nations.
55 My righteousness draws near speedily,
 my salvation is on the way,
 and my arm will bring justice to the nations.
 The islands will look to me
 and wait in hope for my arm.
56 Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
 look at the earth beneath;
 the heavens will vanish like smoke,
 the earth will wear out like a garment

and its inhabitants die like flies
But my salvation will last forever,
my righteousness will never fail

⁷"Hear me, you who know what is right,
you people who have my law in your hearts:
Do not fear the reproach of men
or be terrified by their insults.

⁸For the moth will eat them up like a garment;
the worm will devour them like wool.
But my righteousness will last forever,
my salvation through all generations."

⁹Awake, awake! Clothe yourself with strength,
O arm of the LORD,
awake, as in days gone by,
as in generations of old.

Was it not you who cut Rahab to pieces,
who pierced that monster through?

¹⁰Was it not you who dried up the sea,
the waters of the great deep,
who made a road in the depths of the sea
so that the redeemed might cross over?

¹¹The ransomed of the LORD will return
They will enter Zion with singing;
everlasting joy will crown their heads.
Gladness and joy will overtake them,
and sorrow and sighing will flee away.

¹²"I, even I, am he who comforts you.
Who are you that you fear mortal men,
the sons of men, who are but grass,

¹³that you forget the LORD your Maker, who stretched out the heavens
and laid the foundations of the earth,
that you live in constant terror every day
because of the wrath of the oppressor,
who is bent on destruction?

For where is the wrath of the oppressor?

¹⁴ The cowering prisoners will soon be set
free,

they will not die in their dungeon,
nor will they lack bread.

¹⁵For I am the LORD your God, who churns up the sea so that its waves
roar—

the LORD Almighty is his name.

¹⁶I have put my words in your mouth and covered you with the shadow of my
hand—

I who set the heavens in place,
who laid the foundations of the earth,
and who say to Zion, 'You are my people.' "

51:9 Rahab the Monster

The Rahab in Isaiah (here and in 30:7) should not be confused with the Rahab who helped Joshua's spies in Jericho (Joshua 2). Rather, the word refers to a sea-monster that appears in much Middle Eastern mythology. Because the mythological monster lived in the Nile River region, Rahab can stand for the nation of Egypt, as it does here.

The Cup of the Lord's Wrath

¹⁷Awake, awake!

Rise up, O Jerusalem,
you who have drunk from the hand of the LORD

the cup of his wrath,
you who have drained to its dregs
the goblet that makes men stagger.

¹⁸Of all the sons she bore
there was none to guide her;
of all the sons she reared
there was none to take her by the hand.

¹⁹These double calamities have come upon
you—

who can comfort you?—
ruin and destruction, famine and sword—
who can console you?

²⁰Your sons have fainted,
they lie at the head of every street,
like antelope caught in a net.

They are filled with the wrath of the LORD
and the rebuke of your God.

²¹Therefore hear this, you afflicted one,
made drunk, but not with wine.

²²This is what your Sovereign LORD says,
your God, who defends his people:

"See, I have taken out of your hand
the cup that made you stagger;
from that cup, the goblet of my wrath,
you will never drink again.

²³I will put it into the hands of your tormentors,
who said to you,

'Fall prostrate that we may walk over you.'
And you made your back like the ground,
like a street to be walked over."

52 Awake, awake, O Zion, clothe yourself with strength.

Put on your garments of splendor,
O Jerusalem, the holy city.

The uncircumcised and defiled
will not enter you again.

²Shake off your dust;
rise up, sit enthroned, O Jerusalem.

Free yourself from the chains on your neck,
O captive Daughter of Zion.

³For this is what the LORD says:

"You were sold for nothing,
and without money you will be redeemed."

⁴For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"At first my people went down to Egypt to live;
lately, Assyria has oppressed them.

⁵"And now what do I have here?" declares the LORD.

"For my people have been taken away for
nothing,
and those who rule them mock,"

declares the LORD.

"And all day long

my name is constantly blasphemed.
Therefore my people will know my name
therefore in that day they will know that I, who have told it Yes, it is I.

How beautiful on the mountains
are the feet of those who bring good news,
who proclaim peace,
who bring good tidings,
who proclaim salvation,
who say to Zion:

Your God reigns!
Indeed! Your watchmen lift up their voices, together they shout for joy.
When the Lord returns to Zion,
they will see it with their own eyes.

Turned into songs of joy together,
you ruins of Jerusalem,
for the Lord has comforted his people,
he has redeemed Jerusalem.

The Lord will lay bare his holy arm
in the sight of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth will see
the salvation of our God.

Depart, depart, go out from there!
Touch no unclean thing!
Come out from it and be pure,
you who carry the vessels of the Lord.
But you will not leave in haste
or go in flight,
for the Lord will go before you,
the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

The Suffering and Glory of the Servant

See, my servant will act wisely;^a he will be raised and lifted up and highly exalted.
Just as there were many who were appalled at
him—
his appearance was so disfigured beyond that of any man
and his form marred beyond human likeness—
so will he sprinkle many nations,^c and kings will shut their mouths because of
him.
For what they were not told, they will see,
and what they have not heard, they will understand.

53 Who has believed our message and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?

He grew up before him like a tender shoot,
and like a root out of dry ground.
He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to
him,
nothing in his appearance that we should desire him.

He was despised and rejected by men,

a pattern of suffering and he was suffering
like one from whom men hide their faces.
He was despised and we were disparaging him.

He was despised and we despised him,
and he carried our sorrows,
yet we considered him stricken by God,
afflicted by him, and afflicted.
But he was pierced for our transgressions,
he was crushed for our iniquities;
the punishment that brought us peace was upon him,

and by his wounds we are healed.
We all, like sheep, have gone astray,
each of us has turned to his own way,
and the Lord has laid on him
the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed and afflicted,
yet he did not open his mouth;
he was led like a lamb to the slaughter,
and as a sheep before her shearers is silent,
so he did not open his mouth.

By oppression and judgment he was taken
away,
and who can speak of his descendants?
For he was cut off from the land of the living,
for the transgression of my people he was stricken.^e

He was assigned a grave with the wicked,
and with the rich in his death,
though he had done no violence,
nor was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it was the Lord's will to crush him and cause him to suffer,
and though the Lord makes^f his life a guilt offering,
he will see his offspring and prolong his days,
and the will of the Lord will prosper in his
hand.

After the suffering of his soul,
he will see the light of life and be satisfied.^h
By his knowledge^g my righteous servant will justify many,
and he will bear their iniquities.

Therefore I will give him a portion among the great,ⁱ
and he will divide the spoils with the strong.^j

because he poured out his life unto death,
and was numbered with the transgressors.
For he bore the sin of many,
and made intercession for the transgressors.

The Suffering Servant

A great victory looked at first like defeat

ISAIAH 52:13-53:12 is one of the most famous and familiar with suffering 53:3

Who is the suffering servant who will come from Israel to bring light to the nations? Who is the suffering servant?

For centuries puzzled over these passages for centuries. Many considered them the most important part of the entire Old Testament, and yet they could not agree on exactly what the servant was. The passages themselves are called the servant songs (42:1-9, 49:1-13, 50:4-9, 52:13-53:12).

A Nation or a Person?

At first, the servant was about the nation of Israel as a whole. "You are my servant, Israel," says Isaiah 44:28. But in other places the servant seems to refer to a specific individual, a great leader who suffers terribly.

Isaiah 53:1-12 describes the servant as the deliverer of all humankind. And yet it portrays him more as a suffering servant than a hero. He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him. He was despised and abused, yet he did not open his mouth; he was led like a lamb to the slaughter.

Some people guessed the prophet was describing himself or another prophet, such as Jeremiah. Others focused their hopes on a Messiah to come. They expected a king from very humble origins, whose power would depend not on swords, but on the spirits of people.

An Answer from the New Testament

The idea of the suffering servant did not really catch on among the Jewish nation. They longed for a triumphant Messiah, not a suffering one. The image of the suffering servant went into a kind of dormancy, lying dormant for centuries.

Then, in a very dramatic scene early in his ministry, Jesus quoted from one of the servant songs (Luke 4:18-19). "Then he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant and sat down. The eyes of everyone in the synagogue were fastened on him, and he began by saying, 'Today this scripture is fulfilled in your hearing.'" (Luke 4:20-21)

Following his example, the New Testament writers named Jesus as the servant, at least ten times. In one instance, Philip corrected an Ethiopian official who had wondered if the suffering servant referred to an ancient prophet (Acts 8:26-35).

The Final Sacrifice

Isaiah 49:1-12 includes vivid scenes of the servant's sufferings, predictions that found their fulfillment in Jesus' death on the cross. Written like an eyewitness account, they were actually composed centuries before Christ's death.

According to Isaiah, the servant died for a very specific purpose: "He was pierced for our transgressions" (53:5). Through his wounds, the suffering servant won a great victory. His death made possible a future when all that is wrong on earth will be set right. Significantly, the book of Isaiah does not end with the suffering servant image. It goes on to describe a wonderful life in a new heaven and new earth made possible by the servant's death.

Life Questions: If you had been a Jew in Jesus' day, would you have been disappointed in the Messiah? Why did Jesus choose to come as a suffering servant rather than, say, a triumphant army general?

54:6 Jerusalem's Future

The book of Isaiah insists that God will not permanently divorce the nation of Israel. It foretells a time when the ruined capital city will be rebuilt and achieve a greatness it has never known. Yet the description in these chapters goes far beyond what has ever been realized in Jerusalem. It merges into a vision of the future, when sin and sorrow will be no more and people will live in final peace with God.

9 I have said what was in my mind,
I have said what was before me;
I have said what was right and true
and I will not turn back.
Why should you fear what he says or what he does?
He has no power over me; what he does is nothing to me.
I would rather trust in the Lord who saves me than put my confidence in man.
For my soul belongs to the Lord;
he has taken me from the womb and holds me;
I am his workmanship, entrusted to him;
and he will preserve me from all harm.
Therefore I have made haste to answer to the psalmist:
A witness and confessor of the psalmist because you will remember that you know
me,
and because that do not know you will trust in you because of the Lord your God
the Holy One of Israel
for he has endowed you with splendor
seek the Lord while he may be found,
call on him while he is near.
Let the wicked forsake his way ...
and the evil man his thoughts;
let him turn to the Lord and he will have mercy on him
and to our God, for he will freely pardon.

* For my thoughts are not your thoughts,
neither are your ways my ways,
declares the Lord.

* As the heavens are higher than the earth,
so are my ways higher than your ways
and my thoughts than your thoughts.

10 As the rain and the snow come down from heaven,
and do not return to it without watering the earth
and making it bud and flourish,
so that it yields seed for the sower and bread
for the eater,

11 so is my word that goes out from my mouth:
It will not return to me empty,
but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it.

12 You will go out in joy
and be led forth in peace;
the mountains and hills
will burst into song before you,
and all the trees of the field
will clap their hands.

13 Instead of the thornbush will grow the pine tree,
and instead of briars the myrtle will grow.
This will be for the LORD's renown,
for an everlasting sign.

which will not be destroyed."

Salvation for Others

56 This is what the Lord says:

Maintain justice
and do what is right
for my salvation is close at hand
and my righteousness will soon be revealed.
Blessed is the man who does this,
the man who holds it fast,
who keeps the Sabbath without desecrating it,
and keeps his hand from doing any evil."

Let no foreigner who has bound himself to the Lord say,
The Lord will surely exclude me from his
people."

And let not any eunuch complain,
"I am only a dry tree."

For this is what the Lord says

"To the eunuchs who keep my Sabbaths, who choose what pleases me
and hold fast to my covenant—

to them I will give within my temple and its walls

a memorial and a name
better than sons and daughters;
I will give them an everlasting name
that will not be cut off.

And foreigners who bind themselves to the Lord

to serve him,
to love the name of the Lord,
and to worship him,
all who keep the Sabbath without desecrating it and who hold fast to my covenant—
these I will bring to my holy mountain and give them joy in my house of prayer.
Their burnt offerings and sacrifices
will be accepted on my altar;
for my house will be called a house of prayer for all nations."

The Sovereign Lord declares—
he who gathers the exiles of Israel
"I will gather still others to them besides those already gathered."

God's Accusation Against the Wicked

Come, all you beasts of the field, come and devour, all you beasts of the forest!

Israel's watchmen are blind,
they all lack knowledge;
they are all mute dogs,
they cannot bark;
they lie around and dream,
they love to sleep.

They are dogs with mighty appetites,
they never have enough.
They are shepherds who lack understanding;
they all turn to their own way,
each seeks his own gain.
"Come," each one cries, "let me get wine!
Let us drink our fill of beer!
And tomorrow will be like today,
or even far better."

57 The righteous perish,
and no one ponders it in his heart,
devout men are taken away,
and no one understands that the righteous are taken away
to be spared from evil.
Those who walk uprightly
enter into peace;
they find rest as they lie in death.

"But you—come here, you sons of a whore,
you offspring of adulterers and prostitutes!"

Whom are you mocking?
At whom do you sneer
and stick out your tongue?
Are you not a brood of rebels,
the offspring of liars?

You burn with lust among the oaks
and under every spreading tree,
you sacrifice your children in the ravines
and under the overhanging crags.

The idols, among the smooth stones of the ravines are your portion;
they, they are your lot.

Yes, to them you have poured out drink
offerings
and offered grain offerings.

In the light of these things, should I relent?

You have made your bed on a high and lofty hill;

there you went up to offer your sacrifices.

Behind your doors and your doorposts
you have put your pagan symbols.
Forsaking me, you uncovered your bed,
you climbed into it and opened it wide;
you made a pact with those whose beds you
love,

and you looked on their nakedness.

You went to Molech^a with olive oil
and increased your perfumes.
You sent your ambassadors^b far away;
you descended to the grave^c itself!

You were wearied by all your ways,
but you would not say, "It is hopeless."
You found renewal of your strength,
and so you did not faint.

"Whom have you so dreaded and feared that you have been false to me,
and have neither remembered me
nor pondered this in your hearts?
Is it not because I have long been silent that you do not fear me?"

I will expose your righteousness and your
works,

the entire Bible.

 will inherit the land
 and possess my holy mountain."

Comfort for the Contrite

14And it will be said
 Build up, build up, prepare the road!
 Remove the obstacles out of the way of my people."
 15For this is what the high and lofty One says—
 he who lives forever, whose name is holy:
 I live in a high and holy place,
 but also with him who is contrite and lowly
 in spirit,
 to revive the spirit of the lowly
 and to revive the heart of the contrite.
 16I will not accuse forever,
 nor will I always be angry,
 for then the spirit of man would grow faint
 before me—
 the breath of man that I have created.
 17I was enraged by his sinful greed;
 I punished him, and hid my face in anger,
 yet he kept on in his willful ways.
 18I have seen his ways, but I will heal him;
 I will guide him and restore comfort to him,
 19 creating praise on the lips of the mourners in Israel Peace, peace, to those far and near,"
 says the LORD. "And I will heal them." 20But the wicked are like the tossing sea,
 which cannot rest,
 whose waves cast up mire and mud.
 21"There is no peace," says my God, "for the wicked."

True Fasting

58 "Shout it aloud, do not hold back.
 Raise your voice like a trumpet.
 Declare to my people their rebellion
 and to the house of Jacob their sins.
 2For day after day they seek me out;
 they seem eager to know my ways,
 as if they were a nation that does what is right and has not forsaken the commands of its God
 They ask me for just decisions and seem eager for God to come near them.
 3'Why have we fasted,' they say,
 'and you have not seen it?
 Why have we humbled ourselves,
 and you have not noticed?'
 "Yet on the day of your fasting, you do as you please and exploit all your workers.
 4Your fasting ends in quarreling and strife,
 and in striking each other with wicked fists.
 You cannot fast as you do today

and expect your voice to be heard on high.
 5Is this the kind of fast I have chosen,
 only a day for a man to humble himself?
 Is it only for bowing one's head like a reed
 and for lying on sackcloth and ashes?
 Is that what you call a fast,
 a day acceptable to the LORD?

6"Is not this the kind of fasting I have chosen:
 to loose the chains of injustice
 and untie the cords of the yoke, to set the oppressed free
 and break every yoke?
 7Is it not to share your food with the hungry and to provide the poor wanderer with shelter—
 when you see the naked, to clothe him,
 and not to turn away from your own flesh
 and blood?
 8Then your light will break forth like the dawn,
 and your healing will quickly appear;
 then your righteousness^a will go before you,
 and the glory of the LORD will be your rear guard.
 9Then you will call, and the LORD will answer;
 you will cry for help, and he will say: Here am I.
 "If you do away with the yoke of oppression,
 with the pointing finger and malicious talk, 10and if you spend yourselves in behalf of the hungry and satisfy the needs of the oppressed,
 then your light will rise in the darkness,
 and your night will become like the noonday.
 11The LORD will guide you always;
 he will satisfy your needs in a sun-scorched land
 and will strengthen your frame.
 You will be like a well-watered garden,
 like a spring whose waters never fail.
 12Your people will rebuild the ancient ruins
 and will raise up the age-old foundations;
 you will be called Repairer of Broken Walls, Restorer of Streets with Dwellings.
 13'If you keep your feet from breaking the Sabbath
 and from doing as you please on my holy day,
 if you call the Sabbath a delight
 and the LORD's holy day honorable,
 and if you honor it by not going your own way
 and not doing as you please or speaking idle words,

58:6 Religion at Its Best

The book of Isaiah begins in chapter 1 by exposing false religion that had the right form and ritual, but no true sincerity. This chapter gives the other side: the spiritual work God prefers. The New Testament book of James includes a similar perspective (James 1:27).

^a Or your righteous One when you will find your joy in the LORD and I will cause you to ride on the heights of the land and to feast on the inheritance of your father

LORD.
The mouth of the LORD has spoken

Sin, Confession and Redemption

59 Success after sin of the LORD is not too short to save

For his evil has died in death and your iniquities have separated
you from your God
and his name has hidden his face from you because you will not hear his voice; his hands are stained with blood your tongues are stained with gall Your lips have spoken lies and your tongue mutters wicked things
No one calls for justice
no one pleads his case with integrity
They rely on empty arguments and speak lies
they conceive trouble and give birth to evil
They hatch the eggs of vipers
and spin a spider's web
Whoever catches their eggs will die, and whoever touches them is broken; an adder is crushed.
Their flowers are useless for clothing,
they cannot cover themselves with what they make Their deeds are evil deeds
and acts of violence are in their hands
They have turned into serpents
they are swift to shed innocent blood
Their thoughts are evil thoughts, murder and destruction mark their ways;
the way of peace they do not know,
there is no justice in their paths
They have turned them into crooked roads
no one who walks in them will know peace

For justice is far from us
and righteousness does not reach us
We look for light, but all is darkness;
we seek brightness, but we walk in deep shadows
Like the blind we grope along the wall
feeling our way like men without eyes
At midday we stumble as if it were twilight;
among the strong, we are like the dead
We all growl like bears
we moan mournfully like doves
We look for justice, but find none,
for deliverance, but it is far away
For our offenses are many in your sight,
and our sins testify against us.
Our offenses are ever with us,
and we acknowledge our iniquities;
Rebellion and treachery against the LORD,
turning our backs on our God,
fomenting oppression and revolt,
uttering lies our hearts have conceived.
So justice is driven back,

and righteousness stands at a distance;
truth has stumbled in the streets,
honesty cannot enter

Truth is nowhere to be found,
and whoever shuns evil becomes a prey

The LORD looked and was displeased that there was no justice
He saw that there was no one,
he was appalled that there was no one to intervene;

so his own arm worked salvation for him,
and his own righteousness sustained him.

He put on righteousness as his breastplate,
and the helmet of salvation on his head,
he put on the garments of vengeance
and wrapped himself in zeal as in a cloak.

According to what they have done,
so will he repay
wrath to his enemies
and retribution to his foes;
he will repay the islands their due.

From the west, men will fear the name of the LORD,

and from the rising of the sun, they will revere his glory

For he will come like a pent-up flood that the breath of the LORD drives along

The Redeemer will come to Zion, to those in Jacob who repent of their sins,"
declares the LORD.

"As for me, this is my covenant with them," says the LORD. "My Spirit, who is on you, and my words that I have put in your mouth will not depart from your mouth, or from the mouths of your children, or from the mouths of their descendants
from this time on and forever," says the LORD.

The Glory of Zion

60 "Anse, shine, for your light has come,
and the glory of the LORD rises upon you.

See, darkness covers the earth and thick darkness is over the peoples,
but the LORD rises upon you
and his glory appears over you.

Nations will come to your light,
and kings to the brightness of your dawn.

Lift up your eyes and look about you:
All assemble and come to you;
your sons come from afar,
and your daughters are carried on the arm.

Then you will look and be radiant,
your heart will throb and swell with joy;
the wealth on the seas will be brought to you,
to you the riches of the nations will come

Herds of camels will cover your land,
young camels of Midian and Ephah.
And all from Sheba will come,
bearing gold and incense
and proclaiming the praise of the LORD.

All Kedar's flocks will be gathered to you,
the rams of Nebaioth will serve you;
they will be accepted as offerings on my altar,

59, 60. As though the enemy comes in like a flood, the Spirit of the LORD will put him to flight and I will adorn my glorious temple.

⁸"Who are these that fly along like clouds,
like doves to their nests?"

⁹Surely the islands look to me;
in the lead are the ships of Tarshish,^a bringing your sons from afar,
with their silver and gold,
to the honor of the Lord your God,
the Holy One of Israel,
for he has endowed you with splendor.

¹⁰"Foreigners will rebuild your walls,
and their kings will serve you Though in anger I struck you,
in favor I will show you compassion.

¹¹Your gates will always stand open,
they will never be shut, day or night,
so that men may bring you the wealth of the
nations—
their kings led in triumphal procession.

¹²For the nation or kingdom that will not serve you will perish,
it will be utterly ruined.

^a Or the trading ships

¹³"The glory of Lebanon will come to you,
the pine, the fir and the cypress together,
to adorn the place of my sanctuary,
and I will glorify the place of my feet.

¹⁴The sons of your oppressors will come bowing
before you;
all who despise you will bow down at your feet
and will call you the City of the Lord, Zion of the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁵"Although you have been forsaken and hated,
with no one traveling through,
I will make you the everlasting pride
and the joy of all generations

¹⁶You will drink the milk of nations and be nursed at royal breasts.
Then you will know that I, the Lord, am your Savior,

your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob

¹⁷Instead of bronze I will bring you gold, and silver in place of iron
Instead of wood I will bring you bronze,
and iron in place of stones.

INSIGHT

A Glimpse of Things to Come

When all our best dreams will come true

"Behold, I will create new heavens and a new earth. The former things will not be remembered, nor will they come to mind." 65:17

Everybody wants a glimpse into the future, and the last part of Isaiah gives just that. It tells what will happen at the end of our age on earth. The account is not easy to decipher, however, because the prophet shifts back and forth between his own time and the final events on earth.

A Missionary Book

To the original audience of Israelites, Isaiah makes one thing clear: God would not permanently divorce Israel. "For a brief moment I abandoned you," says God, "but with deep compassion I will bring you back" (54:7). There is a future for his chosen people.

Isaiah declares that Israel's future involves other nations. Foreigners will flock to Jerusalem: "My house will be called a house of prayer for all nations" (56:7). Word about God will go out to nations nearby and faraway, and to distant islands that have never heard of him (66:18-21).

Thus the last part of Isaiah, addressed to a people facing deep despair, opens the door for the Jews to become a gift to all people. This prophecy saw fulfillment in Jesus, who recruited disciples to take his message to everyone. Through his life and death, the suffering servant indeed introduced the gospel to the entire world.

What Isaiah Says to Us

The book of Isaiah goes on to describe a new beginning, a time of final triumph and peace. In that day, there will be no need for tears. Wild animals will tamely lie down together. The sun and moon will fade, overwhelmed by the brightness of God's glory.

In chapters 60 and 65, the prophet describes the future with such eloquence that New Testament books like Revelation could not improve on the language; they merely quoted Isaiah. Even today some of these phrases—"swords beaten into plowshares," for example—surface in popular language, expressing our deepest longings for peace.

We dream of a time of peace, without pain or fear or disease or death. Isaiah assures us that one day those dreams will come true.

Life Questions: What would you most like to see changed about your world? Does Isaiah speak to that change?

I will make peace your government and righteousness your ruler.
No longer will violence be heard in your land,
nor ruin or destruction within your borders,
but you will call your walls salvation
and your gates praise.
The sun will no more be your light by day,
nor will the brightness of the moon shine on
you;
for the Lord will be your everlasting light,
and your God will be your glory.
Your sun will never set again,
and your moon will wane no more;
the Lord will be your everlasting light,
and your days of sorrow will end.
Then will all your people be righteous,
and they will possess the land forever.
They are the shoot I have planted,
the work of my hands,
for the display of my splendor.
The least of you will become a thousand,
the smallest a mighty nation.
I am the Lord;
in my time I will do this swiftly."

The Year of the Lord's Favor

61 The Spirit of the Sovereign Lord is on me, because the Lord has anointed me
to preach good news to the poor.
He has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted,
to proclaim freedom for the captives and release from darkness for the prisoners,¹
to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor
and the day of vengeance of our God,
to comfort all who mourn,²
and provide for those who grieve in Zion—to bestow on them a crown of beauty instead of ashes,
the oil of gladness
instead of mourning,
and a garment of praise
instead of a spirit of despair.
They will be called oaks of righteousness,
a planting of the Lord
for the display of his splendor.
They will rebuild the ancient ruins
and restore the places long devastated;
they will renew the ruined cities
that have been devastated for generations.
Aliens will shepherd your flocks;
foreigners will work your fields and vineyards.

61:1 Jesus Began Here

When Jesus was ready to announce himself and his mission, he began with a dramatic quotation of this passage (Luke 4:18-19). Notably, he stopped in mid-sentence, before he reached the phrase "the day of vengeance of our God." Jesus taught that this day of vengeance would indeed take place, but at the time of his second coming, not his first.

"And you will be called priests of the Lord,
you will be named ministers of our God.
You will feed on the wealth of nations,
and in their cities you will dwell.

"Instead of their shame
my people will receive a double portion,
and instead of disgrace
they will rejoice in their inheritance;
and so they will inherit a double portion in their land,
and everlasting joy will be theirs.

"For I, the Lord, love justice,
I hate robbery and iniquity.
In my faithfulness I will reward them and make an everlasting covenant with
them.

"Their descendants will be known among the
nations
and their offspring among the peoples.
All who see them will acknowledge that they are a people the Lord has blessed."

60 I delight greatly in the Lord;
my soul rejoices in my God.
For he has clothed me with garments of
salvation
and arrayed me in a robe of righteousness,
as a bridegroom adorns his head like a priest,
and as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.
61 For as the soil makes the sprout come up and a garden causes seeds to grow,
so the Sovereign Lord will make righteousness and praise
spring up before all nations.

Zion's New Name

62 For Zion's sake I will not keep silent, for Jerusalem's sake I will not remain
quiet,
till her righteousness shines out like the dawn,
her salvation like a blazing torch.
2 The nations will see your righteousness,
and all kings your glory;
you will be called by a new name
that the mouth of the Lord will bestow.
3 You will be a crown of splendor in the Lord's
hand,
a royal diadem in the hand of your God.
4 No longer will they call you Deserted,
or name your land Desolate.
But you will be called Hephzibah,¹ and your land Beulah;²
for the Lord will take delight in you,³ and your land will be married.
5 As a young man marries a maiden,⁴ so will your sons⁵ marry you;
as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride,
so will your God rejoice over you.
6 I have posted watchmen on your walls,
O Jerusalem;
they will never be silent day or night.

² Hephzibah means my delight is in her

⁴ Beulah means married.

⁵ Or Builders

You who call on the LORD,
give yourselves no rest,
and give him no rest till he establishes Jerusalem
and makes her the praise of the earth.

⁵The LORD has sworn by his right hand and by his mighty arm.
'Never again will I give your grain
as food for your enemies, and never again will foreigners drink the new
wine
for which you have toiled, ⁹but those who harvest it will eat it
and praise the LORD,
and those who gather the grapes will drink it in the courts of my sanctuary."

¹⁰Pass through, pass through the gates!
Prepare the way for the people.
Build up, build up the highway!
Remove the stones.
Raise a banner for the nations.

¹¹The LORD has made proclamation to the ends of the earth
'Say to the Daughter of Zion,
'See, your Savior comes!
See, his reward is with him,
and his recompense accompanies him.'" ¹²They will be called the Holy People,
the Redeemed of the LORD;
and you will be called Sought After,
the City No Longer Deserted.

God's Day of Vengeance and Redemption

63 Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah, with his garments stained crimson?

Who is this, robed in splendor, striding forward in the greatness of his
strength?

"It is I, speaking in righteousness, mighty to save."

²Why are your garments red,
like those of one treading the winepress?

³"I have trodden the winepress alone;
from the nations no one was with me.
I trampled them in my anger
and trod them down in my wrath;
their blood spattered my garments,
and I stained all my clothing.

⁴For the day of vengeance was in my heart,
and the year of my redemption has come.

⁵I looked, but there was no one to help,
I was appalled that no one gave support;
so my own arm worked salvation for me,
and my own wrath sustained me.

⁶I trampled the nations in my anger;
in my wrath I made them drunk and poured their blood on the ground."

Praise and Prayer

⁷I will tell of the kindnesses of the LORD,
the deeds for which he is to be praised,

according to all the LORD has done for us—
yes, the many good things he has done
for the house of Israel,
according to his compassion and many kindnesses.

⁸He said, "Surely they are my people,
sons who will not be false to me";
and so he became their Savior.

⁹In all their distress he too was distressed,
and the angel of his presence saved them.
In his love and mercy he redeemed them;
he lifted them up and carried them
all the days of old.

¹⁰Yet they rebelled
and grieved his Holy Spirit.
So he turned and became their enemy
and he himself fought against them.

¹¹Then his people recalled^a the days of old,
the days of Moses and his people—where is he who brought them through the
sea,

with the shepherd of his flock?
Where is he who set
his Holy Spirit among them,

¹²who sent his glorious arm of power
to be at Moses' right hand,
who divided the waters before them,
to gain for himself everlasting renown,

¹³who led them through the depths?
Like a horse in open country,
they did not stumble;

¹⁴like cattle that go down to the plain,
they were given rest by the Spirit of the
LORD.

This is how you guided your people
to make for yourself a glorious name.

¹⁵Look down from heaven and see from your lofty throne, holy and glorious.

Where are your zeal and your might?
Your tenderness and compassion are withheld from us.

¹⁶But you are our Father, though Abraham does not know us
or Israel acknowledge us;
you, O LORD, are our Father,
our Redeemer from of old is your name.

63:9 A Lesson from History

The Babylonian captivity brought a grave crisis to the Israelites. To the Jews, God's own integrity was at stake. They had a treaty, or covenant, with him. Had he abandoned them? In this chapter, the prophet reviews all the good things God has done for the Israelites and says that, even in the worst times, "in all their distress he too was distressed." If God had been with them in the past, then he would be with them in the future. Then he turns to God directly and makes an impassioned appeal for help: "Oh, that you would rend the heavens and come down" (64:1).

^a11 Or But may he recall

17Why, O LORD, do you make us wander from your way^a

and harden our hearts so we do not revere you?

Return for the sake of your servants,
the tribes that are your inheritance

18For a little while your people possessed your holy place,

but now our enemies have trampled down your sanctuary

19We are yours from of old,
but you have not ruled over them,
they have not been called by your name.^a

64 Oh, that you would rend the heavens and come down, that the mountains would tremble before you!

As when fire sets twigs ablaze
and causes water to boil,
come down to make your name known to your enemies

and cause the nations to quake before you!
For when you did awesome things that we did not expect

you came down, and the mountains trembled before you

4Since ancient times no one has heard,
no ear has perceived,
no eye has seen any God besides you,
who acts on behalf of those who wait for him

5You come to the help of those who gladly do right,

who remember your ways
But when we continued to sin against them,
you were angry.

How then can we be saved?

6All of us have become like one who is unclean,
and all our righteous acts are like filthy rags;
we all shrivel up like a leaf,
and like the wind our sins sweep us away

7No one calls on your name or strives to lay hold of you,
for you have hidden your face from us
and made us waste away because of our sins.

8Yet, O LORD, you are our Father.
We are the clay, you are the potter;
we are all the work of your hand.

9Do not be angry beyond measure, O LORD;
do not remember our sins forever.

Oh, look upon us, we pray,
for we are all your people.

10Your sacred cities have become a desert;
even Zion is a desert, Jerusalem a desolation.

11Our holy and glorious temple, where our fathers praised you,
has been burned with fire,
and all that we treasured lies in ruins.

12After all this, O LORD, will you hold yourself back?

Will you keep silent and punish us beyond measure?

Judgment and Salvation

65 "I revealed myself to those who did not ask for me;

I was found by those who did not seek me.

To a nation that did not call on my name,
I said, 'Here am I, here am I.'

2All day long I have held out my hands
to an obstinate people,
who walk in ways not good,

pursuing their own imaginations—

3a people who continually provoke me
to my very face,

offering sacrifices in gardens
and burning incense on altars of brick;

4who sit among the graves
and spend their nights keeping secret vigil;
who eat the flesh of pigs,

and whose pots hold broth of unclean meat, 5who say, 'Keep away; don't come near me,
for I am too sacred for you!'

Such people are smoke in my nostrils,
a fire that keeps burning all day.

6"See, it stands written before me:
I will not keep silent but will pay back in full;
I will pay it back into their laps—

7both your sins and the sins of your fathers,"
says the LORD.

"Because they burned sacrifices on the mountains and defied me on the hills,

I will measure into their laps
the full payment for their former deeds."

8This is what the LORD says:

"As when juice is still found in a cluster of grapes and men say, 'Don't destroy it, there is yet some good in it,'

so will I do in behalf of my servants;
I will not destroy them all.

9I will bring forth descendants from Jacob,
and from Judah those who will possess my mountains;

my chosen people will inherit them,
and there will my servants live.

10Sharon will become a pasture for flocks,
and the Valley of Achor a resting place for herds,
for my people who seek me.

11"But as for you who forsake the LORD
and forget my holy mountain,

65:3 Provoking God

In this speech, God is directly attacking the most repulsive practices of Judah, notably its idolatry. "Gardens" refers to the gardens that usually surrounded pagan shrines. Verse 4 mentions the superstitious practice of sitting in cemeteries to seek help from the dead. And the "flesh of pigs" was eaten in a sacrificial meal for a pagan god—faithful Jews did not eat pork.

^a19 Or We are like those you have never ruled, / like those never called by your name

who spread a table for Fortune and fill bowls of mixed wine for Destiny, 12 I will destine you for the sword,
and you will all bend down for the slaughter;
for I called but you did not answer,
I spoke but you did not listen
You did evil in my sight
and chose what displeases me."

13 Therefore this is what the Sovereign Lord
says

"My servants will eat,
but you will go hungry;
my servants will drink,
but you will go thirsty;
my servants will rejoice,
but you will be put to shame.
14 My servants will sing
out of the joy of their hearts,
but you will cry out
from anguish of heart
and wail in brokenness of spirit.
15 You will leave your name
to my chosen ones as a curse;
the Sovereign Lord will put you to death,
but to his servants he will give another
name.
16 Whoever invokes a blessing in the land
will do so by the God of truth;
he who takes an oath in the land
will swear by the God of truth.
For the past troubles will be forgotten
and hidden from my eyes.

New Heavens and a New Earth

17 "Behold, I will create
new heavens and a new earth.
The former things will not be remembered,
nor will they come to mind.
18 But be glad and rejoice forever
in what I will create,
for I will create Jerusalem to be a delight
and its people a joy.
19 I will rejoice over Jerusalem
and take delight in my people;
the sound of weeping and of crying
will be heard in it no more.
20 "Never again will there be in it an infant who lives but a few days, or an old man who does not live out his years;
he who dies at a hundred
will be thought a mere youth;
he who fails to reach a hundred will be considered accursed.
21 They will build houses and dwell in them;
they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
22 No longer will they build houses and others
live in them,
or plant and others eat.
For as the days of a tree,
so will be the days of my people;
my chosen ones will long enjoy
the works of their hands.

23 They will not toil in vain or bear children doomed to misfortune;
for they will be a people blessed by the Lord,
they and their descendants with them.
24 Before they call I will answer,
while they are still speaking I will hear.
25 The wolf and the lamb will feed together,
and the lion will eat straw like the ox,
but dust will be the serpent's food.
They will neither harm nor destroy
on all my holy mountain,"

says the Lord.

Judgment and Hope

66 This is what the Lord says:
"Heaven is my throne,
and the earth is my footstool.
Where is the house you will build for me?
Where will my resting place be?
2 Has not my hand made all these things,
and so they came into being?"
declares the Lord.

"This is the one I esteem
he who is humble and contrite in spirit,
and trembles at my word.
3 But whoever sacrifices a bull is like one who kills a man,
and whoever offers a lamb,
like one who breaks a dog's neck,
whoever makes a grain offering is like one who presents pig's blood,
and whoever burns memorial incense, like one who worships an idol.
They have chosen their own ways,
and their souls delight in their abominations;
4 so I also will choose harsh treatment for them
and will bring upon them what they dread.
For when I called, no one answered,
when I spoke, no one listened
They did evil in my sight
and chose what displeases me."

5 Hear the word of the Lord,
you who tremble at his word:
"Your brothers who hate you,
and exclude you because of my name, have said,
"Let the Lord be glorified,
that we may see your joy!"
Yet they will be put to shame.
6 Hear that uproar from the city,
hear that noise from the temple!
It is the sound of the Lord
repaying his enemies all they deserve.
7 "Before she goes into labor,
she gives birth;
before the pains come upon her,
she delivers a son.
8 Who has ever heard of such a thing?
Who has ever seen such things?
Can a country be born in a day
or a nation be brought forth in a moment?
Yet no sooner is Zion in labor than she gives birth to her children.

JEREMIAH

INTRODUCTION

God's Reluctant Messenger

Jeremiah felt frightened and insecure—but he burned with a message

"Do not be afraid of them, for I am with you and will rescue you," declares the LORD 1:8

Jeremiah lived one of the most dramatic lives in the Bible, and that is saying something. But he never learned to like his role. Through all the excitement he remained reluctant, insecure, and often unhappy.

God chose him to be "over nations and kingdoms to uproot and tear down, to destroy and overthrow, to build and to plant" (1:10). To accomplish that, Jeremiah had only one resource, his mouth. How did he respond to such an awesome challenge? "Ah, Sovereign LORD," he said, "I do not know how to speak; I am only a child" (1:6). He didn't stride forward; he barely hung on. He wanted out of the job.

His only encouragement was God's promise: "Today I have made you a fortified city, an iron pillar and a bronze wall to stand against the whole land" (1:18). For 40 years Jeremiah gave top officials a warning they hated to hear and refused to heed. Several times they arrested and imprisoned him; they nearly killed him.

His message? With God's approval, the savage Babylonians would sweep down into Judah. Clever alliances with other powers like Egypt would not help, said Jeremiah. Neither would Judah's half-hearted religion. Judah's only hope lay in renewing an alliance with the living God.

A Disturbing Glimpse of Jeremiah's Mind

The book of Jeremiah stands out not for beautiful poetry or great ideas. Its power comes from its disturbing glimpse of Jeremiah's mind. Jeremiah talked like a man who has awakened from a nightmare, convinced that the nightmare is coming true. His words were sledgehammer blows designed to crack the hardest, most indifferent skull. Though he wished to keep quiet, he found that God's "word is in my heart like a fire, a fire shut up in my bones" (20:9).

No prophet exposed his feelings more than Jeremiah. His relationship with God was streaked with quarrels, reproaches, and outbursts. He told God he wished he were dead (20:14-18). He accused God of being unreliable (15:18). But God offered no sympathy. Rather, he promised more of the same, reminding Jeremiah of his promise to stand by him (12:5-6, 15:19-20). Their relationship, doubts and all, forms one of the best examples in the Bible of what it means to follow God in spite of everything.

Reason to Fear

Jeremiah frankly feared death. He wearied of ridicule. He hated standing alone against the crowd. He told God how he felt. Yet he obeyed God, and in the end his message proved true. He stands as a far greater man than the kings in their luxurious palaces who imprisoned him and burned his writings.

He spoke a gloomy message in a gloomy time, and as a result his words are not always pleasant to read. He reminds us that God's message is not always comforting and encouraging. People who disregard him will have reason to fear. For a world that defies him, he plans judgment. And no one, not even his chosen messengers, will escape suffering. God's presence will make them strong enough to face it.

How to Read Jeremiah

Suppose you find, in an old trunk, a thick packet of letters written by an old relative. You soon realize they are all out of order. Those letters might contain the whole of your relative's life, but to get his story straight, you'd have to read the whole packet. A reader of Jeremiah finds a very similar situation. The book is an anthology of prophecies given at different times. They jump forward and backward in history, and if you imagine that the book is in chronological order, you will become very confused. Fortunately, it is not hard to reconstruct the order of the main events of Jeremiah's life.

Jeremiah spoke to a nation about to be destroyed by war. Three hundred years before him, the Israelites had split into two countries, Israel in the North and Judah in the South. About 100 years before Jeremiah, Assyria had conquered the Northern Kingdom. This disaster was "World War I" in Old Testament history.

Now, during Jeremiah's life, World War II threatened. Another fierce kingdom, Babylon, assembled troops against the remaining Southern Kingdom. Would God save his chosen people? Jeremiah loudly insisted for more than 20 years that God would punish Judah just as he had Israel, by letting Babylon take them into captivity. He lived to see his predictions come true.

Many passages in Jeremiah refer to the five kings he knew. When you see their names, use them as a reference point in figuring out the order of events:

- Josiah (17 years)
- Jehoahaz (3 months)
- Jehoiakim (12 years)
- Jehoiachin (3 months)
- Zedekiah (11 years)

Second Kings 23-25 or 2 Chronicles 34-36 gives an overall historical summary of their reigns. You can read a brief synopsis in "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338. The better you grasp the historical situation Jeremiah lived in, the more insight you will have into his words.

To capture the full emotion of Jeremiah, you may want to read the first few chapters out loud.

1 The words of Jeremiah son of Hilkiah, one of the priests at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. ²The word of the LORD came to him in the thirteenth year of the reign of Josiah son of Amon king of Judah, ³and through the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, down to the fifth month of the eleventh year of Zedekiah son of Josiah king of Judah, when the people of Jerusalem went into exile.

The Call of Jeremiah

⁴The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

⁵"Before I formed you in the womb I knew^a you,

before you were born I set you apart;
I appointed you as a prophet to the nations."

⁶"Ah, Sovereign LORD," I said, "I do not know how to speak; I am only a child."

⁷But the LORD said to me, "Do not say, 'I am only a child.' You must go to everyone I send you to and say whatever I command you. ⁸Do not be afraid of them, for I am with you and will rescue you," declares the LORD.

⁹Then the LORD reached out his hand and touched my mouth and said to me, "Now, I have put my words in your mouth. ¹⁰See, today I appoint you over nations and kingdoms to uproot and tear down, to destroy and overthrow, to build and to plant."

^aOr chose

¹¹The word of the LORD came to me: "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

"I see the branch of an almond tree," I replied.

¹²The LORD said to me, "You have seen correctly, for I am watching^a to see that my word is fulfilled."

¹³The word of the LORD came to me again: "What do you see?"

"I see a boiling pot, tilting away from the north," I answered.

¹⁴The LORD said to me, "From the north disaster will be poured out on all who live in the land. ¹⁵I am about to summon all the peoples of the northern kingdoms," declares the LORD.

"Their kings will come and set up their thrones in the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem; they will come against all her surrounding walls and against all the towns of Judah.

¹⁶I will pronounce my judgments on my people because of their wickedness in forsaking me, in burning incense to other gods and in worshipping what their hands have made

¹⁷"Get yourself ready! Stand up and say to them whatever I command you. Do not be terrified by them, or I will terrify you before them. ¹⁸Today I have made you a fortified city, an iron pillar and a bronze wall to stand against the whole land—against the kings of Judah, its officials, its priests and the people of the land. ¹⁹They will fight against you but will not overcome you, for I am with you and will rescue you," declares the LORD.

Israel Forsakes God

2 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Go and proclaim in the hearing of Jerusalem:

"I remember the devotion of your youth, how as a bride you loved me and followed me through the desert, through a land not sown.

³Israel was holy to the LORD, the firstfruits of his harvest; all who devoured her were held guilty, and disaster overtook them,"

declares the LORD.

⁴Hear the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob, all you clans of the house of Israel.

⁵This is what the LORD says:

"What fault did your fathers find in me, that they strayed so far from me?

They followed worthless idols and became worthless themselves.

⁶They did not ask, "Where is the LORD, who brought us up out of Egypt and led us through the barren wilderness, through a land of deserts and rifts, a land of drought and darkness,"^b a land where no one travels and no one lives?"

⁷I brought you into a fertile land to eat its fruit and rich produce.

But you came and defiled my land and made my inheritance detestable.

⁸The priests did not ask, "Where is the LORD?"

Those who deal with the law did not know me; the leaders rebelled against me.

The prophets prophesied by Baal, following worthless idols.

⁹"Therefore I bring charges against you again," declares the LORD.

"And I will bring charges against your children's children.

¹⁰Cross over to the coasts of Kittim^c and look, send to Kedar^d and observe closely; see if there has ever been anything like this:

¹¹Has a nation ever changed its gods? (Yet they are not gods at all.)

But my people have exchanged their^e Glory for worthless idols.

¹²Be appalled at this, O heavens, and shudder with great horror,"

declares the LORD.

¹³"My people have committed two sins:

They have forsaken me, the spring of living water, and have dug their own cisterns, broken cisterns that cannot hold water.

¹⁴Is Israel a servant, a slave by birth? Why then has he become plunder?

¹⁵Lions have roared; they have growled at him.

They have laid waste his land; his towns are burned and deserted.

¹⁶Also, the men of Memphis^f and Tahpanhes have shaved the crown of your head.^g

¹⁷Have you not brought this on yourselves by forsaking the LORD your God when he led you in the way?

¹⁸Now why go to Egypt to drink water from the Shihor^h?

And why go to Assyria to drink water from the River?

¹⁹Your wickedness will punish you; your backsliding will rebuke you.

2:13 An Astounding Trade

Jeremiah piles image on top of image, searching for a way to express the astounding fact that Israelites had traded the living God for the idols of their neighbors. Here he compares the deed to exchanging a spring of living water for a leaky cistern. In verse 20 he graphically compares idolatry to sexual promiscuity. In an interesting twist, Jesus offered "living water" to a sexually promiscuous Samaritan woman in John 4:10.

Consider then and realize how evil and bitter it is for you when you forsake the Lord your God
and have no awe of me,
declares the Lord, the Lord Almighty.

²⁰"Long ago you broke off your yoke
and tore off your bonds;
you said, 'I will not serve you!'
Indeed, on every high hill
and under every spreading tree
you lay down as a prostitute.

²¹I had planted you like a choice vine
of sound and reliable stock.

How then did you turn against me
into a corrupt, wild vine?

Although you wash yourself with soda
and use an abundance of soap,
the stain of your guilt is still before me,"
declares the Sovereign Lord.

"How can you say, 'I am not defiled;
I have not run after the Baals'?

See how you behaved in the valley;
consider what you have done.

You are a swift she-camel
running here and there,

²⁴a wild donkey accustomed to the desert,
snuffing the wind in her craving—
in her heat who can restrain her?
Any males that pursue her need not tire
themselves,

at mating time they will find her.

²⁵Do not run until your feet are bare and your throat is dry

But you said, 'It's no use!

I love foreign gods,
and I must go after them.'

²⁶"As a thief is disgraced when he is caught,
so the house of Israel is disgraced—

they, their king, and their officials,
their priests and their prophets

²⁷They say to wood, 'You are my father,'
and to stone, 'You gave me birth.'

They have turned their backs to me
and not their faces,

yet when they are in trouble, they say,
'Come and save us!'

²⁸Where then are the gods you made for yourselves?

Let them come if they can save you when you are in trouble!

For you have as many gods
as you have towns, O Judah.

"Why do you bring charges against me?
You have all rebelled against me,"

declares the Lord.

³⁰In vain I punished your people;

they did not respond to correction.

Your sword has devoured your prophets like a ravening lion.

³¹"You of this generation, consider the word of
the Lord:

"Have I been a desert to Israel

or a land of great darkness?

Why do my people say, 'We are free to roam;
we will come to you no more'?

³²Does a maiden forget her jewelry,
a bride her wedding ornaments?

Yet my people have forgotten me,
days without number.

³³How skilled you are at pursuing love!
Even the worst of women can learn from your ways.

³⁴On your clothes men find
the lifeblood of the innocent poor, though you did not catch them breaking in.
Yet in spite of all this ³⁵you say, 'I am innocent;

he is not angry with me.'

But I will pass judgment on you because you say, 'I have not sinned.'

³⁶Why do you go about so much,
changing your ways?

You will be disappointed by Egypt
as you were by Assyria.

³⁷You will also leave that place
with your hands on your head,
for the Lord has rejected those you trust;
you will not be helped by them.

3 "If a man divorces his wife and she leaves him and marries another
man,

should he return to her again?

Would not the land be completely defiled?
But you have lived as a prostitute with many lovers—

would you now return to me?"

declares the Lord.

²²"Look up to the barren heights and see.

Is there any place where you have not been ravished?

By the roadside you sat waiting for lovers,
sat like a nomad^a in the desert.

You have defiled the land

with your prostitution and wickedness.

³Therefore the showers have been withheld,
and no spring rains have fallen.

Yet you have the brazen look of a prostitute;
you refuse to blush with shame.

⁴Have you not just called to me:

'My Father, my friend from my youth,

⁵will you always be angry?

Will your wrath continue forever?"

This is how you talk,

but you do all the evil you can."

Unfaithful Israel

⁶During the reign of King Josiah, the Lord said to me, "Have you seen what faithless Israel has done? She has gone up on every high hill and under every spreading tree and has committed adultery there. ⁷I thought that after she had done all this she would return to me but she did not, and her unfaithful sister Judah saw it. ⁸I gave faithless Israel her certificate of divorce and sent her away because of all her adulteries. Yet I saw that her unfaithful sister Judah had no fear; she also went out and committed adultery. ⁹Because Israel's immorality mattered so little to her, she defiled the land and committed adultery with stone and wood. ¹⁰In spite of all this, her unfaithful sister Judah did not return to me with all her heart, but only in pretense," declares the LORD.

^a Or an Arab

¹¹The LORD said to me, "Faithless Israel is more righteous than unfaithful Judah. ¹²Go, proclaim this message toward the north:

" 'Return, faithless Israel,' declares the LORD,
 'I will frown on you no longer,
 for I am merciful,' declares the LORD,
 'I will not be angry forever.

¹³Only acknowledge your guilt—
 you have rebelled against the LORD your God,

you have scattered your favors to foreign gods
 under every spreading tree,
 and have not obeyed me,"

declares the LORD.

¹⁴"Return, faithless people," declares the LORD,
 "for I am your husband. I will choose you—one from a town and two from a clan—and bring you to Zion. ¹⁵Then I will give you shepherds after my own heart, who will lead you with knowledge and understanding. ¹⁶In those days, when your numbers have increased greatly in the land," declares the LORD, "men will no longer say, 'The ark of the covenant of the LORD.' It will never enter their minds or be remembered; it will not be missed, nor will another one be made. ¹⁷At that time they will call Jerusalem The Throne of the LORD, and all nations will gather in Jerusalem to honor the name of the LORD. No longer will they follow the stubbornness of their evil hearts. ¹⁸In those days the house of Judah will join the house of Israel, and together they will come from a northern land to the land I gave your forefathers as an inheritance.

¹⁹"I myself said,

" 'How gladly would I treat you like sons
 and give you a desirable land,
 the most beautiful inheritance of any nation.'
 I thought you would call me 'Father'
 and not turn away from following me.

²⁰But like a woman unfaithful to her husband,
 so you have been unfaithful to me, O house
 of Israel,"

declares the LORD.

²¹A cry is heard on the barren heights,
 the weeping and pleading of the people of Israel,

because they have perverted their ways

and have forgotten the LORD their God.

²²"Return, faithless people;
 I will cure you of backsliding."

"Yes, we will come to you,
 for you are the LORD our God.

²³Surely the idolatrous, commotion on the hills and mountains is a deception;
 surely in the LORD our God
 is the salvation of Israel.

²⁴From our youth shameful gods have consumed
 the fruits of our fathers' labor—
 their flocks and herds,
 their sons and daughters.

²⁵Let us lie down in our shame,
 and let our disgrace cover us.
 We have sinned against the LORD our God,
 both we and our fathers;
 from our youth till this day
 we have not obeyed the LORD our God."

4 "If you will return, O Israel, return to me,"

declares the LORD.

"If you put your detestable idols out of my sight
 and no longer go astray,

²and if in a truthful, just and righteous way
 you swear, 'As surely as the LORD lives,' then the nations will be blessed by him and in him they will glory."

³This is what the LORD says to the men of Judah
 and to Jerusalem:

"Break up your unplowed ground
 and do not sow among thorns.

⁴Circumcise yourselves to the LORD,
 circumcise your hearts,
 you men of Judah and people of Jerusalem,
 or my wrath will break out and burn like fire
 because of the evil you have done—
 burn with no one to quench it.

Disaster From the North

⁵"Announce in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem and say:

'Sound the trumpet throughout the land!
 Cry aloud and say:

'Gather together!
 Let us flee to the fortified cities!'

⁶Raise the signal to go to Zion!
 Flee for safety without delay!
 For I am bringing disaster from the north,
 even terrible destruction."

⁷A lion has come out of his lair;
 a destroyer of nations has set out.

He has left his place
 to lay waste your land.

Your towns will lie in ruins
 without inhabitant.

⁸So put on sackcloth,
 lament and wail,
 for the fierce anger of the LORD
 has not turned away from us.

⁹"In that day," declares the LORD,

3:10 A Superficial Change

King Josiah, one of the few good kings in Judah's history, led a massive religious reform (see 2 Kings 22 and 23). While Josiah was unquestionably sincere, Jeremiah saw that the nation's return to God wasn't. Jeremiah's accusation was borne out after King Josiah's death: Judah returned quickly to her former ways.

"the king and the officials will lose heart,
the priests will be horrified
and the prophets will be appalled."

¹⁰Then I said, "Ah, Sovereign LORD, how completely you have deceived this people and Jerusalem by saying, 'You will have peace,' when the sword is at our throats."

¹¹At that time this people and Jerusalem will be told, "A scorching wind from the barren heights in the desert blows toward my people, but not to winnow or cleanse; ¹²a wind too strong for that comes from me.^{*} Now I pronounce my judgments against them

¹³Look! He advances like the clouds, his chariots come like a whirlwind,
his horses are swifter than eagles.

Woe to us! We are ruined!

¹⁴O Jerusalem, wash the evil from your heart and be saved

How long will you harbor wicked thoughts?

¹⁵A voice is announcing from Dan, proclaiming disaster from the hills of Ephraim

¹⁶Tell this to the nations,
proclaim it to Jerusalem:

A besieging army is coming from a distant
land

raising a war cry against the cities of Judah.

¹⁷They surround her like men guarding a field,
because she has rebelled against me,"

declares the LORD.

¹⁸Your own conduct and actions
have brought this upon you.

This is your punishment

How bitter it is!

How it pierces to the heart!"

¹⁹Oh, my anguish, my anguish!
I writhe in pain.

Oh, the agony of my heart!
My heart pounds within me,
I cannot keep silent

For I have heard the sound of the trumpet;
I have heard the battle cry

²⁰Disaster follows disaster,
the whole land lies in ruins.

In an instant my tents are destroyed,
my shelter in a moment.

²¹How long must I see the battle standard and hear the sound of the trumpet?

²²"My people are fools;
they do not know me
They are senseless children;
they have no understanding
They are skilled in doing evil;
they know not how to do good."

²³I looked at the earth,
and it was formless and empty;
and at the heavens,
and their light was gone

²⁴I looked at the mountains, and they were quaking;
all the hills were swaying.

²⁵I looked, and there were no people;
every bird in the sky had flown away.

²⁶I looked, and the fruitful land was a desert;
all its towns lay in ruins
before the LORD, before his fierce anger.

²⁷This is what the LORD says:

"The whole land will be ruined,
though I will not destroy it completely.

²⁸Therefore the earth will mourn
and the heavens above grow dark,
because I have spoken and will not relent,
I have decided and will not turn back."

²⁹At the sound of horsemen and archers
every town takes to flight.

Some go into the thickets;
some climb up among the rocks.
All the towns are deserted;
no one lives in them.

³⁰What are you doing, O devastated one?

Why dress yourself in scarlet and put on jewels of gold?

Why shade your eyes with paint?
You adorn yourself in vain.

Your lovers despise you;
they seek your life.

³¹I hear a cry as of a woman in labor,
a groan as of one bearing her first child—
the cry of the Daughter of Zion gasping for breath,

stretching out her hands and saying,

"Alas! I am fainting;

my life is given over to murderers."

Not One Is Upright

5 "Go up and down the streets of Jerusalem, look around and consider,
search through her squares.

If you can find but one person who deals honestly and seeks the truth,
I will forgive this city.

²Although they say, 'As surely as the LORD
lives,'

4:23 Return to the Void

Jeremiah used words from Genesis 1:2 to describe the effect of the Israelites' sin. It was as though the Israelites were carrying the earth back to the chaos before creation, destroying all the beauty and order God had made.

5:1 Search for an Honest Person

In Genesis 18:22-33, Abraham tried to convince God not to destroy Sodom and Gomorrah if as many as ten righteous people could be found. God agreed, but evidently the ten did not exist. Here, God offers to forgive Jerusalem if a single honest person can be found. God's people had sunk to Sodom's level (23:14).

^{*}12 Or comes at my command

still they are swearing falsely."

¹⁰O LORD, do not your eyes look for truth?
You struck them, but they felt no pain,
you crushed them, but they refused correction.

They made their faces harder than stone and refused to repent.

⁴¹I thought, "These are only the poor;
they are foolish,
for they do not know the way of the LORD,
the requirements of their God."

⁵So I will go to the leaders and speak to them;
surely they know the way of the LORD,
the requirements of their God."

But with one accord they too had broken off
the yoke

and torn off the bonds

⁶Therefore a lion from the forest will attack
them,

a wolf from the desert will ravage them,
a leopard will lie in wait near their towns
to tear to pieces any who venture out,

for their rebellion is great and their backslidings many ⁷"Why should I forgive you?

Your children have forsaken me
and sworn by gods that are not gods.

I supplied all their needs,
yet they committed adultery
and thronged to the houses of prostitutes.

INSIGHT

A Lover's Quarrel

The violent emotions of a scorned lover

"You have lived as a prostitute with many lovers—would you now return to me?" declares the LORD. 3:1

The disturbance comes late in the night when most of the villagers are sleeping. They are aroused by shouting and screaming. Neighbors rush to the hut where the noise is heard, and see a man beating his wife.

They hesitate to interfere in a scuffle between husband and wife, but the woman is screaming for help. As the neighbors restrain the angry husband, they learn the reason for this lover's quarrel: the husband believes his wife has been unfaithful.

He is convinced that the most precious, desired gift anyone can offer has been abused: love has been betrayed.

Lovers often react to unfaithfulness with intense emotions—emotions that can lead to violence and even murder.

Words that Tear His Heart

It is a lovers' quarrel that Jeremiah exposes in chapters 2 and 3, and the emotions are violent and helpless. Again and again God makes his charge against Judah. Of all the nations, he had picked her; he had tenderly offered his protection and care. But she keeps sleeping with other men. He warns her again and again, but she ignores him. She saw how he divorced her sister Israel. Doesn't she know he will do the same to her?

God's words bleed pain. He accuses as though he cannot help himself, although his words tear his own heart. First, he is tender, full of memories: "I remember . . . how as a bride you loved me and followed me through the desert" (2:2). But then, you "tore off your bonds; you said, 'I will not serve you!' Indeed, on every high hill and under every spreading tree you lay down as a prostitute" (2:20). In disgust God compares Judah to a donkey in heat, "sniffing the wind in her craving. . . . Any males that pursue her need not tire themselves" (2:24). But the comparison hurts him more than her. His love, not hers, is scorned.

Married to a Whore

The prophet Hosea was the first to draw the picture of God married to a prostitute. Jeremiah amplifies it. The comparison cries out both the passionate love God feels for his people and the terrible, wounded pain he feels at their betrayal. Jeremiah's imagery is violent and dark, but underneath it, something wonderful shines out: the tender and personal love of God for his people.

The "adultery" Jeremiah wrote about focuses on the worship of idols. Most modern people find it hard to understand why Israelites felt any impulse to kneel before wooden or metal statues, or why their doing so made God furious. But when Jeremiah refers to it as adultery, God's hatred of idolatry becomes understandable. God meant his people to have only one true love in their lives—God himself. God the lover will not take second place; he refuses to "share" his bride.

Life Questions: Have you ever fought with God? What issues were you fighting about?

"They are well fed, lusty stallions,
each neighing for another man's wife;
should I not punish them for this?"

— the LORD

"Should I not avenge myself
on such a nation as this?"

— through her vineyards and ravage them;
I will not destroy them completely,
— the branches

for these people do not belong to the LORD.
The house of Israel and the house of Judah have been utterly unfaithful to me."

— declares the LORD

They have lied about the LORD
they said, "He will do nothing."

No harm will come to us

we will never see sword or famine

the prophets are but wind

and the word is not in them and what they say be done to them."

"Therefore this is what the LORD God Almighty

Because the people have spoken these words,
I will make my words in your mouth a fire
and these people the wood it consumes.
"House of Israel," declares the LORD,
I am bringing a distant nation against

you

an ancient and enduring nation,

a people whose language you do not know,

whose speech you do not understand

The quivers are like an open grave,

and all of them are mighty warriors

They will devour your harvests and food,

devour your sons and daughters,

they will devour your flocks and herds,

devour your vines and fig trees

With the sword they will destroy the fortified cities in which you trust

"Yet even in those days," declares the LORD,
I will not destroy you completely. ¹⁹And when the people ask, "Why has the LORD our God done all this to us?" you will tell them, "As you have forsaken me and served foreign gods in your own land, so now you will serve foreigners in a land not your own."

²⁰"Announce this to the house of Jacob and proclaim it in Judah

²¹Hear this, you foolish and senseless people, who have eyes but do not see,
who have ears but do not hear:

²²"Should you not fear me?" declares the LORD.
"Should you not tremble in my presence?"

I made the sand a boundary for the sea,
an everlasting barrier it cannot cross.

The waves may roll, but they cannot prevail;
they may roar, but they cannot cross it.

²³But these people have stubborn and rebellious hearts,

they have turned aside and gone away.

²⁴They do not say to themselves,

"Let us fear the LORD our God,

who gives autumn and spring rains in season,

who assures us of the regular weeks of harvest."

²⁵Your wrongdoings have kept these away;
your sins have deprived you of good.

²⁶"Among my people are wicked men who lie in wait like men who snare birds and like those who set traps to catch men.

²⁷Like cages full of birds,
their houses are full of deceit;
they have become rich and powerful

²⁸and have grown fat and sleek.

Their evil deeds have no limit,

they do not plead the case of the fatherless
to win it.

they do not defend the rights of the poor

²⁹"Should I not punish them for this?"
declares the LORD

"Should I not avenge myself
on such a nation as this?"

³⁰"A horrible and shocking thing
has happened in the land:

³¹The prophets prophesy lies,
the priests rule by their own authority,
and my people love it this way.
But what will you do in the end?"

Jerusalem Under Siege

6 "Flee for safety, people of Benjamin!
Flee from Jerusalem!

Sound the trumpet in Tekoa!

Raise the signal over Beth Hakkerem!

For disaster looms out of the north,
even terrible destruction.

²I will destroy the Daughter of Zion,
so beautiful and delicate.

³Shepherds with their flocks will come against
her;

they will pitch their tents around her,
each tending his own portion."

⁴"Prepare for battle against her!

Arise, let us attack at noon!

But, alas, the daylight is fading,
and the shadows of evening grow long.

⁵So arise, let us attack at night and destroy her fortresses!"

⁶This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Cut down the trees

and build siege ramps against Jerusalem.

This city must be punished;

it is filled with oppression.

⁷As a well pours out its water,
so she pours out her wickedness.

Violence and destruction resound in her;
her sickness and wounds are ever before me.

⁸Take warning, O Jerusalem, or I will turn away from you^a
and make your land desolate
so no one can live in it."

⁹This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Let them glean the remnant of Israel

as thoroughly as a vine;

pass your hand over the branches again,

like one gathering grapes."

¹⁰To whom can I speak and give warning?

Who will listen to me?

Their ears are closed^a

so they cannot hear.

The word of the LORD is offensive to them;

they find no pleasure in it.

¹¹But I am full of the wrath of the LORD,

and I cannot hold it in.

Pour it out on the children in the street
and on the young men gathered together;

both husband and wife will be caught in it,

and the old, those weighed down with

years.

¹²Their houses will be turned over to others,

together with their fields and their wives,

when I stretch out my hand against those who live in the land,"

declares the LORD.

¹³From the least to the greatest,

all are greedy for gain;

prophets and priests alike,

all practice deceit.

¹⁴They dress the wound of my people

as though it were not serious.

'Peace, peace,' they say,

when there is no peace.

¹⁵Are they ashamed of their loathsome conduct?

No, they have no shame at all.

they do not even know how to blush.

So they will fall among the fallen;

they will be brought down when I punish

them,"

says the LORD.

¹⁶This is what the LORD says:

'Stand at the crossroads and look;

ask for the ancient paths,

ask where the good way is, and walk in it,

and you will find rest for your souls.

But you said, 'We will not walk in it.'

¹⁷I appointed watchmen over you and said,

'Listen to the sound of the trumpet!'

But you said, 'We will not listen.'

¹⁸Therefore hear, O nations;

observe, O witnesses,

what will happen to them.

¹⁹Hear, O earth:

I am bringing disaster on this people,

the fruit of their schemes,

because they have not listened to my words

and have rejected my law.

²⁰What do I care about incense from Sheba

or sweet calamus from a distant land?

Your burnt offerings are not acceptable;

your sacrifices do not please me."

²¹Therefore this is what the LORD says:

'I will put obstacles before this people.

Fathers and sons alike will stumble over

them,

neighbors and friends will perish."

²²This is what the LORD says:

"Look, an army is coming from the land of the north;

a great nation is being stirred up from the ends of the earth.

²³They are armed with bow and spear;

they are cruel and show no mercy.

They sound like the roaring sea

as they ride on their horses,

they come like men in battle formation

to attack you, O Daughter of Zion."

²⁴We have heard reports about them, and our hands hang limp.

Anguish has gripped us,

pain like that of a woman in labor.

²⁵Do not go out to the fields

or walk on the roads,

for the enemy has a sword,

and there is terror on every side.

²⁶O my people, put on sackcloth

and roll in ashes,

mourn with bitter wailing

as for an only son,

for suddenly the destroyer

will come upon us.

²⁷"I have made you a tester of metals

and my people the ore,

that you may observe and test their ways.

²⁸They are all hardened rebels,

going about to slander.

They are bronze and iron;

they all act corruptly.

²⁹The bellows blow fiercely

to burn away the lead with fire,

but the refining goes on in vain;

the wicked are not purged out.

³⁰They are called rejected silver,

because the LORD has rejected them."

False Religion Worthless

7 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²"Stand at the gate of the LORD's house and there proclaim this message:

"Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who come through these gates to worship the LORD. ³This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Reform your ways and your actions, and I will let you live in this place. ⁴Do not trust in deceptive words and say, 'This is the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD!' ⁵If you really change your ways and your actions and deal with each other justly, ⁶if you do not oppress the alien, the fatherless or the widow and do not shed innocent blood in this place, and if you do not follow other gods to your own harm, ⁷then I will let you live in this place, in the land I gave your forefathers for ever and ever. ⁸But look, you are trusting in deceptive words that are worthless.

⁹"Will you steal and murder, commit adultery and perjury,^b burn incense to Baal and follow other gods you have not known, ¹⁰and then come and stand before me in this house, which bears my

^b9 Or and swear by false gods

Name, and say, "We are safe"—safe to do all these detestable things? ¹¹Has this house, which bears my Name, become a den of robbers to you? But I have been watching! declares the LORD.

¹²"Go now to the place in Shiloh where I first made a dwelling for my Name, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel.

¹³While you were doing all these things, declares the LORD, I spoke to you again and again, but you did not listen, I called you, but you did not answer.

¹⁴Therefore, what I did to Shiloh I will now do to the house that bears my Name, the temple you trust in, the place I gave to you and your fathers.

¹⁵I will thrust you from my presence, just as I did all your brothers, the people of Ephraim.'

¹⁶"So do not pray for this people nor offer any plea or petition for them; do not plead with me, for I will not listen to you. ¹⁷Do you not see what they are doing in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? ¹⁸The children gather wood, the fathers light the fire, and the women knead the dough and make cakes of bread for the Queen of Heaven. They pour out drink offerings to other gods to provoke me to anger. ¹⁹But am I the one they are provoking? declares the LORD. Are they not rather harming themselves, to their own shame?

²⁰"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: My anger and my wrath will be poured out on this place, on man and beast, on the trees of the field and on the fruit of the ground, and it will burn and not be quenched

²¹"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Go ahead, add your burnt offerings to your other sacrifices and eat the meat yourselves! ²²For when I brought your forefathers out of Egypt and spoke to them, I did not just give them commands about burnt offerings and sacrifices, ²³but I gave them this command: Obey me, and I will be your God and you will be my people. Walk in all the ways I command you, that it may go well with you. ²⁴But they did not listen or pay attention; instead, they followed the stubborn inclinations of their evil hearts. They went backward and not forward. ²⁵From the time your forefathers left Egypt until now, day after day, again and again I sent you my servants the prophets. ²⁶But they did not listen to me or pay attention. They were stiff-necked and did more evil than their forefathers.'

²⁷When you tell them all this, they will not listen to you; when you call to them, they will not answer. ²⁸Therefore say to them, 'This is the nation that has not obeyed the LORD its God or responded to correction. Truth has perished; it has vanished from their lips. ²⁹Cut off your hair and throw it away; take up a lament on the barren heights, for the LORD has rejected and abandoned this generation that is under his wrath.

The Valley of Slaughter

³⁰"The people of Judah have done evil in my eyes, declares the LORD. They have set up their detestable idols in the house that bears my Name and have defiled it. ³¹They have built the high places of Topheth in the Valley of Ben Hinnom to burn their sons and daughters in the fire—something I did not command, nor did it enter my mind. ³²So beware, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when people will no longer call it Topheth or the Valley of Ben Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter, for they will bury the dead in Topheth until there is no more room. ³³Then the carcasses of this people will become food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth, and there will be no one to frighten them away. ³⁴I will bring an end to the sounds of joy and gladness and to the voices of bride and bridegroom in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, for the land will become desolate

8 "At that time, declares the LORD, the bones of the kings and officials of Judah, the bones of the priests and prophets, and the bones of the people of Jerusalem will be removed from their graves. ²They will be exposed to the sun and the moon and all the stars of the heavens, which they have loved and served and which they have followed and consulted and worshiped. They will not be gathered up or buried, but will be like refuse lying on the ground. ³Wherever I banish them, all the survivors of this evil nation will prefer death to life, declares the LORD Almighty.'

Sin and Punishment

⁴"Say to them, 'This is what the LORD says:

" 'When men fall down, do they not get up?
When a man turns away, does he not return?

⁵Why then have these people turned away?
Why does Jerusalem always turn away?

They cling to deceit;
they refuse to return.

⁶I have listened attentively,
but they do not say what is right.
No one repents of his wickedness,
saying, "What have I done?"

Each pursues his own course
like a horse charging into battle.

⁷Even the stork in the sky knows her appointed seasons,
and the dove, the swift and the thrush—
observe the time of their migration.
But my people do not know
the requirements of the LORD.

⁸"How can you say, "We are wise,
for we have the law of the LORD,"
when actually the lying pen of the scribes has handled it falsely?

7:11 A Den of Robbers

Israelites of Jeremiah's time felt they were safe from invasion as long as they had the temple. After all, they thought, God would not let his home be destroyed (7:4). But the Lord, through Jeremiah, said that the temple had become "a den of robbers" and would be demolished. In Jeremiah's lifetime this prediction came true. Jesus quoted the reference to a den of robbers when driving out moneychangers from the rebuilt temple (Mark 11:17).

"The wise will be put to shame,
they will be dismayed and trapped
Since they have rejected the word of the LORD,
what kind of wisdom do they have?
Therefore I will give their wives to other men and their fields to new owners from the least to the greatest,
all are greedy for gain,
prophets and priests alike,
all practice deceit

11 They dress the wound of my people
as though it were not serious
"Peace, peace," they say,
when there is no peace
12 Are they ashamed of their loathsome conduct?
No, they have no shame at all,
they do not even know how to blush
So they will fall among the fallen,
they will be brought down when they are punished,

says the LORD

13 "I will take away their harvest,
declares the LORD
There will be no grapes on the vine,
there will be no figs on the tree,
and their leaves will wither
What I have given them will be taken from them."

14 "Why are we sitting here?
Gather together!
Let us flee to the fortified cities
and perish there!
For the LORD our God has doomed us to perish
and given us poisoned water to drink,
because we have sinned against him.

15 We hoped for peace
but no good has come,
for a time of healing
but there was only terror.
16 The snorting of the enemy's horses
is heard from Dan;
at the neighing of their stallions
the whole land trembles.
They have come to devour
the land and everything in it,
the city and all who live there."

17 "See, I will send venomous snakes among you, vipers that cannot be charmed,
and they will bite you,"
declares the LORD.

18 O my Comforter^b in sorrow,
my heart is faint within me.

19 Listen to the cry of my people from a land far away:
"Is the LORD not in Zion?
Is her King no longer there?"

"Why have they provoked me to anger with their images,
with their worthless foreign idols?"

20 "The harvest is past,
the summer has ended,

and we are not saved."

"Is there no fig on the tree?
I hunger, and hunger grips me
Is there no pomegranate in the land?
Is there no honey or oil?
For the wound of my people?

9 "Oh, that I had a dwelling of peace and my eyes a constant dwelling
I would weep day and night for the slain of my people
"Oh, that I had in the desert
a lodging place for travelers,
so that I might leave my people and go away from them
for they are all adulterers,
a crowd of unfaithful people

7 "They make ready their tongue like a bow, to shoot lies,
it is not by truth
that they triumph in the land
They go from one sin to another;
they do not acknowledge me,"
declares the LORD

4 "Beware of your friends;
do not trust your brothers.
For every brother is a deceiver,
and every friend a slanderer Friend deceives friend,
and no one speaks the truth
They have taught their tongues to lie,
they weary themselves with sinning 6 "You live in the midst of deception, in their deceit they refuse to acknowledge
me,"
declares the LORD.

7 Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says:

"See, I will refine and test them,
for what else can I do
because of the sin of my people?
5 Their tongue is a deadly arrow;
it speaks with deceit.
With his mouth each speaks cordially to his neighbor,

9:1 A Fountain of Tears

Jeremiah never stood aside like a stern moralist, enjoying others' well-deserved sufferings. He felt the bitterness of the judgment he announced. "Since my people are crushed, I am crushed; I mourn, and horror grips me" (8:21). In the end, Jeremiah swallowed the bitter medicine of exile like the others.

Jeremiah reminds us of another "man of sorrows." Like Jesus, Jeremiah wept over Jerusalem. Like Jesus, he was rejected by his own hometown (11:18-23). Jeremiah even compared himself to a lamb led to the slaughter (11:19), language that would later be applied to Jesus sacrifice for our sins.

⁶6 That is, Jeremiah (the Hebrew is singular)

but in his heart he sets a trap for him.

⁹Should I not punish them for this?"

declares the LORD

"Should I not avenge myself
on such a nation as this?"

¹⁰I will weep and wail for the mountains and take up a lament concerning the desert pastures.

They are desolate and untraveled,
and the lowing of cattle is not heard.
The birds of the air have fled and the animals are gone.

¹¹"I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins,
a haunt of jackals;
and I will lay waste the towns of Judah
so no one can live there."

¹²What man is wise enough to understand this?
Who has been instructed by the LORD and can explain it? Why has the land been ruined and laid waste like a desert that no one can cross?

¹³The LORD said, "It is because they have forsaken my law, which I set before them; they have not obeyed me or followed my law. ¹⁴Instead, they have followed the stubbornness of their hearts;
they have followed the Baals, as their fathers taught them." ¹⁵Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "See, I will make this people eat bitter food and drink poisoned water. ¹⁶I will scatter them among nations that neither they nor their fathers have known, and I will pursue them with the sword until I have destroyed them."

¹⁷This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Consider now! Call for the wailing women to come;

send for the most skillful of them.

¹⁸Let them come quickly and wail over us

till our eyes overflow with tears
and water streams from our eyelids

¹⁹The sound of wailing is heard from Zion:

'How ruined we are!

How great is our shame!

We must leave our land

because our houses are in ruins.' "

²⁰Now, O women, hear the word of the LORD;

open your ears to the words of his mouth.

Teach your daughters how to wail;
teach one another a lament.

²¹Death has climbed in through our windows and has entered our fortresses;

it has cut off the children from the streets
and the young men from the public squares.

²²Say, "This is what the LORD declares:

"The dead bodies of men will lie
like refuse on the open field,
like cut grain behind the reaper,
with no one to gather them.' "

²³This is what the LORD says:

"Let not the wise man boast of his wisdom

or the strong man boast of his strength

or the rich man boast of his riches,

²⁴but let him who boasts boast about this:

that he understands and knows me,

that I am the LORD, who exercises kindness,

justice and righteousness on earth,

for in these I delight,"

declares the LORD.

²⁵"The days are coming," declares the LORD,
"when I will punish all who are circumcised only in the flesh— ²⁶Egypt, Judah, Edom, Ammon, Moab and all who live in the desert in distant places." For all these nations are really uncircumcised, and even the whole house of Israel is uncircumcised in heart."

God and Idols

10 Hear what the LORD says to you, O house of Israel. ²This is what the LORD says:

"Do not learn the ways of the nations
or be terrified by signs in the sky,
though the nations are terrified by them.

³For the customs of the peoples are worthless;
they cut a tree out of the forest,
and a craftsman shapes it with his chisel.

⁴They adorn it with silver and gold;
they fasten it with hammer and nails
so it will not totter.

⁵Like a scarecrow in a melon patch,
their idols cannot speak;

they must be carried
because they cannot walk.

Do not fear them;
they can do no harm
nor can they do any good."

⁶No one is like you, O LORD;
you are great,
and your name is mighty in power.

⁷Who should not revere you,
O King of the nations?
This is your due.

Among all the wise men of the nations
and in all their kingdoms,
there is no one like you.

⁸They are all senseless and foolish;
they are taught by worthless wooden idols.

⁹Hammered silver is brought from Tarshish and gold from Uphaz.

What the craftsman and goldsmith have made is then dressed in blue and purple—
all made by skilled workers.

¹⁰But the LORD is the true God;
he is the living God, the eternal King.
When he is angry, the earth trembles;
the nations cannot endure his wrath.

¹¹"Tell them this: 'These gods, who did not make the heavens and the earth, will perish from the earth and from under the heavens.' "

¹²But God made the earth by his power;
he founded the world by his wisdom
and stretched out the heavens by his
understanding.

²⁶ Or desert and who clip the hair by their foreheads

JEREMIAH 10:13

13When he thunders, the waters in the heavens
roar,
he makes clouds rise from the ends of the
earth
He sends lightning with the rain
and brings out the wind from his
storehouses

14Everyone is senseless and without knowledge;
every goldsmith is shamed by his idols.
His images are a fraud,
they have no breath in them.

15They are worthless, the objects of mockery;
when their judgment comes, they will
perish

16He who is the Portion of Jacob is not like these,
for he is the Maker of all things,
including Israel, the tribe of his inheritance—
the LORD Almighty is his name

Coming Destruction

17Gather up your belongings to leave the land,
you who live under siege

18For this is what the LORD says:
At this time I will hurl out
those who live in this land;
I will bring distress on them
so that they may be captured."

19Woe to me because of my injury!
My wound is incurable!
Yet I said to myself,
"This is my sickness, and I must endure it."

20My tent is destroyed,
all its ropes are snapped.
My sons are gone from me and are no more;
no one is left now to pitch my tent
or to set up my shelter

21The shepherds are senseless
and do not inquire of the LORD;
so they do not prosper
and all their flock is scattered.

22Listen! The report is coming—a great commotion from the land of the north!

It will make the towns of Judah desolate,
a haunt of jackals

Jeremiah's Prayer

23I know, O LORD, that a man's life is not his own;

it is not for man to direct his steps.

24Correct me, LORD, but only with justice—
not in your anger,
lest you reduce me to nothing

25Pour out your wrath on the nations that do not acknowledge you, on the peoples who do not call on your
name

For they have devoured Jacob;
they have devoured him completely and destroyed his homeland.

The Covenant Is Broken

11 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: 2"Listen to the terms of this covenant and tell them to the people of Judah and to those who live in Jerusalem. 3Tell them that this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'Cursed is the man who does not obey the terms of this covenant—the terms I commanded your forefathers

when I brought them out of Egypt, out of the ironsmelting furnace.' I said, 'Obey me and do everything I command you, and you will be my people, and I will be your God. 5Then I will fulfill the oath
I swore to your forefathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey'—the land you possess today."

I answered, "Amen, LORD."

6The LORD said to me, "Proclaim all these words in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: 'Listen to the terms of this covenant and follow them. 7From the time I brought your forefathers up from Egypt until today, I warned them again and again, saying, "Obey me." 8But they did not listen or pay attention, instead, they followed the stubbornness of their evil hearts. So I brought on them all the curses of the covenant I had commanded them to follow but that they did not keep.'"

9Then the LORD said to me, "There is a conspiracy among the people of Judah and those who live in Jerusalem. 10They have returned to the sins of their forefathers, who refused to listen to my words. They have followed other gods to serve them. Both the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken the covenant I made with their forefathers. 11Therefore this is what the LORD says:
'I will bring on them a disaster they cannot escape.
Although they cry out to me, I will not listen to them. 12The towns of Judah and the people of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to whom they burn incense, but they will not help them at all when disaster strikes. 13You have as many gods
as you have towns, O Judah; and the altars you have set up to burn incense to that shameful god
Baal are as many as the streets of Jerusalem.'

14"Do not pray for this people nor offer any plea or petition for them, because I will not listen when they call to me in the time of their distress.

15"What is my beloved doing in my temple as she works out her evil schemes with many?

Can consecrated meat avert your
punishment?

When you engage in your wickedness,
then you rejoice."

16The LORD called you a thriving olive tree with fruit beautiful in form.

But with the roar of a mighty storm
he will set it on fire,
and its branches will be broken.

17The LORD Almighty, who planted you, has decreed disaster for you, because the house of Israel and the house of Judah have done evil and provoked me to anger by burning incense to Baal.

Plot Against Jeremiah

18Because the LORD revealed their plot to me, I

^a15 Or Could consecrated meat avert your punishment? / Then you would rejoice knew it, for at that time he showed me what they were doing. ¹⁴I had been like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter; I did not realize that they had plotted against me, saying,

Let us destroy the tree and its fruit;
let us cut him off from the land of the living,
that his name be remembered no more."

²⁰But, O LORD Almighty, you who judge righteously and test the heart and mind,
let me see your vengeance upon them,
for to you I have committed my cause.

"Therefore this is what the LORD says about the men of Anathoth who are seeking your life and saying, 'Do not prophesy in the name of the LORD or you will die by our hands'—²²therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says: 'I will punish them. Their young men will die by the sword, their sons and daughters by famine. ²³Not even a remnant will be left to them, because I will bring disaster on the men of Anathoth in the year of their punish-

Jeremiah's Complaint

12 I am always righteous, O LORD,
when I bring a case before you.
Yet I would speak with you about your justice:
Why does the way of the wicked prosper?
Why do all the faithless live at ease?
You have planted them, and they have taken root,
they grow and bear fruit.
You are always on their lips
but far from their hearts.
Yet you know me, O LORD,
you see me and test my thoughts about you.
Drag them off like sheep to be butchered!
Set them apart for the day of slaughter!
How long will the land lie parched and the grass in every field be withered?
Because those who live in it are wicked,
the animals and birds have perished.
Moreover, the people are saying,
"He will not see what happens to us."

God's Answer

"If you have raced with men on foot
and they have worn you out,
how can you compete with horses?
If you stumble in safe country,^a
how will you manage in the thickets by the Jordan?
⁶Your brothers, your own family—

even they have betrayed you;
they have raised a loud cry against you.
Do not trust them,
though they speak well of you.

⁷"I will forsake my house,
abandon my inheritance;
I will give the one I love
into the hands of her enemies.
⁸My inheritance has become to me
like a lion in the forest.
She roars at me;
therefore I hate her.
⁹Has not my inheritance become to me like a speckled bird of prey
that other birds of prey surround and attack?
Go and gather all the wild beasts;
bring them to devour.
¹⁰Many shepherds will ruin my vineyard and trample down my field;
they will turn my pleasant field
into a desolate wasteland.
¹¹It will be made a wasteland,
parched and desolate before me;
the whole land will be laid waste
because there is no one who cares.
¹²Over all the barren heights in the desert destroyers will swarm,
for the sword of the LORD will devour
from one end of the land to the other;
no one will be safe.
¹³They will sow wheat but reap thorns;
they will wear themselves out but gain nothing.
So bear the shame of your harvest
because of the LORD's fierce anger."

¹⁴This is what the LORD says: "As for all my wicked neighbors who seize the inheritance I gave my people Israel, I will uproot them from their lands and I will uproot the house of Judah from among them. ¹⁵But after I uproot them, I will again have compassion and will bring each of them back to his own inheritance and his own country. ¹⁶And if they learn well the ways of my people and swear by my name, saying, 'As surely as the LORD lives'—even as they once taught my people to swear by Baal—then they will be established among my people. ¹⁷But if any nation does not listen, I will completely uproot and destroy it," declares the LORD.

A Linen Belt

13 This is what the LORD said to me: "Go and buy a linen belt and put it around your waist, but do not let it touch water." ²So I bought a

11:23 Hometown Enemies

Jeremiah's life was endangered several times because of his message. On this occasion, men from his hometown were plotting against him. Though Jeremiah was completely unprepared for their attack, God protected him. Other prophets, however, had been killed (2:30).

12:16 Hope for the Gentiles

Through most of the Old Testament, Israel's Gentile neighbors seem to have no part in God's plan. Here, though, God clearly promises them his salvation.

^a Or land mourn

^b Or If you put your trust in a land of safety

^c Or the flooding of belt, as the LORD directed, and put it around my waist.

⁴Then the word of the LORD came to me a second time: ⁴"Take the belt you bought and are wearing around your waist, and go now to Perath^a and hide it there in a crevice in the rocks." ⁵So I went and hid it at Perath, as the LORD told me.

⁶Many days later the LORD said to me, "Go now to Perath and get the belt I told you to hide there." ⁷So I went to Perath and dug up the belt and took it from the place where I had hidden it, but now it was ruined and completely useless.

⁸Then the word of the LORD came to me: ⁹"This is what the LORD says: 'In the same way I will ruin the pride of Judah and the great pride of Jerusalem. ¹⁰These wicked people, who refuse to listen to my words, who follow the stubbornness of their hearts and go after other gods to serve and worship them, will be like this belt—completely useless! ¹¹For as a belt is bound around a man's waist, so I bound the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah to me,' declares the LORD, 'to be my people for my renown and praise and honor. But they have not listened.'

Wineskins

¹²"Say to them: 'This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Every wineskin should be filled with wine.' And if they say to you, 'Don't we know that every wineskin should be filled with wine?' ¹³then tell them, 'This is what the LORD says: I am going to fill with drunkenness all who live in this land, including the kings who sit on David's throne, the priests, the prophets and all those living in Jerusalem. ¹⁴I will smash them one against the other, fathers and sons alike, declares the LORD. I will allow no pity or mercy or compassion to keep me from destroying them.'

Threat of Captivity

¹⁵Hear and pay attention,
do not be arrogant,
for the LORD has spoken.

¹⁶Give glory to the LORD your God
before he brings the darkness, before your feet stumble
on the darkening hills.

You hope for light,
but he will turn it to thick darkness
and change it to deep gloom.

¹⁷But if you do not listen,
I will weep in secret
because of your pride;
my eyes will weep bitterly,
overflowing with tears,
because the LORD's flock will be taken captive.

¹⁸Say to the king and to the queen mother,
"Come down from your thrones,
for your glorious crowns
will fall from your heads."

¹⁹The cities in the Negev will be shut up,
and there will be no one to open them.
All Judah will be carried into exile,

carried completely away.

²⁰I'll fill up your eyes and see those who are coming from the north Where is the flock that was entrusted to you,
the sheep of your pasture?

²¹What will you say when the LORD asks you
you

those you cultivated as your special flock?
Will not pain grip you like that of a woman in labor?

²²And if you ask yourself,
"Why has this happened to me?"—

It is because of your many sins that your skirts have been torn off
and your body mistreated.

²³Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard its spots?

Neither can you do good
who are accustomed to doing evil.

²⁴"I will scatter you like chaff driven by the desert wind.

²⁵This is your lot,
the portion I have decreed for you,"
declares the LORD,

"because you have forgotten me
and trusted in false gods.

²⁶I will pull up your skirts over your face that your shame may be seen—

²⁷your adulteries and lustful runnings,
your shameless prostitution!

I have seen your detestable acts
on the hills and in the fields.

Woe to you, O Jerusalem!
How long will you be unclean?"

Drought, Famine, Sword

14 This is the word of the LORD to Jeremiah concerning the drought.

²"Judah mourns,
her cities languish;
they wail for the land,
and a cry goes up from Jerusalem.

³The nobles send their servants for water;
they go to the cisterns
but find no water.

They return with their jars unfilled;
dismayed and despairing,
they cover their heads.

⁴The ground is cracked
because there is no rain in the land,
the farmers are dismayed
and cover their heads.

⁵Even the doe in the field deserts her newborn fawn
because there is no grass.

⁶Wild donkeys stand on the barren heights and pant like jackals;
their eyesight fails
for lack of pasture."

⁷Although our sins testify against us, O LORD, do something for the sake of your
name.

For our backsliding is great;

we have sinned against you.

⁹O Hope of Israel,
its Savior in times of distress,
why are you like a stranger in the land,
like a traveler who stays only a night?
⁹Why are you like a man taken by surprise,
like a warrior powerless to save?
You are among us, O LORD,
and we bear your name;
do not forsake us!

¹⁰This is what the LORD says about this people:

"They greatly love to wander;
they do not restrain their feet.
So the LORD does not accept them;
he will now remember their wickedness
and punish them for their sins."

¹¹Then the LORD said to me, "Do not pray for the well-being of this people. ¹²Although they fast, I will not listen to their cry; though they offer burnt offerings and grain offerings, I will not accept them. Instead, I will destroy them with the sword, famine and plague."

¹³But I said, "Ah, Sovereign LORD, the prophets keep telling them, 'You will not see the sword or suffer famine. Indeed, I will give you lasting peace in this place.'"

¹⁴Then the LORD said to me, "The prophets are prophesying lies in my name. I have not sent them or appointed them or spoken to them. They are prophesying to you false visions, divinations, idolatries^a and the delusions of their own minds. ¹⁵Therefore, this is what the LORD says about the prophets who are prophesying in my name: I did not send them, yet they are saying, 'No sword or famine will touch this land.' Those same prophets will perish by sword and famine. ¹⁶And the people they are prophesying to will be thrown out into the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and sword. There will be no one to bury them or their wives, their sons or their daughters. I will pour out on them the calamity they deserve.

¹⁷"Speak this word to them:

"Let my eyes overflow with tears
night and day without ceasing;
for my virgin daughter—my people—
has suffered a grievous wound,
a crushing blow.

¹⁸If I go into the country,
I see those slain by the sword;
if I go into the city,

I see the ravages of famine.
Both prophet and priest
have gone to a land they know not."

¹⁹Have you rejected Judah completely?
Do you despise Zion?
Why have you afflicted us
so that we cannot be healed?
We hoped for peace
but no good has come,
for a time of healing
but there is only terror.

²⁰O LORD, we acknowledge our wickedness
and the guilt of our fathers;
we have indeed sinned against you.

²¹For the sake of your name do not despise us;
do not dishonor your glorious throne.
Remember your covenant with us and do not break it.

²²Do any of the worthless idols of the nations bring rain?
Do the skies themselves send down showers?

No, it is you, O LORD our God.
Therefore our hope is in you,
for you are the one who does all this.

15 Then the LORD said to me: "Even if Moses and Samuel were to stand before me, my heart would not go out to this people. Send them away from my presence! Let them go! ²And if they ask you, 'Where shall we go?' tell them, 'This is what the LORD says:

"Those destined for death, to death;
those for the sword, to the sword;
those for starvation, to starvation;
those for captivity, to captivity.'

³"I will send four kinds of destroyers against them," declares the LORD, "the sword to kill and the dogs to drag away and the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth to devour and destroy. ⁴I will make them abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth because of what Manasseh son of Hezekiah king of Judah did in Jerusalem.

⁵"Who will have pity on you, O Jerusalem?
Who will mourn for you?
Who will stop to ask how you are?

⁶You have rejected me," declares the LORD.
"You keep on backsliding.

So I will lay hands on you and destroy you;
I can no longer show compassion.

⁷I will winnow them with a winnowing fork
at the city gates of the land.

I will bring bereavement and destruction on my
people,

for they have not changed their ways.

⁸I will make their widows more numerous than the sand of the sea.

At midday I will bring a destroyer against the mothers of their young men;
suddenly I will bring down on them anguish and terror.

⁹The mother of seven will grow faint and breathe her last.

14:11 God's Patience Exhausted

God gave Jeremiah these dreaded instructions, repeated nowhere else in the Bible: "Do not pray for this people . . . because I will not listen" (11:14). He repeated that message twice (7:16; 14:11). He told Jeremiah, "Even if Moses and Samuel were to stand before me, my heart would not go out to this people. Send them away from my presence!" (15:1).

Day of Donator

[illegible][illegible]

And do not enter there who are there, but go out at the door that I will open for you. For the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Turn away from your eyes, and in your days I will bring at an end to the multitude of joy and gladness and to the bride and bridegroom in this place.

When you tell these people all this and they ask you, 'Why has the Lord done such a great disaster against us?' What wrong have we done? What sin have we committed against the Lord our God?' Then say to them, 'It is because your fathers forsook me,' declares the Lord, 'and followed other gods and served and worshiped them. They forsook me and did not keep my law.' But you have behaved more wickedly than your fathers. See how each of you is following the stubbornness of his evil heart instead of obeying me. So I will throw you out of this land and into a land neither you nor your fathers have known, and there you will serve other gods day and night, for I will show you no favor.

14 However, the days are coming declares the LORD, "when men will no longer say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of Egypt,'¹⁵ but they will say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of

16:8 No Social Life

Jeremiah was a man swallowed up in his work. He had no family and little social life, because God told him never to marry and not to attend weddings, funerals, or any other ceremonial feasts (16:1-9). God's message through him was so negative that a tale of woe or complaint came to be known as a "jeremiad." Other prophets kept predicting peace (14:13), but Jeremiah wouldn't say what people wanted to hear. He told the truth, and the truth was bleak.

land of the north and out of all the countries where he had banished them." For I will restore them to the land I gave their forefathers.

But now I will send for many fishermen," declares the Lord, "and they will catch them. At the same time I will send for many hunters, and they will hunt them down on every mountain and hill and from the crevices of the rocks. My eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden from me, nor is their sin concealed from my eyes. I will repay them double for their wickedness and their sin, because they have defiled my land with the lifeless horns of their vile images and have filled my inheritance with their detestable idols."

"O Lord, my strength and my fortress,
my refuge in time of distress,
to you the nations will come from the ends of the earth and say,
Our fathers possessed nothing but false gods, worthless idols that did them no good."

"Do men make their own gods?
Yes, but they are not gods!"

Therefore I will teach them—
this time I will teach them
my power and might.
Then they will know

This is what the Lord says:

"Cursed is the one who trusts in man,
who depends on flesh for his strength
and whose heart turns away from the Lord.
He will be like a bush in the wastelands;
he will not see prosperity when it comes.
He will dwell in the parched places of the

according to what his deeds deserve."

Bring on them the day of disaster;
destroy them with double destruction.

Keeping the Sabbath Holy

This is what the Lord said to me: "Go and stand at the gate of the people, through which the kings of Judah go in and out; stand also at all the other gates of Jerusalem. Say to them, 'Hear the word of the Lord, O kings of Judah and all people of Judah and everyone living in Jerusalem who come through these gates. This is what the Lord says: Be careful not to carry a load on the Sabbath day or bring it through the gates of Jerusalem. Do not bring a load out of your houses or do any work on the Sabbath, but keep the Sabbath day holy, as I commanded your forefathers. Yet they did not listen or pay attention; they were stiff-necked and would not listen or respond to discipline. But if you are careful to obey me, declares the Lord, and bring no load through the gates of this city on the Sabbath, but keep the Sabbath day holy by not doing any work on it, then kings who sit on David's throne will come through the gates of this city with their officials. They and their officials will come riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by the men of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, and this city will be inhabited forever. ²⁶People will come from the towns of Judah and the villages around Jerusalem, from the territory of Benjamin and the western foothills, from the hill country and the Negev, bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings, incense and thank offerings to the house of the LORD. ²⁷But if you do not obey me to keep the Sabbath day holy by not carrying any load as you come through the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I will kindle an unquenchable fire in the gates of Jerusalem that will consume her fortresses.' "

At the Potter's House

18 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²"Go down to the potter's house, and there I will give you my message." ³So I went down to the potter's house, and I saw him working at the wheel. ⁴But the pot he was shaping from the clay was marred in his hands; so the potter formed it into another pot, shaping it as seemed best to him.

⁵Then the word of the LORD came to me: ⁶"O house of Israel, can I not do with you as this potter does?" declares the LORD. "Like clay in the hand of the potter, so are you in my hand, O house of Israel. ⁷If at any time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be uprooted, torn down and destroyed, ⁸and if that nation I warned repents of its evil, then I will relent and not inflict on it the disaster I had planned. ⁹And if at another time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be built up and planted, ¹⁰and if it does evil in my sight and does not obey me, then I will reconsider the good I had intended to do for it.

¹¹"Now therefore say to the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, 'This is what the LORD says: Look! I am preparing a disaster for you and devising a plan against you. So turn from your evil ways, each one of you, and reform your ways and your actions.' ¹²But they will reply, 'It's no use. We will continue with our own plans; each of us will follow the stubbornness of his evil heart.' "

¹³Therefore this is what the LORD says:

"Inquire among the nations:

18:6 The Potter and the Clay

God is in control—a message vividly portrayed to Jeremiah as he watched a potter start over on a pot that did not take the shape he wanted it to take. Israelites had gradually come to think that God, because he had chosen them as his people, was obliged to protect them. But their unnatural behavior toward him had brought God to the point of "starting over." In Romans 9:21, Paul returned to this metaphor to answer people who were claiming God was unjust.

They made them walk in bypaths and on roads not built up.

an object of lasting scorn;
all who pass by will be appalled
and will shake their heads

¹⁷Like a wind from the east,
I will scatter them before their enemies;
I will show them my back and not my face
in the day of their disaster."

¹⁸They said, "Come, let's make plans against Jeremiah; for the teaching of the law by the priest will not be lost, nor will counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophets. So come, let's attack him with our tongues and pay no attention to anything he says."

¹⁹Listen to me, O LORD;
hear what my accusers are saying!

²⁰Should good be repaid with evil?
Yet they have dug a pit for me.
Remember that I stood before you and spoke in their behalf to turn your wrath away from them.

²¹So give their children over to famine;
hand them over to the power of the sword.
Let their wives be made childless and widows;
let their men be put to death,
their young men slain by the sword in battle.

²²Let a cry be heard from their houses when you suddenly bring invaders against
them,

for they have dug a pit to capture me
and have hidden snares for my feet.

²³But you know, O LORD,
all their plots to kill me.

Do not forgive their crimes
or blot out their sins from your sight.

Let them be overthrown before you;
deal with them in the time of your anger.

19 This is what the LORD says: "Go and buy a clay jar from a potter. Take along some of the elders of the people and of the priests ²and go out to the Valley of Ben Hinnom, near the entrance of the Potsherd Gate. There proclaim the words I tell you, ³and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah and people of Jerusalem. This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Listen! I am going to bring a disaster on this place that will make the ears of everyone who hears of it tingle. ⁴For they have forsaken me and made this a place of foreign gods, they have burned sacrifices

Jeremiah and Pashhur

20 When the priest Pashhur son of Immer, the chief officer in the temple of the LORD, heard Jeremiah prophesying these things, ²he had Jeremiah the prophet beaten and put in the stocks at the Upper Gate of Benjamin at the LORD's temple. ³The next day, when Pashhur released him from the stocks, Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD's name for you is not Pashhur, but Magor-Missabib." ⁴For this is what the LORD says: 'I will make you a terror to yourself and to all your friends; with your own eyes you will see them fall by the sword of their enemies. I will hand all Judah over to the king of Babylon, who will carry them away to Babylon or put them to the sword. ⁵I will hand over to their enemies all the wealth of this city—all its products, all its valuables and all the treasures of the kings of Judah. They will take it away as plunder and carry it off to Babylon. ⁶And you, Pashhur, and all who live in your house will go into exile to Babylon. There you will die and be buried, you and all your friends to whom you have prophesied lies.' "

20:9 Fire in His Bones

When Jeremiah spoke to God, he often complained angrily about the role God had given him. Here he claimed that God "overpowered" him into carrying a message that people ridiculed (20:7). Jeremiah cursed his own birth, wishing he had been stillborn (verses 14-18). Just how did God "overpower" Jeremiah? God's message was like fire in his bones, so powerful that he could not resist telling it. The "force" God used on Jeremiah was the power of truth.

God Rejects Zedekiah's Request

21 The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD when King Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur son of Malkijah and the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah. They said, "Inquire now of the LORD for us because Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon is attacking us. Perhaps the LORD will perform wonders for us as in times past so that he will withdraw from us."

But Jeremiah answered them, "Tell Zedekiah, 'This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I am about to turn against you the weapons of war that are in your hands, which you are using to fight the king of Babylon and the Babylonians^b who are outside the wall besieging you. And I will gather them inside this city. "I myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand and a mighty arm in anger and fury and great wrath. "I will strike down those who live in this city—both men and animals—and they will die of a terrible plague. "After that declares the LORD, I will hand over Zedekiah king of Judah, his officials and the people in this city who survive the plague, sword and famine, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and to their enemies who seek their lives. He will put them to the sword; he will show them no mercy or pity or compassion."

"Furthermore, tell the people, 'This is what the LORD says: See, I am setting before you the way of life and the way of death. "Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, famine or plague. But whoever goes out and surrenders to the Babylonians who are besieging you will live; he will escape with his life. "I have determined to do this city harm and not good, declares the LORD. It will be given into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will destroy it with fire."

"Moreover, say to the royal house of Judah, 'Hear the word of the LORD. "O house of David, this is what the LORD says:

"Administer justice every morning,
rescue from the hand of his oppressor
the one who has been robbed,
or my wrath will break out and burn like fire
because of the evil you have done—
burn with no one to quench it."

13 I am against you, Jerusalem, you who live above this valley
on the rocky plateau,

declares the LORD—

you who say, "Who can come against us?
Who can enter our refuge?"

14 I will punish you as your deeds deserve,
declares the LORD.

I will kindle a fire in your forests that will consume everything around you."

Judgment Against Evil Kings

22 This is what the LORD says: "Go down to the palace of the king of Judah and proclaim this message there: "Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, you who sit on David's throne—you, your officials and your people who come through these gates. "This is what the LORD says: Do what is just and right. Rescue from the hand of his oppressor the one who has been robbed. Do no wrong or violence to the alien, the fatherless or the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place. "For if you are careful to carry out these commands, then kings who sit on David's throne will come through the gates of this palace, riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by their officials and their people. "But if you do not obey these commands, declares the LORD, I swear by myself that this palace will become a ruin."

"For this is what the LORD says about the palace of the king of Judah:

"Though you are like Gilead to me,
like the summit of Lebanon,
I will surely make you like a desert,
like towns not inhabited.

7 I will send destroyers against you,
each man with his weapons,
and they will cut up your fine cedar beams
and throw them into the fire."

"People from many nations will pass by this city and will ask one another, 'Why has the LORD done such a thing to this great city?' "And the answer will be: 'Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God and have worshiped and served other gods.'"

10 Do not weep for the dead king, or mourn his loss;

rather, weep bitterly for him who is exiled,
because he will never return
nor see his native land again.

11 For this is what the LORD says about Shallum son of Josiah, who succeeded his father as king of Judah but has gone from this place: "He will never return. 12 He will die in the place where they have led him captive; he will not see this land again."

13 "Woe to him who builds his palace by unrighteousness,

his upper rooms by injustice,
making his countrymen work for nothing,
not paying them for their labor.

14 He says, 'I will build myself a great palace with spacious upper rooms.'

So he makes large windows in it, panels it with cedar and decorates it in red.

15 "Does it make you a king to have more and more cedar?

Did not your father have food and drink?

He did what was right and just,
so all went well with him.

16 He defended the cause of the poor and needy,
and so all went well.

Is that not what it means to know me?"
declares the LORD.

17 "But your eyes and your heart
are set only on dishonest gain,
on shedding innocent blood
and on oppression and extortion."

¹⁹He will have the burial of a donkey—

who are nestled in cedar buildings,

you,

if you, Jehoiachin^b son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, were a signet ring on my right hand, I would still pull you off. ²⁵I will hand you over to those who seek your life, those you fear—to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and to the Babylonians.^c ²⁶I will hurl you and the mother who gave you birth into another country, where neither of you was born, and there you both will die. ²⁷You will never come back to the land you long to return to."

²⁸Is this man Jehoiachin a despised, broken pot,
an object no one wants?

Why will he and his children be hurled out,
cast into a land they do not know?

²⁹O land, land, land,
hear the word of the LORD!

³⁰This is what the LORD says:
"Record this man as if childless,
a man who will not prosper in his lifetime,
for none of his offspring will prosper, none will sit on the throne of David or rule anymore in Judah."

The Righteous Branch

23 "Woe to the shepherds who are destroying and scattering the sheep of my pasture!"
declares the LORD. ²Therefore this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says to the shepherds who tend my people: "Because you have scattered my flock and driven them away and have not bestowed care on them, I will bestow punishment on you for the evil you have done," declares the LORD. ³"I myself will gather the remnant of my flock out of all the countries where I have driven them and will bring them back to their pasture,
where they will be fruitful and increase in number.

⁴I will place shepherds over them who will tend them, and they will no longer be afraid or terrified,
nor will any be missing," declares the LORD.

⁵"The days are coming," declares the LORD,
"when I will raise up to David^d a righteous Branch,

a King who will reign wisely
and do what is just and right in the land.

⁶In his days Judah will be saved
and Israel will live in safety.

This is the name by which he will be called:
The LORD Our Righteousness.

⁷"So then, the days are coming," declares the LORD, "when people will no longer say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of Egypt,' ⁸but they will say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the descendants of Israel up out of the land of the north and out of all the countries where he had banished them.' Then they will live in their own land."

Lying Prophets

⁹Concerning the prophets:

My heart is broken within me;
all my bones tremble.
I am like a drunken man,
like a man overcome by wine,
because of the LORD
and his holy words.

¹⁰The land is full of adulterers;
because of the curse^e the land lies parched/
and the pastures in the desert are withered.
The prophets follow an evil course and use their power unjustly.

¹¹"Both prophet and priest are godless;
even in my temple I find their wickedness,"
declares the LORD.

¹²"Therefore their path will become slippery;
they will be banished to darkness
and there they will fall.
I will bring disaster on them
in the year they are punished,"
declares the LORD.

¹³"Among the prophets of Samaria
I saw this repulsive thing:
They prophesied by Baal
and led my people Israel astray.

¹⁴And among the prophets of Jerusalem
I have seen something horrible:
They commit adultery and live a lie.

23:6 The Messianic Promise

Long before, God had promised David that his descendants would always rule Israel. But the kings who followed David had been more like wolves than shepherds of God's people. Jeremiah predicted that the kings of his day would either be killed or carried into captivity—which in fact occurred. He also predicted that a good king would replace them—the Messiah.

They are all like Sodom to me;

¹⁵Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty
says concerning the prophets:

I will make them eat bitter food
and drink poisoned water,
because from the prophets of Jerusalem ungodliness has spread throughout the
land

This is what the LORD Almighty says:

Do not listen to what the prophets are prophesying to you;
they tell you with false hopes
They speak visions from their own minds,
not from the mouth of the LORD
They keep saying to those who despise me,
The LORD says: You will have peace.
And to all who follow the stubbornness of their hearts

²⁰They say, 'No harm will come to you.'

¹⁸But which of them has stood in the council of
the LORD

to see or to hear his word?

Who has listened and heard his word?

²⁴See, the storm of the LORD

will burst out in wrath,

a whirlwind swirling down

on the heads of the wicked

²⁷The anger of the LORD will not turn back until he fully accomplishes
the purposes of his heart.

In days to come

you will understand it clearly

²¹I did not send these prophets,

yet they have run with their message;

I did not speak to them,

yet they have prophesied.

they would have proclaimed my words to
my people

and would have turned them from their evil
ways

and from their evil deeds.

and not a God far away?

"Do not I fill heaven and earth?"

declares the LORD.

I have heard what the prophets say who prophesy lies in my name. They say, 'I had a dream! I had a dream!' ²⁶How long will this continue in the hearts of these lying prophets, who prophesy the delusions of their own minds?

They think the dreams they tell one another will make my people forget my name, just as their fathers forgot my name through Baal worship.

²⁸Let the prophet who has a dream tell his dream,
but let the one who has my word speak it faithfully. For what has straw to do with grain?" declares the LORD. ²⁹"Is not my word like fire," declares the LORD, "and like a hammer that breaks a rock in pieces?"

³⁰"Therefore," declares the LORD, "I am against the prophets who steal from one another words supposedly from me. ³¹Yes," declares the LORD, "I am against the prophets who wag their own tongues and yet declare, 'The LORD declares.' ³²Indeed, I am against those who prophesy false dreams," declares the LORD. "They tell them and lead my people astray with their reckless lies, yet I did not send or appoint them. They do not benefit these people in the least," declares the LORD.

False Oracles and False Prophets

³³"When these people, or a prophet or a priest, ask you, 'What is the oracle of the LORD?' say to them, 'What oracle?' ³⁴I will forsake you, declares the LORD. ³⁵If a prophet or a priest or anyone else claims, 'This is the oracle of the LORD,' I will punish that man and his household. ³⁶This is what each of you keeps on saying to his friend or relative, 'What is the LORD's answer?' or 'What has the LORD spoken?' ³⁷But you must not mention 'the oracle of the LORD' again, because every man's own word becomes his oracle and so you distort
the words of the living God, the LORD Almighty, our God. ³⁸This is what you keep saying to a prophet: 'What is the LORD's answer to you?' or
'What has the LORD spoken?' ³⁹Although you claim, 'This is the oracle of the LORD,' this is what the LORD says: You used the words, 'This is the oracle of the LORD,' even though I told you that you must not claim, 'This is the oracle of the LORD.' ⁴⁰Therefore, I will surely forget you and cast you out of my presence along with the city I gave to you and your fathers. ⁴¹I will bring upon you everlasting disgrace—everlasting shame that will not be forgotten."

Two Baskets of Figs

24 After Jehoiachin son of Jehoiakim king of Judah and the officials, the craftsmen and the artisans of Judah were carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the LORD showed me two baskets of figs

23:25 Questionable Dreams

For the casual observer, it must have been difficult to tell real prophets from false prophets in Jeremiah's day. Jeremiah was outnumbered by optimists who claimed God gave them dreams and messages. In reality, their dreams had nothing to do with God's Word, and anyone who compared their message with Scripture could have seen the difference. They predicted peace when God had promised severe punishment for the sins of his
people.

basket had very good figs like those that ripen early; the other basket had very poor figs, so bad they could not be eaten.

Then the Lord asked me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

"Figs," I answered. "The good ones are very good, but the poor ones are so bad they cannot be eaten."

"Then the word of the Lord came to me: ¹"This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: 'Like these good figs, I regard as good the exiles from Judah, whom I sent away from this place to the land of the Babylonians.² My eyes will watch over them for their good, and I will bring them back to this land. I will build them up and not tear them down. I will plant them and not uproot them. I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the Lord. They will be my people, and I will be their God, for they will return to me with all their heart.'

³"But like the poor figs, which are so bad they cannot be eaten, says the Lord, so will I deal with Zedekiah king of Judah, his officials and the survivors from Jerusalem, whether they remain in this land or live in Egypt. ⁴I will make them an object of reproach and an offense to all the kingdoms of the earth, a reproach and a byword, an object of ridicule and cursing, whenever I banish them. ⁵I will send the sword, famine and plague against them until they are destroyed from the land I gave to them and their fathers.

Seventy Years of Captivity

25 The word came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, which was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. So Jeremiah the prophet said to all the people of Judah and to all those living in Jerusalem: ¹"For twenty-three years—from the thirteenth year of Josiah son of Amon king of Judah until this very day—the word of the Lord has come to me and I have spoken to you again and again, but you have not listened.

²"And though the Lord has sent all his servants the prophets to you again and again, you have not listened or paid any attention. They said, 'Turn now, each of you, from your evil ways and your evil practices, and you can stay in the land the Lord gave to you and your fathers for ever and ever. ³'Do not follow other gods to serve and worship them; do not provoke me to anger with what your hands have made. Then I will not harm you.'

⁴"But you did not listen to me," declares the Lord, "and you have provoked me with what your hands have made, and you have brought harm to yourselves."

⁵"Therefore the Lord Almighty says this: 'Because you have not listened to my words, ⁶I will summon all the peoples of the north and my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon,' declares the Lord, "and I will bring them against this land and its inhabitants and against all the surrounding nations. I will completely destroy them and make them an object of horror and scorn, and an everlasting ruin. ⁷I will banish from them the sounds of joy and gladness, the voices of bride and bridegroom, the sound of millstones and the light of the lamp. ⁸This whole country will become a desolate wasteland, and these nations will serve the king of Babylon seventy years.

⁹"But when the seventy years are fulfilled, I will punish the king of Babylon and his nation, the land of the Babylonians, for their guilt," declares the Lord, "and will make it desolate forever. ¹⁰I will bring upon that land all the things I have spoken against it, all that are written in this book and prophesied by Jeremiah against all the nations. ¹¹They themselves will be enslaved by many nations and great kings. I will repay them according to their deeds and the work of their hands."

The Cup of God's Wrath

¹²"This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, said to me: 'Take from my hand this cup filled with the wine of my wrath and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it. ¹³When they drink it, they will stagger and so mad because of the sword I will send among them.'

¹⁴"So I took the cup from the Lord's hand and made all the nations to whom he sent me drink it: Jerusalem and the towns of Judah, its kings and officials, so make them a ruin and an object of horror and scorn and cursing, as they are today; ¹⁵Pharaoh king of Egypt, his attendants, his officials and all his people; ¹⁶and all the foreign people there, all the kings of Ux, all the kings of the Philistines (those of Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the people left at Ashdod); ¹⁷Edom, Moab and Ammon; ¹⁸all the kings of Tyre and Sidon, the kings of the coastlands across the sea; ¹⁹Dedan, Tema, Buz and all who are in distant places; ²⁰all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the foreign people who live in the desert; ²¹all the kings of Zimri, Elam and Media; ²²and all the kings of the north, near and far, one after the other—all the kingdoms on the face of the earth. And after all of them, the king of Shechem will drink it too.

²³"Then tell them: 'This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Drink, get drunk and vomit, and fall to rise no more because of the sword I will send among you. ²⁴But if they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink, tell them: 'This is what the Lord Almighty says: You must drink it! ²⁵See, I am beginning to bring disaster on the city that bears my Name, and will you indeed go unpunished? You will not go unpunished, for I am calling down a sword upon all who live on the earth,' declares the Lord Almighty."

²⁶"Now prophesy all these words against them and say to them:

The Lord will roar from on high,
he will thunder from his holy dwelling and roar mightily against his land.

He will shout like those who tread the grapes,
shout against all who live on the earth.

Jeremiah Threatened With Death

26 Early in the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came from the LORD. This is what the LORD says: Stand in the courtyard of the LORD's house and speak to all the people of the towns of Judah who come to worship in the house of the LORD. Tell them everything I command you, do not omit a word. ²Perhaps they will relent and not bring on them the disaster I am planning because of the evil they have done. ³Tell them, "This is what the LORD says: If you do not listen to me and follow my law, which I have set before you, ⁴and if you do not listen to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I have sent to you again and again (though you have ignored them), ⁵then I will make this house like a desolate city and this city an object of cursing among all the nations of the earth."⁶

The priests, the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speak these words in the house of the LORD. ⁸But as soon as Jeremiah finished telling the people everything the LORD had commanded him to say, the priests, the prophets and the people seized him and said, "You must die! Why do you prophesy in the LORD's name that this house will be like Shiloh and this city will be desolate and deserted?" And all the people crowded around Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

When the officials of Judah heard about these things, they went up from the royal palace to the house of the LORD and took their places at the entrance of the New Gate of the LORD's house. ¹⁰Then the priests and the prophets said to the officials and all the people, "This man should be sentenced to death because he has prophesied against this city. You have heard it with your own ears!"

¹²Then Jeremiah said to all the officials and all the people: "The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and this city all the things you have heard. ¹³Now reform your ways and your actions and obey the LORD your God. Then the LORD will relent and not bring the disaster he has pronounced against you. ¹⁴As for me, I am in your hands, do with me whatever you think is good and right. ¹⁵Be assured, however, that if you put me to death, you will bring the guilt of innocent blood on yourselves and on this city and on those who live in it, for in truth the LORD has sent me to you to speak all these words in your hearing."

¹⁶Then the officials and all the people said to the priests and the prophets, "This man should not be sentenced to death! He has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God."

¹⁷Some of the elders of the land stepped forward and said to the entire assembly of people, ¹⁸"Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah. He told all the people of Judah, 'This is what the LORD Almighty says:

" 'Zion will be plowed like a field,
 Jerusalem will become a heap of rubble,
 the temple hill a mound overgrown with thickets.'"¹⁹

¹⁹"Did Hezekiah king of Judah or anyone else in Judah put him to death? Did not Hezekiah fear the LORD and seek his favor? And did not the LORD relent, so that he did not bring the disaster he pronounced against them? We are about to bring a terrible disaster on ourselves!"

²⁰(Now Uriah son of Shemaiah from Kiriath Jearim was another man who prophesied in the name of the LORD; he prophesied the same things against this city and this land as Jeremiah did. ²¹When King Jehoiakim and all his officers and officials heard his words, the king sought to put him to death. But Uriah heard of it and fled in fear to Egypt. ²²King Jehoiakim, however, sent Elnathan son of Acbor to Egypt, along with some other men. ²³They brought Uriah out of Egypt and took him to King Jehoiakim, who had him struck down

26:19 Scripture Saves a Life

Jeremiah's scorn for the temple was considered sacrilege and might have cost him his life. (Another prophet, Uriah, was assassinated for the same message—see verses 20-23.) But some of the elders remembered the treatment given Micah years before. Hezekiah—a good king—had listened to Micah. Based on this precedent, Jeremiah was allowed to live.

Judah to Serve Nebuchadnezzar

27 Early in the reign of Zedekiah^a son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²This is what the LORD said to me.

Make a yoke out of straps and crossbars and put it on your neck. ³Then send word to the kings of Edom, Moab, Ammon, Tyre and Sidon through the envoys who have come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah. ⁴Give them a message for their masters and say, 'This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "Tell this to your masters: ⁵With my great power and outstretched arm I made the earth and its people and the animals that are on it, and I give it to anyone I please. ⁶Now I will hand all your countries over to my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; I will make even the wild animals subject to him. ⁷All nations will serve him and his son and his grandson until the time for his land comes; then many nations and great kings will subjugate him

⁸" "If, however, any nation or kingdom will not serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon or bow its neck under his yoke, I will punish that nation with the sword, famine and plague, declares the LORD, until I destroy it by his hand. ⁹So do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, your interpreters of dreams, your mediums or your sorcerers who tell you, 'You will not serve the king of Babylon.' ¹⁰They prophesy lies to you that will only serve to remove you far from your lands; I will banish you and you will perish. ¹¹But if any nation will bow its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serve him, I will let that nation remain in its own land to till it and to live there, declares the LORD." " "

¹²I gave the same message to Zedekiah king of Judah. I said, "Bow your neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon; serve him and his people, and you will live. ¹³Why will you and your people die by the sword, famine and plague with which the LORD has threatened any nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? ¹⁴Do not listen to the words of the prophets who say to you, 'You will not serve the king of Babylon,' for they are prophesying lies to you. ¹⁵'I have not sent them,' declares the LORD. 'They are prophesying lies in my name. Therefore, I will banish you and you will perish, both you and the prophets who prophesy to you.' "

¹⁶Then I said to the priests and all these people, 'This is what the LORD says: Do not listen to the prophets who say, 'Very soon now the articles from the LORD's house will be brought back from Babylon.' They are prophesying lies to you. ¹⁷Do not listen to them. Serve the king of Babylon, and you will live. Why should this city become a ruin? ¹⁸If they are prophets and have the word of the LORD, let them plead with the LORD Almighty that the furnishings remaining in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem not be taken to Babylon. ¹⁹For this is what the LORD Almighty says about the pillars, the Sea, the movable stands and the other furnishings that are left in this city, ²⁰which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take away when he carried Jehoiachin^b son of Jehoiakim king of Judah into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon, along with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem— ²¹yes, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says about the things that are left in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem: ²²'They will be taken to Babylon and there they will remain until the day I come for them,' declares the LORD. 'Then I will bring them back and restore them to this place.' "

The False Prophet Hananiah

28 In the fifth month of that same year, the fourth year, early in the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, the prophet Hananiah son of Azzur, who was from Gibeon, said to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and all the people: ²"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon. ³Within two years I will bring back to this place all the articles of the LORD's house that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon removed from here and took to Babylon. ⁴I will also bring back to this place Jehoiachin^b son of Jehoiakim king of Judah and all the other exiles from Judah who went to Babylon,' declares the LORD, 'for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.' "

⁵Then the prophet Jeremiah replied to the prophet Hananiah before the priests and all the people who were standing in the house of the LORD. ⁶He said, "Amen! May the LORD do so! May the LORD fulfill the words you have prophesied by bringing the articles of the LORD's house and all the exiles back to this place from Babylon. ⁷Nevertheless, listen to what I have to say in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people: ⁸From early times the prophets who preceded you and me have prophesied war, disaster and plague against many countries and great kingdoms. ⁹But the prophet who prophesies peace will be recognized as one truly sent by the LORD only if his prediction comes true."

¹⁰Then the prophet Hananiah took the yoke off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah and broke it,

27:12 Counseling Surrender

By the time Zedekiah took office, Israel had twice surrendered to Babylon. Two groups of Israelites had already been exiled, including in their number King Jehoiachin. The desire for independence did not die easily, however. Zedekiah, who had been put into office as a puppet king, soon began scheming for revolution. Jeremiah persistently counseled submission to Babylon—unpopular advice that nearly cost him his life when he was accused of treason.

¹ A few Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac (see also Jer. 27:3, 12 and 28:1), most Hebrew manuscripts Jehoiakim (Most Septuagint manuscripts do not have this verse) ²⁰ 4 Hebrew Jechoniah, a variant of Jehoiachin

and he said before all the people, "This is what the LORD says: 'In the same way will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon off the neck of all the nations within two years.'" At this, the prophet Jeremiah went on his way.

Shortly after the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ¹³"Go and tell Hananiah. 'This is what the LORD says: You have broken a wooden yoke, but in its place you will get a yoke of iron.' ¹⁴This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will put an iron yoke on the necks of all these nations to make them serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they will serve him. I will even give him control over the wild animals.'"

Then the prophet Jeremiah said to Hananiah the prophet, "Listen, Hananiah! The LORD has not sent you, yet you have persuaded this nation to trust in lies. ¹⁶Therefore, this is what the LORD says: I am about to remove you from the face of the earth. This very year you are going to die, because you have preached rebellion against the LORD."

In the seventh month of that same year, Hananiah the prophet died.

A Letter to the Exiles

29 This is the text of the letter that the prophet Jeremiah sent from Jerusalem to the surviving elders among the exiles and to the priests, the prophets and all the other people Nebuchadnezzar had carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon. ²(This was after King Jehoiachin^a and the queen mother, the court officials and the leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen and the artisans had gone into exile from Jerusalem.) ³He entrusted the letter to Elasah son of Shaphan and to Gemariah son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to King Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon. It said:

"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says to all those I carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon: ⁵'Build houses and settle down, plant gardens and eat what they produce. ⁶Marry and have sons and daughters, find wives for your sons and give your daughters in marriage, so that they too may have sons and daughters. Increase in number there; do not decrease. ⁷Also, seek the peace and prosperity of the city to which I have carried you into exile. Pray to the LORD for it, because if it prospers, you too will prosper.'" ⁸Yes, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "Do not let the prophets and diviners among you deceive you. Do not listen to the dreams you encourage them to have. ⁹They are prophesying lies to you in my name. I have not sent them," declares the LORD.

¹⁰This is what the LORD says: "When seventy years are completed for Babylon, I will come to you and fulfill my gracious promise to bring you back to this place. ¹¹For I know the plans I have for you," declares the LORD, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future. ¹²Then you will call upon me and come and pray to me, and I will listen to you. ¹³You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart. ¹⁴I will be found by you," declares the LORD, "and will bring you back from captivity. ¹⁵I will gather you from all the nations and places where I have banished you," declares the LORD, "and will bring you back to the place from which I carried you into exile."

¹⁵You may say, "The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon," ¹⁶but this is what the LORD says about the king who sits on David's throne and all the people who remain in this city, your countrymen who did not go with you into exile— ¹⁷yes, this is what the LORD Almighty says: "I will send the sword, famine and plague against them and I will make them like poor figs that are so bad they cannot be eaten. ¹⁸I will pursue them with the sword, famine and plague and will make them abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth and an object of cursing and horror, of scorn and reproach, among all the nations where I drive them. ¹⁹For they have not listened to my words," declares the LORD, "words that I sent to them again and again by my servants the prophets. And you exiles have not listened either," declares the LORD.

²⁰Therefore, hear the word of the LORD, all you exiles whom I have sent away from Jerusalem to Babylon. ²¹This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says about Ahab son of Kolaiah and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who are prophesying lies to you in my name: "I will hand them over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will put them to death before your very eyes. ²²Because of them, all the exiles from Judah who are in Babylon will use this curse: 'The LORD treat you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon burned in the fire.' ²³For they have done outrageous things in Israel; they have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives and in my name have spoken lies, which I did not tell them to do. I know it and am a witness to it," declares the LORD.

29:1 Writing to Ezekiel

During the last years of Jeremiah's work, a sizeable community of exiles were already living in Babylon. Among them were Daniel, a young man who would rise to tremendous power in court, and the prophet Ezekiel. Ezekiel was preaching at the same time as Jeremiah, and their messages are similar in many ways. Since neither one mentions the other, however, we can't be sure whether they were acquainted.

²⁴Or will restore your fortunes

the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You sent letters in your own name to all the people in Jerusalem, to Zephaniah son of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the other priests. You said to Zephaniah, ²⁶'The LORD has appointed you priest in place of Jehoiada to be in charge of the house of the LORD; you should put any madman who acts like a prophet into the stocks and neck-irons.' ²⁷So why have you not reprimanded Jeremiah from Anathoth, who poses as a prophet among you? ²⁸He has sent this message to us in Babylon: It will be a long time. Therefore build houses and settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce.' "

²⁹Zephaniah the priest, however, read the letter to Jeremiah the prophet. ³⁰Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ³¹"Send this message to all the exiles: 'This is what the LORD says about Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, even though I did not send him, and has led you to believe a lie, ³²this is what the LORD says: I will surely punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his descendants. He will have no one left among this people, nor will he see the good things I will do for my people, declares the LORD, because he has preached rebellion against me.' "

Restoration of Israel

30 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'Write in a book all the words I have spoken to you. ³The days are coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I will bring my people Israel and Judah back from captivity^a and restore them to the land I gave their forefathers to possess,' says the LORD."

⁴These are the words the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah: ⁵"This is what the LORD says:

" 'Cries of fear are heard—terror, not peace.

⁶Ask and see:

Can a man bear children?

Then why do I see every strong man with his hands on his stomach like a woman
in labor,

every face turned deathly pale?

⁷How awful that day will be!

None will be like it.

It will be a time of trouble for Jacob,
but he will be saved out of it.

⁸" 'In that day,' declares the LORD Almighty,

'I will break the yoke off their necks
and will tear off their bonds;
no longer will foreigners enslave them.

⁹Instead, they will serve the LORD their God
and David their king,
whom I will raise up for them.

¹⁰" 'So do not fear, O Jacob my servant;
do not be dismayed, O Israel,'

declares the LORD.

'I will surely save you out of a distant place,

your descendants from the land of their
exile.

Jacob will again have peace and security,
and no one will make him afraid.

¹¹'I am with you and will save you,'
declares the LORD.

'Though I completely destroy all the nations
among which I scatter you,

I will not completely destroy you.

I will discipline you but only with justice;

I will not let you go entirely unpunished.'

¹²"This is what the LORD says:

" 'Your wound is incurable,
your injury beyond healing.

¹³There is no one to plead your cause,
no remedy for your sore,
no healing for you

¹⁴All your allies have forgotten you;
they care nothing for you.

I have struck you as an enemy would
and punished you as would the cruel, because your guilt is so great and your sins so many.

¹⁵Why do you cry out over your wound,
your pain that has no cure?

Because of your great guilt and many sins
I have done these things to you.

¹⁶" 'But all who devour you will be devoured;
all your enemies will go into exile.

Those who plunder you will be plundered;
all who make spoil of you I will despoil.

¹⁷But I will restore you to health and heal your wounds,'

declares the LORD,

'because you are called an outcast,
Zion for whom no one cares.'

¹⁸"This is what the LORD says:

" 'I will restore the fortunes of Jacob's tents and have compassion on his dwellings;
the city will be rebuilt on her ruins,
and the palace will stand in its proper place.

¹⁹From them will come songs of thanksgiving and the sound of rejoicing.

I will add to their numbers,
and they will not be decreased;

I will bring them honor,
and they will not be disdained.

²⁰Their children will be as in days of old,
and their community will be established
before me;

I will punish all who oppress them.

²¹Their leader will be one of their own;
their ruler will arise from among them.

I will bring him near and he will come close to
me,

for who is he who will devote himself to be close to me?' "

declares the LORD.

²²" 'So you will be my people, and I will be your God.' "

The People Who Refuse to Die

Their powerful neighbors have disappeared—but the Jews live on

"I will surely save you out of a distant place, your descendants from the land of their exile. Jacob will no longer have peace and security, and no one will make him afraid." 30:10

If you get lost in Brooklyn, New York, and wander into the section called Williamsburg, prepare to be surprised. Boys playing baseball look odd: long, uncut curls of hair trail from above their eyes down to their chests. Men in black, with long, untrimmed beards, coach from the sidelines. All the women you see wear wigs because they've shaved their heads completely. Is this a new cult?

You've stumbled into a community of Hasidic Jews. They live, not by the latest fad, but by ancient roles based on Old Testament laws. They follow complicated dietary regulations. They keep one set of bowls for meat, and another for dairy products. Young men devote long hours of study to the Hebrew Old Testament. Though they are Americans living in New York, their cultural compass points to Mount Sinai, where God gave Moses the Law.

Jews Outlived Their Enemies

The Jewish people have survived astonishingly. Who in Jeremiah's time could have predicted their persistence when they were hemmed in and threatened with total destruction? The Babylonians conquered and carried them into exile. But where are the Babylonians, today? They have vanished. Desert sand covers their capital.

The story of the Jews is a long chronicle of discrimination, exile, punishment, and slaughter. Against no other people have such destructive measures been taken. Yet they have survived, and thrived. Their language endures. Their book, the Old Testament, is part of the great bestseller of all time. They have rebuilt their nation.

Even more remarkably, this durability was predicted in writing 2,500 years ago. God promised in the clearest terms that he would never reject his people.

The New Covenant

Jeremiah, known for his stinging denunciations and repeated predictions of savage destruction, also brought word of God's eternal faithfulness and of a new covenant replacing the old, broken one. The new covenant would improve generously on the old one, Jeremiah said. God would no longer simply list rules for his people to obey. He would plant those rules in their hearts, so they would want to obey (31:33). Each individual would know the Lord personally. God would offer forgiveness for sins.

Jeremiah promised more than that. He said a new king from David's line would come to rule. He would be called "The Lord Our Righteousness" (23:5-8). Israel would return from exile to their land. They would farm there again. They would rebuild Jerusalem and again worship God there. Jeremiah wrote these rosy words in the face of Israel's worst catastrophe.

Jeremiah didn't just deliver these messages. He acted them out. He made what was either one of the stupidest financial investments of all time, or a remarkable act of faith. He bought property from a relative at the height of the Babylonian siege (chapter 32). God had promised Jeremiah that someday the property would be worth money again, to his children or grandchildren. He believed and invested in that distant prospect. He believed in the survival of Israel.

The Fulfillment of Prophecy

Christians agree that the new king Jeremiah predicted was Jesus. They agree that Jesus brought the new covenant, which puts the law into people's hearts and enables them to know God. But on the restoration of Israel Christians hold different opinions. Some feel that the modern nation of Israel is, at least partly, the reincarnated nation Jeremiah wrote about. Others feel that the New Testament teaches that Christians of all races form Jeremiah's "new nation" of God's people, and that the promises apply allegorically to them.

All agree, though, that what Jesus set out to do is not yet finished. Someday he will destroy the forces of evil and fully establish his new kingdom.

²This is what the LORD says

"The people who survive the sword
 will find favor in the desert.
 I will come to give rest to Israel."

³The LORD appeared to us in the past,^a saying

"I have loved you with an everlasting love;
 I have drawn you with loving-kindness."

⁴I will build you up again and you will be rebuilt, O Virgin Israel Again you will take up your tambourines and go out to dance with the joyful.

⁵Again you will plant vineyards
 on the hills of Samaria,
 the farmers will plant them
 and enjoy their fruit

⁶There will be a day when watchmen cry out on the hills of Ephraim,

'Come, let us go up to Zion,
 to the LORD our God.'

⁷This is what the LORD says:

"Sing with joy for Jacob;
 shout for the foremost of the nations.
 Make your praises heard, and say,
 'O LORD, save your people,
 the remnant of Israel.'

⁸See, I will bring them from the land of the north

and gather them from the ends of the earth
 Among them will be the blind and the lame, expectant mothers and women in labor;
 a great throng will return

⁹They will come with weeping,
 they will pray as I bring them back
 I will lead them beside streams of water on a level path where they will not stumble,
 because I am Israel's father,
 and Ephraim is my firstborn son.

¹⁰"Hear the word of the LORD, O nations;
 proclaim it in distant coastlands:

'He who scattered Israel will gather them and will watch over his flock like a shepherd.'

¹¹For the LORD will ransom Jacob and redeem them from the hand of those stronger than they.

¹²They will come and shout for joy on the heights of Zion;
 they will rejoice in the bounty of the LORD—
 the grain, the new wine and the oil,

the young of the flocks and herds
 They will be like a well-watered garden,
 and they will sorrow no more.

¹³Then maidens will dance and be glad,
 young men and old as well.

I will turn their mourning into gladness,
 I will give them comfort and joy instead of sorrow

¹⁴I will satisfy the priests with abundance, and my people will be filled with my bounty,"

declares the LORD.

¹⁵This is what the LORD says:

"A voice is heard in Ramah,
 mourning and great weeping,
 Rachel weeping for her children
 and refusing to be comforted,
 because her children are no more."

¹⁶This is what the LORD says:

"Restrain your voice from weeping and your eyes from tears,
 for your work will be rewarded,"
 declares the LORD.

"They will return from the land of the enemy.

¹⁷So there is hope for your future,"
 declares the LORD.

"Your children will return to their own land.

¹⁸"I have surely heard Ephraim's moaning:
 'You disciplined me like an unruly calf,
 and I have been disciplined.

Restore me, and I will return,
 because you are the LORD my God.

¹⁹After I strayed,
 I repented;
 after I came to understand,
 I beat my breast.
 I was ashamed and humiliated
 because I bore the disgrace of my youth.'

²⁰Is not Ephraim my dear son,
 the child in whom I delight?
 Though I often speak against him,
 I still remember him.
 Therefore my heart yearns for him;
 I have great compassion for him,"

declares the LORD.

 put up guideposts.

31:15 Pain in Redemption

The Babylonians used Ramah, a town north of Jerusalem, as a collection point for the captives they were about to exile. Rachel, the "mother of Israel," was buried near there, and she is portrayed as weeping over the exiles. But the Lord's voice answers hers, offering hope for their return. Matthew quoted this verse referring to King Herod's slaughter of all baby boys in the vicinity of Bethlehem (Matthew 2:18). In deepest grief, God is not absent: he is planning redemption.

^a3 Or LORD has appeared to us from afar

Take note of the highway
the road that you take Return, O Virgin Israel
return to your towns
How long will you wander,
O unfaithful daughter?

The LORD will create a new thing on earth—
a woman will surround a man."

This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel says: "When I bring them back from captivity to the people in the land of Judah and in its towns will once again use these words: 'The LORD bless you, O righteous dwelling, O sacred mountain.' 24 People will live together in Judah and all its towns—farmers and those who move about with their flocks. 25 I will refresh the weary and satisfy the faint."

At this I awoke and looked around. My sleep had been pleasant to me.

"The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will plant the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the offspring of men and of animals. Just as I watched over them to uproot and tear down, and to overthrow, destroy and bring disaster, so I will watch over them to build and to plant," declares the LORD. 28 "In those days people will no longer say:

"The fathers have eaten sour grapes,
and the children's teeth are set on edge."

"Instead, everyone will die for his own sin, who ever eats sour grapes—his own teeth will be set on edge."

"The time is coming," declares the LORD, "when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah.

It will not be like the covenant

I made with their forefathers
when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt
because they broke my covenant,
though I was a husband to them,"

declares the LORD.

This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel

after that time," declares the LORD.

I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts

I will be their God,

and they will be my people

No longer will a man teach his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the
LORD,'

because they will all know me,

from the least of them to the greatest,"

declares the LORD.

For I will forgive their wickedness

and will remember their sins no more."

This is what the LORD says,

he who appoints the sun
to shine by day,

who decrees the moon and stars
to shine by night,
who stirs up the sea
so that its waves roar—
the LORD Almighty is his name.

"Only if these decrees vanish from my sight,
declares the LORD,
'will the descendants of Israel ever cease to be a nation before me.'"

"This is what the LORD says:

"Only if the heavens above can be measured and the foundations of the earth below be searched out

will I reject all the descendants of Israel
because of all they have done,"

declares the LORD.

"The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when this city will be rebuilt for me from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate. 37 The measuring line will stretch from there straight to the hill of Gareb and then turn to Goah. 38 The whole valley where dead bodies and ashes are thrown, and all the terraces out to the Kidron Valley on the east as far as the corner of the Horse Gate, will be holy to the LORD. The city will never again be uprooted or demolished."

Jeremiah Buys a Field

32 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar. 2 The army of the king of Babylon was then besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was confined in the courtyard of the guard in the royal palace of Judah.

3 Now Zedekiah king of Judah had imprisoned him there, saying, "Why do you prophesy as you do? You say, 'This is what the LORD says: I am about to hand this city over to the king of Babylon, and he will capture it.' 4 Zedekiah king of Judah will not escape out of the hands of the Babylonians, but will certainly be handed over to the king of Babylon, and will speak with him face to face and see him with his own eyes. 5 He will take Zedekiah to Babylon, where he will remain until I deal with him," declares the LORD. "If you fight against the Babylonians, you will not succeed."

6 Jeremiah said, "The word of the LORD came to me: 7 Hanamel son of Shallum your uncle is going to come to you and say, 'Buy my field at Anathoth, because as nearest relative it is your right and duty to buy it.'"

8 Then, just as the LORD had said, my cousin Hanamel came to me in the courtyard of the guard and said, "Buy my field at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. Since it is your right to redeem it and possess it, buy it for yourself."

"I knew that this was the word of the LORD; 9 so I bought the field at Anathoth from my cousin Hanamel and weighed out for him seventeen

shekel of silver. ¹⁰I signed and sealed the deed, had it witnessed, and weighed out the silver on the scales. ¹¹I took the deed of purchase—the sealed copy containing the terms and conditions, as well as the unsealed copy—¹²and I gave this deed to Baruch son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel and of the witnesses who had signed the deed and of all the Jews sitting in the courtyard of the guard.

¹³In their presence I gave Baruch these instructions: ¹⁴This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Take these documents, both the sealed and unsealed copies of the deed of purchase, and put them in a clay jar so they will last a long time. ¹⁵For this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Houses, fields and vineyards will again be bought in this land.

¹⁶After I had given the deed of purchase to Baruch son of Neriah, I prayed to the Lord:

¹⁷"Ah, Sovereign Lord, you have made the heavens and the earth by your great power and outstretched arm. Nothing is too hard for you. ¹⁸You show love to thousands but bring the punishment for the fathers' sins into the laps of their children after them. O great and powerful God, whose name is the Lord Almighty, ¹⁹great are your purposes and mighty are your deeds. Your eyes are open to all the ways of men; you reward everyone according to his conduct and as his deeds deserve. ²⁰You performed miraculous signs and wonders in Egypt and have continued them to this day, both in Israel and among all mankind, and have gained the renown that is still yours. ²¹You brought your people Israel out of Egypt with signs and wonders, by a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with great terror. ²²You gave them this land you had sworn to give their forefathers, a land flowing with milk and honey. ²³They came in and took possession of it, but they did not obey you or follow your law; they did not do what you commanded them to do. So you brought all this disaster upon them.

²⁴"See how the siege ramps are built up to take the city. Because of the sword, famine and plague, the city will be handed over to the Babylonians who are attacking it. What you said has happened, as you now see. ²⁵And though the city will be handed over to the Babylonians, you, O Sovereign Lord, say to me, 'Buy the field with silver and have the transaction witnessed.'"

²⁶Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah: ²⁷"I am the Lord, the God of all mankind. Is anything too hard for me?" ²⁸Therefore, this is what the Lord says: I am about to hand this city over to the Babylonians and to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, who will capture it. ²⁹The Babylonians who are attacking this city will come in and set it on fire; they will burn it down, along with the houses where the people provoked me to anger by burning incense on the roofs to Baal and by pouring out drink offerings to other gods.

³⁰The people of Israel and Judah have done nothing but evil in my sight from their youth; indeed, the people of Israel have done nothing but provoke me with what their hands have made, declares the Lord. ³¹From the day it was built until now, this city has so aroused my anger and wrath that I must remove it from my sight. ³²The people of Israel and Judah have provoked me by all the evil they have done—they, their kings and officials, their priests and prophets, the men of Judah and the people of Jerusalem. ³³They turned their backs to me and not their faces, though I taught them again and again; they would not listen or respond to discipline. ³⁴They set up their abominable idols in the house that bears my Name and defiled it. ³⁵They built high places for Baal in the Valley of Ben Hinnom to sacrifice their sons and daughters^a to Molech, though I never commanded, nor did it enter my mind, that they should do such a detestable thing and so make Judah sin.

³⁶"You are saying about this city, 'By the sword, famine and plague it will be handed over to the king of Babylon'; but this is what the Lord—the God of Israel, says. ³⁷I will surely gather them from all the lands where I banish them in my furious anger and great wrath; I will bring them back to this place and let them live in safety. ³⁸They will be my people, and I will be their God. ³⁹I will give them singleness of heart and action, so that they will always fear me for their own good and the good of their children after them. ⁴⁰I will make an everlasting covenant with them. I will never stop doing good to them, and I will inspire them to fear me, so that they will never turn away from me. ⁴¹I will rejoice in doing them good and will assuredly plant them in this land with all my heart and soul.

⁴²"This is what the Lord says: As I have brought all this great calamity on this people, so I will give them all the prosperity I have promised them. ⁴³Once more fields will be bought in this land of which you say, 'It is a desolate waste, without men or animals, for it has been handed over to the Babylonians.' ⁴⁴Fields will be bought for silver, and deeds will be signed, sealed and witnessed in the territory of Benjamin, in the villages around Jerusalem, in the towns of Judah and in the towns of the hill country, of the western foothills and of

32:40 A New Covenant

The foundation of Israel was its covenant with God. It bound both sides together on the basis of clear-cut expectations (see "The Covenant," page 68). Israel had never really lived up to the covenant, however. Here (and in 31:31-34) God promised a new covenant, far better than the old one. It would change the people's thinking. Paul amplified the contrast in 2 Corinthians 3:12-3:18. The new covenant came in Christ.

the Negev because I will restore their fortunes," declares the LORD.

Promise of Restoration

33 While Jeremiah was still confined in the courtyard of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him a second time: ²"This is what the LORD says: he who made the earth, the LORD formed it and established it—the LORD is his name. Call to me and I will answer you and tell you great and unsearchable things you do not know. ³For this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says about the houses in this city and the royal palaces of Judah that have been torn down to be used against the siege ramps and the sword ⁴in the fight with the Babylonians: 'They will be built with the dead bodies of the men I will slay in my anger and in my wrath. I will hide my face from this city because of all its wickedness.

Nevertheless, I will bring health and healing ⁵and I will heal my people and will let them enjoy abundant peace and security. ⁶I will bring Judah back from captivity and will rebuild them as they were before. ⁷I will cleanse them from all the sin they have committed against me and will forgive all their sins of rebellion against me. ⁸Then this city will bring me renown, joy, praise and honor before all nations on earth that hear of all the good things I do for it, and they will be in awe and will tremble at the abundant prosperity and peace I provide for it.

This is what the LORD says: 'You say about this place: It is a desolate waste, without men or animals. Yet in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem that are deserted, inhabited by neither men nor animals, there will be heard once again the sounds of joy and gladness, the voices of bride and bridegroom, and the voices of those who bring thank offerings to the house of the LORD, saying

'Give thanks to the LORD Almighty, for the LORD is good;
his love endures forever.'

For I will restore the fortunes of the land as they were before,' says the LORD.

¹²"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'In this place, desolate and without men or animals—in all its towns there will again be pastures for shepherds to rest their flocks. ¹³In the towns of the hill country, of the western foothills and of the Negev, in the territory of Benjamin, in the villages around Jerusalem and in the towns of Judah, flocks will again pass under the hand of the one who counts them,' says the LORD.

¹⁴"The days are coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I will fulfill the gracious promise I made to the house of Israel and to the house of Judah.

¹⁵"In those days and at that time

I will make a righteous Branch sprout from David's line;

he will do what is just and right in the land.

¹⁶In those days Judah will be saved

and Jerusalem will live in safety.

This is the name by which it¹⁶ will be called:
The LORD Our Righteousness.'

¹⁷For this is what the LORD says: 'David will never fail to have a man to sit on the throne of the house of Israel, ¹⁸nor will the priests, who are Levites, ever fail to have a man to stand before me continually to offer burnt offerings, to burn grain offerings and to present sacrifices.'

¹⁹The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. ²⁰"This is what the LORD says: 'If you can break my covenant with the day and my covenant with the night, so that day and night no longer come at their appointed time, ²¹then my covenant with David my servant—and my covenant with the Levites who are priests ministering before me—can be broken and David will no longer have a descendant to reign on his throne. ²²I will make the descendants of David my servant and the Levites who minister before me as countless as the stars of the sky and as measureless as the sand on the seashore.'

²³The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ²⁴"Have you not noticed that these people are saying, 'The LORD has rejected the two kingdoms' he chose'? So they despise my people and no longer regard them as a nation. ²⁵This is what the LORD says: 'If I have not established my covenant with day and night and the fixed laws of heaven and earth, ²⁶then I will reject the descendants of Jacob and David my servant and will not choose one of his sons to rule over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes and have compassion on them.'

Warning to Zedekiah

34 While Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army and all the kingdoms and peoples in the empire he ruled were fighting against Jerusalem and all its surrounding towns, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Go to Zedekiah king of Judah and tell him, 'This is what the LORD says: I am about to hand this city over to the king of Babylon, and he will burn it down. ³You will not escape from his grasp but will surely be captured and handed over to him. You will see the king of Babylon with your own eyes, and he will speak with you face to face. And you will go to Babylon.

⁴"Yet hear the promise of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah. This is what the LORD says concerning you: You will not die by the sword; ⁵you will die peacefully. As people made a funeral fire in honor of your fathers, the former kings who preceded you, so they will make a fire in your honor and lament, 'Alas, O master!' I myself make this promise, declares the LORD.'

⁶Then Jeremiah the prophet told all this to Zedekiah king of Judah, in Jerusalem, ⁷while the army of the king of Babylon was fighting against Jerusalem and the other cities of Judah that were still holding out—Lachish and Azekah. These were the only fortified cities left in Judah.

Freedom for Slaves

⁸The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD after King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people in Jerusalem to proclaim freedom for the slaves. ⁹Everyone was to free his Hebrew slaves, both male and female, no one was to hold a fellow Jew in bondage. ¹⁰So all the officials and people who entered into this covenant agreed that they would free their male and female slaves and no longer hold them in bondage. They agreed, and set them free. ¹¹But afterward they changed their minds and took back the slaves they had freed and enslaved them again.

¹²Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. ¹³"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I made a covenant with your forefathers when I brought them out of Egypt, out of the land of slavery. I said, ¹⁴'Every seventh year each of you must free any fellow Hebrew who has sold himself to you. After he has served you six years, you must let him go free.'^a Your fathers, however, did not listen to me or pay attention to me. ¹⁵Recently you repented and did what is right in my sight: Each of you proclaimed freedom to his countrymen. You even made a covenant before me in the house that bears my Name. ¹⁶But now you have turned around and profaned my name; each of you has taken back the male and female slaves you had set free to go where they wished. You have forced them to become your slaves again.

¹⁷"Therefore, this is what the LORD says: You have not obeyed me; you have not proclaimed freedom for your fellow countrymen. So I now proclaim 'freedom' for you, declares the LORD—'freedom' to fall by the sword, plague and famine. I will make you abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth. ¹⁸The men who have violated my covenant and have not fulfilled the terms of the covenant they made before me, I will treat like the calf they cut in two and then walked between its pieces. ¹⁹The leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the court officials, the priests and all the people of the land who walked between the pieces of the calf, ²⁰I will hand over to their enemies who seek their lives. Their dead bodies will become food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth.

²¹"I will hand Zedekiah king of Judah and his officials over to their enemies who seek their lives, to the army of the king of Babylon, which has withdrawn from you. ²²I am going to give the order, declares the LORD, and I will bring them back to this city. They will fight against it, take it and burn it down. And I will lay waste the towns of Judah so no one can live there."

The Recabites

35 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD during the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah: ²"Go to the Recabite family and invite them to come to one of the side rooms of the house of the LORD and give them wine to drink."

³So I went to get Jaazaniah son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, and his brothers and all his sons—the whole family of the Recabites ⁴I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the room of the sons of Hanan son of Igdalah the man of God. It was next to the room of the officials, which was over that of Maaseiah son of Balthai the doorkeeper. ⁵Then I set bowls full of wine and some cups before the men of the Recabite family and said to them, "Drink some wine."

⁶But they replied, "We do not drink wine, because our forefather Jonadab son of Recab gave us this command: 'Neither you nor your descendants must ever drink wine. ⁷Also you must never build houses, sow seed or plant vineyards; you must never have any of these things, but must always live in tents. Then you will live a long time in the land where you are nomads.' ⁸We have obeyed everything our forefather Jonadab son of Recab commanded us. Neither we nor our wives nor our sons and daughters have ever drunk wine ⁹or built houses to live in or had vineyards, fields or crops. ¹⁰We have lived in tents and have fully obeyed everything our forefather Jonadab commanded us. ¹¹But when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon invaded this land, we said, 'Come, we must go to Jerusalem to escape the Babylonian^b and Aramean armies.' So we have remained in Jerusalem."

¹²Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: ¹³"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Go and tell the men of Judah and the people of Jerusalem, 'Will you not learn a lesson and obey my words?' declares the LORD. ¹⁴Jonadab son of Recab ordered his sons not to drink wine and this command has been kept. To this day they do not drink wine, because they obey their forefather's command. But I have spoken to you again and again, yet you have not obeyed me. ¹⁵Again and again I sent all my servants the prophets to you. They said, 'Each of you must turn from your wicked ways and reform your actions; do not follow other gods to serve them. Then you will live in the land I have given to you and your fathers.' But you have not paid attention or listened to me. ¹⁶The descendants of Jonadab son of Recab have carried out the command their forefather gave them, but these people have not obeyed me."

¹⁷"Therefore, this is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Listen! I am going to bring on Judah and on everyone living in Jerusalem every disaster I pronounced against them. I spoke to them, but they did not listen; I called to them, but they did not answer.'"

¹⁸Then Jeremiah said to the family of the Recabites, "This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'You have obeyed the command of your forefather Jonadab and have followed all his instructions and have done everything he ordered.' ¹⁹Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Jonadab son of Recab will never fail to have a man to serve me.'"

Jehoiakim Burns Jeremiah's Scroll

36 In the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²"Take a scroll and write on it all the words I have spoken to you concerning Israel, Judah and all the other nations from the time I began speaking to you in the reign of Josiah till now. Perhaps when the people of Judah hear about every disaster I plan to inflict on them, each of them will turn from his wicked way, then I will spare them wickedness and their sin."

^a14 Deut 15:12^b11 Or Chaldean

Jeremiah called Baruch son of Neriah, and Baruch dictated all the words the Lord had spoken to him. Baruch wrote them on the scroll. Then Jeremiah told Baruch, "I am restricted, I cannot go to the Lord's temple. So you go to the house of the Lord on a day of fasting and read to the people from the scroll the words of the Lord that you wrote as I dictated. Read them to all the people of Judah who come in from their towns. Perhaps they will bring their petition before the Lord, and each will turn from his wicked ways, for the anger and wrath pronounced against this people by the Lord are great."

Baruch son of Neriah did everything Jeremiah the prophet told him to do, at the Lord's temple he read the words of the Lord from the scroll. In the ninth month of the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, a time of fasting before the Lord was proclaimed for all the people in Jerusalem and those who had come from the towns of Judah. From the room of Elnathan son of Shaphan the secretary, which was in the upper courtyard at the entrance of the New Gate of the temple, Baruch read to all the people at the Lord's temple the words of Jeremiah from the scroll.

When Micaiah son of Elnathan, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the Lord from the scroll, he went down to the secretary's room in the royal palace, where all the officials were sitting. Elnathan the secretary, Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Achub, Gemariah son of Shaphan, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the other officials. After Micaiah told them everything he had heard Baruch read to the people from the scroll, all the officials sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to say to Baruch, "Bring the scroll from which you have read to the people and come." So Baruch son of Neriah went to them with the scroll in his hand. They said to him, "Sit down, please, and read it to us."

So Baruch read it to them. When they heard all these words, they looked at each other in fear and said to Baruch, "We must report all these words to Jeremiah's bizarre protests

You have not paid attention or listened to me." 35:15

Occasionally the newspaper brings us word of someone's bizarre protest. Anti-war demonstrators pour pigs' blood on a sidewalk. A young evangelist carries a heavy wooden cross from coast to coast. Monks set themselves on fire. Marchers paint their faces black. Such protests leave many people feeling uneasy. We can't imagine a serious political figure, or a respectable pastor, acting that way.

But Jeremiah's life was full of such protests, at the express command of God. He made an ox yoke and wore it everywhere until the false prophet Hananiah took it off and broke it in the temple one day. (Jeremiah prophesied Hananiah's death, and within two months he was gone.) Jeremiah's point? He wanted to emphasize the yoke of captivity the king of Babylon would put on Judah's shoulders. The story is in chapters 27-28.

On another occasion (chapter 35) Jeremiah invited a group of well-known people who abstained from drinking alcoholic beverages into a room in the temple and offered them wine. They refused, and that made another sermon. If they could remember their vows not to drink, then why couldn't the people of Judah and Jerusalem remember the words of the living God?

Nothing Was Too Undignified

Jeremiah bought a beautiful linen sash and buried it in a hole until it was ruined (chapter 13). He invited the rulers of Jerusalem on a trip outside the city, and in the midst of a sermon about God's anger smashed a pot to smithereens (chapter 19). And in his most famous "enacted parable," Jeremiah bought a farm while the Babylonian army was knocking at Jerusalem's door (chapter 32). He might as well have been a Jew buying property at Auschwitz during World War II, for all the hope he had of using it. But his action practically demonstrated hope. Someday his family would farm there again.

Why such unusual activity? It says less about Jeremiah than it does about the God who gave the orders. God would not let go of his people until he had done all in his power to turn them around. Nothing was too undignified. So long as he had the slightest hope of breaking through to them, he would keep shouting.

Life Questions. How does God get through to you? Does he use dramatic means like Jeremiah's or quieter methods?

the king." ¹⁷Then they asked Baruch, "Tell us, how did you come to write all this? Did Jeremiah dictate it?"

¹⁸Yes, Baruch replied, "he dictated all these words to me" and I wrote them in ink on the scroll.

¹⁹Then the officials said to Baruch, "You and Jeremiah, go and hide. Don't let anyone know where you are."

²⁰After they put the scroll in the room of Elishama the secretary, they went to the king in the courtyard and reported everything to him. ²¹The king sent Jehudi to get the scroll, and Jehudi brought it from the room of Elishama the secretary and read it to the king and all the officials standing beside him. ²²It was the ninth month and the king was sitting in the winter apartment, with a fire burning in the firepot in front of him. ²³Whenever Jehudi had read three or four columns of the scroll, the king cut them off with a scribe's knife and threw them into the firepot, until the entire scroll was burned in the fire. ²⁴The king and all his attendants who heard all these words showed no fear, nor did they tear their clothes. ²⁵Even though Elnathan, Delaiah and Gemariah urged the king not to burn the scroll, he would not listen to them. ²⁶Instead, the king commanded Jerahmeel, a son of the king, Seraiah son of Azriel and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to arrest Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet. But the Lord had hidden them.

²⁷After the king burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written at Jeremiah's dictation, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah. ²⁸"Take another scroll and write on it all the words that were on the first scroll, which Jehoiakim king of Judah burned up. ²⁹Also tell Jehoiakim king of Judah, 'This is what the Lord says: You burned that scroll and said, "Why did you write on it that the king of Babylon would certainly come and destroy this land and cut off both men and animals from it?"' ³⁰Therefore, this is what the Lord says about Jehoiakim king of Judah: He will have no one to sit on the throne of David; his body will be thrown out and exposed to the heat by day and the frost by night. ³¹I will punish him and his children and his attendants for their wickedness; I will bring on them and those living in Jerusalem and the people of Judah every disaster I pronounced against them, because they have not listened."

³²So Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to the scribe Baruch son of Neriah, and as Jeremiah dictated, Baruch wrote on it all the words of the scroll that Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire. And many similar words were added to them.

Jeremiah in Prison

37 Zedekiah son of Josiah was made king of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; he reigned in place of Jehoiachin^a son of Jehoiakim. ²Neither he nor his attendants nor the people of the land paid any attention to the words the Lord had spoken through Jeremiah the prophet.

³King Zedekiah, however, sent Jehucal son of Shelemiah with the priest /aphaniah son of Azzan to Jeremiah the prophet with this message: "Please pray to the Lord our God for us."

⁴Now Jeremiah was free to come and go among the people, for he had not yet been put in prison. Pharaoh's army had marched out of Egypt, and when the Babylonians^b who were besieging Jerusalem heard the report about them, they withdrew from Jerusalem.

⁵Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet. ⁷"This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: Tell the king of Judah who sends you to inquire of me, 'Pharaoh's army, which has marched out to support you, will go back to its own land, to Egypt. ⁸Then the Babylonians will return and attack this city; they will capture it and burn it down.'

¹¹After the Babylonian army had withdrawn from Jerusalem because of Pharaoh's army, Jeremiah started to leave the city to go to the territory of Benjamin to get his share of the property among the people there. ¹²But when he reached the Benjamin Gate, the captain of the guard, whose name was Irijah son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah, arrested him and said, "You are deserting to the Babylonians!"

¹⁴"That's not true!" Jeremiah said. "I am not deserting to the Babylonians." But Irijah would not listen to him; instead, he arrested Jeremiah and brought him to the officials. ¹⁵They were angry with Jeremiah and had him beaten and imprisoned in the house of Jonathan the secretary, which they had made into a prison.

¹⁶Jeremiah was put into a vaulted cell in a dungeon, where he remained a long time. ¹⁷Then King Zedekiah sent for him and had him brought to the palace, where he asked him privately, "Is there any word from the Lord?"

"Yes," Jeremiah replied, "you will be handed over to the king of Babylon."

¹⁸Then Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, "What crime have I committed against you or your offi-

37:8 The Siege Lifted

Israel was a small nation, hemmed in by bigger powers such as Egypt and Babylon. Israelite kings often attempted to keep their independence by playing off the big powers against each other. King Zedekiah tried to get Egypt to intervene against Babylon, and during this brief period it seemed he had succeeded. Because the Egyptian army marched out, Nebuchadnezzar lifted his siege of Jerusalem. Jeremiah, who had warned that this foreign policy must ultimately fail, was arrested for treason.

Jeremiah was taken to the guard and the street of the bakers each day. The city was gone. So Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.

Jeremiah Thrown Into a Cistern

38 Shephaniah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Ashub, Jehuciah son of Shelemiah, and Johanan son of Malkiah heard what Jeremiah was saying. ¹He said, ²"This is what the LORD says in this city will die by sword and plague, but whoever goes out will live. He will escape to the king of Babylon, who will capture him."

Jeremiah said to the king, "This man is discouraging the people left in this city, as well as all the officers of the army. He is saying to them, 'This city will be handed over to the king of Babylon, who will capture them.'"

King Zedekiah answered Jeremiah, "Do nothing to oppose you." So he took Jeremiah and put him into the cistern of Malkiah, the king's son, which was in the courtyard of the guard. They lowered Jeremiah into the cistern; it had no water in it, only mud. Jeremiah sank down into the mud.

Ebed-Melech, a Cushite, an official in the palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the cistern. While the king was sitting in the palace, ³Ebed-Melech went out of the palace, ⁴"My lord the king, these men have done this to the prophet. They have thrown him into a cistern, where he will starve to death when there is no water in the cistern."

The king commanded Ebed-Melech the Cushite, "Take thirty men from here with you and get Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern before they die."

38:9 Close to Death

Jeremiah was arrested during the long, final siege of Jerusalem—a time when food became so short some Israelites resorted to cannibalism. Imprisoned at the bottom of an empty cistern, the prophet could easily have starved to death. Interestingly, only a foreigner cared enough to go to the king and convince him to let Jeremiah out. For this, Ebed-Melech received a special message from God (39:15-18).

Ebed-Melech took the men with him and went to a room under the treasury in the palace. He took some old rags and worn-out clothes from there and let them down with ropes to Jeremiah in the cistern. Ebed-Melech the Cushite said to Jeremiah, "Put these old rags and worn-out clothes under your arms to pad the ropes." Jeremiah did so. Then they pulled him up with the ropes and lifted him out of the cistern. And Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.

Zedekiah Questions Jeremiah Again

Then King Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah the prophet and had him brought to the third entrance to the temple of the LORD. I am going to ask you something," the king said to Jeremiah. "Do not hide anything from me."

Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "If I give you an answer, will you not kill me? Even if I did give you counsel, you would not listen to me."

But King Zedekiah swore this oath secretly to Jeremiah: "As surely as the LORD lives, who has given us breath, I will neither kill you nor hand you over to those who are seeking your life."

Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "This is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'If you surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, your life will be spared and this city will not be burned down; you and your family will live.'

But if you will not surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, this city will be handed over to the Babylonians and they will burn it down; you yourself will not escape from their hands.'

King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the Jews who have gone over to the Babylonians, for the Babylonians may hand me over to them and they will mistreat me."

"They will not hand you over," Jeremiah replied. "Obey the LORD by doing what I tell you. Then it will go well with you, and your life will be spared. But if you refuse to surrender, this is what the LORD has revealed to me: All the women left in the palace of the king of Judah will be brought out to the officials of the king of Babylon. Those women will say to you:

"They misled you and overcame you—those trusted friends of yours. Your feet are sunk in the mud; your friends have deserted you."

All your wives and children will be brought out to the Babylonians. You yourself will not escape from their hands but will be captured by the king of Babylon; and this city will be burned down."

Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Do not let anyone know about this conversation, or you may die. If the officials hear that I talked with you, and they come to you and say, 'Tell us what you said to the king and what the king said to you; do not hide it from us or we will kill you,' then tell them, 'I was pleading with the king not to send me back to Jonathan's house to die there.'"

All the officials did come to Jeremiah and ques-¹⁸And Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard until the day Jerusalem was captured.

The Fall of Jerusalem

39 This is how Jerusalem was taken. In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon marched against Jerusalem with his whole army and laid siege to it. ²And on the ninth day of the fourth month of Zedekiah's eleventh year, the city wall was broken through. ³Then all the officials of the king of Babylon came and took seats in the Middle Gate. Nergal-Sharezer of Samgar, Nebonarsekim a chief officer, Nergal-Sharezer a high official and all the other officials of the king of Babylon. ⁴When Zedekiah king of Judah and all the soldiers saw them, they fled; they left the city at night by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls, and headed toward the Arabah.⁵

⁹The Babylonians¹³ set fire to the royal palace and the houses of the people and broke down the walls of Jerusalem. ¹⁰Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard carried into exile to Babylon the people who remained in the city, along with those who had gone over to him, and the rest of the people. ¹¹But Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard left behind in the land of Judah some of the poor people, who owned nothing; and at that time he gave them vineyards and fields.

¹²Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had given these orders about Jeremiah through Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard: ¹³"Take him and look after him; don't harm him but do for him whatever he asks." ¹⁴So Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard, Nebushazban a chief officer, Nergal-Sharezer a high official and all the other officers of the king of Babylon ¹⁵sent and had Jeremiah taken out of the courtyard of the guard. They turned him over to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, to take him back to his home. So he remained among his own people.

¹⁶While Jeremiah had been confined in the courtyard of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him: ¹⁷"Go and tell Ebed-Melech the Cushite,

This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am about to fulfill my words against this city through disaster, not prosperity. At that time they will be fulfilled before your eyes. ¹⁸But I will rescue you on that day, declares the LORD; you will not be handed over to those you fear. ¹⁹I will save you; you will not fall by the sword but will escape with your life, because you trust in me, declares the LORD."

Jeremiah Freed

40 The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD after Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had released him at Ramah. He had found Jeremiah bound in chains among all the captives from Jerusalem and Judah who were being carried into exile to Babylon. ²When the commander of the guard found Jeremiah, he said to him: The LORD your God decreed this disaster for this place. ³And now the LORD has brought it about; he has done just as he said he would. All this happened because you people sinned against the LORD and did not obey him. ⁴But today I am freeing you from the chains on your wrists. Come with me to Babylon, if you like, and I will look after you; but if you do not want to, then don't come. Look, the whole country lies before you; go wherever you please.⁵ ⁶However, before Jeremiah turned to go,⁷ Nebuzaradan added, "Go back to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has appointed over the towns of Judah, and live with him among the people, or go anywhere else you please."

Then the commander gave him provisions and a present and let him go. ⁸So Jeremiah went to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah and stayed with him among the people who were left behind in the land.

Gedaliah Assassinated

¹When all the army officers and their men who were still in the open country heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam as governor over the land and had put him in charge of the men, women and children who were the poorest in the land and who had not been carried into exile to Babylon, ²they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah³ the son of the Maacathite, and their men. ³Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, took an oath to reassure them and their men. "Do not be afraid to serve the Babylonians,"⁴ he said. "Settle down in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with you. ⁵I myself will stay at Mizpah to represent you before the Babylonians who come to us, but you are to harvest the wine, summer fruit and oil, and put them in your storage jars, and live in the towns you have taken over."

11Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers in the open country came to Gedaliah at Mizpah. He said to him, "Don't you know that Baalis king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to take your life?" But Gedaliah son of Ahikam did not believe them.

12Then Johanan son of Kareah said privately to Gedaliah in Mizpah, "Let me go and kill Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and no one will know it. Why should he take your life and cause all the Jews who are gathered around you to be scattered and the remnant of Judah to perish?"

13But Gedaliah son of Ahikam said to Johanan son of Kareah, "Don't do such a thing! What you are saying about Ishmael is not true."

41 In the seventh month Ishmael son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, who was of royal blood and had been one of the king's officers, came with ten men to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah. While they were eating together there, 2Ishmael son of Nethaniah and the ten men who were with him got up and struck down Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword, killing the one whom the king of Babylon had appointed as governor over the land. 3Ishmael also killed all the Jews who were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, as well as the Babylonian^a soldiers who were there.

4The day after Gedaliah's assassination, before anyone knew about it, 5eighty men who had shaved off their beards, torn their clothes and cut themselves came from Shechem, Shiloh and Samaria bringing grain offerings and incense with them to the house of the LORD. 6Ishmael son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went. When he met them, he said, "Come to Gedaliah son of Ahikam." 7When they went into the city, Ishmael son of Nethaniah and the men who were with him slaughtered them and threw them into a cistern. 8But ten of them said to Ishmael, "Don't kill us! We have wheat and barley, oil and honey, hidden in a field." So he let them alone and did not kill them with the others. 9Now the cistern where he threw all the bodies of the men he had killed along with Gedaliah was the one King Asa had made as part of his defense against Baasha king of Israel. Ishmael son of Nethaniah killed it with the dead.

10Ishmael made captives of all the rest of the people who were in Mizpah—the king's daughters along with all the others who were left there, over whom Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam. Ishmael son of Nethaniah took them captive and set out to cross over to the Ammonites.

11When Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him heard about all the crimes Ishmael son of Nethaniah had committed, 12they took all their men and went to fight Ishmael son of Nethaniah. They caught up with him near the great pool in Gibeon. 13When all the people Ishmael had with him saw Johanan son of Kareah and the army officers who were with him, they were glad. 14All the people Ishmael had taken captive at Mizpah turned and went over to Johanan son of Kareah. 15But Ishmael son of Nethaniah and eight of his men escaped from Johanan and fled to the Ammonites.

Flight to Egypt

16Then Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him led away all the survivors from Mizpah whom he had recovered from Ishmael son of Nethaniah after he had assassinated Gedaliah son of Ahikam—the soldiers, women, children and court officials he had brought from Gibeon. 17And they went on, stopping at Geruth Kimham near Bethlehem on their way to Egypt 18to escape the Babylonians.^b They were afraid of them because Ishmael son of Nethaniah had killed Gedaliah son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had appointed as governor over the land.

42 Then all the army officers, including Johanan son of Kareah and Jezaniah^c son of Hoshai, and all the people from the least to the greatest approached 2Jeremiah the prophet and said to him, "Please hear our petition and pray to the LORD your God for this entire remnant. For as you now see, though we were once many, now only a few are left. 3Pray that the LORD your God will tell us where we should go and what we should do."

4"I have heard you," replied Jeremiah the prophet. "I will certainly pray to the LORD your God as you have requested; I will tell you everything the LORD says and will keep nothing back from you."

5Then they said to Jeremiah, "May the LORD be a true and faithful witness against us if we do not act in accordance with everything the LORD your God sends you to tell us. 6Whether it is favorable or unfavorable, we will obey the LORD our God, to whom we are sending you, so that it will go well with us, for we will obey the LORD our God."

Ten days later the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. 8So he called together Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him and all the people from the least to the greatest. 9He said to them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition, says. 10If you stay in this land, I will build you up and not tear you down. I will plant you and not uproot you, for I am grieved over the disaster I have inflicted on you. 11Do not be afraid

40:12 False Hopes

The Babylonians, once they had captured rebel Jerusalem, left some of the common people behind under a governor. When other Jews scattered in the region heard news of this, they came home and gathered an excellent harvest—undoubtedly from fields the exiles had left behind. But even this small nucleus of Jews was to be scattered—this time due to local political in-fighting.

of the king of Babylon whom you now fear. Do not be afraid of him, declares the LORD, for I am with you and will save you and deliver you from his hands. ¹¹ I will show you compassion so that he will have compassion on you and restore you to your land.

¹² However if you say, "We will not stay in this land, and we declare the LORD your God, ¹³ and if we do so, we will go and live in Egypt, where we will not see war or hear the trumpet or be taken as booty." ¹⁴ Then hear the word of the LORD, the God of Israel, says: "If you are determined to go to Egypt and you do go to settle there,

¹⁵ the sword you fear will overtake you there, and the famine you dread will follow you into Egypt, and there you will die. ¹⁶ Indeed, all who decide to go to Egypt to settle there will die by the sword, famine and plague, not one of them will survive or escape the disaster I will bring on them." ¹⁷ This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "As my anger and wrath have been poured out on those who lived in Jerusalem, so my wrath will be poured out on you when you go to Egypt. You will be an object of cursing and scorn, contempt and reproach; you will say, 'I have sinned.'"

¹⁸ ¹⁹ Then the LORD said to Jeremiah, the LORD has told you, do not go to Egypt. Be sure of this: I warn you, says the LORD, "You made a fatal mistake when you said, 'We will not obey the LORD our God and said, "Pray to the LORD for us, tell us everything he says and we will do it." I have told you today, but you did not obey the LORD your God in all he said to tell you. ²² So now, be sure of this: You will die by the sword, famine and plague in the place where you want to go to settle."

43 When Jeremiah finished telling the people the words of the LORD their God—everything the LORD had sent him to tell them—² Azaniah son of Hoshaiah and Johanan son of Kareah and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, "You are lying. The LORD our God has not sent you to say, 'You must not go to Egypt to settle there.' ³ But Baruch son of Neriah is inciting you against us to hand us over to the Babylonians,⁴ so they may kill us or carry us into exile to Babylon."

⁵ So Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers and all the people disobeyed the LORD's command to stay in the land of Judah. ⁶ Instead, Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers led away all the remnant of Judah who had come back to live in the land of Judah from all the nations where they had been scattered. ⁷ They also led away all the men, women and children and the king's daughters whom Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had left with Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch son of Neriah. ⁸ So they entered Egypt in disobedience to the LORD and went as far as Tahpanhes.

⁹ In Tahpanhes the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. ¹⁰ While the Jews are watching, take some large stones with you and bury them in clay in the brick pavement at the entrance to Pharaoh's palace in Tahpanhes. ¹¹ Then say to them, "This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and I will set his throne over these stones I have buried here; he will spread his royal canopy above them. ¹² He will come and attack Egypt, bringing death to those destined for death, captivity to those destined for captivity, and the sword to those destined for the sword. ¹³ He will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt; he will burn their temples and take their gods captive. As a shepherd wraps his garment around him, so will he wrap Egypt around himself and depart from there unscathed. ¹⁴ There in the temple of the sun^d in Egypt he will demolish the sacred pillars and will burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt."

Disaster Because of Idolatry

44 This word came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews living in Lower Egypt—in Migdol, Tahpanhes and Memphis—and in Upper Egypt: ² "This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You saw the great disaster I brought on Jerusalem and on all the towns of Judah. Today they lie deserted and in ruins ³ because of the evil they have done. They provoked me to anger by burning incense and by worshiping other gods that neither they nor you nor your fathers ever knew. ⁴ Again and again I sent my servants the prophets, who said, 'Do not do this detestable thing that I hate!' ⁵ But they did not listen or pay attention; they did not turn from their wickedness or stop burning incense to other gods. ⁶ Therefore, my fierce anger was poured out; it raged against the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem and made them the desolate ruins they are today.

⁷ "Now this is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Why bring such great disaster on yourselves by cutting off from Judah the men and women, the children and infants, and so leave yourselves without a remnant? ⁸ Why provoke me to anger with what your hands have made, burning incense to other gods in Egypt, where you have come to live? You will destroy yourselves and make yourselves an object of cursing and reproach among all the nations on earth. ⁹ Have you forgotten the wickedness committed by your fathers and

43:3 Closed Minds

Jeremiah was kidnapped by the few Israelites remaining in Jerusalem. Fearful that the Babylonians would blame them for the governor's murder, they took Jeremiah with them as they headed for Egypt. They stopped near Bethlehem to ask Jeremiah if they were doing the right thing. When he told them God wanted them to go back, they called him a liar. Jeremiah was disbelieved from the beginning to the end of his ministry—even by those who had seen some of his predictions come true.

INSIGHT

World at War

While nations battle, God is in control

"The sword will devour till it is satisfied, till it has quenched its thirst with blood." 46:10

Pick up the newspaper. Scenes from around the world are displayed on the front page. In the Middle East, a bomb explodes and a building collapses. Bodies lie in the gutter. Women howl with anguish over their dead.

Then you are in Africa. Revolutionaries, rifles brandished over their heads, march through captured streets. In a European capital, rescuers rush to a burning restaurant and carry out on stretchers the moaning victims of a terrorist attack. Next, in Asia, starving children grimace at you, too far gone to beg for food. The world is whirling out of control. Your mind cannot take it in; one disaster muddles with another.

God Is in Control

In chapters 46 to 50, Jeremiah gives a similar portrait of the world. We flash by imagination from one country to the next. We smell the rotting bodies; we hear the exultant cries of conquerors. Jeremiah shows, in vivid color, a world as frightening as ours.

But there is a difference. The news leaves us with a dizzy feeling that chaos reigns. But Jeremiah's vision shows, paradoxically, that God is in control. Through these disasters God punishes those who have opposed his will. As Israel's neighbors are destroyed, exiled Jews are freed to return to their land. History is not just "one thing after another." God gives it a sense of direction.

Jeremiah delivered his longest and most biting message to Babylon, Judah's conqueror. Their sheer arrogance, their assumption that they could do whatever they liked, drew God's fury. To a lesser degree, other countries followed the same pattern. God did not judge them by his law, because they never knew it. He judged them for their pride. They ought to have shown humility before God.

Life Questions: Can you discern any pattern or purpose to the violence in the world today?

Get up, let us go back
 we will escape our native lands
 we will be sword of the oppressor
 we will exclaim
 The king of Egypt is only a loud voice
 who missed his opportunity

"As I live," declares the Lord,
 some is the Lord Almighty some who is like Laban among the mountains
 As I live, by the sea
 As your belongings for exile
 you who live in Egypt
 Memphis will be laid waste and be in ruins without inhabitant

"Egypt is a beautiful heifer,
 but a gadfly is coming against her from the north.
 The mercenaries in her ranks
 are like fattened calves.
 They too will turn and flee together,
 they will not stand their ground for the day of disaster is coming upon
 them.
 The time for them to be punished
 Egypt will hiss like a fleeing serpent
 as the enemy advances in force,
 they will come against her with axes,
 like men who cut down trees.
 They will chop down her forest,"
 declares the Lord,
 dense though it be.
 They are more numerous than locusts,
 they cannot be counted
 The Daughter of Egypt will be put to shame
 handed over to the people of the north."

"The Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'I am about to bring punishment on Amon god of Thebes or Pharaoh, on Egypt and her gods and her kings, and on those who rely on Pharaoh. 26 I will hand them over to those who seek their lives, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and his officers. Later, however, Egypt will be inhabited as in times past' declares the Lord.

"Do not fear, O Jacob my servant;
 do not be dismayed, O Israel.
 I will surely save you out of a distant place,
 your descendants from the land of their
 exile
 Jacob will again have peace and security,
 and no one will make him afraid.
 "Do not fear, O Jacob my servant,
 for I am with you," declares the Lord.
 Though I completely destroy all the nations
 among which I scatter you,
 I will not completely destroy you.
 I will discipline you but only with justice;
 I will not let you go entirely unpunished."

A Message About the Philistines

47 This is the word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the Philistines before Pharaoh attacked Gaza

2 This is what the Lord says

See how the waters are rising to the north
 they will become an overflowing torrent
 They will overflow the land and everything in
 it

the towns and those who live in them
 The people will cry out
 all who dwell in the land will wail
 At the sound of the hoofs of galloping steeds,
 at the noise of enemy chariots
 and the rumble of their wheels Fathers will not turn to help their children, their hands will hang limp

4 For the day has come to destroy all the Philistines and to cut off all survivors who could help Tyre and Sidon
 The Lord is about to destroy the Philistines,
 the remnant from the coasts of Caphtor.^b

5 Gaza will shave her head in mourning,
 Ashkelon will be silenced.
 O remnant on the plain,
 how long will you cut yourselves?

6 "Ah, sword of the Lord," you cry,
 'how long till you rest?
 Return to your scabbard;
 cease and be still.'

7 But how can it rest
 when the Lord has commanded it,
 when he has ordered it to attack Ashkelon and the coast?"

A Message About Moab

48 Concerning Moab:

This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

"Woe to Nebo, for it will be ruined.
 Kinathaim will be disgraced and captured;
 the stronghold will be disgraced and
 shattered.

2 Moab will be praised no more;
 in Heshbon^d men will plot her downfall:
 'Come, let us put an end to that nation.'
 You too, O Madmen,^e will be silenced;
 the sword will pursue you.

3 Listen to the cries from Horonaim,
 cries of great havoc and destruction.

4 Moab will be broken;
 her little ones will cry out.^f

5 They go up the way to Luhith,
 weeping bitterly as they go;
 on the road down to Horonaim anguished cries over the destruction are heard.

and Chemosh will go into exile
together with his priests and officials.
The destroyer will come against every town,
and not a town will escape.
The valley will be ruined
and the plateau destroyed
because the LORD has spoken.
Not salt on Moab
for she will be laid waste;
her towns will become desolate
with no one to live in them.

* A curse on him who is lax in doing the LORD's work!
A curse on him who keeps his sword from bloodshed!

Moab has been at rest from youth,
like wine left on its dregs,
not moved from one jar to another—
she has not gone into exile
so she tastes as she did
and her aroma is unchanged.
But times are coming
declares the LORD
when I will send men who pour from jars,
and they will pour her out,
they will empty her jars
and smash her jugs.
Then Moab will be ashamed of Chemosh,
as the house of Israel was ashamed
when they trusted in Bethel.

* How can you say, 'We are warriors,
men valiant in battle'?
Moab will be destroyed and her towns invaded;
her finest young men will go down in the slaughter,'
declares the King, whose name is the LORD
Almighty.
* The tail of Moab is at hand,
her calamity will come quickly.
Mourn for her, all who live around her,
all who know her fame,
say, 'How broken is the mighty scepter,
how broken the glorious staff!'

18 "Come down from your glory
and sit on the parched ground,
O inhabitants of the Daughter of Dibon,
for he who destroys Moab
will come up against you and ruin your fortified cities.

19 Stand by the road and watch,
you who live in Arner.
Ask the man fleeing and the woman escaping,
ask them, 'What has happened?'
20 Moab is disgraced, for she is shattered.
Wail and cry out!
Announce by the Arnon
that Moab is destroyed.
21 Judgment has come to the plateau—
to Holon, Jahzah and Mephaath, 22 to Dibon, Nebo and Beth Diblathaim,
23 to Kiriathaim, Beth Gamul and Beth Meon, 24 to Kerioth and Bozrah—
to all the towns of Moab, far and near.
25 Moab's horn^b is cut off,
her arm is broken,"

declares the LORD.

26 "Make her drunk,
for she has defied the LORD.
Let Moab wallow in her vomit;
let her be an object of ridicule.
27 Was not Israel the object of your ridicule?
Was she caught among thieves,
that you shake your head in scorn
whenever you speak of her?
28 Abandon your towns and dwell among the rocks,
you who live in Moab.
Be like a dove that makes its nest
at the mouth of a cave.

29 "We have heard of Moab's pride—
her overweening pride and conceit,
her pride and arrogance
and the haughtiness of her heart.
30 I know her insolence but it is futile,"
declares the LORD,
"and her boasts accomplish nothing.

31 Therefore I wail over Moab,
for all Moab I cry out,
I moan for the men of Kir Hareseth.
32 I weep for you, as Jazer weeps,
O vines of Sibmah.
Your branches spread as far as the sea;
they reached as far as the sea of Jazer.
The destroyer has fallen
on your ripened fruit and grapes.
33 Joy and gladness are gone
from the orchards and fields of Moab.
I have stopped the flow of wine from the presses;
no one treads them with shouts of joy.
Although there are shouts,
they are not shouts of joy.

34 "The sound of their cry rises from Heshbon to Elealeh and Jahaz, from Zoar as far as Horonaim and Eglath Shelishiyah,
for even the waters of Nimrim are dried up.
35 In Moab I will put an end to those who make offerings on the high places

48:7 An Exiled God

The gods of the Middle East tended to occupy a certain territory—thus each city had its own god. Chemosh, the chief god of Moab, was worshiped through child sacrifice (2 Kings 3:27). Here Jeremiah predicts that not only would the Moabites go into exile—their god would too. These gods were powerless before the God of Israel.

^a Or Give songs to Moab for she will fly away

^b 25 Horn here symbolizes strength

"A burnt offering to their gods,"
declares the LORD

"My heart laments for Moab like a flute, laments like a flute for the men of Kir Hareseth

For the wealth they acquired is gone
every head is shaved
and every beard cut off,
every hand is slashed
and every waist is covered with sackcloth.

Like the roots in Moab
and in the public squares
there is nothing but mourning for I have broken Moab
like a jar that no one wants

declares the LORD

"How shattered she is! How they wail!
How Moab turns her back in shame!
Moab has become an object of ridicule,
an object of horror to all those around her."

This is what the LORD says

Look! An eagle is swooping down, spreading its wings over Moab.
Kemoths will be captured and the strongholds taken that day the hearts of Moab's warriors
will be like the heart of a woman in labor.
Moab will be destroyed as a nation
because she defied the LORD
and put and snare await you, O people of Moab

declares the LORD.

"Whoever flees from the terror
will fall into a pit whoever climbs out of the pit
will be caught in a snare,
I will bring upon Moab
the year of her punishment,"

declares the LORD

In the shadow of Heshbon
the fugitives stand helpless
as they have been cut from Heshbon
as they have been cut from the midst of Sihon burns the torchheads of Moab
the skulls of the noisy boasters
I will bring to you, O Moab!
The people of Chemosh are destroyed;
sons are taken into exile
and your daughters into captivity.

"Yet I will restore the fortunes of Moab
in days to come,"
declares the LORD.

Here ends the judgment on Moab

A Message About Ammon

49 Concerning the Ammonites:

This is what the LORD says:

Has Israel no sons?

Has she no heirs?

Why then has Molech^b taken possession of Gad?

Why do his people live in its towns?
But the days are coming,"

declares the LORD.

"When I will sound the battle cry against Rabbah of the Ammonites;
it will become a mound of ruins,
and its surrounding villages will be set on fire

Then Israel will drive out those who drove her out,"

says the LORD.

"Wail, O Heshbon, for Ai is destroyed!
Cry out, O inhabitants of Rabbah!
Put on sackcloth and mourn;
rush here and there inside the walls,
for Molech will go into exile,
together with his priests and officials.

"Why do you boast of your valleys,
boast of your valleys so fruitful?
O unfaithful daughter,
you trust in your riches and say,
'Who will attack me?'

"I will bring terror on you from all those around you,"
declares the LORD, the LORD Almighty.

"Every one of you will be driven away,
and no one will gather the fugitives.

"Yet afterward, I will restore the fortunes of the Ammonites,"
declares the LORD.

A Message About Edom

7Concerning Edom:

This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Is there no longer wisdom in Teman?
Has counsel perished from the prudent?
Has their wisdom decayed?

8Turn and flee, hide in deep caves,
you who live in Dedan,
for I will bring disaster on Esau
at the time I punish him.

9If grape pickers came to you,
would they not leave a few grapes?

If thieves came during the night,
would they not steal only as much as they wanted?

10But I will strip Esau bare;
I will uncover his hiding places,
so that he cannot conceal himself.

His children, relatives and neighbors will
perish,
and he will be no more.

11Leave your orphans; I will protect their lives.
Your widows too can trust in me."

12This is what the LORD says: "If those who do not deserve to drink the cup must drink it, why should you go unpunished? You will not go unpunished, but must drink it. 13I swear by myself," declares the LORD, "that Bozrah will become a ruin
and an object of horror, of reproach and of cursing;
and all its towns will be in ruins forever."

14I have heard a message from the LORD:

^a41 Or The cities

^b42 Or their king. Hebrew malcam, also in verse 3

An envoy was sent to the nations to say,
"Assemble yourselves to attack it!
Rise up for battle!"

15 "Now I will make you small among the
nations,
despised among men.

16 The terror you inspire and the pride of your heart have deceived
you,

you who live in the clefts of the rocks,
who occupy the heights of the hill.
Though you build your nest as high as the eagle's,
from there I will bring you down,"

declares the LORD.

17 "Edom will become an object of horror;
all who pass by will be appalled and will scoff
because of all its wounds.

18 As Sodom and Gomorrah were overthrown,
along with their neighboring towns,"

says the LORD,

"so no one will live there;
no man will dwell in it.

19 "Like a lion coming up from Jordan's thickets
to a rich pastureland,
I will chase Edom from its land in an instant.
Who is the chosen one I will appoint for
this?

Who is like me and who can challenge me?

And what shepherd can stand against me?"

20 Therefore, hear what the LORD has planned
against Edom,

what he has purposed against those who live
in Teman:

The young of the flock will be dragged away;
he will completely destroy their pasture
because of them

21 At the sound of their fall the earth will tremble, their cry will resound to the Red Sea.¹

22 Look! An eagle will soar and swoop down, spreading its wings over Bozrah

In that day the hearts of Edom's warriors
will be like the heart of a woman in labor

A Message About Kedar and Hazor

28 Concerning Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon attacked:

This is what the LORD says:

"Arise, and attack Kedar
and destroy the people of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks will be taken,
their shelters will be carried off
with all their goods and camels.

Men will shout to them,
"Terror on every side!"

30 Flee quickly away!

Stay in deep caves, you who live in Hazor,"
declares the LORD

"Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has plotted against you.

he has devised a plan against you.

31 "Anse and attack a nation at ease,
which lives in confidence,"

declares the LORD,

"a nation that has neither gates nor bars;
its people live alone.

32 Their camels will become plunder,
and their large herds will be booty.

I will scatter to the winds those who are in distant places

and will bring disaster on them from every side."

declares the LORD.

33 Hazor will become a haunt of jackals,
a desolate place forever.

No one will live there;
no man will dwell in it."

A Message About Elam

34 This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning Elam, early in the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah.

35 This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"See, I will break the bow of Elam,
the mainstay of their might

36 I will bring against Elam the four winds from the four quarters of the heavens;

I will scatter them to the four winds,
and there will not be a nation
where Elam's exiles do not go.

37 I will shatter Elam before their foes,
before those who seek their lives;

I will bring disaster upon them,
even my fierce anger."

declares the LORD.

38 "I will pursue them with the sword
until I have made an end of them.

39 I will set my throne in Elam and destroy her king and officials."

declares the LORD

40 Yet I will restore the fortunes of Elam

A Message About Babylon

50 This is the word the LORD spoke through Jeremiah the prophet concerning Babylon and the land of the Babylonians^a

Announce and proclaim among the nations, lift up a banner and proclaim it,
keep nothing back, but say Babylon will be captured,
Babylon will be put to shame,
Marduk filled with terror
Her images will be put to shame and her idols filled with terror.¹
A nation from the north will attack her and lay waste her land
No one will live in it,
both men and animals will flee away

² In those days, at that time,²
declares the LORD,
the people of Israel and the people of Judah together
will go in tears to seek the LORD their God
They will ask the way to Zion and turn their faces toward it
They will come and bind themselves to the LORD
in an everlasting covenant
that will not be forgotten

³ My people have been lost sheep, their shepherds have led them astray
and caused them to roam on the mountains.
They wandered over mountain and hill
and forgot their own resting place.
Whoever found them devoured them;
their enemies said, 'We are not guilty,
for they sinned against the LORD, their true pasture
the LORD, the hope of their fathers.'

⁴ Flee out of Babylon
leave the land of the Babylonians,
and be like the goats that lead the flock.
⁵ For I will stir up and bring against Babylon an alliance of great nations from the land of the north

They will take up their positions against her,
and from the north she will be captured.
Their arrows will be like skilled warriors who do not return empty-handed.

¹⁰ So Babylonia^b will be plundered;
all who plunder her will have their fill,¹⁰
declares the LORD.

¹¹ Because you rejoice and are glad,
you who pillage my inheritance,
because you frolic like a heifer threshing grain
and neigh like stallions, ¹² your mother will be greatly ashamed;
she who gave you birth will be disgraced.
She will be the least of the nations—
a wilderness, a dry land, a desert.

¹³ Because of the LORD's anger she will not be inhabited
but will be completely desolate
All who pass Babylon will be horrified and scoff
because of all her wounds.

¹⁴ Take up your positions around Babylon,
all you who draw the bow.

Shoot at her! Spare no arrows,
for she has sinned against the LORD.

¹⁵ Shout against her on every side!
She surrenders, her towers fall,
her walls are torn down.
Since this is the vengeance of the LORD,
take vengeance on her,
do to her as she has done to others

¹⁶ Cut off from Babylon the sower,
and the reaper with his sickle at harvest.
Because of the sword of the oppressor
let everyone return to his own people, let everyone flee to his own land.

¹⁷ Israel is a scattered flock that lions have chased away.
The first to devour him
was the king of Assyria;
the last to crush his bones
was Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.¹⁷

¹⁸ Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

"I will punish the king of Babylon and his land
as I punished the king of Assyria.

¹⁹ But I will bring Israel back to his own pasture and he will graze on Carmel and Bashan;
his appetite will be satisfied
on the hills of Ephraim and Gilead.

²⁰ In those days, at that time,²⁰
declares the LORD,
"search will be made for Israel's guilt,
but there will be none,
and for the sins of Judah,
but none will be found,
for I will forgive the remnant I spare.

²¹ Attack the land of Merathaim and those who live in Pekod.
Pursue, kill and completely destroy^c them,"
declares the LORD.

"Do everything I have commanded you.

²² The noise of battle is in the land,
the noise of great destruction!

²³ How broken and shattered is the hammer of the whole earth!
How desolate is Babylon

50:20 An End to Guilt

For 50 chapters the book of Jeremiah exposes Israel's guilt. Because of it, punishment was bound to come. Yet the forgiveness to come from God will be as absolute as the guilt: a search for Israel's sins will not uncover a single one.

30 Therefore, her young men will fall in the streets;
 all her soldiers will be silenced in that day,"
 declares the LORD.

31 "See, I am against you, O arrogant one,"
 declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty,
 "for your day has come,
 the time for you to be punished

32 The arrogant one will stumble and fall
 and no one will help her up,
 I will kindle a fire in her towns
 that will consume all who are around her "

33 This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"The people of Israel are oppressed, and the people of Judah as well
 All their captors hold them fast, refusing to let them go

34 Yet their Redeemer is strong;
 the LORD Almighty is his name.
 He will vigorously defend their cause
 so that he may bring rest to their land,
 but unrest to those who live in Babylon.

35 "A sword against the Babylonians!"
 declares the LORD—
 "against those who live in Babylon
 and against her officials and wise men!
 36 A sword against her false prophets!
 They will become fools
 A sword against her warriors!
 They will be filled with terror

37 A sword against her horses and chariots
 and all the foreigners in her ranks!
 They will become women.
 A sword against her treasures!
 They will be plundered.

38 A drought on her waters!
 They will dry up.
 For it is a land of idols,
 idols that will go mad with terror

39 "So desert creatures and hyenas will live there,
 and there the owl will dwell
 It will never again be inhabited or lived in from generation to generation

40 As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah
 along with their neighboring towns,"
 declares the LORD.

"So no one will live there,
 no man will dwell in it.

41 "Look! An army is coming from the north;
 a great nation and many kings are being stirred up from the ends of the earth.

42 They are armed with bows and spears;
 they are cruel and without mercy
 They sound like the roaring sea
 as they ride on their horses;
 they come like men in battle formation
 to attack you, O Daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon has heard reports about
 them,
 and his hands hang limp.

Anguish has gripped him,
 pain like that of a woman in labor.

44 Like a lion coming up from Jordan's thickets
 to a rich pastureland,
 I will chase Babylon from its land in an instant.
 Who is the chosen one I will appoint for
 this?

Who is like me and who can challenge me?
 And what shepherd can stand against me?"

45 Therefore, hear what the LORD has planned
 against Babylon,
 what he has purposed against the land of the Babylonians

The young of the flock will be dragged away;
 he will completely destroy their pasture
 because of them.

46 At the sound of Babylon's capture the earth will tremble;
 its cry will resound among the nations.

51 This is what the LORD says.

"See, I will stir up the spirit of a destroyer against Babylon and the people of Leb Kamai.^b

2 I will send foreigners to Babylon to winnow her and to devastate her land, they will oppose her on every side
 in the day of her disaster

 They will fall down slain in Babylon,^b fatally wounded in her streets.
 For Israel and Judah have not been forsaken by their God, the LORD Almighty, though their land is full of guilt
 before the Holy One of Israel

Flee from Babylon!
 Run for your lives!
 Do not be destroyed because of her sins.
 It is time for the LORD's vengeance;
 he will pay her what she deserves.
 Babylon was a gold cup in the LORD's hand,
 she made the whole earth drunk
 The nations drank her wine,
 therefore they have now gone mad.
 Babylon will suddenly fall and be broken.
 Wail over her!
 Get balm for her pain,
 perhaps she can be healed

We would have healed Babylon,
 but she cannot be healed;
 we will leave her and each go to his own land,
 for her judgment reaches to the skies,
 as high as the clouds.^c

The LORD has vindicated us, come let us tell in Zion
 what the LORD our God has done.^d

Sharpen the arrows, take up the shields!
 The LORD has stirred up the kings of the Medes
 because his purpose is to destroy Babylon.
 The LORD will take vengeance, vengeance for his temple
 Lift up a banner against the walls of Babylon!
 Reinforce the guard,
 station the watchmen,
 prepare an ambush!
 The LORD will carry out his purpose,
 his decree against the people of Babylon.
 You who live by many waters
 and are rich in treasures,
 your end has come,
 the time for you to be cut off
 The LORD Almighty has sworn by himself:
 I will surely fill you with men, as with a swarm of locusts,
 and they will shout in triumph over you.

He made the earth by his power;
 he founded the world by his wisdom
 and stretched out the heavens by his
 understanding
 When he thunders, the waters in the heavens
 roar,
 he makes clouds rise from the ends of the
 earth
 He sends lightning with the rain
 and brings out the wind from his
 storehouses

17"Every man is senseless and without
 knowledge;
 every goldsmith is shamed by his idols.
 His images are a fraud;
 they have no breath in them.
 18They are worthless, the objects of mockery;
 when their judgment comes, they will
 perish.

19He who is the Portion of Jacob is not like these,
 for he is the Maker of all things,
 including the tribe of his inheritance—
 the LORD Almighty is his name.

20"You are my war club,
 my weapon for battle—
 with you I shatter nations,
 with you I destroy kingdoms, 21with you I shatter horse and rider,
 with you I shatter chariot and driver, 22with you I shatter man and woman,
 with you I shatter old man and youth,
 with you I shatter young man and maiden, 23with you I shatter shepherd and flock,
 with you I shatter farmer and oxen,
 with you I shatter governors and officials.

24"Before your eyes I will repay Babylon and all who live in Babylonia^d for all the wrong they have done in Zion," declares the LORD.

25"I am against you, O destroying mountain,
 you who destroy the whole earth,"
 declares the LORD.

"I will stretch out my hand against you,
 roll you off the cliffs,
 and make you a burned-out mountain.

26No rock will be taken from you for a cornerstone,
 nor any stone for a foundation,
 for you will be desolate forever,"
 declares the LORD.

27"Lift up a banner in the land!
 Blow the trumpet among the nations!
 Prepare the nations for battle against her;
 summon against her these kingdoms:
 Ararat, Minni and Ashkenaz.

Appoint a commander against her;
 send up horses like a swarm of locusts.
 28Prepare the nations for battle against her—
 the kings of the Medes,
 their governors and all their officials,
 and all the countries they rule.

29The land trembles and writhes,
 for the LORD's purposes against Babylon
 stand—

to lay waste the land of Babylon
 so that no one will live there.

30Babylon's warriors have stopped fighting;
 they remain in their strongholds.
 Their strength is exhausted;
 they have become like women.
 Her dwellings are set on fire;
 the bars of her gates are broken.

at the time it is trampled
 the time to harvest her will soon come

Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has devoured us

he has thrown us into confusion
 he has made us an empty jar

 and then has spewed us out

"May the violence done to our flesh^a be upon

May our blood be on those who live in says Jerusalem

Therefore, this is what the LORD says:

See, I will defend your cause and avenge you will dry up her sea

 and make her springs dry
 Babylon will be a heap of ruins,
 a haunt of jackals

an object of horror and scorn,
 a place where no one lives

Her people all roar like young lions,
 they growl like lion cubs

But while they are aroused,
 I will set out a feast for them

 declares the LORD.

 What a horror Babylon will be among the nations!

The sea will rise over Babylon,
 its roaring waves will cover her.

Her towns will be desolate,
 a dry and desert land,
 a land where no one lives,
 through which no man travels.

I will punish Bel in Babylon and make him spew out what he has

The nations will no longer stream to him.
 And the wall of Babylon will fall.

"Come out of her, my people!
 Run for your lives!

Run from the fierce anger of the LORD
 do not lose heart or be afraid
 when rumors are heard in the land;
 one rumor comes this year, another the next,
 rumors of violence in the land
 and of ruler against ruler

For the time will surely come when I will punish the idols of Babylon, her whole land will be disgraced
 and her slain will all lie fallen within her

Then heaven and earth and all that is in them will shout for joy over Babylon, for out of the north destroyers will attack her,"

declares the LORD.

"Babylon must fall because of Israel's slain,
 just as the slain in all the earth
 have fallen because of Babylon.

You who have escaped the sword,
 leave and do not linger!
 Remember the LORD in a distant land,
 and think on Jerusalem."

"We are disgraced,
 for we have been insulted
 and shame covers our faces, because foreigners have entered the holy places of the LORD's house."

"But days are coming," declares the LORD,
 "when I will punish her idols,
 and throughout her land
 the wounded will groan.

Even if Babylon reaches the sky
 and fortifies her lofty stronghold,
 I will send destroyers against her,"
 declares the LORD.

"The sound of a cry comes from Babylon,
 the sound of great destruction
 from the land of the Babylonians."

The LORD will destroy Babylon;
 he will silence her noisy din.
 Waves of enemies will rage like great waters;
 the roar of their voices will resound.

A destroyer will come against Babylon;
 her warriors will be captured,
 and their bows will be broken.

For the LORD is a God of retribution;
 he will repay in full.

I will make her officials and wise men drunk,

51:53 Apocalyptic Arrogance

The arrogance of Babylon—her sense of absolute, untouchable power—became an emblem of the forces God will ultimately destroy. Jeremiah probably was thinking only of Babylon's towering ziggurat (or temple) and double wall defenses. But Babylon's "reaching for the sky" suggested an image of a nation trying to compete with God. Revelation 18—written long after Jeremiah's Babylon had been destroyed—described the fall of another proud and wealthy "Babylon" at the end of the age.

^a35 Or done to us and to our children

her governors, officers and waggoners as well, they will sleep forever and not awake." declares the King, whose name is the Lord Almighty.

⁵⁸This is what the Lord Almighty says:

"Babylon's thick wall will be leveled and her high gates set on fire, the peoples exhaust themselves for nothing, the nations' labor is only fuel for the flames."

⁵⁹This is the message Jeremiah gave to the staff officer Seraiah son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went to Babylon with Zedekiah king of Judah in the fourth year of his reign. ⁶⁰Jeremiah had written on a scroll about all the disasters that would come upon Babylon—all that had been recorded concerning Babylon. ⁶¹He said to Seraiah, "When you get to Babylon, see that you read all these words aloud. ⁶²Then say, 'O Lord, you have said you will destroy this place, so that neither man nor animal will live in it; it will be desolate forever.' ⁶³When you finish reading this scroll, tie a stone to it and throw it into the Euphrates. ⁶⁴Then say, 'So will Babylon sink to rise no more because of the disaster I will bring upon her. And her people will fall.'"

The words of Jeremiah end here.

The Fall of Jerusalem

52 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. His mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah; she was from Libnah. ²He did evil in the eyes of the Lord, just as Jehoiakim had done. ³It was because of the Lord's anger that all this happened to Jerusalem and Judah, and in the end he thrust them from his presence.

Now Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

⁴So in the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon marched against Jerusalem with his whole army. They camped outside the city and built siege works all around it. ⁵The city was kept under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.

⁶By the ninth day of the fourth month the famine in the city had become so severe that there was no food for the people to eat. ⁷Then the city wall was broken through, and the whole army fled. They left the city at night through the gate between the two walls near the king's garden, though the Babylonians^a were surrounding the city. They fled toward the Arabah,^b but the Babylonian army pursued King Zedekiah and overtook him in the plains of Jericho. All his soldiers were separated from him and scattered, ⁹and he was captured.

He was taken to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he pronounced sentence on him. ¹⁰There at Riblah the king of Babylon daughters the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, he also killed all the officials of Judah. ¹¹Then he put out Zedekiah's eyes, bound him with bronze shackles and took him to Babylon, where he put him in prison till the day of his death.

¹²On the tenth day of the fifth month, in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard, who served the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. ¹³He set fire to the temple of the Lord, the royal palace and all the houses of Jerusalem. Every important building he burned down. ¹⁴The whole Babylonian army under the commander of the imperial guard broke down all the walls around Jerusalem. ¹⁵Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard carried into exile some of the poorest people and those who remained in the city, along with the rest of the craftsmen^c and those who had gone over to the king of Babylon. ¹⁶But Nebuzaradan left behind the rest of the poorest people of the land to work the vineyards and fields.

²⁰The bronze from the two pillars, the Sea and the twelve bronze bulls under it, and the movable stands, which King Solomon had made for the temple of the Lord, was more than could be weighed. ²¹Each of the pillars was eighteen cubits high and twelve cubits in circumference, each was four fingers thick, and hollow. ²²The bronze capital on top of the one pillar was five cubits high and was decorated with a network and pomegranates of bronze all around. The other pillar, with its pomegranates, was similar. ²³There were ninety-six pomegranates on the sides; the total number of pomegranates above the surrounding network was a hundred.

²⁴The commander of the guard took as prisoners Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah the priest next in rank and the three doorkeepers. ²⁵Of those still in the city, he took the officer in charge of the fighting men, and seven royal advisers. He also took the secretary who was chief officer in charge of conscripting the people of the land and sixty of his men who were found in the city. ²⁶Nebuzaradan the commander took them all and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. ²⁷There at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, the king had them executed.

So Judah went into captivity, away from her land. ²⁸This is the number of the people Nebuchadnezzar carried into exile became king of Babylon, he released Jehoiachin king of Judah and freed him from prison on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month. ³⁶ He spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat of honor higher than those of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. ³⁷ So Jehoiachin put aside his prison clothes and for the rest of his life ate regularly at the king's table. ³⁸ Day by day the king of Babylon gave Jehoiachin a regular allowance as long as he lived, till the day of his death.

INTRODUCTION

A City in Ruins

"How I weep and how I cry and how I mourn
because of the destruction of the city of Jerusalem."

THE MAIN MESSAGE OF LAMENTATIONS

The main message of Lamentations is that the destruction of Jerusalem was a punishment for the people's sin. The author, who is believed to be the prophet Jeremiah, writes that the people of Jerusalem had turned away from God and had done evil. As a result, God had sent them into exile. The book is a call to repentance and a promise of hope. The author writes that if the people of Jerusalem will turn back to God, they will be able to rebuild their city and live again in their land.

that you catch the deep emotion. Note that the author does not rush to express his hope in God, but fully grieves for the tragedy he was involved in.

Lamentations is not difficult to understand, though some of the poetical allusions may become clearer if you use a Bible dictionary or a commentary. For a summary of the destruction that inspired Lamentations, read 2 Kings 25.

1^a How deserted lies the city,
once so full of people!
How like a widow is she,
who once was great among the nations!
She who was queen among the provinces
has now become a slave.

2 Bitterly she weeps at night,
tears are upon her cheeks.
Among all her lovers
there is none to comfort her.
All her friends have betrayed her;
they have become her enemies.

3 After affliction and harsh labor,
Judah has gone into exile.
She dwells among the nations;
she finds no resting place.
All who pursue her have overtaken her in the midst of her distress.

4 The roads to Zion mourn,
for no one comes to her appointed feasts.
All her gateways are desolate,
her priests groan,
her maidens grieve,
and she is in bitter anguish.

5 Her foes have become her masters;
her enemies are at ease.
The LORD has brought her grief
because of her many sins.
Her children have gone into exile,
captive before the foe.

6 All the splendor has departed from the Daughter of Zion.
Her princes are like deer

that find no pasture;
in weakness they have fled
before the pursuer.

7 In the days of her affliction and wandering Jerusalem remembers all the treasures
that were hers in days of old.
When her people fell into enemy hands,
there was no one to help her.
Her enemies looked at her
and laughed at her destruction.

8 Jerusalem has sinned greatly and so has become unclean.
All who honored her despise her,
for they have seen her nakedness;
she herself groans
and turns away.

9 Her filthiness clung to her skirts;
she did not consider her future.
Her fall was astounding,
there was none to comfort her.
"Look, O LORD, on my affliction, for the enemy has triumphed."

10 The enemy laid hands
on all her treasures;
she saw pagan nations
enter her sanctuary—
those you had forbidden to enter your assembly.

11 All her people groan
as they search for bread;
they barter their treasures for food
to keep themselves alive.
"Look, O LORD, and consider,

in despair.¹
 Then he cut all your silver chain;
 he accused and set against me my strong-

 his strongholds, he set

 Then he cut the

 he turned me back

My sins have been bound into a yoke;
 by his hands they were woven together.
 They have come upon my neck,
 and the Lord has sapped my strength.
 He has handed me over to those I cannot withstand.

The Lord has rejected
 all the warriors in my midst;
 he has summoned an army against me
 to crush my young men.
 In his winepress the Lord has trampled
 the Virgin Daughter of Judah.

This is why I weep
 and my eyes overflow with tears;
 because there is no one to comfort me
 to restore my spirit.
 My children are destitute
 because the enemy has prevailed.

Zion stretches out her hands
 but there is no one to comfort her.
 The Lord has decreed for Jacob that his neighbors become his foes; Jerusalem has become an unclean thing among them.

The Lord is righteous,
 yet I rebelled against his command.
 Listen, all you peoples,
 look upon my suffering.
 My young men and maidens
 have gone into exile.

¹⁰ "I called to my allies
 but they betrayed me.
 My priests and my elders perished in the city while they searched for food
 to keep themselves alive.

1:10 The Temple Destroyed

In order to keep God's house holy, non-Jews were not allowed to enter. But when the Babylonians conquered Jerusalem, they not only entered the temple, they looted and burned it. This shook devout Jews deeply; more than anything else it showed that God had given them up.

¹¹ "How I have been distressed I and I am in torment within
 and in my heart I am disturbed,
 for I have been most rebellious.
 Outside, the sword befalls;
 inside, there is only death.

¹² "People have heard my groaning
 but there is no one to comfort me.
 All my enemies have heard of my distress,
 they rejoice at what you have done.
 May you bring the day you have announced
 so they may become like me.

¹³ "Let all their wickedness come before you, deal with them
 as you have dealt with me
 because of all my sins.
 My groans are many
 and my heart is faint."

2 How the Lord has covered the Daughter of Zion

with the cloud of his anger!¹
 He has hurled down the splendor of Israel
 from heaven to earth,
 he has not remembered his footstool
 in the day of his anger.

² Without pity the Lord has swallowed up all the dwellings of Jacob;
 in his wrath he has torn down
 the strongholds of the Daughter of Judah.
 He has brought her kingdom and its princes down to the ground in dishonor.

³ In fierce anger he has cut off
 every horn² of Israel.
 He has withdrawn his right hand
 at the approach of the enemy.
 He has burned in Jacob like a flaming fire
 that consumes everything around it.

⁴ Like an enemy he has strung his bow;
 his right hand is ready.
 Like a foe he has slain
 all who were pleasing to the eye;
 he has poured out his wrath like fire
 on the tent of the Daughter of Zion.

⁵ The Lord is like an enemy;
 he has swallowed up Israel.
 He has swallowed up all her palaces
 and destroyed her strongholds.
 He has multiplied mourning and lamentation
 for the Daughter of Judah.

⁶ He has laid waste his dwelling like a garden;
 he has destroyed his place of meeting.
 The LORD has made Zion forget
 her appointed feasts and her Sabbaths;
 in his fierce anger he has spurned
 both king and priest.

⁷ The Lord has rejected his altar
 and abandoned his sanctuary.
 He has handed over to the enemy

the walls of her palaces;
they have raised a shout in the house of the ⁸The LORD determined to tear down

the wall around the Daughter of Zion
He stretched out a measuring line and did not withhold his hand from destroying.

He made ramparts and walls lament;
together they wasted away.

⁹Her gates have sunk into the ground;
their bars he has broken and destroyed.
Her king and her princes are exiled among the
nations,
the law is no more,
and her prophets no longer find visions from the LORD.

¹⁰The elders of the Daughter of Zion sit on the ground in silence;
they have sprinkled dust on their heads and put on sackcloth.
The young women of Jerusalem
have bowed their heads to the ground.

¹¹My eyes fail from weeping,
I am in torment within,
my heart is poured out on the ground
because my people are destroyed,
because children and infants faint
in the streets of the city.

¹²They say to their mothers,
"Where is bread and wine?"
as they faint like wounded men
in the streets of the city,
as their lives ebb away
in their mothers' arms

¹³What can I say for you?
With what can I compare you,
O Daughter of Jerusalem?
To what can I liken you,
that I may comfort you,
O Virgin Daughter of Zion?
Your wound is as deep as the sea.
Who can heal you?

¹⁴The visions of your prophets were false and worthless,
they did not expose your sin
to ward off your captivity.
The oracles they gave you were false and misleading.

2:12 Pity the Children

Everyone suffered in the destruction of Jerusalem, rich and poor, young and old, male and female. Lamentations grieves for them all, but especially for the children, who were dying of hunger. During the long siege, hunger grew so fierce that mothers ate their own children (2:20; 4:10). Compassion for children had disappeared (4:3-4).

¹⁵All who pass your way
clap their hands at you;
they scoff and shake their heads
at the Daughter of Jerusalem:
"Is this the city that was called the perfection of beauty,
the joy of the whole earth?"

¹⁶All your enemies open their mouths wide against you,
they scoff and gnash their teeth
and say, "We have swallowed her up.
This is the day we have waited for;
we have lived to see it."

¹⁷The LORD has done what he planned,
he has fulfilled his word,
which he decreed long ago.
He has overthrown you without pity,
he has let the enemy gloat over you,
he has exalted the horn of your foes

¹⁸The hearts of the people cry out to the LORD.
O wall of the Daughter of Zion,
let your tears flow like a river
day and night;
give yourself no relief,
your eyes no rest.

¹⁹Arise, cry out in the night,
as the watches of the night begin,
pour out your heart like water
in the presence of the LORD.
Lift up your hands to him
for the lives of your children, who faint from hunger
at the head of every street.

²⁰Look, O LORD, and consider:
Whom have you ever treated like this?
Should women eat their offspring,
the children they have cared for?
Should priest and prophet be killed in the sanctuary of the LORD?

²¹"Young and old lie together in the dust of the streets;
my young men and maidens
have fallen by the sword.
You have slain them in the day of your anger;
you have slaughtered them without pity

²²"As you summon to a feast day, so you summoned against me terrors on every side."
In the day of the LORD's anger
no one escaped or survived;
those I cared for and reared,
my enemy has destroyed "

³I am the man who has seen affliction
by the rod of his wrath ²He has driven me away and made me walk
in darkness rather than light, indeed, he has turned his hand against me
again and again, all day long

* This chapter is an acrostic poem: the verses of each stanza begin with the successive letters of the Hebrew alphabet, and the verses within each stanza begin with the same letter

He has made my skin and my flesh grow old and has broken my bones
 He has besieged me and surrounded me with bitterness and hardship
 He has made me dwell in darkness
 like those long dead
 He has walled me in so I cannot escape;
 he has weighed me down with chains.
 Even when I call out or cry for help,
 he shuts out my prayer.
 He has barred my way with blocks of stone;
 he has made my paths crooked.
 Like a bear lying in wait,
 like a lion in hiding,
 he dragged me from the path and mangled me
 and left me without help.
 He drew his bow
 and made me the target for his arrows.
 He pierced my heart
 with arrows from his quiver.
 I became the laughingstock of all my people;
 they mock me in song all day long.
 He has filled me with bitter herbs
 and sated me with gall
 He has broken my teeth with gravel;
 he has trampled me in the dust.
 I have been deprived of peace;
 I have forgotten what prosperity is.
 So I say, "My splendor is gone and all that I had hoped from the LORD."
 I remember my affliction and my wandering,
 the bitterness and the gall.
 I well remember them,
 and my soul is downcast within me.
 Yet this I call to mind
 and therefore I have hope:
 Because of the LORD's great love we are not consumed,
 for his compassions never fail.
 They are new every morning;
 great is your faithfulness
 I say to myself, "The LORD is my portion;
 therefore I will wait for him."
 The LORD is good to those whose hope is in
 him,
 to the one who seeks him;
 it is good to wait quietly
 for the salvation of the LORD.
 It is good for a man to bear the yoke
 while he is young.
 Let him sit alone in silence,
 for the LORD has laid it on him.
 Let him bury his face in the dust—
 there may yet be hope.
 Let him offer his cheek to one who would strike him,
 and let him be filled with disgrace.
 For men are not cast off
 by the LORD forever.
 Though he brings grief, he will show compassion,
 so great is his unfailing love.

For he does not willingly bring affliction or grief to the children of men.
 To crush underfoot
 all prisoners in the land,
 to deny a man his rights
 before the Most High,
 to deprive a man of justice—
 would not the Lord see such things?
 Who can speak and have it happen
 if the Lord has not decreed it?
 Is it not from the mouth of the Most High that both calamities and good things come?
 Why should any living man complain
 when punished for his sins?
 Let us examine our ways and test them,
 and let us return to the LORD.
 Let us lift up our hearts and our hands
 to God in heaven, and say:
 "We have sinned and rebelled and you have not forgiven."
 "You have covered yourself with anger and pursued us;
 you have slain without pity.
 You have covered yourself with a cloud
 so that no prayer can get through.
 You have made us scum and refuse
 among the nations.
 "All our enemies have opened their mouths
 wide against us.
 We have suffered terror and pitfalls,
 ruin and destruction."
 Streams of tears flow from my eyes
 because my people are destroyed.
 My eyes will flow unceasingly,
 without relief,
 until the LORD looks down
 from heaven and sees.
 What I see brings grief to my soul
 because of all the women of my city.
 Those who were my enemies without cause hunted me like a bird.
 They tried to end my life in a pit
 and threw stones at me;
 the waters closed over my head,
 and I thought I was about to be cut off.
 I called on your name, O LORD,
 from the depths of the pit.
 You heard my plea: "Do not close your ears
 to my cry for relief."
 You came near when I called you,
 and you said, "Do not fear."
 O Lord, you took up my case;

3:33 Hope for the Grieving

Lamentations bares the full horror of suffering, yet offers hope based on the character of God. He has let some survive (3:22), and he is not a God to be angry with them forever. Their duty is to accept fully their grief, and quietly meditate on its meaning while waiting for the Lord.

you redeemed my life
 59 You have seen, O LORD, the wrong done to me
 Uphold my cause!
 60 You have seen the depth of their vengeance,
 all their plots against me
 61 O LORD, you have heard their insults,
 all their plots against me—
 62 what my enemies whisper and mutter against me all day long 63 Look at them! Sitting or standing, they mock me in their songs
 64 Pay them back what they deserve, O LORD,
 for what their hands have done.
 65 Put a veil over their hearts,
 and may your curse be on them!
 66 Pursue them in anger and destroy them
 from under the heavens of the LORD.

4 ¹How the gold has lost its luster,
 the fine gold become dull!
 The sacred gems are scattered
 at the head of every street
²How the precious sons of Zion,
 once worth their weight in gold,
 are now considered as pots of clay,
 the work of a potter's hands!
³Even jackals offer their breasts to nurse their young,
 but my people have become heartless
 like ostriches in the desert.
⁴Because of thirst the infant's tongue sticks to the roof of its mouth,
 the children beg for bread,
 but no one gives it to them.
⁵Those who once ate delicacies are destitute in the streets.
 Those nurtured in purple
 now lie on ash heaps.
⁶The punishment of my people
 is greater than that of Sodom, which was overthrown in a moment
 without a hand turned to help her.
⁷Their princes were brighter than snow
 and whiter than milk,
 their bodies more ruddy than rubies,
 their appearance like sapphires.^b ⁸But now they are blacker than soot;
 they are not recognized in the streets.
 Their skin has shriveled on their bones;
 it has become as dry as a stick.
⁹Those killed by the sword are better off than those who die of famine;
 racked with hunger, they waste away
 for lack of food from the field.
¹⁰With their own hands compassionate women have cooked their own children, who became their food
 when my people were destroyed.

¹¹The LORD has given full vent to his wrath;
 he has poured out his fierce anger.
 He kindled a fire in Zion
 that consumed her foundations.
¹²The kings of the earth did not believe,
 nor did any of the world's people,
 that enemies and foes could enter
 the gates of Jerusalem.
¹³But it happened because of the sins of her prophets
 and the iniquities of her priests, who shed within her
 the blood of the righteous.
¹⁴Now they grope through the streets
 like men who are blind.
 They are so defiled with blood
 that no one dares to touch their garments.
¹⁵"Go away! You are unclean!" men cry to them.
 "Away! Away! Don't touch us!"
 When they flee and wander about,
 people among the nations say,
 "They can stay here no longer."
¹⁶The LORD himself has scattered them;
 he no longer watches over them.
 The priests are shown no honor,
 the elders no favor.
¹⁷Moreover, our eyes failed,
 looking in vain for help;
 from our towers we watched
 for a nation that could not save us.
¹⁸Men stalked us at every step,
 so we could not walk in our streets.
 Our end was near, our days were numbered,
 for our end had come.
¹⁹Our pursuers were swifter
 than eagles in the sky;
 they chased us over the mountains
 and lay in wait for us in the desert.
²⁰The LORD's anointed, our very life breath,
 was caught in their traps.
 We thought that under his shadow
 we would live among the nations.
²¹Rejoice and be glad, O Daughter of Edom,
 you who live in the land of Uz.
 But to you also the cup will be passed;
 you will be drunk and stripped naked.
²²O Daughter of Zion, your punishment will end;
 he will not prolong your exile.

4:17 False Hope

In the last decades before Jerusalem was conquered, Judah's kings frequently tried to play Egypt, another superpower, against Babylon. Right to the end they expected Egypt's armies to rescue them. But as Jeremiah had warned, Egypt proved to be an unreliable ally (Jeremiah 2:36-37; 37:5-8).

But, O Daughter of Edom, he will punish your
sin
 and expose your wickedness.

5 Remember, O Lord, what has happened to
 us,
 look and see our disgrace.
 Our land has been turned over to aliens,
 our homes to foreigners
 We have become orphans and fatherless,
 our mothers like widows
 We must buy the water we drink,
 our wood can be had only at a price.
 Those who pursue us are at our heels,
 we are weary and find no rest
 We submitted to Egypt and Assyria to get enough bread
 Our fathers sinned and are no more,
 and we bear their punishment Slaves rule over us,
 and there is none to free us from their
 hands
 We get our bread at the risk of our lives
 because of the sword in the desert
 Our skin is hot as an oven, feverish from hunger

11 Women have been ravished in Zion
 and virgin in the towns of Judah 12 Princes have been hung up by their hands, elders are shown no respect 13 Young men toil at the millstones boys stagger under loads of wood 14 The elders are gone from the city gate,
 the young men have stopped their music 15 Joy is gone from our hearts,
 our dancing has turned to mourning
16 The crown has fallen from our head
 Woe to us, for we have sinned!
17 Because of this our hearts are faint,
 because of these things our eyes grow dim 18 For Mount Zion, which lies desolate, with jackals prowling over it 19 You, O Lord, reign forever, your throne endures from generation to generation
20 Why do you always forget us?
 Why do you forsake us so long?
21 Restore us to yourself, O Lord, that we may
 return,
 renew our days as of old 22 Unless you have utterly rejected us
 and are angry with us beyond measure.

EZEKIEL

INTRODUCTION

Seeing the Unseen God

God showed himself to Ezekiel in unearthly radiance

Like the appearance of a rainbow in the clouds on a rainy day, so was the radiance around him. . . . When I saw it, I fell facedown. 1:28

Ezekiel was quite sure that he had seen and heard the God of the Bible. While few have been privileged to see him as Ezekiel did, this God had been speaking plainly for generations. His words were on record.

Before such splendor Ezekiel felt utterly weak and inadequate, just as Isaiah had during a similar vision (Isaiah 6). He fell on his face, repeatedly. But God raised Ezekiel to his feet and gave him a message to deliver.

A Stunning Portrait of God

In describing his call by God, Ezekiel groped for words. He portrayed a God of stunning grandeur, above and beyond our world. Yet this supernatural God was inescapably near and real. He demanded complete obedience. Surprisingly, he appeared to Ezekiel in Babylon—the last place an Israelite expected to see him. This God could not be locked in by national or geographical boxes. He ruled the earth.

Ezekiel repeated this classic message over 60 times: "Then they will know that I am the LORD." God said it when promising the destruction of Jerusalem in the first 24 chapters. He said it when predicting the downfall of Israel's neighbors in chapters 25 through 32. And, after Jerusalem had fallen, God said it when promising a great future in the last 16 chapters. God did not want to remain vague or far off. He wanted his people to know him. More, Ezekiel's God wanted to live with his people. He wanted to make his home in the center of their city.

A Strange Book

Ezekiel has a reputation for strangeness, partly because of the unearthly visions with which his book begins and ends, and partly because Ezekiel acted out God's messages through some bizarre behavior. (For instance, for months at a time he lay in public on his side, bound by ropes, facing a clay model of Jerusalem.) His message came in the most vivid form possible, meant to force people to pay attention.

Ezekiel lived in perhaps the most tragic period of his people's existence. They had been tempting fate for generations, ignoring God's messengers (prophets like Micah, Amos, Isaiah) who warned that if they didn't listen to God, they would be destroyed. Finally, Babylonian armies swept through Judah, deporting large groups of citizens.

Ezekiel had gone into exile in one of the first groups, as had Daniel. Ezekiel became God's messenger as a captive in Babylon. His voice blended in stereo with Jeremiah's, still in Jerusalem. Both prophets warned their people (who kept plotting ways to break free of Babylon) that the captives were going to be in Babylon for a long time. They predicted that Babylon's oppression would grow heavier: Jerusalem and the temple would be destroyed. Since Judah had ignored God's repeated warnings, God would use another means to get their attention: suffering.

A New Jerusalem

Yet even while punishing them, God's aim remained the same: to make himself known. God had warned Ezekiel that the Israelites were unlikely to listen (3:7), even from captivity. They preferred idols to the living God. Yet Ezekiel's messages and dramas and visions continued to come, year after year. It's as though God were saying through him, "Some way, some day, I will get through to them. If the message doesn't reach their hearts one way, I'll try another."

Ezekiel ends with hope. The final chapters show a new Jerusalem rising from the ruins of the old. The renewed city would never die, for it would be built on an unshifting reality: "They will

Ezekiel ends with hope. The final chapters show a new Jerusalem rising from the ruins of the old. The renewed city would never die, for it would be built on an unshifting reality: "They will know I am the Lord." The burning vision of God that Ezekiel had seen would become accessible to all. God would make himself at home there forever. Ezekiel's last verse says it all: "And the name of the city from that time on will be: THE LORD IS THERE."

How to Read Ezekiel

The special difficulty in reading Ezekiel is the dizzying variety of forms he used to get his message across. The book is a mix of visions, messages, dramas, poems. But three remarkable visions of God bracket the package, beginning, middle, and end (1:1-3:15, 8:1-6 and 11:16-25; 40:1-4 and 43:1-9). And throughout, one line is repeated: "Then they will know that I am the Lord." All God's messages are meant to shock his people into restoring a living relationship with him.

As you read Ezekiel, note down when each prophecy was made and its dominant image—Jerusalem as a prostitute, as a spreading grapevine, as a shaved head, etc. (for insight into why Ezekiel sometimes acted out his message in bizarre fashion, read "Living Parables," page 675.) Don't skip ahead too fast as you read—take time to think about the message in each section. Remember that the book of Ezekiel compresses messages God gave over 22 years. Try to imagine the impact of each message on the people who first heard or saw it.

Most of what Ezekiel said in Babylonia concerned a dramatic military situation hundreds of miles away in Jerusalem. His message changed from doom to hope in chapter 33; the turning point came with news of Jerusalem's fall. You can get to know the historical situation by reading 2 Kings 23:36-25:12. "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338, can help you place Ezekiel in Israel's history.

A fascinating though difficult study is the design of the renewed temple, which Ezekiel described in chapters 40-43. A commentary on Ezekiel or a Bible dictionary (under "Ezekiel" or "temple") can help immensely in understanding these visions.

The Living Creatures and the Glory of the LORD

1 In the^a thirtieth year, in the fourth month on the fifth day, while I was among the exiles by the Kebar River, the heavens were opened and I saw visions of God.

²On the fifth of the month—it was the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin—³the word of the LORD came to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi,^b by the Kebar River in the land of the Babylonians.^c There the hand of the LORD was upon him.

⁴I looked, and I saw a windstorm coming out of the north—an immense cloud with flashing lightning and surrounded by brilliant light. The center of the fire looked like glowing metal, ⁵and in the fire was what looked like four living creatures. In appearance their form was that of a man, ⁶but each of them had four faces and four wings. ⁷Their legs were straight; their feet were like those of a calf and gleamed like burnished bronze. ⁸Under their wings on their four sides they had the hands of a man. All four of them had faces and wings, ⁹and their wings touched one another. Each one went straight ahead; they did not turn as they moved.

¹⁹When the living creatures moved, the wheels beside them moved; and when the living creatures rose from the ground, the wheels also rose. ²⁰Wherever the spirit would go, they would go, and the wheels would rise along with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels. ²¹When the creatures moved, they also moved; when the creatures stood still, they also stood still; and when the creatures rose from the ground, the wheels rose along with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

²²Spread out above the heads of the living creatures was what looked like an expanse, sparkling like ice, and awesome. ²³Under the expanse their wings were stretched out one toward the other, and each had two wings covering its body. ²⁴When the creatures moved, I heard the sound of their wings, like the roar of rushing waters, like the voice of the Almighty,^e like the tumult of an army. When they stood still, they lowered their wings.

²⁵Then there came a voice from above the expanse over their heads as they stood with lowered wings. ²⁶Above the expanse over their heads was what looked like a throne of sapphire,^f and high above on the throne was a figure like that of a man. ²⁷I saw that from what appeared to be his waist up he looked like glowing metal, as if full of fire, and that from there down he looked like fire; and brilliant light surrounded him. ²⁸Like the appearance of a rainbow in the clouds on a rainy day, so was the radiance around him.

This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. When I saw it, I fell facedown, and I heard the voice of one speaking.

Ezekiel's Call

2 He said to me, "Son of man, stand up on your feet and I will speak to you." ²As he spoke, the Spirit came into me and raised me to my feet, and I heard him speaking to me.

³He said: "Son of man, I am sending you to the Israelites, to a rebellious nation that has rebelled against me; they and their fathers have been in revolt against me to this very day. ⁴The people to whom I am sending you are obstinate and stubborn. Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says.' ⁵And whether they listen or fail to listen—for they are a rebellious house—they will know that a prophet has been among them. ⁶And you, son of man, do not be afraid of them or their words. Do not be afraid, though briars and thorns are all around you and you live among scorpions. Do not be afraid of what they say or terrified by them, though they are a rebellious house. ⁷You must speak my words to them, whether they listen or fail to listen, for they are rebellious. ⁸But you, son of man, listen to what I say to you. Do not rebel like that rebellious house; open your mouth and eat what I give you."

⁹Then I looked, and I saw a hand stretched out to me. In it was a scroll, ¹⁰which he unrolled before me. On both sides of it were written words of lament and mourning and woe.

3 And he said to me, "Son of man, eat what is before you, eat this scroll; then go and speak to the house of Israel." ²So I opened my mouth, and he gave me the scroll to eat.

³Then he said to me, "Son of man, eat this scroll I am giving you and fill your stomach with it." So I ate it, and it tasted as sweet as honey in my mouth.

⁴He then said to me: "Son of man, go now to the house of Israel and speak my words to them. ⁵You are not being sent to a people of obscure speech and difficult language, but to the house of Israel—⁶not to many peoples of obscure speech and difficult language, whose words you cannot understand. Surely if I had sent you to them, they would stoned to you. But the house of Israel is not listening; for they are not willing to listen. But I will make you as a stone as they are. I will make you a hardest stone, harder than flint, so that they will not be afraid of them or terrified by them, rebellious house.

Then he said to me, "Son of man, listen carefully to all the words I speak to you. I am speaking to the countrymen in exile and speak to them. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Whether they listen or fail to listen."

Then the Spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me a rumbling sound—May the glory of the LORD be praised in his dwelling place!—13the wings of the living creatures brushing against each other and the sound of the wheels rushing by in a loud rumbling sound. 14The Spirit lifted me up and took me away, and I went in the anger of my spirit, with the word of the LORD upon me. 15I came to the place where they were living, I sat among them seven days—overwhelmed.

Warning to Israel

At the end of seven days the word of the LORD came to me. "Son of man, I have made you a prophet to the house of Israel; so hear the word of the LORD and give them warning from me. 18When I speak to a wicked man, 'You will surely die,' and you do not warn him or speak out to dissuade him from his ways in order to save his life, that wicked man will die for his sin, and I will hold you accountable for his blood. 19But if you do warn the wicked man and he does not turn from his wickedness or from his evil ways, he will die for his sin, but you will have saved yourself.

Again, when a righteous man turns from his righteousness and does evil, and I put a stumbling block before him, he will die. Since you did not warn him, he will die for his sin. The righteous things he did will not be remembered, and I will hold you accountable for his blood. 21But if you do warn the righteous man not to sin and he does not sin, he will surely live because he took warning, and you will have saved yourself."

The hand of the LORD was upon me there, and he said to me, "Get up and go out to the plain, and there I will speak to you." 23So I got up and went out to the plain. And the glory of the LORD was standing there, like the glory I had seen by the Kebar River, and I fell facedown.

Then the Spirit came into me and raised me to my feet. He spoke to me and said: "Go, shut yourself inside your house. 25And you, son of man, they will tie with ropes; you will be bound so that you cannot go out among the people. 26I will make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth so that you will be silent and unable to rebuke them, though they are a rebellious house. 27But when I speak to you, I will open your mouth and you shall say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says.' Whoever will listen let him listen, and whoever will refuse let him refuse; for they are a rebellious house."

Siege of Jerusalem Symbolized

4 "Now, son of man, take a clay tablet, put it in front of you and draw the city of Jerusalem on it. 2Then lay siege to it: Erect siege works against it, build a ramp up to it, set up camps against it and put battering rams around it. 3Then take an iron pan, place it as an iron wall between you and the city and turn your face toward it. It will be under siege, and you shall besiege it. This will be a sign to the house of Israel.

4 "Then lie on your left side and put the sin of the house of Israel upon yourself.^a You are to bear their sin for the number of days you lie on your side. 5I have assigned you the same number of days as the years of their sin. So for 390 days you will bear the sin of the house of Israel.

6 "After you have finished this, lie down again, this time on your right side, and bear the sin of the house of Judah. I have assigned you 40 days, a day for each year. 7Turn your face toward the siege of Jerusalem and with bared arm prophesy against her. 8I will tie you up with ropes so that you cannot turn from one side to the other until you have finished the days of your siege.

9 "Take wheat and barley, beans and lentils, millet and spelt; put them in a storage jar and use them to make bread for yourself. You are to eat it during the 390 days you lie on your side. 10Weigh out twenty shekels^c of food to eat each day and eat it at set times. 11Also measure out a sixth of a hin^d of water and drink it at set times. 12Eat the food as you would a barley cake; bake it in the sight of the people, using human excrement for fuel." 13The LORD said, "In this way the people of Israel will eat defiled food among the nations where I will drive them."

14 Then I said, "Not so, Sovereign LORD! I have never defiled myself. From my youth until now I have never eaten anything found dead or torn by wild animals. No unclean meat has ever entered my mouth."

15 "Very well," he said, "I will let you bake your bread over cow manure instead of human excrement."

16 He then said to me: "Son of man, I will cut off the supply of food in Jerusalem. The people will eat rationed food in anxiety and drink rationed water in despair, 17for food and water will be scarce. They will be appalled at the sight of each other and will waste away because of their sin.

5 "Now, son of man, take a sharp sword and use it as a barber's razor to shave your head and your beard. Then take a set of scales and divide up the hair. 2When the days of your siege come to an end, burn a third of the hair with fire inside the city. Take a third and strike it with the sword all around the city. And scatter a third to the wind. For I will pursue them with drawn sword. 3But take a few strands of hair and tuck them away in the folds of your garment. 4Again, take a few of these and throw them into the fire and burn them up. A fire will spread from there to the whole house of Israel.

⁵"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: This is Jerusalem, which I have set in the center of the nations, with countries all around her. ⁶Yet in her wickedness she has rebelled against my laws and decrees more than the nations and countries around her. She has rejected my laws and has not followed my decrees.

Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: You have been more unruly than the nations around you and have not followed my decrees or kept my laws. You have not even conformed to the standards of the nations around you.

⁸"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself am against you, Jerusalem, and I will inflict punishment on you in the sight of the nations. ⁹"Because of all your detestable idols, I will do to you what I have never done before and will never do again. ¹⁰Therefore in your midst fathers will eat their children, and children will eat their fathers. I will inflict punishment on you and will scatter all your survivors to the winds. ¹¹Therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your vile images and detestable practices, I myself will withdraw my favor; I will not look on you with pity or spare you. ¹²A third of your people will die of the plague or perish by famine inside you; a third will fall by the sword outside your walls, and a third I will scatter to the winds and pursue with drawn sword.

Then my anger will cease and my wrath against them will subside, and I will be avenged. And when I have spent my wrath upon them, they will know that I the LORD have spoken in my zeal.

I will make you a ruin and a reproach among the nations around you, in the sight of all who pass by. You will be a reproach and a taunt, a warning and an object of horror to the nations around you when I inflict punishment on you in anger and in wrath and with stinging rebuke. I the LORD have spoken. ¹⁶When I shoot at you with my deadly and destructive arrows of famine, I will shoot to destroy you. I will bring more and more famine upon you and cut off your supply of food. ¹⁷I will send famine and wild beasts against you, and they will leave you childless. Plague and bloodshed will sweep through you, and I will bring the sword against you. I the LORD have spoken."

5:5 Navel of the Universe

Maps dating from the Middle Ages often showed Jerusalem and Israel as the center of a flat world. The practice probably stemmed from several verses like this one, referring to Jerusalem as "the center of the nations." Geography was not what God had in mind, however. Jerusalem was at the center of his love. A lover might say something similar: "You're the center of my universe."

A Prophecy Against the Mountains of Israel

6 The word of the LORD came to me. ²"Son of man, set your face against the mountains of Israel; prophesy against them ³and say: 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Sovereign LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys. I am about to bring a sword against you, and I will destroy your high places. ⁴Your altars will be demolished and your incense altars will be smashed; and I will slay your people in front of your idols. ⁵I will lay the dead bodies of the Israelites in front of their idols, and I will scatter your bones around your altars. ⁶Wherever you live, the towns will be laid waste and the high places demolished, so that your altars will be laid waste and devastated, your idols smashed and ruined, your incense altars broken down, and what you have made wiped out. ⁷Your people will fall slain among you, and you will know that I am the LORD.

⁸"But I will spare some, for some of you will escape the sword when you are scattered among the lands and nations. ⁹Then in the nations where they have been carried captive, those who escape will remember me—how I have been grieved by their adulterous hearts, which have turned away from me, and by their eyes, which have lusted after their idols. They will loathe themselves for the evil they have done and for all their detestable practices. ¹⁰And they will know that I am the LORD; I did not threaten in vain to bring this calamity on them.

¹¹"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Strike your hands together and stamp your feet and cry out "Alas!" because of all the wicked and detestable practices of the house of Israel, for they will fall by the sword, famine and plague. ¹²He that is far away will die of the plague, and he that is near will fall by the sword, and he that survives and is spared will die of famine. So will I spend my wrath upon them. ¹³And they will know that I am the LORD, when their people lie slain among their idols around their altars, on every high hill and on all the mountaintops, under every spreading tree and every leafy oak—places where they offered fragrant incense to all their idols. ¹⁴And I will stretch out my hand against them and make the land a desolate waste from the desert to Diblah^b—wherever they live. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

6:9 A Dim View of Idolatry

Ezekiel said little about exploitation and injustice. He concentrated on Israel's rejection of a relationship with the living God; they preferred idols instead. The Hebrew word translated "idols" here is used 38 times in Ezekiel, nine in the rest of the Old Testament. Some scholars believe the word is derived from "pellet of dung," indicating Ezekiel's scorn.

The End Has Come

7 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says to the land of Israel. The end! The end has come upon the four corners of the land. ³The end is now upon you and I will unleash my anger against you. I will judge you according to your conduct and repay you for all your detestable practices. ⁴I will not look on you with pity or spare you; I will surely repay you for your conduct and the detestable practices among you. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

⁵"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Disaster! An unheard-of^a disaster is coming. ⁶The end has come! The end has come! It has roused itself against you. It has come! ⁷Doom has come upon you—you who dwell in the land. The time has come, the day is near; there is panic,^b not joy, upon the mountains. ⁸I am about to pour out my wrath on you and spend my anger against you; I will judge you according to your conduct and repay you for all your detestable practices. ⁹I will not look on you with pity or spare you; I will repay you in accordance with your conduct and the detestable practices among you. Then you will know that it is I the LORD who strikes the blow.

¹⁰"The day is here! It has come! Doom has burst forth, the rod has budded, arrogance has blossomed! ¹¹Violence has grown into^b a rod to punish wickedness; none of the people will be left, none of that crowd—no wealth, nothing of value. ¹²The time has come, the day has arrived. Let not the buyer rejoice nor the seller grieve, for wrath is upon the whole crowd. ¹³The seller will not recover the land he has sold as long as both of them live, for the vision concerning the whole crowd will not be reversed. Because of their sins, not one of them will preserve his life. ¹⁴Though they blow the trumpet and get everything ready, no one will go into battle, for my wrath is upon the whole crowd.

¹⁵"Outside is the sword, inside are plague and famine; those in the country will die by the sword, and those in the city will be devoured by famine and plague. ¹⁶All who survive and escape will be in the mountains, moaning like doves of the valleys, each because of his sins. ¹⁷Every hand will go limp, and every knee will become as weak as water. ¹⁸They will put on sackcloth and be clothed with terror. Their faces will be covered with shame and their heads will be shaved. ¹⁹They will throw their silver into the streets, and their gold will be an unclean thing. Their silver and gold will not be able to save them in the day of the LORD's wrath. They will not satisfy their hunger or fill their stomachs with it, for it has made them stumble into sin. ²⁰They were proud of their beautiful jewelry and used it to make their detestable idols and vile images. Therefore I will turn these into an unclean thing for them. ²¹I will hand it all over as plunder to foreigners and as loot to the wicked of the earth, and they will defile it. ²²I will turn my face away from them, and they will desecrate my treasured place; robbers will enter it and desecrate it.

²³"Prepare chains, because the land is full of bloodshed and the city is full of violence. ²⁴I will bring the most wicked of the nations to take possession of their houses; I will put an end to the pride of the mighty, and their sanctuaries will be desecrated. ²⁵When terror comes, they will seek peace, but there will be none. ²⁶Calamity upon calamity will come, and rumor upon rumor. They will try to get a vision from the prophet; the teaching of the law by the priest will be lost, as will the counsel of the elders. ²⁷The king will mourn, the prince will be clothed with despair, and the hands of the people of the land will tremble. I will deal with them according to their conduct, and by their own standards I will judge them. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

Idolatry in the Temple

8 In the sixth year, in the sixth month on the fifth day, while I was sitting in my house and the elders of Judah were sitting before me, the hand of the Sovereign LORD came upon me there. ²I looked, and I saw a figure like that of a man.^c From what appeared to be his waist down he was like fire, and from there up his appearance was as bright as glowing metal. ³He stretched out what looked like a hand and took me by the hair of my head. The Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven and in visions of God he took me to Jerusalem, to the entrance to the north gate of the inner court, where the idol that provokes to jealousy stood. ⁴And there before me was the glory of the God of Israel, as in the vision I had seen in the plain.

⁵Then he said to me, "Son of man, look toward the north." So I looked, and in the entrance north of the gate of the altar I saw this idol of jealousy.

⁶And he said to me, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing—the utterly detestable things the house of Israel is doing here, things that will drive me far from my sanctuary? But you will see things that are even more detestable."

⁷Then he brought me to the entrance to the court. I looked, and I saw a hole in the wall. ⁸He said to me, "Son of man, now dig into the wall." So I dug into the wall and saw a doorway there.

⁹And he said to me, "Go in and see the wicked and detestable things they are doing here." ¹⁰So I went in and looked, and I saw portrayed all over the walls all kinds of crawling things and detestable animals and all the idols of the house of Israel. ¹¹In front of them stood seventy elders of the house of Israel, and Jaazaniah son of Shaphan was standing among them. Each had a censer in his hand, and a fragrant cloud of incense was rising.

¹²He said to me, "Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the house of Israel are doing in the darkness, each at the shrine of his own idol? They say, 'The LORD does not see us; the LORD has forsaken the land.'"^d ¹³Again, he said, "You will see them doing things that are even more detestable."

¹⁴Then he brought me to the entrance to the north gate of the house of the LORD, and I saw the wheels went with them. They stopped at the entrance to the east gate of the Lord's house, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them.

These were the living creatures I had seen beneath the God of Israel by the Kebar River, and I realized that they were cherubim. Each had four faces and four wings, and under their wings was what looked like the hands of a man. Their faces had the same appearance as those I had seen by the Kebar River. Each one went straight ahead.

Judgment on Israel's Leaders

11 The Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the gate of the house of the Lord that was east. There at the entrance to the gate were four men, and I saw among them Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, leaders of the people. The Lord said to me, "Son of man, these are the men who are plotting evil and giving wicked advice in this city. They say, 'Will it not be time to build houses?' This city is a cooking pot, and we are the meat." Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, son of man."

Then the Spirit of the Lord came upon me, and he told me to say: "This is what the Lord says: That is what you are saying, O house of Israel, but I know what is going through your mind. You have killed many people in this city and filled its streets with the dead.

"Therefore this is what the Sovereign Lord says: The bodies you have thrown there are the meat and this city is the pot, but I will drive you out of it. You fear the sword, and the sword is what I will bring against you, declares the Sovereign Lord. I will drive you out of the city and hand you over to foreigners and inflict punishment on you. You will fall by the sword, and I will execute judgment on you at the borders of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Lord. This city will not be a pot for you, nor will you be the meat in it; I will execute judgment on you at the borders of Israel. And you will know that I am the Lord, for you have not followed my decrees or kept my laws but have conformed to the standards of the nations around you."

Now as I was prophesying, Pelatiah son of Benaiah died. Then I fell facedown and cried out in a loud voice, "Ah, Sovereign Lord! Will you completely destroy the remnant of Israel?"

The word of the Lord came to me: "Son of man, your brothers—your brothers who are your blood relatives^a and the whole house of Israel—are those of whom the people of Jerusalem have said, 'They are far away from the Lord; this land was given to us as our possession.'

Promised Return of Israel

Therefore say: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: Although I sent them far away among the nations and scattered them among the countries, yet for a little while I have been a sanctuary for them in the countries where they have gone.'

Therefore say: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: I will gather you from the nations and bring you back from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you back the land of Israel again.'

They will return to it and remove all its vile images and detestable idols. I will give them an undivided heart and put a new spirit in them, I will remove from them their heart of stone and give them a heart of flesh. Then they will follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. They will be my people, and I will be their God. But as for those whose hearts are devoted to their vile images and detestable idols, I will bring down on their own heads what they have done, declares the Sovereign Lord."

Then the cherubim, with the wheels beside them, spread their wings, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them. The glory of the Lord went up from within the city and stopped above the mountain east of it. The Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the exiles in Babylonia^d in the vision given by the Spirit of God.

Then the vision I had seen went up from me, and I told the exiles everything the Lord had shown me.

The Exile Symbolized

12 The word of the Lord came to me: "Son of man, you are living among a rebellious people. They have eyes to see but do not see and ears to hear but do not hear, for they are a rebellious people.

"Therefore, son of man, pack your belongings for exile and in the daytime, as they watch, set out and go from where you are to another place. Perhaps they will understand, though they are a rebellious house. During the daytime, while they watch, bring out your belongings packed for exile. Then in the evening, while they are watching, go out like those who go into exile. While they watch, dig through the wall and take your belongings out through it. Put them on your shoulder as they are watching and carry them out at dusk. Cover your face so that you cannot see the land, for I have made you a sign to the house of Israel."

So I did as I was commanded. During the day I brought out my things packed for exile. Then in the evening I dug through the wall with my hands. I took my belongings out at dusk, carrying them on my shoulders while they watched.

In the morning the word of the Lord came to me: "Son of man, did not that rebellious house of Israel ask you, 'What are you doing?'

"Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: This oracle concerns the prince in Jerusalem and the whole house of Israel who are there.' Say to them, 'I am a sign to you.'

12:12 Out Through the Hole

Ezekiel's prediction of Jerusalem's leader leaving through a hole in the wall was literally fulfilled. You can read about it in 2 Kings 25:4-7 or Jeremiah 39:4-7.

He will cover his face so that he cannot see the land. ¹³I will spread my net for him, and he will be caught in my snare; I will bring him to Babylonia, the land of the Chaldeans, but he will not see it, and there he will die. ¹⁴I will scatter to the winds all those around him—his staff and all his troops—and I will pursue them with drawn sword.

¹⁵"They will know that I am the LORD, when I disperse them among the nations and scatter them through the countries. ¹⁶But I will spare a few of them from the sword, famine and plague, so that in the nations where they go they may acknowledge all their detestable practices. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

¹⁷The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁸"Son of man, tremble as you eat your food, and shudder in fear as you drink your water. ¹⁹Say to the people of the land: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says about those living in Jerusalem and in the land of Israel: They will eat their food in anxiety and drink their water in despair, for their land will be stripped of everything in it because of the violence of all who live there. ²⁰The inhabited towns will be laid waste and the land will be desolate. Then you will know that I am the LORD.'"

²¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²²"Son of man, what is this proverb you have in the land of Israel: 'The days go by and every vision comes to nothing'? ²³Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to put an end to this proverb, and they will no longer quote it in Israel.' Say to them, 'The days are near when every vision will be fulfilled. ²⁴For there will be no more false visions or flattering divinations among the people of Israel. ²⁵But I the LORD will speak what I will, and it shall be fulfilled without delay. For in your days, you rebellious house, I will fulfill whatever I say, declares the Sovereign LORD.'"

²⁶The word of the LORD came to me: ²⁷"Son of man, the house of Israel is saying, 'The vision he sees is for many years from now, and he prophesies about the distant future.'

²⁸"Therefore say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: None of my words will be delayed any longer; whatever I say will be fulfilled, declares the Sovereign LORD.'"

False Prophets Condemned

13 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel who are now prophesying. Say to those who prophesy out of their own imagination: 'Hear the word of the LORD! ³This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the foolish⁴ prophets who follow their own spirit and have seen nothing! ⁴Your prophets, O Israel, are like jackals among ruins. ⁵You have not gone up to the breaks in the wall to repair it for the house of Israel so that it will stand firm in the battle on the day of the LORD. ⁶Their visions are false and their divinations a lie. They say, 'The LORD declares,' when the LORD has not sent them; yet they expect their words to be fulfilled. ⁷Have you not seen false visions and uttered lying divinations when you say, 'The LORD declares,' though I have not spoken?

⁸"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because of your false words and lying visions, I am against you, declares the Sovereign LORD. ⁹My hand will be against the prophets who see false visions and utter lying divinations. They will not belong to the council of my people or be listed in the records of the house of Israel, nor will they enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.

¹⁰"Because they lead my people astray, saying, 'Peace,' when there is no peace, and because, when a flimsy wall is built, they cover it with whitewash, ¹¹therefore tell those who cover it with whitewash that it is going to fall. Rain will come in torrents, and I will send hailstones hurtling down, and violent winds will burst forth. ¹²When the wall collapses, will people not ask you, 'Where is the whitewash you covered it with?'

¹³"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: In my wrath I will unleash a violent wind, and in my anger hailstones and torrents of rain will fall with destructive fury. ¹⁴I will tear down the wall you have covered with whitewash and will level it to the ground so that its foundation will be laid bare. When it falls, you will be destroyed in it; and you will know that I am the LORD. ¹⁵So I will spend my wrath against the wall and against those who covered it with whitewash. I will say to you, 'The wall is gone and so are those who whitewashed it, ¹⁶those prophets of Israel who prophesied to Jerusalem and saw visions of peace for her when there was no peace, declares the Sovereign LORD.'"

¹⁷"Now, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people who prophesy out of their own imagination. Prophesy against them ¹⁸and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the women who sew magic charms on all their wrists and make veils of various lengths for

13:10 Whitewash

The Hebrew word translated "whitewash" means "to plaster over." The picture is of a poorly constructed wall that is carefully plastered so it looks well built. False prophets, wanting everyone to be happy, spoke cheerfully about the future. But they were only covering up the surface of fundamental problems. A storm, God warns, will strip off their coat of whitewash, and the flawed wall will collapse. In contrast, real prophets were unafraid of exposing the truth, however bad, for only then could problems be remedied.

Ezekiel 13:6-9 asserts that the false prophets thought up messages, then attributed them to God. Ezekiel, on the other hand, was repeatedly seized by a supernatural power. See, for examples, Ezekiel 8:1-5; 10:1-2; 24:1-2; and 33:21-22.

their heads in order to ensnare people. Will you ensnare the lives of my people but preserve your own? ¹⁹You have profaned me among my people for a few handfuls of barley and scraps of bread. By lying to my people, who listen to lies, you have killed those who should not have died and have spared those who should not live.

²⁰"Therefore this is what the Sovereign Lord says. I am against your magic charms with which you ensnare people like birds and I will tear them from your arms, I will set free the people that you ensnare like birds. ²¹I will tear off your veils and save my people from your hands, and they will no longer fall prey to your power. Then you will know that I am the Lord. ²²Because you disheartened the righteous with your lies, when I had brought them no grief, and because you encouraged the wicked not to turn from their evil ways and so save their lives, ²³therefore you will no longer see false visions or practice divination. I will save my people from your hands. And then you will know that I am the Lord."

Idolaters Condemned

14 Some of the elders of Israel came to me and sat down in front of me. ²Then the word of the Lord came to me: ³"Son of man, these men have set up idols in their hearts and put wicked stumbling blocks before their faces. Should I let them inquire of me at all? ⁴Therefore speak to them and tell them, 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: When any Israelite sets up idols in his heart and puts a wicked stumbling block before his face and then goes to a prophet, I the Lord will answer

INSIGHT

The Sad Truth

Ezekiel became popular overnight—but the praise was empty

"My people come to you . . . and sit before you to listen to your words, but they do not put them into practice." 33:31

God warned Ezekiel it would be a terrible job. Nobody would listen to his message. He would find his own people "hardened and obstinate" (3:7). And how would God help him? "I will make you as unyielding and hardened as they are" (3:8).

As a result Ezekiel lived a lonely life. Those few who believed his prophecies expected nothing to happen in their lifetime (12:27). People thought of Ezekiel as someone just telling stories (20:49). They couldn't believe that God would let Jerusalem fall, as Ezekiel was stubbornly predicting.

Then, after years of prophecy, news came that Babylon had conquered Jerusalem (33:21). Suddenly Ezekiel was popular. People talked about him, flocked to hear his words, expressed devotion. But they listened to Ezekiel without changing their hearts. He was just someone "who sings love songs with a beautiful voice" (33:32). The people heard his words but did not put them into practice.

A Dreadful Message

In some ways Ezekiel could sympathize with the people's negative attitude. He did not like his message either; sometimes it horrified him. Twice, seeing God's judgment, he fell facedown in horror, crying out (9:8; 11:13). When God told him to cook food on human excrement, a symbol of defilement, he was too shocked to agree (4:14). When his wife, "the delight of his eyes," died, he was not even allowed to weep (24:15-24).

Ezekiel had to subordinate ordinary human emotions to the unpleasant task God had given him: to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, and to tell it in a way that the Israelites could not ignore. "As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign Lord, I take no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but rather that they turn from their ways and live. Turn! Turn from your evil ways! Why will you die, O house of Israel?" (33:11).

Phony Optimism

The false prophets, by contrast, tended to be optimists. They overlooked their nation's corruption and predicted that everything would work out. Chapter 13 records Ezekiel's words against them. "Woe to the foolish prophets who follow their own spirit and have seen nothing!" he said (13:3). They would "whitewash" a bad situation with claims that God could never let Jerusalem be destroyed (13:10-16).

In the end Ezekiel got to deliver genuine good news: the promise of restored life. He saw a vision that still lives in song, scattered, bleached bones coming to life (37:1-14). In another vision, he saw God return to live in Jerusalem (43:1-5). Ezekiel didn't live to see these hopeful predictions fulfilled. But you can be sure he enjoyed making them far more than he enjoyed his predictions of disaster.

Life Questions. Is there any place today for "bad news" of the kind Ezekiel proclaimed?

him myself in keeping with his great idolatry. ⁵I will do this to recapture the hearts of the people of Israel, who have all deserted me for their idols.

⁷"When any Israelite or any alien living in Israel separates himself from me and sets up idols in his heart and puts a wicked stumbling block before his face and then goes to a prophet to inquire of me, I the LORD will answer him myself. ⁸I will set my face against that man and make him an example and a byword. I will cut him off from my people. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

⁹"And if the prophet is enticed to utter a prophecy, I the LORD have enticed that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand against him and destroy him from among my people Israel. ¹⁰They will bear their guilt—the prophet will be as guilty as the one who consults him. ¹¹Then the people of Israel will no longer stray from me, nor will they defile themselves anymore with all their sins. They will be my people, and I will be their God, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Judgment Inescapable

¹²The word of the LORD came to me: ¹³"Son of man, if a country sins against me by being unfaithful and I stretch out my hand against it to cut off its food supply and send famine upon it and kill its men and their animals, ¹⁴even if these three men—Noah, Daniel^a and Job—were in it, they could save only themselves by their righteousness, declares the Sovereign LORD

¹⁵"Or if I send wild beasts through that country and they leave it childless and it becomes desolate so that no one can pass through it because of the beasts, ¹⁶as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if these three men were in it, they could not save their own sons or daughters. They alone would be saved, but the land would be desolate

¹⁷"Or if I bring a sword against that country and say, 'Let the sword pass throughout the land,' and I kill its men and their animals, ¹⁸as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if these three men were in it, they could not save their own sons or daughters. They alone would be saved.

¹⁹"Or if I send a plague into that land and pour out my wrath upon it through bloodshed, killing its men and their animals, ²⁰as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if Noah, Daniel and Job were in it, they could save neither son nor daughter. They would save only themselves by their righteousness.

²¹"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: How much worse will it be when I send against Jerusalem my four dreadful judgments—sword and famine and wild beasts and plague—to kill its men and their animals! ²²Yet there will be some survivors—sons and daughters who will be brought out of it. They will come to you, and when you see their conduct and their actions, you will be consoled regarding the disaster I have brought upon Jerusalem—every disaster I have brought upon it. ²³You will be consoled when you see their conduct and their actions, for you will know that I have done nothing in it without cause, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Jerusalem, A Useless Vine

15 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, how is the wood of a vine better than that of a branch on any of the trees in the forest? ³Is wood ever taken from it to make anything useful? Do they make pegs from it to hang things on? ⁴And after it is thrown on the fire as fuel and the fire burns both ends and chars the middle, is it then useful for anything? ⁵If it was not useful for anything when it was whole, how much less can it be made into something useful when the fire has burned it and it is charred?

⁶"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: As I have given the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest as fuel for the fire, so will I treat the people living in Jerusalem. ⁷I will set my face against them. Although they have come out of the fire, the fire will yet consume them. And when I set my face against them, you will know that I am the LORD. ⁸I will make the land desolate because they have been unfaithful, declares the Sovereign LORD."

An Allegory of Unfaithful Jerusalem

16 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, confront Jerusalem with her detestable practices ³and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says to Jerusalem: Your ancestry and birth were in the land of the Canaanites; your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. ⁴On the day you were born your cord was not cut, nor were you washed with water to make you clean, nor were you rubbed with salt or wrapped in cloths. ⁵No one looked on you with pity or had compassion enough to do any of these things for you. Rather, you were thrown out into the open field, for on the day you were born you were despised.

⁶"Then I passed by and saw you kicking about in your blood, and as you lay there in your blood I said to you, 'Live!' ⁷I made you grow like a plant of the field. You grew up and developed and became the most beautiful of jewels. ⁸Your breasts were formed and your hair grew, you who were naked and bare.

⁸"Later I passed by, and when I looked at you and saw that you were old enough for love, I spread the corner of my garment over you and covered your nakedness. I gave you my solemn oath and entered into a covenant with you, declares the Sovereign LORD, and you became mine.

you with jewelry. I put bracelets on your arms and a necklace around your neck. I and I put a ring on your nose, earrings on your ears and a beautiful crown on your head. I and you were adorned with gold and silver, your clothes were of fine linen and costly fabric and embroidered cloth. Your food was fine flour, honey and olive oil. You became very beautiful and rose to be a queen. I and your beauty spread among the nations on account of your beauty, because the splendor I had given you made your beauty perfect, declares the Sovereign Lord.

18 "But you trusted in your beauty and used your fame to become a prostitute. You lavished your favors on anyone who passed by and your beauty became his. 19 You took some of your garments to make gaudy high places, where you carried on your prostitution. Such things should not happen, nor should they ever occur. 20 You also took the fine jewelry I gave you, the jewelry made of my gold and silver, and you made for yourself male idols and engaged in prostitution with them. 21 And you took your embroidered clothes to put on them, and you offered my oil and incense before them. 22 Also the food I provided for you—the fine flour, olive oil and honey I gave you to eat, you offered as fragrant incense before them. That is what happened, declares the Sovereign Lord.

23 And you took your sons and daughters whom you bore to me and sacrificed them as food to the idols. Was your prostitution not enough? 24 You slaughtered my children and sacrificed them to the idols. 25 In all your detestable practices and your prostitution you did not remember the days of your youth, when you were naked and bare, kicking about in your blood.

26 Woe! Woe to you, declares the Sovereign Lord. In addition to all your other wickedness, 27 you built a mound for yourself and made a lofty shrine in every public square. 28 At the head of every street you built your lofty shrines and degraded your beauty, offering your body with increasing promiscuity to anyone who passed by. 29 You engaged in prostitution with the Egyptians, your lustful neighbors, and provoked me to anger with your increasing promiscuity. 30 So I stretched out my hand against you and reduced your territory; I gave you over to the greed of your enemies, the daughters of the Philistines, who were shocked by your lewd conduct. 31 You engaged in prostitution with the Assyrians too, because you were insatiable; and even after that, you still were not satisfied. 32 Then you increased your promiscuity to include Babylonia, a land of merchants, but even with this you were not satisfied.

33 "How weak-willed you are, declares the Sovereign Lord, when you do all these things, acting like a brazen prostitute! 34 When you built your mounds at the head of every street and made your lofty shrines in every public square, you were unlike a prostitute, because you scorned payment.

35 "You adulterous wife! You prefer strangers to your own husband! 36 Every prostitute receives a fee, but you give gifts to all your lovers, bringing them to come to you from everywhere for your illicit favors. 37 In your prostitution you are the opposite of others, no one runs after you for your favors. You are the very opposite, for you give payment and none is given to you.

38 "Therefore, you prostitute, hear the word of the Lord! 39 This is what the Sovereign Lord says: Because you poured out your wealth and exposed your nakedness in your promiscuity with your lovers, and because of all your detestable idols, and because you gave them your children's blood, 40 therefore I am going to gather all your lovers, with whom you found pleasure, those you loved as well as those you hated. I will gather them against you from all around and will strip you in front of them, and they will see all your nakedness. 41 I will sentence you to the punishment of women who commit adultery and who shed blood; I will bring upon you the blood vengeance of my wrath and jealous anger. 42 Then I will hand you over to your lovers, and they will tear down your mounds and destroy your lofty shrines. They will strip you of your clothes and take your fine jewelry and leave you naked and bare. 43 They will bring a mob against you, who will stone you and hack you to pieces with their swords. 44 They will burn down your houses and inflict punishment on you in the sight of many women. I will put a stop to your prostitution, and you will no longer pay your lovers. 45 Then my wrath against you will subside and my jealous anger will turn away from you; I will be calm and no longer angry.

46 "Because you did not remember the days of your youth but enraged me with all these things, I will surely bring down on your head what you have done, declares the Sovereign Lord. Did you not add lewdness to all your other detestable practices?

47 "Everyone who quotes proverbs will quote this proverb about you: "Like mother, like daughter." 48 You are a true daughter of your mother, who despised her husband and her children; and you are a true sister of your sisters, who despised their husbands and their children. Your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite. 49 Your older sister was Samaria, who lived to the north of you with her daughters; and your younger sister, who lived to the south of you with her daughters, was Sodom. 50 You not only walked in their ways and copied their detestable practices, but in all your ways you soon became more depraved than they. 51 As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign Lord, your sister Sodom and her daughters never did what you and your daughters have done.

52 "Now this was the sin of your sister Sodom: She and her daughters were arrogant, overfed and unconcerned; they did not help the poor and needy. 53 They were haughty and did detestable things before me. Therefore I did away with them as you have seen. 54 Samaria did not commit half the sins you did. You have done more detestable things than they, and have made your sisters seem righteous by all these things you have done. ⁵²Bear your disgrace, for you have furnished some justification for your sisters. Because your sins were more vile than theirs, they appear more righteous than you. So then, be ashamed and bear your disgrace, for you have made your sisters appear righteous.

⁵³"However, I will restore the fortunes of Sodom and her daughters and of Samaria and her daughters, and your fortunes along with them, ⁵⁴so that you may bear your disgrace and be ashamed of all you have done in giving them comfort. ⁵⁵And your sisters, Sodom with her daughters and Samaria with her daughters, will return to what they were before; and you and your daughters will return to what you were before. ⁵⁶You would not even mention your sister Sodom in the day of your pride, ⁵⁷before your wickedness was uncovered. Even so, you are now scorned by the daughters of Edom^a and all her neighbors and the daughters of the Philistines—all those around you who despise you. ⁵⁸You will bear the consequences of your lewdness and your detestable practices, declares the LORD.

⁵⁹"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will deal with you as you deserve, because you have despised my oath by breaking the covenant. ⁶⁰Yet I will remember the covenant I made with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish an everlasting covenant with you. ⁶¹Then you will remember your ways and be ashamed when you receive your sisters, both those who are older than you and those who are younger. I will give them to you as daughters, but not on the basis of my covenant with you. ⁶²So I will establish my covenant with you, and you will know that I am the LORD. ⁶³Then, when I make atonement for you for all you have done, you will remember and be ashamed and never again open your mouth because of your humiliation, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Two Eagles and a Vine

17 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, set forth an allegory and tell the house of Israel a parable. ³Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: A great eagle with powerful wings, long feathers and full plumage of varied colors came to Lebanon. Taking hold of the top of a cedar, ⁴he broke off its topmost shoot and carried it away to a land of merchants, where he planted it in a city of traders.

⁵"He took some of the seed of your land and put it in fertile soil. He planted it like a willow by abundant water, ⁶and it sprouted and became a low, spreading vine. Its branches turned toward him, but its roots remained under it. So it became a vine and produced branches and put out leafy boughs.

⁷"But there was another great eagle with powerful wings and full plumage. The vine now sent out its roots toward him from the plot where it was planted and stretched out its branches to him for water. ⁸It had been planted in good soil by abundant water so that it would produce branches, bear fruit and become a splendid vine.'

⁹"Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Will it thrive? Will it not be uprooted and stripped of its fruit so that it withers? All its new growth will wither. It will not take a strong arm or many people to pull it up by the roots. ¹⁰Even if it is transplanted, will it thrive? Will it not wither completely when the east wind strikes it—wither away in the plot where it grew?' "

¹¹Then the word of the LORD came to me: ¹²"Say to this rebellious house, 'Do you not know what these things mean?' Say to them: 'The king of Babylon went to Jerusalem and carried off her king and her nobles, bringing them back with him to Babylon. ¹³Then he took a member of the royal family and made a treaty with him, putting him under oath. He also carried away the leading men of the land, ¹⁴so that the kingdom would be brought low, unable to rise again, surviving only by keeping his treaty. ¹⁵But the king rebelled against him by sending his envoys to Egypt to get horses and a large army. Will he succeed? Will he who does such things escape? Will he break the treaty and yet escape?

¹⁹"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: As surely as I live, I will bring down on his head my oath that he despised and my covenant that he broke. ²⁰I will spread my net for him, and he will be caught in my snare. I will bring him to Babylon and execute judgment upon him there because he was unfaithful to me. ²¹All his fleeing troops will fall by the sword, and the survivors will be scattered to the winds. Then you will know that I the LORD have spoken.

²²"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself will take a shoot from the very top of a cedar and plant it; I will break off a tender sprig from its topmost shoots and plant it on a high and lofty mountain. ²³On the mountain heights of Israel I will plant it; it will produce branches and bear fruit and become a splendid cedar. Birds of every kind will nest in it; they will find shelter in the shade of its branches. ²⁴All the trees of the field will know that I the LORD bring down the tall tree and make

The Sinner Who Will Die

18 The word of the Lord came to me: "What do you people mean by quoting this proverb about the land of Israel:

'The fathers eat sour grapes,
and the children's teeth are set on edge?'

"A surely as I live," declares the Sovereign Lord, "you will no longer quote this proverb in Israel. For every living soul belongs to me, the father as well as the son—both alike belong to me. The soul who sins is the one who will die."

"Suppose there is a righteous man who does what is just and right:

²He does not eat at the mountain shrines
or look to the idols of the house of Israel.

³He does not defile his neighbor's wife or lie with a woman during her period.

⁴He does not oppress anyone,
but returns what he took in pledge for a loan.

⁵He does not commit robbery,
but gives his food to the hungry
and provides clothing for the naked.

⁶He does not lend at usury or take excessive interest."

⁷He withholds his hand from doing wrong and judges fairly between man and man.

⁸He follows my decrees
and faithfully keeps my laws.

That man is righteous,
he will surely live,"

declares the Sovereign Lord.

"Suppose he has a violent son, who sheds blood or does any of these other things?^b ¹¹(though the father has done none of them)

"He eats at the mountain shrines

He defiles his neighbor's wife

¹²He oppresses the poor and needy.

He commits robbery

He does not return what he took in pledge.

He looks to the idols

He does detestable things.

¹³He lends at usury and takes excessive interest.

Will such a man live? He will not! Because he has done all these detestable things, he will surely be put to death and his blood will be on his own head.

¹⁴But suppose this son has a son who does all the same his father committed, and though he sees them, he does not do such things:

¹⁵"He does not eat at the mountain shrines
or look to the idols of the house of Israel.

He does not defile his neighbor's wife

¹⁶He does not oppress anyone or require a pledge for a loan.

He does not commit robbery

but gives his food to the hungry

and provides clothing for the naked.

¹⁷He withholds his hand from sin
and takes no usury or excessive interest.

He keeps my laws and follows my decrees.

He will not die for his father's sin; he will surely live. ¹⁸But his father will die for his own sin, because he practiced extortion, robbed his brother and did what was wrong among his people.

¹⁹"Yet you ask, 'Why does the son not share the guilt of his father?' Since the son has done what is just and right and has been careful to keep all my decrees, he will surely live. ²⁰The soul who sins is the one who will die. The son will not share the guilt of the father, nor will the father share the guilt of the son. The righteousness of the righteous man will be credited to him, and the wickedness of the wicked will be charged against him.

²¹"But if a wicked man turns away from all the sins he has committed and keeps all my decrees and does what is just and right, he will surely live; he will not die. ²²None of the offenses he has committed will be remembered against him. Because of the righteous things he has done, he will live. ²³Do I take any pleasure in the death of the wicked? declares the Sovereign Lord. Rather, am I not pleased when they turn from their ways and live?

²⁴"But if a righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits sin and does the same detestable things the wicked man does, will he live? None of the righteous things he has done will be remembered. Because of the unfaithfulness he is guilty of and because of the sins he has committed, he will die.

²⁵"Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' Hear, O house of Israel: Is my way unjust? Is it not your ways that are unjust? ²⁶If a righteous man

18:2 Jeremiah and Ezekiel

This proverb, which suggests the way children pay for their parents' sins, was also quoted by Jeremiah (Jeremiah 31:29). While Ezekiel did his work in Babylon, Jeremiah carried out a parallel work in Jerusalem. Neither mentions the other, but their messages carry many similarities. Note particularly Jeremiah 1:14-19; 3:6-13; 6:27-30; 8:10-11; 15:1-2; 16:5-8; 23:16-40; 24; 29; 31:27-34; 39—all passages that have close parallels in Ezekiel.

18:25 God Is Unfair?

"The way of the Lord is not just" probably was less a complaint than a fatalistic sigh, much like our saying, "Life isn't fair." People had lost any sense that they were suffering because of their sins. They were saying that it made no difference how they acted. Determined to break down this attitude, God guaranteed forgiveness for those who turn away from their sins.

Are my ways unjust, O house of Israel? Is it not your ways that are unjust?

³⁰"Therefore, O house of Israel, I will judge you, each one according to his ways, declares the Sovereign LORD. Repent! Turn away from all your offenses; then sin will not be your downfall. ³¹Rid yourselves of all the offenses you have committed, and get a new heart and a new spirit. Why will you die, O house of Israel? ³²For I take no pleasure in the death of anyone, declares the Sovereign LORD. Repent and live!

A Lament for Israel's Princes

19 "Take up a lament concerning the princes of Israel ²and say:

among the lions!

She lay down among the young lions and reared her cubs.

³She brought up one of her cubs,
and he became a strong lion

for he was now a strong lion.

He learned to tear the prey

The land and all who were in it

those from regions round about.

They spread their net for him,
and he was trapped in their pit.

They put him in prison,
so his roar was heard no longer

Rebellious Israel

20 In the seventh year, in the fifth month on the tenth day, some of the elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and they sat down in front of me.

²Then the word of the LORD came to me: ³"Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel and say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Have you come to inquire of me? As surely as I live, I will not let you inquire of me, declares the Sovereign LORD.'

⁴"Will you judge them? Will you judge them, son of man? Then confront them with the detestable practices of their fathers ⁵and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On the day I chose Israel, I swore with uplifted hand to the descendants of the house of Jacob and revealed myself to them in Egypt. With uplifted hand I said to them, "I am the LORD your God." ⁶On that day I swore to them that I would bring them out of Egypt into a land; I had searched out for them, a land flowing with milk and honey, the most beautiful of all lands. ⁷And I said to them, "Each of you, get rid of the vile images you have set your eyes on, and do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt. I am the LORD your God."

⁸"But they rebelled against me and would not listen to me; they did not get rid of the vile images they had set their eyes on, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and spend my anger against them in Egypt. ⁹But for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned in the eyes of the nations they lived among and in whose sight I had revealed myself to the Israelites by bringing them out of Egypt. ¹⁰Therefore I led them out of Egypt and brought them into the desert. ¹¹I gave them my decrees and made known to them my laws, for the man who obeys them will live by them. ¹²Also I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the LORD made them holy.

¹³"Yet the people of Israel rebelled against me in the desert. They did not follow my decrees but rejected my laws—although the man who obeys them will live by them—and they utterly desecrated my Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and destroy them in the desert. ¹⁴But for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned in the eyes of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out.

Also with uplifted hand I swore to them in the desert that I would not bring them into the land I had given them—a land flowing with milk and honey, most beautiful of all lands—¹⁶because they rejected my laws and did not follow my decrees and desecrated my Sabbaths. For their hearts were devoted to their idols. ¹⁷Yet I looked on them with pity and did not destroy them or put an end to them in the desert. ¹⁸I said to their children in the desert, “Do not follow the statutes of your fathers or keep their laws or defile yourselves with their idols. ¹⁹I am the LORD your God; follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. ²⁰Keep my Sabbaths holy, that they may be a sign between us. Then you will know that I am the LORD your God.”

²¹“But the children rebelled against me: They did not follow my decrees, they were not careful to keep my laws—although the man who obeys them will live by them—and they desecrated my Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and spend my anger against them in the desert. ²²But I withheld my hand, and for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned in the eyes of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out. ²³Also with uplifted hand I swore to them in the desert that I would disperse them among the nations and scatter them through the countries, ²⁴because they had not obeyed my laws but had rejected my decrees and desecrated my Sabbaths, and their eyes [lusted] after their fathers’ idols. ²⁵I also gave them over to statutes that were not good and laws they could not live by; ²⁶I let them become defiled through their gifts—the sacrifice of every firstborn^a—that I might fill them with horror so they would know that I am the LORD.”

²⁷“Therefore, son of man, speak to the people of Israel and say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In this also your fathers blasphemed me by forsaking me: ²⁸When I brought them into the land I had sworn to give them and they saw any high hill or any leafy tree, there they offered their sacrifices, made offerings that provoked me to anger, presented their fragrant incense and poured out their drink offerings. ²⁹Then I said to them: What is this high place you go to?’” (It is called Bamah^b to this day.)

Judgment and Restoration

³⁰“Therefore say to the house of Israel: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Will you defile yourselves the way your fathers did and lust after their vile images? ³¹When you offer your gifts—the sacrifice of your sons in^c the fire—you continue to defile yourselves with all your idols to this day. Am I to let you inquire of me, O house of Israel? As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will not let you inquire of me.

³²“You say, ‘We want to be like the nations, like the peoples of the world, who serve wood and stone.’ But what you have in mind will never happen. ³³As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will rule over you with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath. ³⁴I will bring you from the nations and gather you from the countries where you have been scattered—with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath. ³⁵I will bring you into the desert of the nations and there, face to face, I will execute judgment upon you. ³⁶As I judged your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so I will judge you, declares the Sovereign LORD. ³⁷I will take note of you as you pass under my rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant. ³⁸I will purge you of those who revolt and rebel against me. Although I will bring them out of the land where they are living, yet they will not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

³⁹“As for you, O house of Israel, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Go and serve your idols, every one of you! But afterward you will surely listen to me and no longer profane my holy name with your gifts and idols. ⁴⁰For on my holy mountain, the high mountain of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD, there in the land the entire house of Israel will serve me, and there I will accept them. There I will require your offerings and your choice gifts,^d along with all your holy sacrifices. ⁴¹I will accept you as fragrant incense when I bring you out from the nations and gather you from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will show myself holy among you in the sight of the nations. ⁴²Then you will know that I am the LORD, when I bring you into the land of Israel, the land I had sworn with uplifted hand to give to your fathers. ⁴³There you will remember your conduct and all the actions by which you have defiled yourselves, and you will loathe yourselves for all the evil you have done. ⁴⁴You will know that I am the LORD, when I deal with you for my name’s sake and not according to your evil ways and your corrupt practices, O house of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

Prophecy Against the South

⁴⁵The word of the LORD came to me: ⁴⁶“Son of man, set your face toward the south; preach against the south and prophesy against the forest of the southland. ⁴⁷Say to the southern forest: ‘Hear the word of the LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to set fire to you, and it will consume all your trees, both green and dry. The blazing flame will not be quenched, and every face from south to north will be scorched by it. ⁴⁸Everyone will see that I the LORD have kindled it; it will not be quenched.’”

Babylon, God's Sword of Judgment

21 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, set your face against Jerusalem and speak against the sanctuary. Prophesy against the land of Israel and say to her: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: "Against you I will draw my sword. I will slay you both the righteous and the wicked. ⁴Because I am going to do this to the righteous and the wicked my sword will be unsheathed against everyone from south to north. ⁵Then all people will know that I the LORD have drawn my sword from its scabbard, it will not return again."

⁶"Therefore great son of man! Groan before them with broken heart and bitter grief. ⁷And when they ask you: 'What are you groaning?' you shall say: 'Because of the news that is coming. Every heart will melt and every hand go limp, every spirit will become faint and every knee become as weak as water. ⁸'It is coming! It will surely take place,' declares the Sovereign LORD."

⁹"The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁰"Son of man, prophesy and say: 'This is what the LORD says:

A sword, a sword,
sharpened and polished—
drawn for the slaughter,
polished to flash like lightning!

I will use the scepter of my son.
The sword despises every such stick.

The sword is appointed to be polished,
to be grasped with the hand,
to be sharpened and polished,
made ready for the hand of the slayer.
¹³On that day and wall, son of man,
I will be against my people,
I will be against all the princes of Israel.
They are thrown to the sword
along with my people.
Therefore beat your breast.

Testing will surely come. And what if the scepter of Judah, which the sword despises, does not continue? declares the Sovereign LORD.'

¹⁵ So then, son of man, prophesy and strike your hands together. Let the sword strike twice, even three times. It is a sword for slaughter— a sword for great slaughter, closing in on them from every side. ¹⁶So that hearts may melt and the fallen be many, I have stationed the sword for slaughter at all their gates. Oh! It is made to flash like lightning, it is grasped for slaughter. ¹⁷O sword, slash to the right, then to the left, wherever your blade is turned.

¹⁷ I too will strike my hands together, and my wrath will subside. I the LORD have spoken."

¹⁸The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁹"Son of man, mark out two roads for the sword of the king of Babylon to take, both starting from the same country. Make a signpost where the road branches off to the city. ²⁰Mark out one road for the sword to come against Rabbah of the Ammonites and another against Judah and fortified Jerusalem. ²¹For the king of Babylon will stop at the fork in the road, at the junction of the two roads, to seek an omen: He will cast lots with arrows, he will consult his idols, he will examine the liver. ²²Into his right hand will come the lot for Jerusalem, where he is to set up battering rams, to give the command to slaughter, to sound the battle cry, to set battering rams against the gates, to build a ramp and to erect siege works. ²³It will seem like a false omen to those who have sworn allegiance to him, but he will remind them of their guilt and take them captive.

²⁴"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because you people have brought to mind your guilt by your open rebellion, revealing your sins in all that you do—because you have done this, you will be taken captive.

²⁵"O profane and wicked prince of Israel, whose day has come, whose time of punishment has reached its climax, ²⁶thus is what the Sovereign LORD says: Take off the turban, remove the crown. It will not be as it was: The lowly will be exalted and the exalted will be brought low. ²⁷A ruin! A ruin! I will make it a ruin! It will not be restored until he comes to whom it rightfully belongs; to him I will give it.'

²⁸"And you, son of man, prophesy and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says about the Ammonites and their insults:

"A sword, a sword,
drawn for the slaughter,
polished to consume
and to flash like lightning!

²⁹Despite false visions concerning you and lying divinations about you, it will be laid on the necks of the wicked who are to be slain, whose day has come, whose time of punishment has reached its climax.

³⁰Return the sword to its scabbard. In the place where you were created, in the land of your ancestry, I will judge you.

³¹I will pour out my wrath upon you and breathe out my fiery anger against you; I will hand you over to brutal men, men skilled in destruction.

³²You will be fuel for the fire, your blood will be shed in your land, you will be remembered no more; for I the LORD have spoken.'"

Jerusalem's Sins

22 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, will you judge her? Will you judge this city of bloodshed? Then confront her with all her detestable practices ³and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: O city that brings on herself doom by shedding blood in her midst and defiles herself by making idols, ⁴you have become guilty because of the blood you have shed and have become defiled by the idols you have made. You have brought your days to a close, and the end of your years has come. Therefore I will make you an object of scorn to the nations and a laughingstock to all the countries. ⁵Those who are near and those who are far away will mock you, O infamous city, full of turmoil.

⁶"See how each of the princes of Israel who are in you uses his power to shed blood. ⁷In you they have treated father and mother with contempt; in you they have oppressed the alien and mistreated the fatherless and the widow. ⁸You have despised my holy things and desecrated my Sabbaths. ⁹In you are slanderous men bent on shedding blood; in you are those who eat at the mountain shrines and commit lewd acts. ¹⁰In you are those who dishonor their fathers' bed; in you are those who violate women during their period, when they are ceremonially unclean. ¹¹In you one man commits a detestable offense with his neighbor's wife, another shamefully defiles his daughter-in-law, and another violates his sister, his own father's daughter. ¹²In you men accept bribes to shed blood; you take usury and excessive interest^a and make unjust gain from your neighbors by extortion. And you have forgotten me, declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹³"I will surely strike my hands together at the unjust gain you have made and at the blood you have shed in your midst. ¹⁴Will your courage endure or your hands be strong in the day I deal with you? I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it. ¹⁵I will disperse you among the nations and scatter you through the countries; and I will put an end to your uncleanness. ¹⁶When you have been defiled^b in the eyes of the nations, you will know that I am the LORD."

¹⁷Then the word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁸"Son of man, the house of Israel has become dross to me; all of them are the copper, tin, iron and lead left inside a furnace. They are but the dross of silver. ¹⁹Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because you have all become dross, I will gather you into Jerusalem. ²⁰As men gather silver, copper, iron, lead and tin into a furnace to melt it with a fiery blast, so will I gather you in my anger and my wrath and put you inside the city and melt you. ²¹I will gather you and I will blow on you with my fiery wrath, and you will be melted inside her. ²²As silver is melted in a furnace, so you will be melted inside her, and you will know that I the LORD have poured out my wrath upon you.'"

²³Again the word of the LORD came to me: ²⁴"Son of man, say to the land, 'You are a land that has had no rain or showers^c in the day of wrath.'

²⁵There is a conspiracy of her princes^d within her like a roaring lion tearing its prey; they devour people, take treasures and precious things and make many widows within her. ²⁶Her priests do violence to my law and profane my holy things; they do not distinguish between the holy and the common; they teach that there is no difference between the unclean and the clean; and they shut their eyes to the keeping of my Sabbaths, so that I am profaned among them. ²⁷Her officials within her are like wolves tearing their prey; they shed blood and kill people to make unjust gain. ²⁸Her prophets whitewash these deeds for them by false visions and lying divinations. They say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says'—when the LORD has not spoken. ²⁹The people of the land practice extortion and commit robbery; they oppress the poor and needy and mistreat the alien, denying them justice.

³⁰"I looked for a man among them who would build up the wall and stand before me in the gap on behalf of the land so I would not have to destroy it, but I found none. ³¹So I will pour out my wrath on them and consume them with my fiery anger, bringing down on their own heads all they have done, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Two Adulterous Sisters

23 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, there were two women, daughters of the same mother. ³They became prostitutes in Egypt, engaging in prostitution from their youth. In that land their breasts were fondled and their virgin bosoms caressed. ⁴The older was named Oholah, and her sister was Oholibah. They were mine and gave birth to sons and daughters. Oholah is Samaria, and Oholibah is Jerusalem.

⁵"Oholah engaged in prostitution while she was still mine; and she lusted after her lovers, the Assyrians—warriors^e clothed in blue, governors and commanders, all of them handsome young men, and mounted horsemen. ⁷She gave herself as a prostitute to all the elite of the Assyrians and defiled herself with all the idols of everyone she lusted after. ⁸She did not give up the prostitution she began in Egypt, when during her youth men slept with her, caressed her virgin bosom and poured out their lust upon her.

¹¹"Her sister Oholibah saw this, yet in her lust and prostitution she was more depraved than her sister. ¹²She too lusted after the Assyrians—governors and commanders, warriors in full dress, mounted horsemen, all handsome young men. ¹³I saw that she too defiled herself; both of them went the same way.

¹⁴"But she carried her prostitution still further.

She saw men portrayed on a wall, figures of Chaldeans^a portrayed in red, ¹⁵with belts around their waists and flowing turbans on their heads; all of them looked like Babylonian chariot officers, natives of Chaldea.^b ¹⁶As soon as she saw them, she lusted after them and sent messengers to them in Chaldea. ¹⁷Then the Babylonians came to her, to the bed of love, and in their lust they defiled her. After she had been defiled by them, she turned away from them in disgust. ¹⁸When she carried on her prostitution openly and exposed her nakedness, I turned away from her in disgust, just as I had turned away from her sister. ¹⁹Yet she became more and more promiscuous as she recalled the days of her youth, when she was a prostitute in Egypt. ²⁰There she lusted after her lovers, whose genitals were like those of donkeys and whose emission was like that of horses. ²¹So you longed for the lewdness of your youth, when in Egypt your bosom was caressed and your young breasts fondled.^c

I will turn you over to them for punishment, and they will punish you according to their standards. ²⁵I will direct my jealous anger against you, and they will deal with you in fury. They will cut off your noses and your ears, and those of you who are left will fall by the sword. They will take away your sons and daughters, and those of you who are left will be consumed by fire. ²⁶They will also strip you of your clothes and take your fine jewelry. ²⁷So I will put a stop to the lewdness and prostitution you began in

The Runaways

A story meant to make you feel sick

"Now let them use her as a prostitute, for that is all she is." 23:43

This story uses sexually explicit language. It tells of two sisters who choose promiscuous sex. Once they are involved, nothing satisfies them. They go from one man to the next. God calls them prostitutes, but they don't do it for the money. They do it because they like to live perversely.

Finally, in grief and frustration, God turns them over to their chosen lovers, who treat them like trash. God seems to take angry satisfaction in this. Love makes him angry—angry enough to weep.

An Allegory of Love

Ezekiel doesn't pretend that these two sisters are real people. From the beginning he identifies them with the capitals of the two halves of Israel—Samaria in the North, which the Assyrians had wiped out over 100 years before, and Jerusalem in the South. Samaria was properly rewarded for her prostitution, Ezekiel says, and Jerusalem will be too. The story of the two sisters is, in a sense, one more graphic way of saying that God has been patient with Jerusalem long enough. (A similar story is told in Ezekiel 16.)

A Drastic Dose of Reality

God had promised the Israelites everything their hearts desired if they would stick by him. But they were always turning to other nations whose prosperity and power they envied. In those days, a little nation like Israel couldn't just sign a friendship pact with a big power. Political alliances meant accepting the big power's religion and worshiping its gods alongside your own. God warned Israel against this repeatedly, but they ignored the warning. Therefore, Ezekiel says, they will get their wish. They will experience firsthand the care and concern of their Babylonian "lovers."

God responds like a father who has finally given up trying to regulate his daughter's bad habits. He tells her, "Get out! Find out for yourself what life is like on the street!" God says, "You will drink your sister's cup, a cup large and deep; it will bring scorn and derision, for it holds so much. . . . You will drink it and drain it dry; you will dash it to pieces and tear your breasts" (23:32-34). He says it in anger, but also in hope that such bitter grief will awaken Israel to the disastrous choices she made in rejecting God's care.

Life Questions: Have you ever loved someone who didn't love you back? What emotions did you feel?

¹⁴"I the LORD have spoken. The time has come for me to act. I will not hold back; I will not have pity, nor will I relent. You will be judged according to your conduct and your actions, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Ezekiel's Wife Dies

¹⁵The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁶"Son of man, with one blow I am about to take away from you the delight of your eyes. Yet do not lament or weep or shed any tears. ¹⁷Groan quietly; do not mourn for the dead. Keep your turban fastened and your sandals on your feet; do not cover the lower part of your face or eat the customary food of mourners."

¹⁸So I spoke to the people in the morning, and in the evening my wife died. The next morning I did as I had been commanded.

¹⁹Then the people asked me, "Won't you tell us what these things have to do with us?"

²⁰So I said to them, "The word of the LORD came to me: ²¹Say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to desecrate my sanctuary—the stronghold in which you take pride, the delight of your eyes, the object of your affection. The sons and daughters you left behind will fall by the sword. ²²And you will do as I have done. You will not cover the lower part of your face or eat the customary food of mourners. ²³You will keep your turbans on your heads and your sandals on your feet. You will not mourn or weep but will waste away because of your sins and groan among yourselves. ²⁴Ezekiel will be a sign to you; you will do just as he has done. When this happens, you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.'

²⁵"And you, son of man, on the day I take away their stronghold, their joy and glory, the delight of their eyes, their heart's desire, and their sons and daughters as well— ²⁶on that day a fugitive will come to tell you the news. ²⁷At that time your mouth will be opened; you will speak with him and will no longer be silent. So you will be a sign to them, and they will know that I am the LORD."

A Prophecy Against Ammon

25 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, set your face against the Ammonites and prophesy against them. ³Say to them, 'Hear the word of the Sovereign LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you said "Aha!" over my sanctuary when it was desecrated and over the land of Israel when it was laid waste and over the people of Judah when they went into exile, ⁴therefore I am going to give you to the people of the East as a possession. They will set up their camps and pitch their tents among you; they will eat your fruit and drink your milk. ⁵I will turn Rabbah into a pasture for camels and Ammon into a resting place for sheep. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ⁶For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you have clapped your hands and stamped your feet, rejoicing with all the malice of your heart against the land of Israel, ⁷there-fore I will stretch out my hand against you and give you as plunder to the nations. I will cut you off from the nations and exterminate you from the countries. I will destroy you, and you will know that I am the LORD.'"

A Prophecy Against Moab

⁸"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because Moab and Seir said, "Look, the house of Judah has become like all the other nations," ⁹therefore I will expose the flank of Moab, beginning at its frontier towns—Beth Jeshmoth, Baal Meon and Kiriathaim—the glory of that land. ¹⁰I will give Moab along with the Ammonites to the people of the East as a possession, so that the Ammonites will not be remembered among the nations; ¹¹and I will inflict punishment on Moab. Then they will know that I am the LORD.'"

A Prophecy Against Edom

¹²"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because Edom took revenge on the house of Judah and became very guilty by doing so, ¹³therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will stretch out my hand against Edom and kill its men and their animals. I will lay it waste, and from Teman to Dedan they will fall by the sword. ¹⁴I will take vengeance on Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they will deal with Edom in accordance with my anger and my wrath; they will know my vengeance, declares the Sovereign LORD.'"

A Prophecy Against Philistia

¹⁵"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because the Philistines acted in vengeance and took revenge with malice in their hearts, and with ancient hostility sought to destroy Judah, ¹⁶therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to stretch out my hand against the Philistines, and I will cut off the Kerethites and destroy those remaining along the coast. ¹⁷I will carry out great vengeance on them and punish them in my wrath. Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I take vengeance on them.'"

A Prophecy Against Tyre

26 In the eleventh year, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, because Tyre has said of Jerusalem, 'Aha! The gate to the nations is broken, and its doors have swung open to me; now that she lies in ruins I will prosper,' ³therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, O Tyre, and I will bring many nations against you, like the sea casting up its waves. ⁴They will destroy the walls of Tyre and pull down her towers; I will scrape away her rubble and make her a bare rock. ⁵Out in the sea she will become a place to spread fishnets, for I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD. She will become plunder for the nations, ⁶and her settlements on the mainland will be ravaged by the sword. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

⁷"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: From the north I am going to bring against Tyre

Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, king of kings, with horses and chariots, with horsemen and a great army. ⁸He will ravage your settlements on the mainland with the sword; he will set up siege works against you, build a ramp up to your walls and raise his shields against you. ⁹He will direct the bows of his battering rams against your walls and demolish your towers with his weapons. ¹⁰His horses will be so many that they will cover you with dust. Your walls will tremble at the noise of the war horses, wagons and chariots when he enters your gates as men enter a city whose walls have been broken through. ¹¹The hoofs of his horses will trample all your streets; he will kill your people with the sword, and your strong pillars will fall to the ground. ¹²They will plunder your wealth and loot your merchandise; they will break down your walls and demolish your fine houses and

Just What They Deserved God will judge every nation in the world

"I will carry out great vengeance on them and punish them in my wrath. Then they will know that I am the Lord." 25:17

World War II ended in Europe with the surrender of the German army. People danced in the streets.

But the victorious allies could not simply pack and go home. They had captured thousands of Nazis. Among them were some of the most brutal murderers the world has ever known—monsters, really, who had enriched themselves with the gold and jewelry of the millions of Jews they had exterminated.

A question came up: Under what law could the Nazis be tried? American, British, or French law didn't apply in Germany. Faced with this dilemma, the Allies invented something new: the Nuremberg trials. Judgments were based on a belief in a higher law—an international code of right and wrong that applies to every person, regardless of country. Under this unwritten law many Nazi leaders were condemned to death.

Nations on Trial

Ezekiel introduces a similar concept of justice, beginning in chapter 25. In the first 24 chapters he had spoken harsh words to the Israelites, who had repeatedly broken the law God had given them. But now Ezekiel's vision expands to nations who never had that law. Ezekiel marches through Ammon, Moab, Edom, Philistia—four nations that, on the small scale of Palestinian geography, could be seen with the naked eye from Jerusalem.

Each nation has its moment in court, and each is condemned for its inhumane malice against Israel. (The sentences Ezekiel gave were soon carried out historically. The nations listed vanished from the face of the earth, victims of the same violence they had used against Israel.)

Ezekiel goes on to Tyre, 100 miles up the coast. Tyre's soul was profit; its merchants controlled trade for the whole Mediterranean. Because of their wealth and success, they considered themselves virtual gods (28:2,6). They had callously rejoiced in Jerusalem's downfall, seeing it as a chance for increased trade (26:2). For such unfeeling arrogance, God would sentence them. Nebuchadnezzar began this punishment in Ezekiel's era, and centuries later Alexander the Great finished it off by destroying the city. Tyre became, as Ezekiel had predicted, "a bare rock, a place to spread fishnets" (26:14).

A Comic Condemnation

Pausing briefly to give a judgment of Sidon, Ezekiel travels on to Egypt. His words might have seemed comic. Who does he think he is, passing judgment on one of the great powers of his day? Yet Ezekiel confidently asserts that Egypt can start mourning now. As it happened, Egypt, a great power for many centuries, lost its dominance and has never regained it (29:15).

Perhaps, in taking up these nations' fates, Ezekiel intended to build suspense for the climactic tragedy of Jerusalem's fall. But certainly this trial of the nations demonstrated that Jerusalem had not been singled out for justice. Every nation would be judged by the standard of right and wrong that they knew. If God was harder on Judah, it was only because Judah knew so much more about God and his expectations.

throw your stones—timber and rubble into the sea.
 4 I will put an end to your noisy songs, and the music of your harps will be heard no more. 14 I will make you a bare rock, and you will become a place to spread fishnets. You will never be rebuilt, for I the Lord have spoken, declares the Sovereign
 Lord.

This is what the Sovereign Lord says to Tyre:
 Will not the coastlands tremble at the sound of your fall, when the wounded groan and the slaughter takes place in you? 6 Then all the princes of the coast will step down from their thrones and lay aside their robes and take off their embroidered coverings. Clothed with terror, they will sit on the ground, trembling every moment, appalled at
 you. 7 Then they will take up a lament concerning you and say to you:

How you are destroyed, O city of renown,
 peopled by men of the sea!
 You were a power on the seas;
 you and your citizens
 you put your terror
 on all who lived there.
 8 Now the coastlands tremble
 on the day of your fall;
 the islands in the sea
 are terrified at your collapse.^a

9 This is what the Sovereign Lord says: When I make you a desolate city, like cities no longer inhabited, and when I bring the ocean depths over you and its vast waters cover you, 20 then I will bring you down with those who go down to the pit—the people of long ago. I will make you dwell in the earth below, as in ancient ruins, with those who go down to the pit, and you will not return or take your place^a in the land of the living. 21 I will bring you to a horrible end and you will be no more. You will be sought, but you will never again be found, declares the Sovereign Lord.^b

A Lament for Tyre

27 The word of the Lord came to me: 2^a Son of man, take up a lament concerning Tyre.
 3 Say to Tyre, situated at the gateway to the sea, merchant of peoples on many coasts, This is what
 the Sovereign Lord says:

4 You say, O Tyre,
 "I am perfect in beauty."
 5 Your domain was on the high seas;
 your builders brought your beauty to perfection.
 6 They made all your timbers
 of pine trees from Senir^b;
 they took a cedar from Lebanon
 to make a mast for you.
 7 Of oaks from Bashan
 they made your oars;
 of cypress wood^c from the coasts of Cyprus^d
 they made your deck, inlaid with ivory.
 8 Fine embroidered linen from Egypt was your sail

and served as your banner;
 your awnings were of blue and purple
 from the coasts of Elishah.
 9 Men of Sidon and Arvad were your oarmen, your skilled men, O Tyre, were aboard as your seamen.

10 Veteran craftsmen of Gebah were on board
 as shipwrights to caulk your seams.
 All the ships of the sea and their sailors came alongside to trade for your wares.

11 Men of Persia, Lydia and Put served as soldiers in your army.
 They hung their shields and helmets on your walls,

bringing you splendor.
 12 Men of Arvad and Helech manned your walls on every side;
 men of Gammad
 were in your towers.

They hung their shields around your walls;
 they brought your beauty to perfection.

13 Tarshish did business with you because of your great wealth of goods; they exchanged silver,
 iron, tin and lead for your merchandise.

14 Greece, Tubal and Meshech traded with you; they exchanged slaves and articles of bronze for your wares.

15 Men of Beth Togarmah exchanged work horses, war horses and mules for your merchandise.

16 The men of Rhodes^e traded with you, and many coastlands were your customers; they paid
 you with ivory tusks and ebony.

17 Aram did business with you because of your many products; they exchanged turquoise, purple fabric, embroidered work, fine linen, coral and rubies for your merchandise.

18 Judah and Israel traded with you; they exchanged wheat from Minnith and confections,^f
 honey, oil and balm for your wares.

19 Damascus, because of your many products and great wealth of goods, did business with you in wine from Helbon and wool from Zahar.

20 Danites and Greeks from Uzal bought your merchandise; they exchanged wrought iron, cassia and calamus for your wares.

21 Dedan traded in saddle blankets with you.

22 Arabia and all the princes of Kedar were your customers; they did business with you in lambs, rams and goats.

23 The merchants of Sheba and Raamah traded with you; for your merchandise they exchanged
 the finest of all kinds of spices and precious stones, and gold.

24 Haran, Canneh and Eden and merchants of Sheba, Asshur and Kilmad traded with you. 25 In your marketplace they traded with you beautiful garments, blue fabric, embroidered work and multicolored rugs with cords twisted and tightly knotted.

A Prophecy Against the King of Tyre

28 The word of the LORD came to me. ²"Son of man, say to the ruler of Tyre, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'In the pride of your heart
 you say, "I am a god;
 I sit on the throne of a god
 in the heart of the seas."
 But you are a man and not a god,
 though you think you are as wise as a god.
 3 Are you wiser than Daniel?
 Is no secret hidden from you?
 4 By your wisdom and understanding you have gained wealth for yourself and amassed gold and silver in your treasuries.

⁵By your great skill in trading
 you have increased your wealth,
 and because of your wealth
 your heart has grown proud

⁶"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD
 says:

" 'Because you think you are wise,
 as wise as a god,
 7 I am going to bring foreigners against you,
 the most ruthless of nations,
 they will draw their swords against your beauty and wisdom
 and pierce your shining splendor.
 8 They will bring you down to the pit,
 and you will die a violent death
 in the heart of the seas.
 9 Will you then say, "I am a god,"
 in the presence of those who kill you?
 You will be but a man, not a god,
 in the hands of those who slay you 10 You will die the death of the uncircumcised
 at the hands of foreigners

I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD."

¹¹The word of the LORD came to me. ¹²"Son of man, take up a lament concerning the king of Tyre and say to him, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says

" 'You were the model of perfection,
 full of wisdom and perfect in beauty 13 You were in Eden,
 the garden of God;
 every precious stone adorned you:
 ruby, topaz and emerald,
 chrysolite, onyx and jasper,
 sapphire,^b turquoise and beryl.
 Your settings and mountings^d were made of gold,
 on the day you were created they were prepared.
 14 You were anointed as a guardian cherub,
 for so I ordained you.
 You were on the holy mount of God,
 you walked among the fiery stones.
 15 You were blameless in your ways from the day you were created till wickedness was found in you.
 16 Through your widespread trade
 you were filled with violence,
 and you sinned.
 So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God,
 and I expelled you, O guardian cherub,
 from among the fiery stones.
 17 Your heart became proud
 on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom
 because of your splendor.
 So I threw you to the earth.

A Prophecy Against Sidon

20 The word of the LORD came to me: 21 "Son of man, set your face against Sidon, prophesy against her 22 and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

'I am against you, O Sidon,
and I will gain glory within you.
They will know that I am the LORD,
when I inflict punishment on her and show myself holy within her.
23 I will send a plague upon her
and make blood flow in her streets.
The slain will fall within her,
with the sword against her on every side.
Then they will know that I am the LORD.

24 No longer will the people of Israel have malicious neighbors who are painful briars and sharp thorns. Then they will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.

25 This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When I gather the people of Israel from the nations where they have been scattered, I will show myself holy among them in the sight of the nations. Then they will live in their own land, which I gave to my servant Jacob. 26 They will live there in safety and will build houses and plant vineyards; they will live in safety when I inflict punishment on all their neighbors who maligned them. Then they will know that I am the LORD their God.'"

A Prophecy Against Egypt

29 In the tenth year, in the tenth month on the twelfth day, the word of the LORD came to me: 2 "Son of man, set your face against Pharaoh king of Egypt and prophesy against him and against all Egypt. 3 Speak to him and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

'I am against you, Pharaoh king of Egypt, you great monster lying among your
streams.
You say, "The Nile is mine;
I made it for myself."
4 But I will put hooks in your jaws and make the fish of your streams stick to your scales.
I will pull you out from among your streams,
with all the fish sticking to your scales.
5 I will leave you in the desert,
you and all the fish of your streams.
You will fall on the open field
and not be gathered or picked up.
I will give you as food

to the beasts of the earth and the birds of the air.

6 Then all who live in Egypt will know that I am the LORD.

7 "You have been a staff of reed for the house of Israel. 7 When they grasped you with their hands, you splintered and you tore open their shoulders, when they leaned on you, you broke and their backs were wrenched."

8 "Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will bring a sword against you and kill your men and their animals. 9 Egypt will become a desolate wasteland. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

10 "Because you said, "The Nile is mine; I made it," 10 therefore I am against you and against your streams, and I will make the land of Egypt a ruin and a desolate waste from Migdol to Aswan, as far as the border of Cush. 11 No foot of man or animal will pass through it; no one will live there for forty years. 12 I will make the land of Egypt desolate among devastated lands, and her cities will lie desolate forty years among ruined cities. And I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries.

13 "Yet this is what the Sovereign LORD says: At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the nations where they were scattered. 14 I will bring them back from captivity and return them to Upper Egypt, the land of their ancestry. There they will be a lowly kingdom. 15 It will be the lowliest of kingdoms and will never again exalt itself above the other nations. I will make it so weak that it will never again rule over the nations. 16 Egypt will no longer be a source of confidence for the people of Israel but will be a reminder of their sin in turning to her for help. Then they will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.'"

17 In the twenty-seventh year, in the first month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me: 18 "Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon drove his army in a hard campaign against Tyre; every head was rubbed bare and every shoulder made raw. Yet he and his army got no reward from the campaign he led against Tyre. 19 Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to give Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will carry off its wealth. He will loot and plunder the land as pay for his army. 20 I have given him Egypt as a reward for his efforts because he and his army did it for me, declares the Sovereign LORD. 21 "On that day I will make a horn^d grow for the

A Lament for Egypt

30 The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, prophesy and say: This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

Wail and say:
Alas for that day!

For the day is near the day of the LORD is near a day of clouds

a time of doom for the nations.
⁴A sword will come against Egypt,
and anguish will come upon Cush.⁴

When the slain fall in Egypt,
her wealth will be carried away
and her foundations torn down

⁵Cush and Put, Lydia and all Arabia, Libya⁶ and the people of the covenant land will fall by the sword along with Egypt

⁷This is what the LORD says:

The allies of Egypt will fall
and her proud strength will fall
From Migdol to Aswan
they will fall by the sword within her,
declares the Sovereign LORD.

They will be desolate
among desolate lands,
and their cities will lie
among ruined cities

⁸Then they will know that I am the LORD,
when I set fire to Egypt
and all her helpers are crushed.

⁹On that day messengers will go out from me
in ships to frighten Cush out of her complacency.
Anguish will take hold of them on the day of Egypt's doom, for it is sure to come.

¹⁰“This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“I will put an end to the hordes of Egypt
by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

¹¹He and his army—the most ruthless of
nations—
will be brought in to destroy the land.
They will draw their swords against Egypt
and fill the land with the slain.

¹²I will dry up the streams of the Nile
and sell the land to evil men;
by the hand of foreigners
I will lay waste the land and everything in it.

I the LORD have spoken.

¹³“This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“I will destroy the idols
and put an end to the images in Memphis.⁷
No longer will there be a prince in Egypt,
and I will spread fear throughout the land.

¹⁴I will lay waste Upper Egypt,⁸ set fire to Zoan

and inflict punishment on Thebes,⁹ ¹⁵I will pour out my wrath on Pelusium,¹⁰
the stronghold of Egypt,
and cut off the hordes of Thebes.

¹⁶I will set fire to Egypt,
Pelusium will writhe in agony.
Thebes will be taken by storm;
Memphis will be in constant distress.

¹⁷The young men of Heliopolis and Bubastis¹¹
will fall by the sword,
and the cities themselves will go into captivity.

¹⁸Dark will be the day at Tahpanhes
when I break the yoke of Egypt;
there her proud strength will come to an end.

She will be covered with clouds,
and her villages will go into captivity.

¹⁹So I will inflict punishment on Egypt,
and they will know that I am the LORD.”

²⁰In the eleventh year, in the first month on the seventh day, the word of the LORD came to me:
²¹“Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt. It has not been bound up for healing or put in a splint so as to become strong enough to hold a sword. ²²Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt. I will break both his arms, the good arm as well as the broken one, and make the sword fall from his hand. ²³I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries. ²⁴I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put my sword in his hand, but I will break the arms of Pharaoh, and he will groan before him like a mortally wounded man. ²⁵I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh will fall limp. Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I put my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon and he brand-ishes it against Egypt. ²⁶I will disperse the Eryptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries. Then they will know that I am the LORD.”

A Cedar in Lebanon

31 In the eleventh year, in the third month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to his hordes:

“Who can be compared with you in majesty?
³Consider Assyria, once a cedar in Lebanon, with beautiful branches overshadowing the
forest;

it towered on high,
its top above the thick foliage.

⁴The waters nourished it,
deep springs made it grow tall;
their streams flowed
all around its base
and sent their channels
to all the trees of the field.

⁵So it towered higher than all the trees of the field, its boughs increased

and its branches grew long,
spreading because of abundant waters.

⁶All the birds of the air nested in its boughs,
all the beasts of the field
gave birth under its branches;
all the great nations
lived in its shade.

⁷It was majestic in beauty,
with its spreading boughs,
for its roots went down to abundant waters.

⁸The cedars in the garden of God
could not rival it,
nor could the pine trees
equal its boughs,
nor could the plane trees
compare with its branches—
no tree in the garden of God could match its beauty.

⁹I made it beautiful
with abundant branches,
the envy of all the trees of Eden
in the garden of God.

¹⁰"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because it towered on high, lifting its top above the thick foliage, and because it was proud of its height, ¹¹I handed it over to the ruler of the nations, for him to deal with according to its wickedness. I cast it aside, ¹²and the most ruthless of foreign nations cut it down and left it. Its boughs fell on the mountains and in all the valleys; its branches lay broken in all the ravines of the land. All the nations of the earth came out from under its shade and left it. ¹³All the birds of the air settled on the fallen tree, and all the beasts of the field were among its branches. ¹⁴Therefore no other trees by the waters are ever to tower proudly on high, lifting their tops above the thick foliage. No other trees so well-watered are ever to reach such a height; they are all destined for death, for the earth below, among mortal men, with those who go down to the pit.

¹⁸"Which of the trees of Eden can be compared with you in splendor and majesty? Yet you, too, will be brought down with the trees of Eden to the earth below; you will lie among the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword.

"This is Pharaoh and all his hordes, declares the Sovereign LORD."

A Lament for Pharaoh

32 In the twelfth year, in the twelfth month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, take up a lament concerning Pharaoh king of Egypt and say to him:

"You are like a lion among the nations;
you are like a monster in the seas
thrashing about in your streams, churning the water with your feet
and muddying the streams.

³"This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"With a great throng of people
I will cast my net over you,
and they will haul you up in my net.

⁴I will throw you on the land and hurl you on the open field.

I will let all the birds of the air settle on you and all the beasts of the earth gorge themselves on you.

⁵I will spread your flesh on the mountains and fill the valleys with your remains.

⁶I will drench the land with your flowing blood
all the way to the mountains,
and the ravines will be filled with your flesh.

⁷When I snuff you out, I will cover the heavens
and darken their stars;

I will cover the sun with a cloud,
and the moon will not give its light.

⁸All the shining lights in the heavens
I will darken over you;

I will bring darkness over your land,

declares the Sovereign LORD.

⁹I will trouble the hearts of many peoples
when I bring about your destruction among
the nations,
among^b lands you have not known.

¹⁰I will cause many peoples to be appalled at
you,

and their kings will shudder with horror
because of you

when I brandish my sword before them.

On the day of your downfall

each of them will tremble

every moment for his life.

¹¹"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"The sword of the king of Babylon will come against you.

¹²I will cause your hordes to fall
by the swords of mighty men—
the most ruthless of all nations.

They will shatter the pride of Egypt,
and all her hordes will be overthrown.

¹³I will destroy all her cattle from beside abundant waters
no longer to be stirred by the foot of man or muddied by the hoofs of cattle.

¹⁴Then I will let her waters settle and make her streams flow like oil,

declares the Sovereign LORD.

19 This is the lament they will chant for her. The daughters of the nations will chant it; for Egypt and all her hordes they will chant it, declares the Sovereign Lord.

20 In the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the month, the word of the Lord came to me: 21 Son of man, warn the hordes of Egypt and consign to the earth below both her and the daughters of mighty nations, with those who go down to the pit. 22 Say to them, 'Are you more favored than others? Go down and be laid among the uncircumcised.' 23 They will fall among those killed by the sword. The sword is drawn; let her be dragged off with all her hordes. 24 From within the grave the mighty leaders will say of Egypt and her allies, 'They have come down and they lie with the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword.'

25 Assyria is there with her whole army, she is surrounded by the graves of all her slain, all who have fallen by the sword. 26 Their graves are in the depths of the pit and her army lies around her grave. All who had spread terror in the land of the living are slain, fallen by the sword.

27 Elam is there, with all her hordes around her grave. All of them are slain, fallen by the sword. All who had spread terror in the land of the living went down uncircumcised to the earth below. They bear their shame with those who go down to the pit. 28 A bed is made for her among the slain, with all her hordes around her grave. All of them are uncircumcised, killed by the sword. Because their terror had spread in the land of the living, they bear their shame with those who go down to the pit; they are laid among the slain.

29 Meshech and Tubal are there, with all their hordes around their graves. All of them are uncircumcised, killed by the sword because they spread their terror in the land of the living. 30 Do they not lie with the other uncircumcised warriors who have fallen, who went down to the grave with their weapons of war, whose swords were placed under their heads? The punishment for their sins rested on their bones, though the terror of these warriors had stalked through the land of the living.

31 You too, O Pharaoh, will be broken and will lie among the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword.

32:21 The Afterlife

Though eternal life shines through a few Old Testament passages (see "Life after Death," page 474), life after death was extremely vague in most of the Old Testament. The grave was represented by a place called "Sheol." The fate of the nations described here as "within the grave" gives a vivid, eerie sense of death.

40 Edom is there, her kings and all her princes despite their power, they are laid with those killed by the sword. They lie with the uncircumcised, with those who go down to the pit.

41 All the princes of the north and all the Edomites are there; they went down with the slain in disgrace despite the terror caused by their power. They lie uncircumcised with those killed by the sword and bear their shame with those who go down to the pit.

42 Pharaoh—he and all his army—will see them and he will be consoling for all his hordes that were killed by the sword, declares the Sovereign Lord.

43 Although I had him spread terror in the land of the living, Pharaoh and all his hordes will be laid among the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword, declares the Sovereign Lord.

Ezekiel a Watchman

33 The word of the Lord came to me: 2 Son of man, speak to your countrymen and say to them: 'When I bring the sword against a land, and the people of the land choose one of their men and make him their watchman, 3 and he sees the sword coming against the land and blows the trumpet to warn the people, 4 then if anyone hears the trumpet but does not take warning and the sword comes and takes his life, his blood will be on his own head. 5 Since he heard the sound of the trumpet but did not take warning, his blood will be on his own head. If he had taken warning, he would have saved himself. 6 But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet to warn the people and the sword comes and takes the life of one of them, that man will be taken away because of his sin, but I will hold the watchman accountable for his blood.'

7 Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me. 8 When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you will surely die,' and you do not speak out to dissuade him from his ways, that wicked man will die for his sin, and I will hold you accountable for his blood. 9 But if you do warn the wicked man to turn from his ways and he does not do so, he will die for his sin, but you will have saved yourself.

10 Son of man, say to the house of Israel, 'This is what you are saying: "Our offenses and sins weigh us down, and we are wasting away because of them. How then can we live?"' 11 Say to them, 'As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign Lord, I take no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but rather that they turn from their ways and live. Turn! Turn from your evil ways! Why will you die, O house of Israel?'

12 Therefore, son of man, say to your countrymen, 'The righteousness of the righteous man will not save him when he disobeys, and the wickedness of the wicked man will not cause him to fall when he turns from it. The righteous man, if he sins, will not be allowed to live because of his former righteousness.' 13 If I tell the righteous man that he will surely live, but then he trusts in his righteousness and does evil, none of the righteous things he has done will be remembered; he will die for the evil he has done. ¹⁴And if I say to the wicked man, 'You will surely die,' but he then turns away from his sin and does what is just and right— ¹⁵if he gives back what he took in pledge for a loan, returns what he has stolen, follows the decrees that give life, and does no evil, he will surely live; he will not die. ¹⁶None of the sins he has committed will be remembered against him. He has done what is just and right; he will surely live.

¹⁷"Yet your countrymen say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' But it is their way that is not just. ¹⁸If a righteous man turns from his righteousness and does evil, he will die for it. ¹⁹And if a wicked man turns away from his wickedness and does what is just and right, he will live by doing so. ²⁰Yet, O house of Israel, you say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' But I will judge each of you according to his own ways."

Jerusalem's Fall Explained

²¹In the twelfth year of our exile, in the tenth month on the fifth day, a man who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me and said, "The city has fallen!" ²²Now the evening before the man arrived, the hand of the Lord was upon me, and he opened my mouth before the man came to me in the morn-

INSIGHT

The Turning Point

From here forward, Ezekiel offers good news

In the twelfth year of our exile . . . a man who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me and said, "The city has fallen!" 33:21

To their children parents can seem frighteningly inconsistent. One minute a father is gripping his son's wrist, shouting about something. The next moment, punishment over, he is talking quietly and lovingly to his son. How can he change so drastically? Why so angry one minute and so loving the next?

The sudden change makes sense only if you grasp that most parents hate the role of disciplinarian. They punish in order to correct something they see as harmful. Afterwards, they put punishment behind them as quickly as possible, because they dream of better times in the future.

A Happier Life for Ezekiel

Ezekiel portrays just such a drastic change between God and Israel. Until chapter 33 he had offered mostly anger and threats. Suddenly, in verse 21, the news of Jerusalem's fall reached Ezekiel. The punishment, long threatened, had come. From this point on, Ezekiel's message from God became dominated by dreams of the future—happy dreams. Ezekiel's life became happier too. After seven years of virtual silence (3:26-27—he spoke only what God told him to), he opened his mouth freely again.

God, speaking through Ezekiel, began to paint the future with the same vivid colors he had used to promise punishment. He spoke of Israel as a flock of sheep and himself as their loving shepherd (chapter 34). He previewed the mountains of Israel as they will look under his full blessing (chapter 36)—very different from the prediction given those same mountains in chapter 6.

God showed Ezekiel a valley of dried bones rising up and taking life (chapter 37), a vision that has inspired musicians and preachers ever since. He forecast a fantastic battle with evil forces from the north, Gog and Magog, in which God's people would triumph magnificently (chapters 38-39). Then, in his final vision, God showed Ezekiel the nation of Israel restored, with its boundaries extended far into hostile territory, its temple rebuilt in new splendor (chapters 40-48). The Lord would come back to his home, to live with his people.

The Temple's Significance

The temple, to Israel, was a sign of God's love. By taking up a home there, he committed himself to be with them permanently—not to come and go but to be available at any and all times to his people. When he left the temple (10:18) and let it be razed by the Babylonians (2 Kings 25:9), he communicated clearly that Israel had forfeited any right to his care.

So Ezekiel's vision of a rebuilt temple, with God's glory filling it, was a promise of new hope. The temple has never been rebuilt according to the precise description Ezekiel gave (chapters 40-43), and many scholars understand his portrayal as symbolic. But the central beauty of the temple is this: "THE LORD IS THERE." The glorious, astonishing God whom Ezekiel first saw in the Babylonian desert will make his home in the center of the land. He will not always be angry. He has great plans for the happiness of his people.

Life Questions: In your relationship with God, are you more concerned with past failures? Or with hopes for the future?

ing. So my mouth was opened and I was no longer silent.

²³Then the word of the LORD came to me: ²⁴"Son of man, the people living in those ruins in the land of Israel are saying, 'Abraham was only one man, yet he possessed the land. But we are many; surely the land has been given to us as our possession.'

²⁵Therefore say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Since you eat meat with the blood still in it and look to your idols and shed blood, should you then possess the land? ²⁶You rely on your sword, you do detestable things, and each of you defiles his neighbor's wife. Should you then possess the land?'

²⁷"Say this to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: As surely as I live, those who are left in the ruins will fall by the sword, those out in the country I will give to the wild animals to be devoured, and those in strongholds and caves will die of a plague. ²⁸I will make the land a desolate waste, and her proud strength will come to an end, and the mountains of Israel will become desolate so that no one will cross them. ²⁹Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I have made the land a desolate waste because of all the detestable things they have done.'

³⁰"As for you, son of man, your countrymen are talking together about you by the walls and at the doors of the houses, saying to each other, 'Come and hear the message that has come from the LORD.' ³¹My people come to you, as they usually do, and sit before you to listen to your words, but they do not put them into practice. With their mouths they express devotion, but their hearts are greedy for unjust gain. ³²Indeed, to them you are nothing more than one who sings love songs with a beautiful voice and plays an instrument well, for they hear your words but do not put them into practice.

³³"When all this comes true—and it surely will—then they will know that a prophet has been among them."

Shepherds and Sheep

34 The word of the LORD came to me: ¹"Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the shepherds of Israel who only take care of themselves! Should not shepherds take care of the flock? ²You eat the curds, clothe yourselves with the wool and slaughter the choice animals, but you do not take care of the flock. ³You have not strengthened the weak or healed the sick or bound up the injured. You have not brought back the strays or searched for the lost. You have ruled them harshly and brutally. ⁴So they were scattered because there was no shepherd, and when they were scattered they became food for all the wild animals. ⁵My sheep wandered over all the mountains and on every high hill. They were scattered over the whole earth, and no one searched or looked for them.

⁶"Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: ⁷As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, because my flock lacks a shepherd and so has been plundered and has become food for all the wild animals, and because my shepherds did not search for my flock but cared for themselves rather than for my flock, ⁸therefore, O shepherds, hear the word of the LORD. ⁹This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against the shepherds and will hold them accountable for my flock. I will remove them from tending the flock so that the shepherds can no longer feed themselves. I will rescue my flock from their mouths, and it will no longer be food for them.

¹⁰"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself will search for my sheep and look after them. ¹¹As a shepherd looks after his scattered flock when he is with them, so will I look after my sheep. I will rescue them from all the places where they were scattered on a day of clouds and darkness. ¹²I will bring them out from the nations and gather them from the countries, and I will bring them into their own land. I will pasture them on the mountains of Israel, in the ravines and in all the settlements in the land. ¹³I will tend them in a good pasture, and the mountain heights of Israel will be their grazing land. There they will lie down in good grazing land, and there they will feed in a rich pasture on the mountains of Israel. ¹⁴I myself will tend my sheep and have them lie down, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁵I will search for the lost and bring back the strays. I will band up the injured and strengthen the weak, but the sleek and the strong I will destroy. I will shepherd the flock with justice.

¹⁶"As for you, my flock, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will judge between one sheep and another, and between rams and goats. ¹⁷Is it not enough for you to feed on the good pasture? Must you also trample the rest of your pasture with your feet? Is it not enough for you to drink clear water? Must you also muddy the rest with your feet? ¹⁸Must my flock feed on what you have trampled and drink what you have muddied with your feet?

¹⁹"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says to them: See, I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep. ²⁰Because you shove with flank and shoulder, butting all the weak sheep with your horns until you have driven them away, ²¹I will save my flock, and they will no longer be plundered. I will judge between one

34:11 The Good Shepherd

Ezekiel, who used strong imagery throughout his writing, developed the image of God as a shepherd with more detail than any other author in the Bible. To people who herded sheep for a living, the simile had tremendous impact.

The same comparison is used repeatedly throughout the Bible. One much-loved passage is Psalm 23, which begins, "The LORD is my shepherd." Jesus called himself "the good shepherd" (John 10:11-16) and had compassion on crowds because they were like "sheep without a shepherd" (Mark 6:34). The image of God as a shepherd begins with Jacob (Genesis 48:15) and ends with Revelation 7:17.

sheep and another. ²³I will place over them one shepherd, my servant David, and he will tend them; he will tend them and be their shepherd. ²⁴I the LORD will be their God, and my servant David will be prince among them. I the LORD have spoken.

²⁵"I will make a covenant of peace with them and rid the land of wild beasts so that they may live in the desert and sleep in the forests in safety. ²⁶I will bless them and the places surrounding my hill. ²⁷I will send down showers in season; there will be showers of blessing. ²⁸The trees of the field will yield their fruit and the ground will yield its crops; the people will be secure in their land. They will know that I am the LORD, when I break the bars of their yoke and rescue them from the hands of those who enslaved them. ²⁹They will no longer be plundered by the nations, nor will wild animals devour them. They will live in safety, and no one will make them afraid. ³⁰I will provide for them a land renowned for its crops, and they will no longer be victims of famine in the land or bear the scorn of the nations. ³¹Then they will know that I, the LORD their God, am with them and that they, the house of Israel, are my people, declares the Sovereign LORD. ³²You my sheep, the sheep of my pasture, are people, and I am your God, declares the Sovereign LORD."

A Prophecy Against Edom

35 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir; prophesy against it ³and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, Mount Seir, and I will stretch out my hand against you and make you a desolate waste. ⁴I will turn your towns into ruins and you will be desolate. Then you will know that I am the LORD

⁵"'Because you harbored an ancient hostility and delivered the Israelites over to the sword at the time of their calamity, the time their punishment reached its climax, ⁶therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will give you over to bloodshed and it will pursue you. Since you did not hate bloodshed, bloodshed will pursue you. ⁷I will make Mount Seir a desolate waste and cut off from it all who come and go. ⁸I will fill your mountains with the slain; those killed by the sword will fall on your hills and in your valleys and in all your ravines. ⁹I will make you desolate forever; your towns will not be inhabited. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

¹⁰"'Because you have said, "These two nations and countries will be ours and we will take possession of them," even though I the LORD was there, ¹¹therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will treat you in accordance with the anger and jealousy you showed in your hatred of them and I will make myself known among them when I judge you. ¹²Then you will know that I the LORD have heard all the contemptible things you have said against the mountains of Israel. You said, "They have been laid waste and have been given over to us to devour." ¹³You boasted against me and spoke against me without restraint, and I heard it. ¹⁴This is what the Sovereign LORD says: While the whole earth rejoices, I will make you desolate. ¹⁵Because you rejoiced when the inheritance of the house of Israel became desolate, that is how I will treat you. You will be desolate, O Mount Seir, you and all of Edom. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

A Prophecy to the Mountains of Israel

36 "Son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD. ²This is what the Sovereign LORD says: The enemy said of you, "Aha! The ancient heights have become our possession." ³Therefore prophesy and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because they ravaged and hounded you from every side so that you became the possession of the rest of the nations and the object of people's malicious talk and slander, ⁴therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Sovereign LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys, to the desolate ruins and the deserted towns that have been plundered and ridiculed by the rest of the nations around you— ⁵this is what the Sovereign LORD says: In my burning zeal I have spoken against the rest of the nations, and against all Edom, for with glee and with malice in their hearts they made my land their own possession so that they might plunder its pastureland.' ⁶Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel and say to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I speak in my jealous wrath because you have suffered the scorn of the nations. ⁷Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I swear with uplifted hand that the nations around you will also suffer scorn.

⁸"'But you, O mountains of Israel, will produce branches and fruit for my people Israel, for they will soon come home. ⁹I am concerned for you and will look on you with favor; you will be plowed and sown, ¹⁰and I will multiply the number of people upon you, even the whole house of Israel. The towns will be inhabited and the ruins rebuilt. ¹¹I will increase the number of men and animals upon you, and they will be fruitful and become numerous. I will settle people on you as in the past and will make you prosper more than before. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ¹²I will cause people, my people Israel, to walk upon you. They will possess you, and you will be their inheritance, you will never again deprive them of their children.

¹³"'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because people say to you, "You devour men and deprive your nation of its children," ¹⁴therefore you will no longer devour men or make your nation childless, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁵No longer will I make you hear the taunts of the nations, and no longer will you suffer the scorn of the peoples or cause your nation to fall, declares the Sovereign LORD."

²⁶ Or I will make them and the places surrounding my hill a blessing

¹⁸Again the word of the Lord came to me.

Son of man, when the people of Israel were living in their own land, they defiled it by their conduct and their actions. Their conduct was like a woman's monthly uncleanness in my sight. ¹⁸So I poured out my wrath on them because they had shed blood in the land and because they had defiled it with their idols. ¹⁹I dispersed them among the nations, and they were scattered through the countries; I judged them according to their conduct and their actions. ²⁰And wherever they went among the nations they profaned my holy name, for it was said of them, 'These are the Lord's people, and yet they had to leave his land.'

I had concern for my holy name, which the house of Israel profaned among the nations where they had gone.

²¹"Therefore say to the house of Israel, This is what the Sovereign Lord says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. ²³I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, declares the Sovereign Lord, when I show myself holy through you before their eyes.

²⁴"For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. ²⁵I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. ²⁶I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. ²⁷And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. ²⁸You will live in the land I gave your forefathers; you will be my people, and I will be your God. ²⁹I will save you from all your uncleanness. I will call for the grain and make it plentiful and will not bring famine upon you. ³⁰I will increase the fruit of the trees and the crops of the field, so that you will no longer suffer disgrace among the nations because of famine. ³¹Then you will remember your evil ways and wicked deeds, and you will loathe yourselves for your sins and detestable practices. ³²I want you to know that I am not doing this for your sake, declares the Sovereign Lord. Be ashamed and disgraced for your conduct, O house of Israel!

the day I cleanse you from all your sins, I will reestablish your towns, and the ruins will be rebuilt.

³⁴The desolate land will be cultivated instead of lying desolate in the sight of all who pass through it. ³⁵They will say, "This land that was laid waste has become like the garden of Eden, the cities that were lying in ruins, desolate and destroyed, are now fortified and inhabited." ³⁶Then the nations around you that remain will know that I the Lord have rebuilt what was destroyed and have replanted what was desolate. I the Lord have spoken, and I will do it."

³⁷"This is what the Sovereign Lord says: Once again I will yield to the plea of the house of Israel and do this for them: I will make their people as numerous as sheep, ³⁸as numerous as the flocks for offerings at Jerusalem during her appointed feasts. So will the ruined cities be filled with flocks of people. Then they will know that I am the Lord."

The Valley of Dry Bones

37 The hand of the Lord was upon me, and he brought me out by the Spirit of the Lord and set me in the middle of a valley; it was full of bones. ²He led me back and forth among them, and I saw a great many bones on the floor of the valley, bones that were very dry. ³He asked me, "Son of man, can these bones live?"

I said, "O Sovereign Lord, you alone know."

⁴Then he said to me, "Prophecy to these bones and say to them, 'Dry bones, hear the word of the Lord! ⁵This is what the Sovereign Lord says to these bones: I will make breath enter you, and you will come to life. ⁶I will attach tendons to you and make flesh come upon you and cover you with skin; I will put breath in you, and you will come to life. Then you will know that I am the Lord.'"

⁷So I prophesied as I was commanded. And as I was prophesying, there was a noise, a rattling sound, and the bones came together, bone to bone. ⁸I looked, and tendons and flesh appeared on them and skin covered them, but there was no breath in them.

⁹Then he said to me, "Prophecy to the breath; prophecy, son of man, and say to it, 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe into these slain, that they may live.'"

¹⁰So I prophesied as he commanded me, and breath entered them; they came to life and stood up on their feet—a vast army. ¹¹Then he said to me: "Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. They say, 'Our bones are dried up and our hope is gone; we are cut off.' ¹²Therefore prophecy and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: O my people, I am going to open your graves and bring you up from them; I will bring you back to the land of Israel. ¹³Then you, my people, will know that I am the Lord, when I open your graves and bring you up from them. ¹⁴I will put my Spirit in you and you will live, and I will settle you in your own land. Then you will know that I the Lord have spoken, and I have done it, declares the Lord.'"

36:27 A New Spirit

Like Jeremiah, Ezekiel realized that Israel needed more than a fresh start. To avoid making the same mistakes all over again, they needed new motivation and orientation. God must work radical surgery on them, to implant a new heart and a new spirit. Jesus' followers believed that this began when the Holy Spirit came at Pentecost (Acts 2:17-21).

³⁵ The Hebrew for this word can also mean wind or spirit (see verses 6-14).

One Nation Under One King

¹⁵The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁶"Son of man, take a stick of wood and write on it, 'Belonging to Judah and the Israelites associated with him.' Then take another stick of wood, and write on it, 'Ephraim's stick, belonging to Joseph and all the house of Israel associated with him.' ¹⁷Join them together into one stick so that they will become one in your hand.

¹⁸"When your countrymen ask you, 'Won't you tell us what you mean by this?' ¹⁹Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to take the stick of Joseph—which is in Ephraim's hand—and of the Israelite tribes associated with him, and join it to Judah's stick, making them a single stick of wood, and they will become one in my hand.' ²⁰Hold before their eyes the sticks you have written on ²¹and say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will take the Israelites out of the nations where they have gone. I will gather them from all around and bring them back into their own land. ²²I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel. There will be one king over all of them and they will never again be two nations or be divided into two kingdoms. ²³They will no longer defile themselves with their idols and vile images or with any of their offenses, for I will save them from all their sinful backsliding,^a and I will cleanse them. They will be my people, and I will be their God.

²⁴"My servant David will be king over them, and they will all have one shepherd. They will follow my laws and be careful to keep my decrees. ²⁵They will live in the land I gave to my servant Jacob, the land where your fathers lived. They and their children and their children's children will live there forever, and David my servant will be their prince forever. ²⁶I will make a covenant of peace with them; it will be an everlasting covenant. I will establish them and increase their numbers, and I will put my sanctuary among them forever. ²⁷My dwelling place will be with them; I will be their God, and they will be my people. ²⁸Then the nations will know that I the LORD make Israel holy, when my sanctuary is among them forever.' "

A Prophecy Against Gog

38 The word of the LORD came to me: ²"Son of man, set your face against Gog, of the land of Magog, the chief prince of^b Meshech and Tubal; prophesy against him ³and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, O Gog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal. ⁴I will turn you around, put hooks in your jaws and bring you out with your whole army—your horses, your horsemen fully armed, and a great horde with large and small shields, all of them brandishing their swords. ⁵Persia, Cush^d and Put will be with them, all with shields and helmets, ⁶also Gomer with all its troops, and Beth Togarmah from the far north with all its troops—the many nations with you.

⁷"Get ready; be prepared, you and all the hordes gathered about you, and take command of them. ⁸After many days you will be called to arms. In future years you will invade a land that has recovered from war, whose people were gathered from many nations to the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate. They had been brought out from the nations, and now all of them live in safety. ⁹You and all your troops and the many nations with you will go up, advancing like a storm; you will be like a cloud covering the land.

¹⁰"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On that day thoughts will come into your mind and you will devise an evil scheme. ¹¹You will say, "I will invade a land of unwalled villages; I will attack a peaceful and unsuspecting people—all of them living without walls and without gates and bars. ¹²I will plunder and loot and turn my hand against the resettled ruins and the people gathered from the nations, rich in livestock and goods, living at the center of the land." ¹³Sheba and Dedan and the merchants of Tarshish and all her villages^e will say to you, "Have you come to plunder? Have you gathered your hordes to loot, to carry off silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods and to seize much plunder?"

¹⁴"Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In that day, when my people Israel are living in safety, will you not take notice of it? ¹⁵You will come from your place in the far north, you and many nations with you, all of them riding on horses, a great horde, a mighty army. ¹⁶You will advance against my people Israel like a cloud that covers the land. In days to come, O Gog, I will bring you against my land, so that the nations may know me when I show myself holy through you before their eyes.

¹⁷"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Are you not the one I spoke of in former days by my servants the prophets of Israel? At that time they prophesied for years that I would bring you against them. ¹⁸This is what will happen in that day: When Gog attacks the land of Israel, my hot anger will be aroused, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁹In my zeal and fiery wrath I declare that at that time there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel. ²⁰The fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the beasts of the field, every creature that moves along the ground, and all the people on the face of the earth will tremble at my presence. The mountains will be overturned, the cliffs will crumble and every wall will fall to the ground. ²¹I will

37:22 North and South Reunited

Israel longed to be reunited. They had been split into two nations (sometimes at war) since the days of Solomon, over 300 years before. Yet, like East and West Germany and North and South Korea today, they had not forgotten their common origin. God promised to reunite the two—even though one had been in exile, scattered among other nations, for over 100 years.

draw a sword against Gog on all my mountains, declares the Sovereign Lord. Every man will be against his brother. I will execute judgment upon him with plague and bloodshed. I will bring down torrents of rain, hailstones and burning sulfur on him and on his troops and on the cities with him. And so I will show my wrath and my holiness, and I will make myself known in the sight of many nations. Then the Sovereign Lord says:

39 "Son of man, prophesy against Gog and say, 'The Sovereign Lord says: I am against you, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal. I will bring you around and drag you away from the far north and send you against the mountains of Israel. Then I will bring you from your left hand and make you attack from your right hand. On the day that you will fall, you and all your troops who are with you, I will give you as food to the birds of carrion birds and to the wild beasts. You will fall in the open field, for I have spoken, declares the Sovereign Lord. I will send fire against those who live in safety in the mountains, and they will know that I am the Lord.'

I will make known my holy name among my people Israel. I will no longer let my holy name be profaned, and the nations will know that I the Lord am the Holy One in Israel. It is coming! It will surely take place, declares the Sovereign Lord. This is the day I have spoken of.

Then those who live in the towns of Israel will go out and use the weapons for fuel and burn them up—the small and large shields, the bows and arrows, the war clubs and spears. For seven years they will use them for fuel. They will not need to gather wood from the fields or cut it from the forests, because they will use the weapons for fuel. And they will plunder those who plundered them and loot those who looted them, declares the Sovereign Lord.

On that day I will give Gog a burial place in Israel in the valley of those who travel east toward the Sea. It will block the way of travelers, because Gog and all his hordes will be buried there. So it will be called the Valley of Hamon Gog.

12 "For seven months the house of Israel will be burying them in order to cleanse the land. 13 All the people of the land will bury them, and the day I am glorified will be a memorable day for them, declares the Sovereign Lord.

14 "Men will be regularly employed to cleanse the land. Some will go throughout the land and, in addition to them, others will bury those that remain on the ground. At the end of the seven months they will begin their search. 15 As they go through the land and one of them sees a human bone, he will set up a marker beside it until the gravediggers have buried it in the Valley of Hamon Gog. 16 (Also a town called Hamonah will be there.) And so they will cleanse the land."

17 "Son of man, this is what the Sovereign Lord says: Call out to every kind of bird and all the wild animals. 'Assemble and come together from all around to the sacrifice I am preparing for you, the great sacrifice on the mountains of Israel. There you will eat flesh and drink blood.' 18 You will eat the flesh of mighty men and drink the blood of the princes of the earth as if they were rams and lambs, goats and bulls—all of them fattened animals from Bashan. 19 At the sacrifice I am preparing for you, you will eat fat till you are glutted and drink blood till you are drunk. 20 At my table you will eat your fill of horses and riders, mighty men and soldiers of every kind,' declares the Sovereign Lord.

21 I will display my glory among the nations, and all the nations will see the punishment I inflict and the hand I lay upon them. 22 From that day forward the house of Israel will know that I am the Lord their God. 23 And the nations will know that the people of Israel went into exile for their sin, because they were unfaithful to me. So I hid my face from them and handed them over to their enemies, and they all fell by the sword. 24 I dealt with them according to their uncleanness and their offenses, and I hid my face from them.

25 Therefore this is what the Sovereign Lord says: I will now bring Jacob back from captivity and will have compassion on all the people of Israel, and I will be zealous for my holy name. 26 They will forget their shame and all the unfaithfulness they showed toward me when they lived in safety in their land with no one to make them afraid. 27 When I have brought them back from the nations and have gathered them from the countries of their enemies, I will show myself holy through them in the sight of many nations. 28 Then they will know that I am the Lord their God, for though I sent them into exile among the nations, I will gather them to their own land, not leaving any behind. 29 I will no longer hide my face from them, for I will pour out my Spirit on the house of Israel, declares the Sovereign Lord."

The New Temple Area

40 In the twenty-fifth year of our exile, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year after the fall of the city—on that very day the hand of the Lord was upon me and he took me there. 2 In visions of God he took me to the land of Israel and set me on a very high mountain, on whose south side were some buildings that looked like a city. 3 He took me there, and I saw a man whose appearance was like bronze; he was standing in the gateway with a linen cord and a measuring rod in his hand. 4 The man said to me, "Son of man, look with your eyes and hear with your ears and pay attention to everything I am going to show you, for that is why you have been brought here. Tell the house of Israel everything you see."

area. The length of the measuring rod in the man's hand was six long cubits, each of which was a cubit^a and a handbreadth.^b He measured the wall; it was one measuring rod thick and one rod high.

⁶Then he went to the gate facing east. He climbed its steps and measured the threshold of the gate; it was one rod deep.^c ⁷The alcoves for the guards were one rod long and one rod wide, and the projecting walls between the alcoves were five cubits thick. And the threshold of the gate next to the portico facing the temple was one rod deep.

⁸Then he measured the portico of the gateway; ⁹it^d was eight cubits deep and its jambs were two cubits thick. The portico of the gateway faced the temple.

¹⁰Inside the east gate were three alcoves on each side; the three had the same measurements, and the faces of the projecting walls on each side had the same measurements. ¹¹Then he measured the width of the entrance to the gateway; it was ten cubits and its length was thirteen cubits. ¹²In front of each alcove was a wall one cubit high, and the alcoves were six cubits square. ¹³Then he measured the gateway from the top of the rear wall of one alcove to the top of the opposite one; the distance was twenty-five cubits from one parapet opening to the opposite one. ¹⁴He measured along the faces of the projecting walls all around the inside of the gateway—sixty cubits. The measurement was up to the portico^e facing the courtyard.^f ¹⁵The distance from the entrance of the gateway to the far end of its portico was fifty cubits. ¹⁶The alcoves and the projecting walls inside the gateway were surmounted by narrow parapet openings all around, as was the portico; the openings all around faced inward. The faces of the projecting walls were decorated with palm trees.

The Outer Court

¹⁷Then he brought me into the outer court. There I saw some rooms and a pavement that had been constructed all around the court; there were thirty rooms along the pavement. ¹⁸It abutted the sides of the gateways and was as wide as they were long; this was the lower pavement. ¹⁹Then he measured the distance from the inside of the lower gateway to the outside of the inner court; it was a hundred cubits on the east side as well as on the north.

The North Gate

²⁰Then he measured the length and width of the gate facing north, leading into the outer court. ²¹Its alcoves—three on each side—its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as those of the first gateway. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ²²Its openings, its portico and its palm tree decorations had the same measurements as those of the gate facing east. Seven steps led up to it, with its portico opposite them. ²³There was a gate to the inner court facing the north gate, just as there was on the east. He measured from one gate to the opposite one; it was a hundred cubits.

The South Gate

²⁴Then he led me to the south side and I saw a gate facing south. He measured its jambs and its portico, and they had the same measurements as the others. ²⁵The gateway and its portico had narrow openings all around, like the openings of the others. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ²⁶Seven steps led up to it, with its portico opposite them; it had palm tree decorations on the faces of the projecting walls on each side. ²⁷The inner court also had a gate facing south, and he measured from this gate to the outer gate on the south side; it was a hundred cubits.

Gates to the Inner Court

²⁸Then he brought me into the inner court through the south gate, and he measured the south gate; it had the same measurements as the others. ²⁹Its alcoves, its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as the others. The gateway and its portico had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ³⁰(The porticoes of the gateways around the inner court were twenty-five cubits wide and five cubits deep.) ³¹Its portico faced the outer court; palm trees decorated its jambs, and eight steps led up to it.

³²Then he brought me to the inner court on the east side, and he measured the gateway; it had the same measurements as the others. ³³Its alcoves, its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as the others. The gateway and its portico had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ³⁴Its portico faced the outer court; palm trees decorated the jambs on either side, and eight steps led up to it.

³⁵Then he brought me to the north gate and measured it. It had the same measurements as the others, ³⁶as did its alcoves, its projecting walls and its portico, and it had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ³⁷Its portico^g faced the outer court; palm trees decorated the jambs on either side, and eight steps led up to it.

The Rooms for Preparing Sacrifices

³⁸A room with a doorway was by the portico in each of the inner gateways, where the burnt offerings were washed. ³⁹In the portico of the gateway were two tables on each side, on which the burnt offerings, sin offerings and guilt offerings were slaughtered. ⁴⁰By the outside wall of the portico of the gateway, near the steps at the entrance to the north gateway were two tables, and on the other side of the steps were two tables. ⁴¹So there were four tables on one side of the gateway and four on the other—eight tables in all—on which the sacrifices were slaughtered. ⁴²There were also four tables of dressed stone for the burnt offerings, each a cubit and a half long, a cubit and a half wide and a cubit high. On them were placed the utensils for slaughtering the burnt offerings and the other sacrifices. ⁴³And double-pronged hooks, each a handbreadth long, were attached to the wall all around. The tables were for the flesh of the offerings.

Rooms for the Priests

⁴⁴Outside the inner gate, within the inner court, were two rooms, one^a at the side of the north gate and facing south, and another at the side of the south^b gate and facing north. ⁴⁵He said to me,

The room facing south is for the priests who have charge of the temple, ⁴⁶and the room facing north is for the priests who have charge of the altar. These are the sons of Zadok, who are the only Levites who may draw near to the LORD to minister before him.

⁴⁷Then he measured the court: It was square—a hundred cubits long and a hundred cubits wide. And the altar was in front of the temple.

The Temple

⁴⁸He brought me to the portico of the temple and measured the jambs of the portico; they were five cubits wide on either side. The width of the entrance was fourteen cubits and its projecting walls were three cubits wide on either side. ⁴⁹The portico was twenty cubits wide, and twelve^c cubits from front to back. It was reached by a flight of stairs,^e and there were pillars on each side of the jambs.

41 Then the man brought me to the outer sanctuary and measured the jambs; the width of the jambs was six cubits^f on each side.^g ²The entrance was ten cubits wide, and the projecting walls on each side of it were five cubits wide. He also measured the outer sanctuary; it was forty cubits long and twenty cubits wide.

Then he went into the inner sanctuary and measured the jambs of the entrance; each was two cubits wide. The entrance was six cubits wide, and the projecting walls on each side of it were seven cubits wide. ⁴And he measured the length of the inner sanctuary; it was twenty cubits, and its width was twenty cubits across the end of the outer sanctuary. He said to me, "This is the Most Holy Place."

⁵Then he measured the wall of the temple; it was six cubits thick, and each side room around the temple was four cubits wide. ⁶The side rooms were on three levels, one above another, thirty on each level. There were ledges all around the wall of the temple to serve as supports for the side rooms, so that the supports were not inserted into the wall of the temple. ⁷The side rooms all around the temple were wider at each successive level. The structure surrounding the temple was built in ascending stages, so that the rooms widened as one went upward. A stairway went up from the lowest floor to the top floor through the middle floor.

⁸I saw that the temple had a raised base all around it, forming the foundation of the side rooms. It was the length of the rod, six long cubits. ⁹The outer wall of the side rooms was five cubits thick. The open area between the side rooms of the temple ¹⁰and the [priests'] rooms was twenty cubits wide all around the temple. ¹¹There were entrances to the side rooms from the open area, one on the north and another on the south; and the base adjoining the open area was five cubits wide all around.

¹²The building facing the temple courtyard on the west side was seventy cubits wide. The wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length was ninety cubits.

¹³Then he measured the temple; it was a hundred cubits long, and the temple courtyard and the building with its walls were also a hundred cubits long. ¹⁴The width of the temple courtyard on the east, including the front of the temple, was a hundred cubits.

¹⁵Then he measured the length of the building facing the courtyard at the rear of the temple, including its galleries on each side; it was a hundred cubits.

The outer sanctuary, the inner sanctuary and the portico facing the court, ¹⁶as well as the thresholds and the narrow windows and galleries around the three of them—everything beyond and including the threshold was covered with wood. The floor, the wall up to the windows, and the windows were covered. ¹⁷In the space above the outside of the entrance to the inner sanctuary and on the walls at regular intervals all around the inner and outer sanctuary ¹⁸were carved cherubim and palm trees. Palm trees alternated with cherubim. Each cherub had two faces: ¹⁹the face of a man toward the palm tree on one side and the face of a lion toward the palm tree on the other. They were carved all around the whole temple. ²⁰From the floor to the area above the entrance, cherubim and palm trees were carved on the wall of the outer sanctuary.

²¹The outer sanctuary had a rectangular door-frame, and the one at the front of the Most Holy Place was similar. ²²There was a wooden altar

41:2 Seeing the New Temple

You'll find it easier to visualize Ezekiel's temple if you look at a sketch from a Bible dictionary. (Look under "Temple" or "Ezekiel.") Ezekiel's description reveals fascinating insights. For instance, the number of steps up toward the Holy Place grows greater at each stage, so that a worshiper mounts increasingly higher. But the doorways grow narrower (40:48; 41:2-3)—suggesting that the nearer to God's presence one climbs, the narrower the path he or she must follow.

three cubits high and two cubits square^a; its corners, its base^b and its sides were of wood. The man said to me, "This is the table that is before the LORD."²³ Both the outer sanctuary and the Most Holy Place had double doors.²⁴ Each door had two leaves—two hinged leaves for each door.²⁵ And on the doors of the outer sanctuary were carved cherubim and palm trees like those carved on the walls, and there was a wooden overhang on the front of the portico.²⁶ On the sidewalls of the portico were narrow windows with palm trees carved on each side. The side rooms of the temple also had overhangs

42 Then the man led me northward into the outer court and brought me to the rooms opposite the temple courtyard and opposite the outer wall on the north side.² The building whose door faced north was a hundred cubits^c long and fifty cubits wide.³ Both in the section twenty cubits from the inner court and in the section opposite the pavement of the outer court, gallery faced gallery at the three levels.⁴ In front of the rooms was an inner passageway ten cubits wide and a hundred cubits^d long. Their doors were on the north.⁵ Now the upper rooms were narrower, for the galleries took more space from them than from the rooms on the lower and middle floors of the building.⁶ The rooms on the third floor had no pillars, as the courts had; so they were smaller in floor space than those on the lower and middle floors.⁷ There was an outer wall parallel to the rooms and the outer court; it extended in front of the rooms for fifty cubits.⁸ While the row of rooms on the side next to the outer court was fifty cubits long, the row on the side nearest the sanctuary was a hundred cubits long.⁹ The lower rooms had an entrance on the east side as one enters them from the outer court.

¹³ Then he said to me, "The north and south rooms facing the temple courtyard are the priests' rooms, where the priests who approach the LORD will eat the most holy offerings. There they will put the most holy offerings—the grain offerings, the sin offerings and the guilt offerings—for the place is holy.¹⁴ Once the priests enter the holy precincts, they are not to go into the outer court until they leave behind the garments in which they minister, for these are holy. They are to put on other clothes before they go near the places that are for the people."

¹⁵ When he had finished measuring what was inside the temple area, he led me out by the east gate and measured the area all around:¹⁶ He measured the east side with the measuring rod; it was five hundred cubits.¹⁷ He measured the north side; it was five hundred cubits^g by the measuring rod.¹⁸ He measured the south side; it was five hundred cubits by the measuring rod.¹⁹ Then he turned to the west side and measured; it was five hundred cubits by the measuring rod.²⁰ So he measured the area on all four sides. It had a wall around it, five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide, to separate the holy from the common.

The Glory Returns to the Temple

43 Then the man brought me to the gate facing east,² and I saw the glory of the God of Israel coming from the east. His voice was like the roar of rushing waters, and the land was radiant with his glory.³ The vision I saw was like the vision I had seen when he^h came to destroy the city and like the visions I had seen by the Kebar River, and I fell facedown.⁴ The glory of the LORD entered the temple through the gate facing east.⁵ Then the Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court, and the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

⁶ While the man was standing beside me, I heard someone speaking to me from inside the temple.⁷ He said: "Son of man, this is the place of my throne and the place for the soles of my feet. This is where I will live among the Israelites forever. The house of Israel will never again defile my holy name—neither they nor their kings—by their prostitutionⁱ and the lifeless idols^j of their kings at their high places.⁸ When they placed their threshold next to my threshold and their doorposts beside my doorposts, with only a wall between me and them, they defiled my holy name by their detestable practices. So I destroyed them in my anger.⁹ Now let them put away from me their prostitution and the lifeless idols of their kings, and I will live among them forever.

¹⁰ "Son of man, describe the temple to the people of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their sins. Let them consider the plan,¹¹ and if they are ashamed of all they have done, make known to them the design of the temple—its arrangement, its exits and entrances—its whole design and all its

43:4 The Glory Returns

Nineteen years had passed since Ezekiel saw the glory of the Lord leave the temple (11:22-23). That temple was now dust and ashes and broken^k ones: the conquering Babylonians had burnt and destroyed it. The new temple Ezekiel saw in his vision symbolized that God would live again with his renewed people.

The Altar

These are the measurements of the altar in long cubits, that cubit being a cubit^b and a hand-breadth. Its gutter is a cubit deep and a cubit wide, with a rim of one span^c around the edge. And this is the height of the altar. ¹⁴From the gutter on the ground up to the lower ledge it is two cubits high and a cubit wide, and from the smaller ledge up to the larger ledge it is four cubits high and a cubit wide. ¹⁵The altar hearth is four cubits high, and four horns project upward from the hearth. ¹⁶The altar hearth is square, twelve cubits long and twelve cubits wide. ¹⁷The upper ledge also is square, fourteen cubits long and fourteen cubits wide, with a rim of half a cubit and a gutter of a cubit all around. The steps of the altar face east."

¹⁸Then he said to me, "Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says. These will be the regulations for sacrificing burnt offerings and sprinkling blood upon the altar when it is built: ¹⁹You are to give a young bull as a sin offering to the priests, who are Levites, of the family of Zadok, who come near to minister before me, declares the Sovereign LORD. ²⁰You are to take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar and on the four corners of the upper ledge and all around the rim, and so purify the altar and make atonement for it. ²¹You are to take the bull for the sin offering and burn it in the designated part of the temple area outside the sanctuary.

²⁵"For seven days you are to provide a male goat daily for a sin offering; you are also to provide a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without defect. ²⁶For seven days they are to make atonement for the altar and cleanse it; thus they will dedicate it. ²⁷At the end of these days, from the eighth day on, the priests are to present your burnt offerings and fellowship offerings^d on the altar. Then I will accept you, declares the Sovereign LORD."

The Prince, the Levites, the Priests

44 Then the man brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary, the one facing east, and it was shut. ²The LORD said to me, "This gate is to remain shut. It must not be opened; no one may enter through it. It is to remain shut because the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered through it.

³The prince himself is the only one who may sit inside the gateway to eat in the presence of the LORD. He is to enter by way of the portico of the gateway and go out the same way."

⁴Then the man brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the temple. I looked and saw the glory of the LORD filling the temple of the LORD, and I fell facedown.

¹⁰"The Levites who went far from me when Israel went astray and who wandered from me after their idols must bear the consequences of their sin. ¹¹They may serve in my sanctuary, having charge of the gates of the temple and serving in it; they may slaughter the burnt offerings and sacrifices for the people and stand before the people and serve them. ¹²But because they served them in the presence of their idols and made the house of Israel fall into sin, therefore I have sworn with uplifted hand that they must bear the consequences of their sin, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹³They are not to come near to serve me as priests or come near any of my holy things or my most holy offerings; they must bear the shame of their detestable practices. ¹⁴Yet I will put them in charge of the duties of the temple and all the work that is to be done in it.

¹⁵"But the priests, who are Levites and descendants of Zadok and who faithfully carried out the duties of my sanctuary when the Israelites went astray from me, are to come near to minister before me; they are to stand before me to offer sacrifices of fat and blood, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁶They alone are to enter my sanctuary; they alone are to come near my table to minister before me and perform my service.

¹⁷"When they enter the gates of the inner court, they are to wear linen clothes; they must not wear any woolen garment while ministering at the gates of the inner court or inside the temple. ¹⁸They are to wear linen turbans on their heads and linen undergarments around their waists. They must not wear anything that makes them perspire. ¹⁹When they go out into the outer court where the people are, they are to take off the clothes they have been ministering in and are to eat them in the sacred rooms and put on other robes so that they do not consecrate the people by means of their garments.

They must not shave their heads or let their hair grow long, but they are to keep the hair of their heads trimmed. A priest is to drink wine when he enters the inner court. They must not marry widows or divorced women; they may marry only virgins of Israelite descent or widows of priests. They are to teach my people the difference between the holy and the common and show them how to distinguish between the unclean and the clean.

In any dispute, the priests are to serve as judges and decide it according to my ordinances. They are to keep my laws and my decrees for all my appointed feasts, and they are to keep my Sabbaths holy.

A priest must not denile himself by going near a dead person, however, if the dead person was his father or mother, son or daughter, brother or unmarried sister, then he may denile himself. After he is cleansed, he must wait seven days. On the day he goes into the inner court of the sanctuary to minister in the sanctuary, he is to offer a sin offering for himself, declares the Sovereign LORD.

I am to be the only inheritance the priests have. You are to give them no possession in Israel; I will be their possession. They will eat the grain offerings, the sin offerings and the guilt offerings, and everything in Israel devoted to the LORD will belong to them. The best of all the firstfruits and all your special gifts will belong to the priests. You are to give them the first portion of your ground meal so that a blessing may rest on your household. The priests must not eat anything, bird or animal, found dead or torn by wild animals.

Division of the Land

45 "When you allot the land as an inheritance, you are to present to the LORD a portion of the land as a sacred district, 25,000 cubits long and 20,000 cubits wide; the entire area will belong to him. Of this, a section 500 cubits square is to be for the sanctuary, with 50 cubits around it for open land. In the sacred district, measure off a section 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide. In it will be the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place. It will be the sacred portion of the land for the priests, who minister in the sanctuary and who draw near to minister before the LORD. It will be a place for their houses as well as a holy place for the sanctuary. An area 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide will belong to the Levites, who serve in the temple, as their possession for towns to live in."

"You are to give the city as its property an area 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long, adjoining the sacred portion; it will belong to the whole house of Israel."

"The prince will have the land bordering each side of the area formed by the sacred district and the property of the city. It will extend westward from the west side and eastward from the east side, running lengthwise from the western to the eastern border parallel to one of the tribal portions. This land will be his possession in Israel. And my princes will no longer oppress my people but will allow the house of Israel to possess the land according to their tribes."

"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: You have gone far enough, O princes of Israel! Give up your violence and oppression and do what is just and right. Stop dispossessing my people, declares the Sovereign LORD. You are to use accurate scales, an accurate ephah and an accurate bath. The ephah and the bath are to be the same size, the bath containing a tenth of a homer and the ephah a tenth of a homer; the homer is to be the standard measure for both. The shekel is to consist of twenty gerahs. Twenty shekels plus twenty-five shekels plus fifteen shekels equal one mina."

Offerings and Holy Days

"This is the special gift you are to offer: a sixth of an ephah from each homer of wheat and a sixth of an ephah from each homer of barley. The prescribed portion of oil, measured by the bath, is a tenth of a bath from each cor (which consists of ten baths or one homer, for ten baths are equivalent to a homer). Also one sheep is to be taken from every flock of two hundred from the well-watered pastures of Israel. These will be used for the grain offerings, burnt offerings and fellowship offerings to make atonement for the people, declares the Sovereign LORD. All the people of the land will participate in this special gift for the use of the prince in Israel. It will be the duty of the prince to provide the burnt offerings, grain offerings and drink offerings at the festivals, the New Moons and the Sabbaths—at all the appointed feasts of the house of Israel. He will provide the sin offerings, grain offerings, burnt offerings and fellowship offerings to make atonement for the house of Israel."

45:10 Honest Weight

The Bible, always practical, doesn't bother to define honesty in philosophic terms. It merely says, "Don't cheat on your measures." Such cheating was a common problem in Judah (see, for instance, Micah 6:10-12). Archaeologists have found many weights once used in Hebrew marketplaces, but very few have weighed exactly the weight inscribed on them.

²¹"In the first month on the fourteenth day you are to observe the Passover, a feast lasting seven days, during which you shall eat bread made without yeast. ²²On that day the prince is to provide a bull as a sin offering for himself and for all the people of the land. ²³Every day during the seven days of the Feast he is to provide seven bulls and seven rams without defect as a burnt offering to the LORD, and a male goat for a sin offering. ²⁴He is to provide as a grain offering an ephah for each bull and an ephah for each ram, along with a hin^a of oil for each ephah.

46 "This is what the Sovereign LORD says. The gate of the inner court facing east is to be shut on the six working days, but on the Sabbath day and on the day of the New Moon it is to be opened. ²The prince is to enter from the outside through the portico of the gateway and stand by the gatepost. The priests are to sacrifice his burnt offering and his fellowship offerings.^b He is to worship at the threshold of the gateway and then go out, but the gate will not be shut until evening. ³On the Sabbaths and New Moons the people of the land are to worship in the presence of the LORD at the entrance to that gateway. ⁴The burnt offering the prince brings to the LORD on the Sabbath day is to be six male lambs and a ram, all without defect. ⁵The grain offering given with the ram is to be an ephah,^c and the grain offering with the lambs is to be as much as he pleases, along with a hin^a of oil for each ephah. ⁶On the day of the New Moon he is to offer a young bull, six lambs and a ram, all without defect. ⁷He is to provide as a grain offering one ephah with the bull, one ephah with the ram, and with the lambs as much as he wants to give, along with a hin of oil with each ephah. ⁸When the prince enters, he is to go in through the portico of the gateway, and he is to come out the same way.

¹¹"At the festivals and the appointed feasts, the grain offering is to be an ephah with a bull, an ephah with a ram, and with the lambs as much as one pleases, along with a hin of oil for each ephah. ¹²When the prince provides a freewill offering to the LORD—whether a burnt offering or fellowship offerings—the gate facing east is to be opened for him. He shall offer his burnt offering or his fellowship offerings as he does on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he has gone out, the gate will be shut.

¹³"Every day you are to provide a year-old lamb without defect for a burnt offering to the LORD; morning by morning you shall provide it. ¹⁴You are also to provide with it morning by morning a grain offering, consisting of a sixth of an ephah with a third of a hin of oil to moisten the flour. The presenting of this grain offering to the LORD is a lasting ordinance. ¹⁵So the lamb and the grain offering and the oil shall be provided morning by morning for a regular burnt offering.

¹⁹Then the man brought me through the entrance at the side of the gate to the sacred rooms facing north, which belonged to the priests, and showed me a place at the western end. ²⁰He said to me, "This is the place where the priests will cook the guilt offering and the sin offering and bake the grain offering, to avoid bringing them into the outer court and consecrating the people."

²¹He then brought me to the outer court and led me around to its four corners, and I saw in each corner another court. ²²In the four corners of the outer court were enclosed^d courts, forty cubits long and thirty cubits wide; each of the courts in the four corners was the same size. ²³Around the inside of each of the four courts was a ledge of stone, with places for fire built all around under the ledge. ²⁴He said to me, "These are the kitchens where those who minister at the temple will cook the sacrifices of the people."

The River From the Temple

47 The man brought me back to the entrance of the temple, and I saw water coming out from under the threshold of the temple toward the east (for the temple faced east). The water was coming down from under the south side of the temple, south of the altar. ²He then brought me out through the north gate and led me around the outside to the outer gate facing east, and the water was flowing from the south side.

bits^a and then led me through water that was ankle-deep. ⁴He measured off another thousand cubits and led me through water that was knee-deep. He measured off another thousand and led me through water that was up to the waist. ⁵He measured off another thousand, but now it was a river that I could not cross, because the water had risen and was deep enough to swim in—a river that no one could cross. ⁶He asked me, "Son of man, do you see this?"

Then he led me back to the bank of the river. When I arrived there, I saw a great number of trees on each side of the river. ⁸He said to me,

This water flows toward the eastern region and goes down into the Arabah,^b where it enters the Sea.^c When it empties into the Sea,^c the water there becomes fresh. ⁹Swarms of living creatures will live wherever the river flows. There will be large numbers of fish, because this water flows there and makes the salt water fresh; so where the river flows everything will live. ¹⁰Fishermen will stand along the shore; from En Gedi to En Eglaim there will be places for spreading nets. The fish will be of many kinds—like the fish of the Great Sea.^d ¹¹But the swamps and marshes will not become fresh; they will be left for salt. ¹²Fruit trees of all kinds will grow on both banks of the river. Their leaves will not wither, nor will their fruit fail. Every month they will bear, because the water from the sanctuary flows to them. Their fruit will serve for food and their leaves for healing."

The Boundaries of the Land

¹³This is what the Sovereign LORD says: "These are the boundaries by which you are to divide the land for an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel, with two portions for Joseph. ¹⁴You are to divide it equally among them. Because I swore with uplifted hand to give it to your forefathers, this land will become your inheritance.

¹⁵"This is to be the boundary of the land:

"On the north side it will run from the Great Sea by the Hethlon road past Lebo^e Hamath to Zedad, ¹⁶Berothah^f and Sibraim (which lies on the border between Damascus and Hamath), as far as Hazer Hatticon, which is on the border of Hauran. ¹⁷The boundary will extend from the sea to Hazer Enan,^g along the northern border of Damascus, with the border of Hamath to the north. This will be the north boundary.

¹⁸"On the east side the boundary will run between Hauran and Damascus, along the Jordan between Gilead and the land of Israel, to the eastern sea and as far as Tamar.^h This will be the east boundary.

¹⁹"On the south side it will run from Tamar as far as the waters of Meribah Kadesh, then along the Wadi of Egypt to the Great Sea. This will be the south boundary.

²⁰"On the west side, the Great Sea will be the boundary to a point opposite Lebo^e Hamath. This will be the west boundary.

²¹"You are to distribute this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel. ²²You are to allot it as an inheritance for yourselves and for the aliens who have settled among you and who have children. You are to consider them as native-born Israelites; along with you they are to be allotted an inheritance among the tribes of Israel. ²³In whatever tribe the alien settles, there you are to give him his inheritance," declares the Sovereign LORD.

The Division of the Land

48 "These are the tribes, listed by name: At the northern frontier, Dan will have one portion; it will follow the Hethlon road to Lebo^e Hamath; Hazer Enan and the northern border of Damascus next to Hamath will be part of its border from the east side to the west side.

Its total length will be 25,000 cubits and its width 10,000 cubits. 14They must not sell or exchange any of it. This is the best of the land and must not pass into other hands, because it is holy to the LORD

15"The remaining area, 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long, will be for the common use of the city, for houses and for pastureland. The city will be in the center of it 16and will have these measurements: the north side 4,500 cubits, the south side 4,500 cubits, the east side 4,500 cubits, and the west side 4,500 cubits. 17The pastureland for the city will be 250 cubits on the north, 250 cubits on the south, 250 cubits on the east, and 250 cubits on the west. 18What remains of the area, bordering on the sacred portion and running the length of it, will be 10,000 cubits on the east side and 10,000 cubits on the west side. Its produce will supply food for the workers of the city. 19The workers from the city who farm it will come from all the tribes of Israel. 20The entire portion will be a square, 25,000 cubits on each side. As a special gift you will set aside the sacred portion, along with the property of the city

21"What remains on both sides of the area formed by the sacred portion and the city property will belong to the prince. It will extend eastward from the 25,000 cubits of the sacred portion to the eastern border, and westward from the 25,000 cubits to the western border. Both these areas running the length of the tribal portions will belong to the prince, and the sacred portion with the temple sanctuary will be in the center of them. 22So the property of the Levites and the property of the city will lie in the center of the area that belongs to the prince. The area belonging to the prince will lie between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin.

23"As for the rest of the tribes: Benjamin will have one portion; it will extend from the east side to the west side.

24"Simeon will have one portion; it will border the territory of Benjamin from east to west.

25"Issachar will have one portion; it will border the territory of Simeon from east to west.

26"Zebulun will have one portion; it will border the territory of Issachar from east to west.

27"Gad will have one portion; it will border the territory of Zebulun from east to west.

28"The southern boundary of Gad will run south from Tamar to the waters of Meribah Kadesh, then along the Wadi of Egypt, to the Great Sea.^a 29"This is the land you are to allot as an inheritance to the tribes of Israel, and these will be their portions," declares the Sovereign LORD.

The Gates of the City

30"These will be the exits of the city: Beginning on the north side, which is 4,500 cubits long, 31the gates of the city will be named after the tribes of Israel. The three gates on the north side will be the gate of Reuben, the gate of Judah and the gate of Levi.

32"On the east side, which is 4,500 cubits long, will be three gates: the gate of Joseph, the gate of Benjamin and the gate of Dan.

33"On the south side, which measures 4,500 cubits, will be three gates: the gate of Simeon, the gate of Issachar and the gate of Zebulun.

34"On the west side, which is 4,500 cubits long, will be three gates: the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher and the gate of Naphtali.

35"The distance all around will be 18,000 cubits. "And the name of the city from that time on will be:

THE LORD IS THERE."

DANIEL

INTRODUCTION

“Kidnapped”

Even as prime minister, Daniel remained a lonely outsider

Daniel resolved not to defile himself with the royal food and wine, and he asked the chief official for permission not to defile himself this way. 1:8

As a young man, Daniel could have anticipated an outstanding future in Jerusalem. He came from a prominent family, and he had a first-rate mind (1:4). But, when the Babylonian army dragged him captive to a faraway country, they didn't ask about his plans and dreams.

True, the Babylonians recognized Daniel's potential and put him into a top civil service training program. But even the study material was distasteful to a Jew: it covered sorcery, magic, and a pagan, multigod religion. After graduation Daniel was put to work for the Babylonian king, who continued to war against Daniel's people for nearly 20 more years.

Anyone far from home feels lonely. But Daniel was one of those whose lives get lost in the shuffle of history—refugees, captives. He was destined to spend his life as an alien in Babylon. We have no record that he ever married or had family members nearby.

Great Personal Courage

Through his ability and God's blessing he rose to the post of prime minister of Babylon. Yet he remained an outsider. The higher he rose, the more prominent a target he became. Babylonians resented his foreign background and his political success. Their plots put him under pressure to compromise his faith, to fit in, to bend his principles. His life was often at risk.

Daniel's career near the top lasted at least 66 years, so that by the time he was thrown into the lions' den (chapter 6), he must have been in his 80s. Throughout these years he labored with great effectiveness for Babylon. He was respectful and diligent, even though working for pagan kings. Yet he never compromised his faith. He would not bend, even when threatened with death. The Bible offers no better model of how to live with and serve people who do not share or respect your beliefs.

The Shape of the Future

Near the end of Daniel's life God gave him a series of visions, described in chapters 7-12. In graphic images God showed Daniel the pattern of future history. Daniel's people would duplicate his own experience, but on a world stage.

The Jews, Daniel's visions showed, would be caught in a political storm, battered about by a series of world empires. Daniel foresaw nations raging in battle against each other. He foresaw God's people thrown in between these nations, suffering through no fault of their own. They would be helpless until God himself rescued them from their troubles. Daniel foresaw, in the end, all people falling down to worship “one like a son of man.” This was the title Jesus applied to himself when he came, nearly a thousand years after Daniel, to bring the good news of salvation for all people.

Spreading the Word

Daniel's people had thought of God in terms of their own small community, their own capital city and the temple there. Not only were the Jews God's chosen people, but (they tended to think) they held exclusive rights to him.

But God had never intended his blessings to stop with the Jews. He had the world in mind. At the time he called Abraham, he had promised that through Abraham's offspring he would bless the whole earth (Genesis 12:3).

The Jews had found it difficult enough to keep their own faith, let alone spread it to others. Only while captives in Babylon, unwillingly dragged far from home, did they begin to convince others that their God deserved honor. The proclamations Nebuchadnezzar and Darius made because of Daniel (1:7, 16, 20, 22) honored God more than anything a king of Judah had done in years.

How to Read Daniel

Daniel breaks into two parts, each quite different from the other. The first six chapters tell the "famous" Daniel stories—including the stories of three men thrown into a fiery furnace and Daniel in the lions' den. Any of these chapters would make a script for a thriller. As you read them, reflect on the principles Daniel lived by, far from home and in dangerous circumstances. Ask yourself what Daniel can teach you about faithfulness to God in similarly "alien" circumstances.

Most people find chapters 7–12 far more difficult. They record Daniel's visions about the future of world history. Such symbolism was a familiar mode of expression in the ancient world, but it reads very strangely now—almost like science fiction. Look for broad impressions of how God's people can live, caught in the jaws of brutal world politics. Let the visual symbols engage your emotions and imagination.

If you seek a more detailed understanding of these visions, a commentary on Daniel will be a great help. In some passages, background information on ancient world history is essential. A good commentary can offer this, along with an interpretation of difficult symbols.

You can place Daniel's message in the context of Israelite history by looking at "A Lineup of Rulers," page 330.

Daniel's Training in Babylon

1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it. 2 And the Lord delivered Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, along with some of the articles from the temple of God. These he carried off to the temple of his god in Babylon^a and put in the treasure house of his god.

3 Then the king ordered Ashpenaz, chief of his court officials, to bring in some of the Israelites from the royal family and the nobility—4 young men without any physical defect, handsome, showing aptitude for every kind of learning, well informed, quick to understand, and qualified to serve in the king's palace. He was to teach them the language and literature of the Babylonians.^b 5 The king assigned them a daily amount of food and wine from the king's table. They were to be trained for three years, and after that they were to enter the king's service.

6 Among these were some from Judah: Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. 7 The chief official gave them new names: to Daniel, the name Belteshazzar; to Hananiah, Shadrach; to Mishael, Meshach; and to Azariah, Abednego.

8 But Daniel resolved not to defile himself with the royal food and wine, and he asked the chief official for permission not to defile himself this way. 9 Now God had caused the official to show favor and sympathy to Daniel, 10 but the official told Daniel, "I am afraid of my lord the king, who has assigned your food and drink. Why should he see you looking worse than the other young men your age? The king would then have my head because of you."

11 Daniel then said to the guard whom the chief official had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12 "Please test your servants for ten days. Give us nothing but vegetables to eat and water to drink. 13 Then compare our appearance with that of the young men who eat the royal food, and treat your servants in accordance with what you see." ¹⁴So he agreed to this and tested them for ten days

¹⁵At the end of the ten days they looked healthier and better nourished than any of the young men who ate the royal food. ¹⁶So the guard took away their choice food and the wine they were to drink and gave them vegetables instead.

¹⁷To these four young men God gave knowledge and understanding of all kinds of literature and learning. And Daniel could understand visions and dreams of all kinds

¹⁸At the end of the time set by the king to bring them in, the chief official presented them to Nebuchadnezzar. ¹⁹The king talked with them, and he found none equal to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah; so they entered the king's service. ²⁰In every matter of wisdom and understanding about which the king questioned them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters in his whole kingdom

²¹And Daniel remained there until the first year of King Cyrus

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

2 In the second year of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar had dreams; his mind was troubled and he could not sleep. ²So the king summoned the magicians, enchanters, sorcerers and astrologers^a to tell him what he had dreamed. When they came in and stood before the king, ³he said to them, "I have had a dream that troubles me and I want to know what it means."^b

⁴Then the astrologers answered the king in Aramaic,^c "O king, live forever! Tell your servants the dream, and we will interpret it."

⁵The king replied to the astrologers, "This is what I have firmly decided: If you do not tell me what my dream was and interpret it, I will have you cut into pieces and your houses turned into piles of rubble. ⁶But if you tell me the dream and explain it, you will receive from me gifts and rewards and great honor. So tell me the dream and interpret it for me."

⁷Once more they replied, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will interpret it."

⁸Then the king answered, "I am certain that you are trying to gain time, because you realize that this is what I have firmly decided: ⁹If you do not tell me the dream, there is just one penalty for you. You have conspired to tell me misleading and wicked things, hoping the situation will change.

2:4 A Change in Language

The astrologers spoke in Aramaic, the most common language of the Middle East during this period. From this point through chapter 7, Daniel was written in Aramaic, instead of Hebrew. Only the book of Ezra is similarly split into two languages. Some theorize that these chapters would have been of general interest throughout the Middle East and so were put in a language everyone could understand.

So then, tell me the dream, and I will know that you can interpret it for me."

¹⁰The astrologers answered the king, "There is not a man on earth who can do what the king asks! No king, however great and mighty, has ever asked such a thing of any magician or enchanter or astrologer. ¹¹What the king asks is too difficult. No one can reveal it to the king except the gods, and they do not live among men."

¹²This made the king so angry and furious that he ordered the execution of all the wise men of Babylon. ¹³So the decree was issued to put the wise men to death, and men were sent to look for Daniel and his friends to put them to death.

¹⁴When Arioch, the commander of the king's guard, had gone out to put to death the wise men of Babylon, Daniel spoke to him with wisdom and tact. ¹⁵He asked the king's officer, "Why did the king issue such a harsh decree?" Arioch then explained the matter to Daniel. ¹⁶At this, Daniel went in to the king and asked for time, so that he might interpret the dream for him.

¹⁷Then Daniel returned to his house and explained the matter to his friends Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. ¹⁸He urged them to plead for mercy from the God of heaven concerning this mystery, so that he and his friends might not be executed with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. ¹⁹During the night the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision. Then Daniel praised the God of heaven ²⁰and said:

"Praise be to the name of God for ever and ever;

wisdom and power are his.

²¹He changes times and seasons;

he sets up kings and deposes them.

He gives wisdom to the wise
and knowledge to the discerning.

²²He reveals deep and hidden things;
he knows what lies in darkness,
and light dwells with him.

²³I thank and praise you, O God of my fathers:
You have given me wisdom and power,
you have made known to me what we asked of
you,

you have made known to us the dream of the king."

Daniel Interprets the Dream

²⁴Then Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to execute the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, "Do not execute the wise men of Babylon. Take me to the king, and I will interpret his dream for him."

²⁵Arioch took Daniel to the king at once and said, "I have found a man among the exiles from Judah who can tell the king what his dream means."

²⁶The king asked Daniel (also called Belteshazzar), "Are you able to tell me what I saw in my dream and interpret it?"

²⁷Daniel replied, "No wise man, enchanter, magician or diviner can explain to the king the mystery he has asked about, ²⁸but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries. He has shown King Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in days to come. Your dream and the visions that passed through your mind as you lay on your bed are these:

28 As you were lying there, O king, your mind was troubled and the thoughts of your heart were shown you what is going to happen. 29 As for me, this mystery has been revealed to me, not because I have greater wisdom than other living men, but so that you, O king, may know the interpretation and that you may understand what went through your mind.

30 "You looked, O king, and there before you stood a large statue—an enormous, dazzling statue, awesome in appearance. 31 The head of the statue was made of pure gold, its chest and arms of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze, its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of baked clay. 32 While you were watching, a rock was cut out, but not by human hands. It struck the statue on its feet of iron and clay and smashed them. 33 Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver and the gold were broken to pieces at the same time and became like chaff on a threshing floor in the summer. The wind swept them away without leaving a trace. But the rock that struck the statue became a huge mountain and filled the whole earth.

34 "This was the dream, and now we will interpret it to the king. 35 You, O king, are the king of kings. The God of heaven has given you dominion and power and might and glory; 36 in your hands he has placed mankind and the beasts of the field and the birds of the air. Wherever they live, he has made you ruler over them all. You are that head of gold.

37 "After you, another kingdom will rise, inferior to yours. Next, a third kingdom, one of bronze, will rule over the whole earth. 38 Finally, there will be a fourth kingdom, strong as iron—for iron breaks and smashes everything—and as iron breaks things to pieces, so it will crush and break all the others. 39 Just as you saw that the feet and toes were partly of baked clay and partly of iron, so this will be a divided kingdom, yet it will have some of the strength of iron in it, even as you saw iron mixed with clay. 40 As the toes were partly iron and partly clay, so this kingdom will be partly strong and partly brittle. 41 And just as you saw the iron mixed with baked clay, so the people will be a mixture and will not remain united, any more than iron mixes with clay.

42 "In the time of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor will it be left to another people. It will crush all those kingdoms and bring them to an end, but it will itself endure forever. 43 This is the meaning of the vision of the rock cut out of a mountain, but not by human hands—a rock that broke the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver and the gold to pieces.

"The great God has shown the king what will take place in the future. The dream is true and the interpretation is trustworthy."

44 Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell prostrate to the ground and bowed before Daniel and said, "I am convinced that your God is the God of gods, the Lord of kings, and the giver of life. From now on I will serve him. For you were able to reveal this mystery to me."

45 Then the king placed Daniel in a high position and gave him many gifts of honor. He made him ruler over the entire province of Babylon and placed him in charge of all its soldiers. Moreover, at Daniel's request the king appointed Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego administrators over the province of Babylon, while Daniel himself remained at the royal court.

The Image of Gold and the Fiery Furnace

3 King Nebuchadnezzar made an image of gold, sixty feet high, nine feet wide and set it up on the plain of Duran in the province of Babylon. He then summoned the satraps, prefects, governors, advisers, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the other provincial officials to come to the dedication of the image he had set up. So the satraps, prefects, governors, advisers, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the other provincial officials assembled for the dedication of the image that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up, and they stood before it.

4 Then the herald loudly proclaimed: "This is what you are commanded to do, O peoples, nations and men of every language. As soon as you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipes and all kinds of music, you must fall down and worship the image of gold that King Nebuchadnezzar has set up. Whoever does not fall down and worship will immediately be thrown into a blazing furnace."

5 Therefore, as soon as they heard the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp and all kinds of music, all the peoples, nations and men of every language fell down and worshiped the image of gold that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

6 At this time some astrologers came forward and denounced the Jews. They said to King Nebuchadnezzar: "O king, live forever! You have issued a decree, O king, that everyone who hears the sound of the horn, flute, zither, harp, pipes and all kinds of music must fall down and worship the image of gold—and that whoever does not fall down and worship will be thrown into a blazing furnace. But there are some Jews whom you have set over the affairs of the province of Babylon—Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego—who pay no attention to you, O king. They neither serve your gods nor worship the image of gold you have set up."

7 Furious with rage, Nebuchadnezzar summoned Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. So these men were brought before the king, and King Nebuchadnezzar said to them: "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, that you do not serve my gods nor worship the image of gold I have set up? Now when you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, harp, pipes and all kinds of music, do you not readily fall down and wor-

the image I made, very good. But if you do not worship it, you will be thrown immediately into a blazing furnace. Then what god will be able to rescue you from my hand?"

¹⁶Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego replied to the king, "O Nebuchadnezzar, we do not need to defend ourselves before you in this matter. ¹⁷If we are thrown into the blazing furnace, the God we serve is able to save us from it, and he will rescue us from your hand, O king. ¹⁸But even if he does not, we want you to know, O king, that we will not serve your gods or worship the image of gold you have set up."

¹⁹Then Nebuchadnezzar was furious with Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and his attitude toward them changed. He ordered the furnace heated seven times hotter than usual ²⁰and commanded some of the strongest soldiers in his army to tie up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego and throw them into the blazing furnace. ²¹So these men, wearing their robes, trousers, turbans and other clothes, were bound and thrown into the blazing furnace. ²²The king's command was so urgent and the furnace so hot that the flames of the fire killed the soldiers who took up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, ²³and these three men, firmly tied, fell into the blazing furnace.

²⁴Then King Nebuchadnezzar leaped to his feet in amazement and asked his advisers, "Weren't there three men that we tied up and threw into the fire?"

They replied, "Certainly, O king."

²⁵He said, "Look! I see four men walking around in the fire, unbound and unharmed, and the fourth looks like a son of the gods."

²⁶Nebuchadnezzar then approached the opening of the blazing furnace and shouted, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come out! Come here!"

So Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came out of the fire, ²⁷and the satraps, prefects, governors and royal advisers crowded around them. They saw that the fire had not harmed their bodies, nor was a hair of their heads singed; their robes were not scorched, and there was no smell of fire on them.

²⁸Then Nebuchadnezzar said, "Praise be to the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who has sent his angel and rescued his servants! They trusted in him and defied the king's command and were willing to give up their lives rather than serve or worship any god except their own God. ²⁹Therefore I decree that the people of any nation or language who say anything against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego be cut into pieces and their houses be turned into piles of rubble, for no other god can save in this way."

³⁰Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the province of Babylon.

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream of a Tree

4 King Nebuchadnezzar,

To the peoples, nations and men of every language, who live in all the world:

May you prosper greatly!

²It is my pleasure to tell you about the miraculous signs and wonders that the Most High God has performed for me.

³How great are his signs,

how mighty his wonders!

His kingdom is an eternal kingdom;

his dominion endures from generation to generation.

⁴I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at home in my palace, contented and prosperous. ⁵I had a dream that made me afraid. As I was lying in my bed, the images and visions that passed through my mind terrified me. ⁶So I commanded that all the wise men of Babylon be brought before me to interpret the dream for me. ⁷When the magicians, enchanters, astrologers^a and diviners came, I told them the dream, but they could not interpret it for me. ⁸Finally, Daniel came into my presence and I told him the dream. (He is called Belteshazzar, after the name of my god, and the spirit of the holy gods is in him.)

⁹I said, "Belteshazzar, chief of the magicians, I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you, and no mystery is too difficult for you. Here is my dream; interpret it for me. ¹⁰These are the visions I saw while lying in my bed: I looked, and there before me stood a tree in the middle of the land. Its height was enormous.

¹¹The tree grew large and strong and its top touched the sky; it was visible to the ends of the earth. ¹²Its leaves were beautiful, its fruit abundant, and on it was food for all. Under it the beasts of the field found shelter, and the birds of the air lived in its branches; from it every creature was fed.

¹³"In the visions I saw while lying in my bed, I looked, and there before me was a messenger,^b a holy one, coming down from heaven. ¹⁴He called in a loud voice: 'Cut down the tree and trim off its branches; strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit. Let the animals flee from under it and the birds from its branches. ¹⁵But let the stump and its roots, bound with iron and bronze, remain in the ground, in the grass of the field.

"Let him be drenched with the dew of heaven, and let him live with the animals among the plants of the earth. ¹⁶Let his mind

4:8 The Name of a God

Names were extremely important in biblical times, for they conveyed something of a person's identity. Thus God sometimes gave a person a new name to indicate a changed life. However, the name the Babylonians presented to Daniel, Belteshazzar, was no gift from God. It was taken from "Bel," a title for the Babylonian god Marduk. Daniel was surrounded by an alien culture and could not avoid every aspect of it.

be changed from that of a man and let him be given the mind of an animal. All seven times pass by for him.

¹⁷ The decision is announced by messengers, the holy ones declare the verdict, so that the living may know that the Most High is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he wishes and sets over them the lowliest of men.

¹⁸ This is the dream that I, King Nebuchadnezzar, had. Now Belteshazzar tell me what it means, for none of the wise men in my kingdom can interpret it for me. But you can, because the spirit of the holy gods is in you."

Daniel Interprets the Dream

¹⁹ Then Daniel (also called Belteshazzar) was greatly perplexed for a time, and his thoughts terrified him. So the king said, "Belteshazzar, do not let the dream or its meaning alarm you.

Belteshazzar answered, "My lord, if only the dream applied to your enemies and its meaning to your adversaries!" ²⁰The tree you saw, which grew large and strong, with its top touching the sky, visible to the whole earth, ²¹with beautiful leaves and abundant fruit, providing food for all, giving shelter to the beasts of the field, and having nesting places in its branches for the birds of the air— ²²you, O king, are that tree! You have become great and strong; your greatness has grown until it reaches the sky, and your dominion extends to distant parts of the earth.

²⁴ This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree the Most High has issued against my lord the king: ²⁵You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like cattle and be drenched with the dew of heaven. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he wishes. ²⁶The command to leave the stump of the tree with its roots means that your kingdom will be restored to you when you acknowledge that Heaven rules. ²⁷Therefore, O king, be pleased to accept my advice: Renounce your sins by doing what is right, and your wickedness by being kind to the oppressed. It may be that then your prosperity will continue."

The Dream Is Fulfilled

²⁸ All this happened to King Nebuchadnezzar. ²⁹Twelve months later, as the king was walking on the roof of the royal palace of Babylon, ³⁰he said, "Is not this the great Babylon I have built as the royal residence, by my mighty power and for the glory of my majesty?"

³¹ The words were still on his lips when a voice came from heaven, "This is what is decreed for you, King Nebuchadnezzar: Your royal authority has been taken from you. ³²You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like cattle. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he wishes."

³³ Immediately what had been said about Nebuchadnezzar was fulfilled. He was driven away from people and ate grass like cattle. His body was drenched with the dew of heaven until his hair grew like the feathers of an eagle and his nails like the claws of a bird.

³⁴ At the end of that time, I, Nebuchadnezzar, raised my eyes toward heaven; and my sanity was restored. Then I praised the Most High; I honored and glorified him who lives forever.

His dominion is an eternal dominion;
his kingdom endures from generation to generation.

³⁵ All the peoples of the earth
are regarded as nothing.

He does as he pleases with the powers of heaven
and the peoples of the earth.

No one can hold back his hand or say to him: "What have you done?"

³⁶ At the same time that my sanity was restored, my honor and splendor were returned to me for the glory of my kingdom. My advisers and nobles sought me out, and I was restored to my throne and became even greater than before. ³⁷Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise and exalt and glorify the King of heaven, because everything he does is right and all his ways are just. And those who walk in pride he is able to humble.

5 King Belshazzar gave a great banquet for a thousand of his nobles and drank wine with them. ²While Belshazzar was drinking his wine, he gave orders to bring in the gold and silver gob-

5:1 The Throne Room

Modern archaeological excavation has found, in the Babylonian palace, a large room (about 150 feet by 50 feet) that has become known as the Throne Room. One wall had a design of blue enameled bricks, but the other three were covered in white plaster (see 5:5).

lets that Nebuchadnezzar his father^a had taken from the temple in Jerusalem, so that the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines might drink from them. ³So they brought in the gold goblets that had been taken from the temple of God in Jerusalem, and the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines drank from them. ⁴As they drank the wine, they praised the gods of gold and silver, of bronze, iron, wood and stone.

⁵Suddenly the fingers of a human hand appeared and wrote on the plaster of the wall, near the lampstand in the royal palace. The king watched the hand as it wrote. ⁶His face turned pale and he was so frightened that his knees knocked together and his legs gave way.

⁷The king called out for the enchanters, astrologers^b and diviners to be brought and said to these wise men of Babylon, "Whoever reads this writing and tells me what it means will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around his neck, and he will be made the third highest ruler in the kingdom."

¹⁰The queen,^c hearing the voices of the king and his nobles, came into the banquet hall. "O king, live forever!" she said. "Don't be alarmed! Don't look so pale!" ¹¹There is a man in your kingdom who has the spirit of the holy gods in him. In the time of your father he was found to have insight and intelligence and wisdom like that of the gods. King Nebuchadnezzar your father—your father the king, I say—appointed him chief of the magicians, enchanters, astrologers and diviners. ¹²This man Daniel, whom the king called Belshazzar, was found to have a keen mind and knowledge and understanding, and also the ability to interpret dreams, explain riddles and solve difficult problems. Call for Daniel, and he will tell you what the writing means."

¹³So Daniel was brought before the king, and the king said to him, "Are you Daniel, one of the exiles my father the king brought from Judah? ¹⁴I have heard that the spirit of the gods is in you and that you have insight, intelligence and outstanding wisdom. ¹⁵The wise men and enchanters were brought before me to read this writing and tell me what it means, but they could not explain it. ¹⁶Now I have heard that you are able to give interpretations and to solve difficult problems. If you can read this writing and tell me what it means, you will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around your neck, and you will be made the third highest ruler in the kingdom."

¹⁷Then Daniel answered the king, "You may keep your gifts for yourself and give your rewards to someone else. Nevertheless, I will read the writing for the king and tell him what it means.

¹⁸"O king, the Most High God gave your father

Nebuchadnezzar sovereignty and greatness and glory and splendor. ¹⁹Because of the high position he gave him, all the peoples and nations and men of every language dreaded and feared him. Those the king wanted to put to death, he put to death; those he wanted to spare, he spared; those he wanted to promote, he promoted; and those he wanted to humble, he humbled. ²⁰But when his heart became arrogant and hardened with pride, he was deposed from his royal throne and stripped of his glory. ²¹He was driven away from people and given the mind of an animal; he lived with the wild donkeys and ate grass like cattle; and his body was drenched with the dew of heaven, until he acknowledged that the Most High God is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and sets over them anyone he wishes.

²²"But you his son,^d O Belshazzar, have not humbled yourself, though you knew all this. ²³Instead, you have set yourself up against the Lord of heaven. You had the goblets from his temple brought to you, and you and your nobles, your wives and your concubines drank wine from them. You praised the gods of silver and gold, of bronze, iron, wood and stone, which cannot see or hear or understand. But you did not honor the God who holds in his hand your life and all your ways. ²⁴Therefore he sent the hand that wrote the inscription.

²⁵"This is the inscription that was written:

MENE, MENE, TEKEL, PARSIN^e

²⁶"This is what these words mean:

Mene: God has numbered the days of your reign and brought it to an end.

²⁷*Tekel*: You have been weighed on the scales and found wanting.

²⁸*Peresh*: Your kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians."

²⁹Then at Belshazzar's command, Daniel was clothed in purple, a gold chain was placed around his neck, and he was proclaimed the third highest ruler in the kingdom.

³⁰That very night Belshazzar, king of the Babylonians,^f was slain, ³¹and Darius the Mede took over the kingdom, at the age of sixty-two.

Daniel in the Den of Lions

6 It pleased Darius to appoint 120 satraps to rule throughout the kingdom, ²with three administrators over them, one of whom was Daniel. The satraps were made accountable to them so that the king might not suffer loss. ³Now Daniel so distinguished himself among the administrators and the satraps by his exceptional qualities that the king planned to set him over the whole kingdom. ⁴At this, the administrators and the satraps tried to find grounds for charges against Daniel in his conduct of government affairs, but they were unable to do so. They could find no corruption in him, because he was trustworthy and neither corrupt

¹⁰So the administrators and the satraps went as a group to the king and said: "O King Darius, live forever! ⁷The royal administrators, prefects, satraps, advisers and governors have all agreed that the king should issue an edict and enforce the decree that anyone who prays to any god or man during the next thirty days, except to you, O king, shall be thrown into the lions' den. ⁸Now, O king, issue the decree and put it in writing so that it cannot be altered—in accordance with the laws of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be repealed." ⁹So King Darius put the decree in writing.

¹⁰Now when Daniel learned that the decree had been published, he went home to his upstairs room where the windows opened toward Jerusalem. Three times a day he got down on his knees and prayed, giving thanks to his God, just as he had done before. ¹¹Then these men went as a group and found Daniel praying and asking God for help. ¹²So they went to the king and spoke to him about his royal decree: "Did you not publish a decree that during the next thirty days anyone who prays to any god or man except to you, O king, would be thrown into the lions' den?"

The king answered, "The decree stands—in accordance with the laws of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be repealed."

¹³Then they said to the king, "Daniel, who is one of the exiles from Judah, pays no attention to you, O king, or to the decree you put in writing. He still prays three times a day." ¹⁴When the king heard this, he was greatly distressed; he was determined to rescue Daniel and made every effort until sundown to save him.

¹⁵Then the men went as a group to the king and said to him, "Remember, O king, that according to the law of the Medes and Persians no decree or edict that the king issues can be changed."

¹⁶So the king gave the order, and they brought Daniel and threw him into the lions' den. The king said to Daniel, "May your God, whom you serve continually, rescue you!"

¹⁷A stone was brought and placed over the mouth of the den, and the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the rings of his nobles, so that Daniel's situation might not be changed

¹⁸Then the king returned to his palace and spent the night without eating and without any entertainment being brought to him. And he could not sleep.

¹⁹At the first light of dawn, the king got up and hurried to the lions' den. ²⁰When he came near the den, he called to Daniel in an anguished voice. "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to rescue you from the lions?"

²¹Daniel answered, "O king, live forever! ²²My God sent his angel, and he shut the mouths of the lions. They have not hurt me, because I was found innocent in his sight. Nor have I ever done any wrong before you, O king."

²³The king was overjoyed and gave orders to lift Daniel out of the den. And when Daniel was lifted from the den, no wound was found on him, because he had trusted in his God.

²⁴At the king's command, the men who had falsely accused Daniel were brought in and thrown into the lions' den, along with their wives and children. And before they reached the floor of the den, the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.

²⁵Then King Darius wrote to all the peoples, nations and men of every language throughout the land:

"May you prosper greatly!"

²⁶"I issue a decree that in every part of my kingdom people must fear and reverence the God of Daniel.

"For he is the living God
and he endures forever;
his kingdom will not be destroyed,
his dominion will never end.

²⁷He rescues and he saves;
he performs signs and wonders
in the heavens and on the earth.
He has rescued Daniel
from the power of the lions."

²⁸So Daniel prospered during the reign of Darius and the reign of Cyrus^a the Persian.

Daniel's Dream of Four Beasts

7 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream, and visions passed through his mind as he was lying on his bed. He wrote down the substance of his dream.

²Daniel said: "In my vision at night I looked, and there before me were the four winds of heaven churning up the great sea. ³Four great beasts, each different from the others, came up out of the sea.

⁴"The first was like a lion, and it had the wings of an eagle. I watched until its wings were torn off and it was lifted from the ground so that it stood on two feet like a man, and the heart of a man was given to it.

⁵"And there before me was a second beast, which looked like a bear. It was raised up on one of its sides, and it had three ribs in its mouth between

6:10 A Jewish Orientation

Daniel had lost much of his Jewish heritage—even his name had been changed to a Babylonian one (1:7). Certainly he could not worship God in the way God's law commanded, through sacrifices at the temple in Jerusalem. He did, however, point himself toward the promised land three times a day in prayer. Not even the threat of death could make him vary this practice. By this time Daniel had been in Babylon over 60 years; he was probably in his 80s.

its teeth. It was told, 'Get up and eat your fill of flesh!'

6"After that, I looked, and there before me was another beast, one that looked like a leopard. And on its back it had four wings like those of a bird. This beast had four heads, and it was given authority to rule

7"After that, in my vision at night I looked, and there before me was a fourth beast—terrifying and frightening and very powerful. It had large iron teeth; it crushed and devoured its victims and trampled underfoot whatever was left. It was different from all the former beasts, and it had ten horns

8"While I was thinking about the horns, there before me was another horn, a little one, which came up among them; and three of the first horns were uprooted before it. This horn had eyes like the eyes of a man and a mouth that spoke boastfully

9"As I looked,

"thrones were set in place,
and the Ancient of Days took his seat.
His clothing was as white as snow;
the hair of his head was white like wool.
His throne was flaming with fire,
and its wheels were all ablaze.

10A river of fire was flowing,
coming out from before him.
Thousands upon thousands attended him;
ten thousand times ten thousand stood
before him
The court was seated,
and the books were opened.

11"Then I continued to watch because of the boastful words the horn was speaking. I kept looking until the beast was slain and its body destroyed and thrown into the blazing fire. 12(The other beasts had been stripped of their authority, but were allowed to live for a period of time.)

13"In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was one like a son of man, coming with the clouds of heaven. He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence. 14He was given authority, glory and sovereign power; all peoples, nations and men of every language worshiped him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will not pass away, and his kingdom is one that will never be destroyed.

The Interpretation of the Dream

15"I, Daniel, was troubled in spirit, and the visions that passed through my mind disturbed me. 16I approached one of those standing there and asked him the true meaning of all this.

"So he told me and gave me the interpretation of these things: 17The four great beasts are four kingdoms that will rise from the earth. 18But the saints of the Most High will receive the kingdom

7:13 A Son of Man

God's power is given to one "like a man" rather than to those "like beasts." The contrast suggests God's kingdom has power that is humane, not savage or bestial. Jesus adopted this term for himself.

Symbols of Power

Daniel uses statues as symbols

"In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was a fourth beast—terrifying and frightening and very powerful. It had large iron teeth; it crushed and devoured its victims." 7:7

It's no surprise that Nebuchadnezzar erected a gold image for people to worship (chapter 3). Kings and rulers love to display statues or gigantic photos as symbols of their power.

It seems reasonable, then, that Daniel's visions depict political realms through statues and symbolic animals. But since each of the visions uses a different set of symbols, you can easily lose track of what the symbols stand for. This chart may help you coordinate Daniel's view of four great empires—and the almighty God who overwhelms their power in the end:

and will possess it forever—yes, for ever and ever.¹⁹

¹⁹“Then I wanted to know the true meaning of the fourth beast, which was different from all the others and most terrifying, with its iron teeth and bronze claws—the beast that crushed and devoured its victims and trampled underfoot whatever was left. ²⁰I also wanted to know about the ten horns on its head and about the other horn that came up, before which three of them fell—the horn that looked more imposing than the others and that had eyes and a mouth that spoke boastfully. ²¹As I watched, this horn was waging war against the saints and defeating them, ²²until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom.

²³“He gave me this explanation: “The fourth beast is a fourth kingdom that will appear on earth. It will be different from all the other kingdoms and will devour the whole earth, trampling it down and crushing it. ²⁴The ten horns are ten kings who will come from this kingdom. After them another king will arise, different from the earlier ones; he will subdue three kings. ²⁵He will speak against the Most High and oppress his saints and try to change the set times and the laws. The saints will be handed over to him for a time, times and half a time.

²⁶“But the court will sit, and his power will be taken away and completely destroyed forever. ²⁷Then the sovereignty, power and greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven will be handed over to the saints, the people of the Most High. His kingdom will be an everlasting kingdom, and all rulers will worship and obey him.”

²⁸“This is the end of the matter. I, Daniel, was deeply troubled by my thoughts, and my face turned pale, but I kept the matter to myself.”

Daniel's Vision of a Ram and a Goat

8 In the third year of King Belshazzar's reign, I, Daniel, had a vision, after the one that had already appeared to me. ²In my vision I saw myself in the citadel of Susa in the province of Elam; in the vision I was beside the Ulai Canal. ³I looked up, and there before me was a ram with two horns, standing beside the canal, and the horns were long. One of the horns was longer than the other but grew up later. ⁴I watched the ram as he charged toward the west and the north and the south. No animal could stand against him, and none could rescue from his power. He did as he pleased and became great.

⁵As I was thinking about this, suddenly a goat with a prominent horn between his eyes came from the west, crossing the whole earth without touching the ground. ⁶He came toward the two-horned ram I had seen standing beside the canal and charged at him in great rage. ⁷I saw him attack the ram furiously, striking the ram and shattering his two horns. The ram was powerless to stand against him; the goat knocked him to the ground and trampled on him, and none could rescue the ram from his power. ⁸The goat became very great, but at the height of his power his large horn was broken off, and in its place four prominent horns grew up toward the four winds of heaven.

⁹Out of one of them came another horn, which started small but grew in power to the south and to the east and toward the Beautiful Land. ¹⁰It grew until it reached the host of the heavens, and it threw some of the starry host down to the earth and trampled on them. ¹¹It set itself up to be as great as the Prince of the host; it took away the daily sacrifice from him, and the place of his sanctuary was brought low. ¹²Because of rebellion, the host of the saints^b and the daily sacrifice were given over to it. It prospered in everything it did, and truth was thrown to the ground.

¹³Then I heard a holy one speaking, and another holy one said to him, “How long will it take for the vision to be fulfilled—the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, the rebellion that causes desolation, and the surrender of the sanctuary and of the host that will be trampled underfoot?”

¹⁴He said to me, “It will take 2,300 evenings and mornings; then the sanctuary will be reconsecrated.”

The Interpretation of the Vision

¹⁵While I, Daniel, was watching the vision and trying to understand it, there before me stood one who looked like a man. ¹⁶And I heard a man's voice from the Ulai calling, “Gabriel, tell this man the meaning of the vision.”

¹⁷As he came near the place where I was standing, I was terrified and fell prostrate. “Son of man,” he said to me, “understand that the vision concerns the time of the end.”

¹⁸While he was speaking to me, I was in a deep sleep, with my face to the ground. Then he touched me and raised me to my feet.

¹⁹He said: “I am going to tell you what will happen later in the time of wrath, because the vision concerns the appointed time of the end.”

²⁰The two-horned ram that you saw represents the kings of Media and Persia. ²¹The shaggy goat is the king of Greece, and the large horn between his eyes is the first king. ²²The four horns that replaced the one that was broken off represent four kingdoms that will emerge from his nation but will not have the same power.

²³In the latter part of their reign, when rebels have become completely wicked, a stern-faced king, a master of intrigue, will arise. ²⁴He will become very strong, but not by his own power. He will cause astounding devastation and will succeed in whatever he does. He will destroy the mighty men and the holy people. ²⁵He will cause deceit to prosper, and he will consider himself superior. When they feel secure, he will destroy many and take his stand against the Prince of princes. Yet he will be destroyed, but not by human power.

²⁶“The vision of the evenings and mornings that has been given you is true, but seal up the vision, for it concerns the distant future.”

²⁷I, Daniel, was exhausted and lay ill for several days. Then I got up and went about the king's business. I was appalled by the vision; it was beyond understanding.

Daniel's Prayer

9 In the first year of Darius son of Xerxes^a (a Mede by descent), who was made ruler over the Babylonian^b kingdom—²in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, understood from the Scriptures, according to the word of the LORD given to Jeremiah the prophet, that the desolation of Jerusalem would last seventy years. ³So I turned to the LORD God and pleaded with him in prayer and petition, in fasting, and in sackcloth and ashes.

⁴I prayed to the LORD my God and confessed:

"O LORD, the great and awesome God, who keeps his covenant of love with all who love him and obey his commands, ⁵we have sinned and done wrong. We have been wicked and have rebelled; we have turned away from your commands and laws. ⁶We have not listened to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, our princes and our fathers, and to all the people of the land

⁷"LORD, you are righteous, but this day we are covered with shame—the men of Judah and people of Jerusalem and all Israel, both near and far, in all the countries where you have scattered us because of our unfaithfulness to you. ⁸O LORD, we and our kings, our princes and our fathers are covered with shame because we have sinned against you. ⁹The LORD our God is merciful and forgiving, even though we have rebelled against him; ¹⁰we have not obeyed the LORD our God or kept the laws he gave us through his servants the prophets. ¹¹All Israel has transgressed your law and turned away, refusing to obey you

"Therefore the curses and sworn judgments written in the Law of Moses, the servant of God, have been poured out on us, because we have sinned against you. ¹²You have fulfilled the words spoken against us and against our rulers by bringing upon us great disaster. Under the whole heaven nothing has ever been done like what has been done to Jerusalem. ¹³Just as it is written in the Law of Moses, all this disaster has come upon us, yet we have not sought the favor of the LORD our God by turning from our sins and giving attention to your truth. ¹⁴The LORD did not hesitate to bring the disaster upon us, for the LORD our God is righteous in everything he does; yet we have not obeyed him.

¹⁵"Now, O LORD our God, who brought your people out of Egypt with a mighty hand and who made for yourself a name that endures to this day, we have sinned, we have done wrong. ¹⁶O LORD, in keeping with all your righteous acts, turn away your anger and your wrath from Jerusalem, your city, your holy hill. Our sins and the iniquities of our fathers have made Jerusalem and your people an object of scorn to all those around us.

¹⁷"Now, our God, hear the prayers and petitions of your servant. For your sake, O LORD, look with favor on your desolate sanctuary. ¹⁸Give ear, O God, and hear; open your eyes and see the desolation of the city that bears your Name. We do not make requests of you because we are righteous, but because of your great mercy. ¹⁹O LORD, listen! O LORD, forgive! O LORD, hear and act! For your sake, O my God, do not delay, because your city and your people bear your Name."

The Seventy "Sevens"

²⁰While I was speaking and praying, confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel and making my request to the LORD my God for his holy hill—²¹while I was still in prayer, Gabriel, the man I had seen in the earlier vision, came to me in swift flight about the time of the evening sacrifice. ²²He instructed me and said to me, "Daniel, I have now come to give you insight and understanding. ²³As soon as you began to pray, an answer was given, which I have come to tell you, for you are highly esteemed. Therefore, consider the message and understand the vision:

²⁵"Know and understand this: From the issuing of the decree^f to restore and rebuild Jerusalem until the Anointed One,^g the ruler, comes, there will be seven 'sevens,' and sixty-two 'sevens.' It will be rebuilt with streets and a trench, but in times of trouble. ²⁶After the sixty-two 'sevens,' the Anointed One will be cut off and will have nothing.^h The people of the ruler who will come will destroy the city and the sanctuary. The end will come like a flood. War will continue until the end, and desolations have been decreed. ²⁷He will confirm a covenant with many for one 'seven.'ⁱ In the middle of the 'seven'^j he will put an end to sacrifice and offering. And on a wing of the temple, he will set up an abomination that causes desolation, until the end that is decreed is poured out on him."^k

Daniel's Vision of a Man

10 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia, a revelation was given to Daniel (who was called Belteshazzar). Its message was true and it concerned a great war.^h The understanding of the message came to him in a vision.

²At that time I, Daniel, mourned for three weeks. ³I ate no choice food; no meat or wine touched my lips; and I used no lotions at all until the three weeks were over.

until the end that is decreed is poured out on the desolated city, 4On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was standing on the bank of the great river, the Tigris, 5I looked up and there before me was a man dressed in linen, with a belt of the finest gold around his waist. 6His body was like chrysolite, his face like lightning, his eyes like flaming torches, his arms and legs like the gleam of burnished bronze, and his voice like the sound of a multi-tude.

10A hand touched me and set me trembling on my hands and knees. 11He said, "Daniel, you who are highly esteemed, consider carefully the words I am about to speak to you, and stand up, for I have now been sent to you." And when he said this to me, I stood up trembling.

12Then he continued, "Do not be afraid, Daniel. Since the first day that you set your mind to gain understanding and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard, and I have come in response to them. 13But the prince of the Persian kingdom resisted me twenty-one days. Then Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, because I was detained there with the king of Persia. 14Now I have come to explain to you what will happen to your people in the future, for the vision concerns a time yet to come."

15While he was saying this to me, I bowed with my face toward the ground and was speechless. 16Then one who looked like a man^a touched my lips, and I opened my mouth and began to speak. I said to the one standing before me, "I am overcome with anguish because of the vision, my lord, and I am helpless. 17How can I, your servant, talk with you, my lord? My strength is gone and I can hardly breathe."

18Again the one who looked like a man touched me and gave me strength. 19"Do not be afraid, O man highly esteemed," he said. "Peace! Be strong now; be strong."

When he spoke to me, I was strengthened and said, "Speak, my lord, since you have given me strength."

20So he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? Soon I will return to fight against the prince of Persia, and when I go, the prince of Greece will come; 21but first I will tell you what is written in the Book of Truth. (No one supports me against them except Michael, your prince. 22And in the first year of Balthazar the Mad, I took my stand to support and protect him.)

The Kings of the South and the North

23"Now then, I tell you the truth. Three more kings will appear in Persia, and then a fourth, who will be far richer than all the others. When he has gained power by his wealth, he will stir up every one against the kingdom of Greece. 24Then a mighty king will appear, who will rule with great power and do as he pleases. 25After he has appeared, his empire will be broken up and parcelled out toward the four winds of heaven. It will not go to his descendants, nor will it have the power he exercised, because his empire will be uprooted and given to others.

26"Then the king of the South will become strong, but one of his commanders will become even stronger than he and will rule his own kingdom with great power. 27After some years, they will become allies. The daughter of the king of the South will go to the king of the North to make an alliance, but she will not retain her power, and he and his power^b will not last. In those days she will be handed over, together with her royal escort and her father, and the one who supported her.

28"Then one from her family line will arise to take her place. He will attack the forces of the king of the North and enter his fortress; he will fight against them and be victorious. 29He will also seize their gods, their metal images and their valuable articles of silver and gold and carry them off to Egypt. For some years he will leave the king of the North alone. 30Then the king of the North will invade the realm of the king of the South but will retreat to his own country. 31His sons will prepare for war and assemble a great army, which will sweep on like an irresistible flood and carry the battle as far as his fortress.

32"Then the king of the South will march out in a rage and fight against the king of the North, who will raise a large army, but it will be defeated. 33When the army is carried off, the king of the South will be filled with pride and will slaughter many thousands, yet he will not remain triumphant. 34For the king of the North will muster another army, larger than the first; and after several years, he will advance with a huge army fully equipped.

35"Then in those times many will rise against the king of the South. The violent men among your own people will rebel in fulfillment of the vision, but without success. 36Then the king of the North will come and build up siege ramps and will capture a fortified city. The forces of the South will be powerless to resist; even their best troops will not have the strength to stand. 37The invader will do as he pleases; no one will be able to stand against him. He will establish himself in the Beautiful Land and will have the power to destroy it. 38He will determine to come with the might of his entire kingdom and will make an alliance with the king of the

10:13 Slow to Answer Prayer

These comments come from what seems to be an angelic messenger. They hint at heavenly warfare human beings know little about. When prayers go unanswered for long periods, more may be involved than we ever dream.

INSIGHT

In the Hands of Tyrants

Daniel's visions portray history as one bestial empire after another

"The king will do as he pleases. He will exalt and magnify himself above every god and will say unheard-of things against the God of gods." 11:36

Increasingly, it seems, totalitarian leaders promise everything—and demand everything. They brutally dispose of anyone who opposes them. Daily the list grows longer.

A Single, Cruel King

Daniel's visions predicted such tyrants. History, in these visions, is one terrible empire after another. Each is stronger but more bestial than the last.

The focus narrows (in 8:23-25 and 11:21-45) to a single, cruel king. Most scholars agree the description matches Antiochus IV of Syria. An obscure tyrant who ruled a century and a half before Jesus, he was the Jews' worst enemy in history, until Hitler.

Antiochus, never totally victorious against archenemy Egypt, took out his frustrations on little Jerusalem. He determined to make that city Greek rather than Jewish by rooting out its religion. He sold the high priest's position to an opportunist and transformed the temple into an altar for the Greek god Zeus. This desecration sparked one of history's earliest guerrilla wars, the Maccabean rebellion. Antiochus conquered Jerusalem twice, slaughtering thousands. He outlawed Judaism and proclaimed himself as God incarnate.

The End of the Tyrant

And yet, for all his power and terror, Antiochus died raving from insanity, and his mark on history has virtually disappeared. Ironically, the religion he sought to destroy has endured and touched the whole world. This is just what you could expect from reading Daniel. Terrible rulers rise up one after another, but they disappear just as quickly. We can expect political terror. But we can count on God.

The New Testament suggests that Antiochus's brutal pattern will culminate someday in the antichrist, an arrogant leader who will dominate the world and persecute God's people as never before. Many scholars believe that the last part of Daniel's final vision refers to this character. Yet despite the antichrist's power, he too will fall in the end. God's justice will rule the earth. Those who believe in such an outcome have reason to be as brave as Daniel.

24“With a large army he will stir up his strength and courage against the king of the South. The king of the South will wage war with a large and very powerful army, but he will not be able to stand because of the plots devised against him.

25Those who eat from the king’s provisions will try to destroy him; his army will be swept away, and many will fall in battle. 26The two kings, with their hearts bent on evil, will sit at the same table and lie to each other, but to no avail, because an end will still come at the appointed time. 27The king of the North will return to his own country with great wealth, but his heart will be set against the holy covenant. He will take action against it and then return to his own country.

28“At the appointed time he will invade the South again, but this time the outcome will be different from what it was before. 29Ships of the western coastlands^a will oppose him, and he will lose heart. Then he will turn back and vent his fury against the holy covenant. He will return and show favor to those who forsake the holy covenant.

31“His armed forces will rise up to desecrate the temple fortress and will abolish the daily sacrifice. Then they will set up the abomination that causes desolation. 32With flattery he will corrupt those who have violated the covenant, but the people who know their God will firmly resist him.

33“Those who are wise will instruct many, though for a time they will fall by the sword or be burned or captured or plundered. 34When they fall, they will receive a little help, and many who are not sincere will join them. 35Some of the wise will stumble, so that they may be refined, purified and made spotless until the time of the end, for it will still come at the appointed time.

The King Who Exalts Himself

36“The king will do as he pleases. He will exalt and magnify himself above every god and will say unheard-of things against the God of gods. He will be successful until the time of wrath is completed, for what has been determined must take place.

37He will show no regard for the gods of his fathers or for the one desired by women, nor will he regard any god, but will exalt himself above them all. 38Instead of them, he will honor a god of fortresses—a god unknown to his fathers; he will honor with gold and silver, with precious stones and costly gifts. 39He will attack the mightiest fortresses with the help of a foreign god and will greatly honor those who acknowledge him. He will make them rulers over many people and will distribute the land at a price.^b 40“At the time of the end the king of the North will engage him in battle, and the king of the North will storm out against him with chariots and cavalry and a great fleet of ships. He will invade many countries and sweep through them like a flood. 41He will also invade the Beautiful Land. Many countries will fall, but Edom, Moab and the leaders of Ammon will be delivered from his hand. 42He will extend his power over many countries; Egypt will not escape. 43He will gain control of the treasures of gold and silver and all the riches of Egypt with the Libyans and Nubians in submission. 44But reports from the east and the north will alarm him, and he will set out in a great rage to destroy and annihilate many. 45He will pitch his royal tents between the seas at the beautiful holy mountain. Yet he will come to his end, and no one will help him.

The End Times

12 “At that time Michael, the great prince who protects your people, will arise. There will be a time of distress such as has not happened from the beginning of nations until then. But at that time your people—everyone whose name is found written in the book—will be delivered. 2Multitudes who sleep in the dust of the earth will awake: some to everlasting life, others to shame and everlasting contempt. 3Those who are wise will shine like the brightness of the heavens, and those who lead many to righteousness, like the stars for ever and ever. 4But you, Daniel, close up and seal the words of the scroll until the time of the end. Many will go here and there to increase knowledge.

5Then I, Daniel, looked, and there before me stood two others, one on this bank of the river and one on the opposite bank. 6One of them said to the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, “How long will it be before these astonishing things are fulfilled?”

7The man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, lifted his right hand and his left hand toward heaven, and I heard him swear by

The tyrant Antiochus IV, whom most commentators believe is described here, minted many coins showing his portrait. The early coins were merely stamped, “King Antiochus.” But, as he grew more obsessed with his own importance, he added features to his portrait that made him look like the Greek gods Apollo or Zeus, and to his given name he appended the title “Epiphanes”—“God Manifest.” Such behavior earned him the nickname “Antiochus Epimanes”—“crazy Antiochus.”

HOSEA

INTRODUCTION

Tearing God's Heart

Why would he love such a woman?

"She decked herself with rings and jewelry, and went after her lovers, but me she forgot," declares the LORD. 2:13

Hosea begins with a love story—a painful, personal love story, the prophet's very own. Hosea had married a woman who acted like a prostitute. Yet the more she went out on him, the more Hosea loved her. He gave her everything a good wife deserved: his love, his home, his name, his reputation. She responded by living with other men. He warned her, he pleaded with her, he punished her. She humiliated him until he wanted to cry, yet still he clung to her.

Why did Hosea begin with his personal life? Because God had expressly told him to relate it to another, more tragic love story: the painful love of God for his people. God could have simply declared, "Israel is like a wife to me—an adulterous wife." Instead, he used Hosea to act out the treachery in real life—and to show in living color God's fury, his jealousy, and above all else, his love for his people.

Winding Down to a Bitter End

Virtually every chapter of Hosea talks about the "prostitution" or "adultery" of God's people (1:2; 2:2,4, 3:1; 4:2,10-15,18; 5:3,4; 6:10; 7:4; 8:9, 9:1). Underlying some hard words is a remarkably tender revelation: God doesn't want to be only "master" to his people. He wants to be a husband, giving all of himself in intimate love.

Hosea spoke and acted these messages to the Northern part of God's divided country—Israel or "Ephraim," as Hosea called it. King Jeroboam II's reign was a time of prosperity; the prophet Amos blasted the rich for their greedy injustices toward the poor. But soon after Jeroboam's death the national fabric began to unravel. In just over 20 years six kings took the throne—four of them by murdering the previous king. Hosea probably lived to see the massive Assyrian armies storm the capital and deport all the Israelite citizens to other lands. God's "wife" was carried off, just as he had warned.

God Is a Lover

When most people must have been preoccupied with politics and military matters, Hosea kept his message aimed at idol worship, which he referred to as adultery. He saw that as the root of Israel's problems.

Israel tended to mix religions freely—to think that everybody's religion had a little truth in it, and the more religion you got, the better off you would be. Many prophets attacked Israel's idol worship. Hosea shows that God's concern about idolatry is no fussy, religious matter. It is terribly personal. God, the lover, will not share his bride with anyone else.

God's anger and jealousy, expressed so often throughout the Old Testament, reflect his powerful love. Sin does not merely break God's law, it breaks his heart. He punishes to get his lover's attention. Yet even when she turns her back on him, he sticks with her. He is willing to suffer, in hope that someday she will change. Hosea shows that God longs not to punish, but to love.

How to Read Hosea

Hosea is one of the most emotional books in the Bible, an outpouring of suffering love from God's heart. This shows in the writing, which jumps impulsively from one thought to the next. Read a chapter dramatically aloud, and you will get this sense. It is almost like listening in on a husband-and-wife fight.

The book divides into two parts. In the first three chapters, the prophet Hosea briefly describes his marriage to an adulterous woman and makes the connection to Israel's unfaithfulness to God. From chapter 4 onward this dramatic, personal beginning is not mentioned again. But it has set the stage. God's deep love, his disappointment and anger, and his determination to persevere with his unfaithful wife pour out in a series of vivid speeches.

For a historical perspective on Hosea's times, read from 2 Kings 14:23 to 17:41, noting that some sections describe Judah, the Southern nation, while the rest relate to the deteriorating Israel Hosea knew. This history is summarized in "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338. The prophet Amos spoke to the North at about the same time as Hosea, but from a noticeably different point of view. Amos concentrated on law and justice, with special concern for the poor, while Hosea concentrated on the broken relationship with God that led to this injustice. Together, these two prophets provide a three-dimensional view of Israel's problems.

Because Hosea is so emotional, he doesn't stop to explain a large number of images or biblical references. A Bible dictionary will help you understand the names and places you aren't familiar with.

PLANS FOR READING HOSEA

PLAN 1: An Overview of Hosea in 2 Days

- ☐ Day 1. Read the Introduction to Hosea, and chapters 2 and 3, which compare Hosea's marriage to Israel's relationship with God.
- ☐ Day 2. Read chapter 11, which shows God's powerful, competing emotions as he thinks of Israel.

PLAN 2: All of Hosea in 10 Days

- ☐ 1 ☐ 2-3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5 ☐ 6-7 ☐ 8 ☐ 9 ☐ 10 ☐ 11-12 ☐ 13-14

1 The word of the LORD that came to Hosea son of Beeri during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and during the reign of Jeroboam son of Jehoash^a king of Israel:

Hosea's Wife and Children

²When the LORD began to speak through Hosea, the LORD said to him, "Go, take to yourself an adulterous wife and children of unfaithfulness, because the land is guilty of the vilest adultery in departing from the LORD." ³So he married Gomer daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son.

⁴Then the LORD said to Hosea, "Call him Jezreel, because I will soon punish the house of Jehu for the massacre at Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of Israel. ⁵In that day I will break Israel's bow in the Valley of Jezreel."

⁶Gomer conceived again and gave birth to a daughter. Then the LORD said to Hosea, "Call her Lo-Ruhamah,^b for I will no longer show love to the house of Israel, that I should at all forgive them. ⁷Yet I will show love to the house of Judah; and I will save them—not by bow, sword or battle, or by horses and horsemen, but by the LORD their God."

⁸After she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, Gomer had another son. ⁹Then the LORD said, "Call him Lo-Ammi,^c for you are not my people, and I am not your God.

¹⁰"Yet the Israelites will be like the sand on the seashore, which cannot be measured or counted. In the place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people,' they will be called 'sons of the living God.' ¹¹The people of Judah and the people of Israel will be reunited, and they will appoint one leader and will come up out of the land, for great will be the day of Jezreel.

1:4 The Children's Strange Names

At God's direction, Hosea named his three children in a way that symbolized God's anger. Their names show God's increasing judgment against Israel's adultery: first comes punishment, then a loss of love, finally total divorce. The first name, Jezreel, refers to a historical incident from 2 Kings 9-10. Jezreel was the place where King Jehu slaughtered a wicked king and all his associates (2 Kings 10:11). Hosea lived to see his prediction of punishment on Jehu's house fulfilled, when the last king in Jehu's line was murdered (2 Kings 15:8-12).

Punishment, however, was not the last word. Jezreel has a double meaning—both to "scatter" and to "sow." In verse 11 and in verses 22-23 of chapter 2, Jezreel takes on the hopeful sense of planting new life. Hosea's other two children's names are similarly turned from curses to blessings. God's anger leads to new life.

^c9 Lo-Ammi means not my people

Israel Punished and Restored

² "Rebuke your mother, rebuke her,
for she is not my wife,
and I am not her husband

Let her remove the adulterous look from her face

and the unfaithfulness from between her breasts

³ Otherwise I will strip her naked and make her as bare as on the day she was born

I will make her like a desert,
turn her into a parched land,
and slay her with thirst

⁴ I will not show my love to her children, because they are the children of adultery.

⁵ Their mother has been unfaithful
and has conceived them in disgrace.

She said, 'I will go after my lovers,
who give me my food and my water,
my wool and my linen, my oil and my drink'

⁶ Therefore I will block her path with thornbushes;

I will wall her in so that she cannot find her way

⁷ She will chase after her lovers but not catch
them,

she will look for them but not find them.

Then she will say,

I will go back to my husband as at first,
for then I was better off than now.'

⁸ She has not acknowledged that I was the one who gave her the grain, the new wine and
oil,

who lavished on her the silver and gold—
which they used for Baal.

⁹ Therefore I will take away my grain when it ripens,

and my new wine when it is ready.

I will take back my wool and my linen,
intended to cover her nakedness.

¹⁰ So now I will expose her lewdness
before the eyes of her lovers;
no one will take her out of my hands.

¹¹ I will stop all her celebrations:
her yearly festivals, her New Moons,
her Sabbath days—all her appointed feasts.

¹² I will ruin her vines and her fig trees,
which she said were her pay from her lovers;
I will make them a thicket,
and wild animals will devour them.

¹³ I will punish her for the days
she burned incense to the Baals;
she decked herself with rings and jewelry,
and went after her lovers,
but me she forgot,"

declares the LORD.

¹⁴ Therefore I am now going to allure her;
I will lead her into the desert
and speak tenderly to her.

¹⁵ There I will give her back her vineyards, and will make the Valley of Achor^a a door of hope.

There she will sing^b as in the days of her
youth,
as in the day she came up out of Egypt.

¹⁶ "In that day," declares the LORD,
"you will call me 'my husband';
you will no longer call me 'my master.'"

¹⁷ I will remove the names of the Baals from her
lips;

no longer will their names be invoked.

¹⁸ In that day I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field and the birds of the air

and the creatures that move along the ground.

Bow and sword and battle

I will abolish from the land,
so that all may lie down in safety.

¹⁹ I will betroth you to me forever;

I will betroth you in^d righteousness and
justice,

in^e love and compassion.

²⁰ I will betroth you in faithfulness,
and you will acknowledge the LORD.

²¹ "In that day I will respond,"
declares the LORD—

"I will respond to the skies,
and they will respond to the earth;

²² and the earth will respond to the grain,
the new wine and oil,
and they will respond to Jezreel.^f

²³ I will plant her for myself in the land;

I will show my love to the one I called 'Not my loved one.'^g

I will say to those called 'Not my people,'^h
'You are my people';

and they will say, 'You are my God.'"

Hosea's Reconciliation With His Wife

3 The LORD said to me, "Go, show your love to your wife again, though she is loved by another and is an adulteress. Love her as the LORD loves the Israelites, though they turn to other gods and love the sacred raisin cakes."

² So I bought her for fifteen shekelsⁱ of silver and about a homer and a lethek^j of barley. ³ Then I told her, "You are to live with^k me many days; you must not be a prostitute or be intimate with any man, and I will live with^k you."

⁴ For the Israelites will live many days without king or prince, without sacrifice or sacred stones, without ephod or idol. ⁵ Afterward the Israelites will return and seek the LORD their God and David their king. They will come trembling to the LORD and to his blessings in the last days.

The Charge Against Israel

- 4 Hear the word of the LORD, you Israelites, because the LORD has a charge to bring against you who live in the land
"There is no faithfulness, no love,
no acknowledgment of God in the land.
2 There is only cursing,^a lying and murder,
stealing and adultery;
they break all bounds,
and bloodshed follows bloodshed.
3 Because of this the land mourns,^b and all who live in it waste away;
the beasts of the field and the birds of the air
and the fish of the sea are dying.
4 "But let no man bring a charge,
let no man accuse another,
for your people are like those who bring charges against a priest.
5 You stumble day and night,
and the prophets stumble with you.
So I will destroy your mother—6 my people are destroyed from lack of knowledge
"Because you have rejected knowledge,
I also reject you as my priests;
because you have ignored the law of your God,
I also will ignore your children.
7 The more the priests increased,
the more they sinned against me;
they exchanged^c their^d Glory for something disgraceful
8 They feed on the sins of my people and relish their wickedness.
9 And it will be: Like people, like priests.
I will punish both of them for their ways
and repay them for their deeds.
10 "They will eat but not have enough;
they will engage in prostitution but not increase,
because they have deserted the LORD
to give themselves ¹¹to prostitution, to old wine and new,
which take away the understanding ¹²of my
people.
They consult a wooden idol
and are answered by a stick of wood.
A spirit of prostitution leads them astray;
they are unfaithful to their God.
13 They sacrifice on the mountaintops and burn offerings on the hills,
under oak, poplar and terebinth,
where the shade is pleasant.
Therefore your daughters turn to prostitution
and your daughters-in-law to adultery.
14 "I will not punish your daughters
when they turn to prostitution,
nor your daughters-in-law
when they commit adultery, because the men themselves consort with harlots

and sacrifice with shrine prostitutes—
a people without understanding will come to ruin!

15 "Though you commit adultery, O Israel, let not Judah become guilty.

"Do not go to Gilgal;
do not go up to Beth Aven.^e
And do not swear, "As surely as the LORD
lives!"

16 The Israelites are stubborn,
like a stubborn heifer.
How then can the LORD pasture them
like lambs in a meadow?

17 Ephraim is joined to idols;
leave him alone!

18 Even when their drinks are gone,
they continue their prostitution;
their rulers dearly love shameful ways.

19 A whirlwind will sweep them away,
and their sacrifices will bring them shame.

Judgment Against Israel

- 5 "Hear this, you priests!
Pay attention, you Israelites!
Listen, O royal house!
This judgment is against you:
You have been a snare at Mizpah,
a net spread out on Tabor.
2 The rebels are deep in slaughter.
I will discipline all of them.
3 I know all about Ephraim;
Israel is not hidden from me.
Ephraim, you have now turned to prostitution;
Israel is corrupt.
4 "Their deeds do not permit them to return to their God.
A spirit of prostitution is in their heart;
they do not acknowledge the LORD.
5 Israel's arrogance testifies against them;
the Israelites, even Ephraim, stumble in their
sin;
Judah also stumbles with them.
6 When they go with their flocks and herds
to seek the LORD,
they will not find him;

4:13 Real Prostitution

In each of the first nine chapters of his book, Hosea describes Israel's sin as prostitution or adultery. This is primarily symbolism meant to emphasize God's deep, personal love for Israel and his pain when the Israelites desert him to "go after other gods."

But prostitution has a literal meaning also. The religions Israel pursued taught that human sexuality was tied to agricultural fertility. To encourage good crops, believers in these religions practiced their human fertility. This meant organized prostitution, done as part of their worship experience.

 now calling to Egypt,
 now turning to Assyria.

12 When they go, I will throw my net over them.

^a Beth Aven means house of wickedness (a name for Bethel which means house of God)
 word is uncertain

^b Or As at Adam, or Like men

^c 11 The meaning of the Hebrew for this

I will pull them down like birds of the air.
 When I hear them flocking together,
 I will catch them
 13 Woe to them,
 because they have strayed from me!
 Destruction to them,
 because they have rebelled against me!
 I long to redeem them
 but they speak lies against me.
 14 They do not cry out to me from their hearts
 but wail upon their beds
 They gather together* for grain and new wine
 but turn away from me 15 I trained them and strengthened them,
 but they plot evil against me 16 They do not turn to the Most High;
 they are like a faulty bow
 Their leaders will fall by the sword
 because of their insolent words
 For this they will be ridiculed
 in the land of Egypt.

Israel to Reap the Whirlwind

8 Put the trumpet to your lips!
 An eagle is over the house of the LORD because the people have broken my covenant and rebelled against my law
 2 Israel cries out to me,
 O our God, we acknowledge you!
 3 But Israel has rejected what is good;
 an enemy will pursue him.
 4 They set up kings without my consent;
 they choose princes without my approval.
 With their silver and gold
 they make idols for themselves to their own destruction
 5 Throw out your calf-idol, O Samaria!
 My anger burns against them
 How long will they be incapable of punty?
 6 They are from Israel!
 This calf—a craftsman has made it;
 it is not God
 It will be broken in pieces, that calf of Samaria 7 They sow the wind
 and reap the whirlwind
 The stalk has no head;
 it will produce no flour.
 Were it to yield grain,
 foreigners would swallow it up.
 8 Israel is swallowed up;
 now she is among the nations
 like a worthless thing.
 9 For they have gone up to Assyria
 like a wild donkey wandering alone.
 Ephraim has sold herself to lovers.
 10 Although they have sold themselves among
 the nations,
 I will now gather them together.
 They will begin to waste away
 under the oppression of the mighty king.
 11 Though Ephraim built many altars for sin
 offerings,

these have become altars for sinning
 12 I wrote for them the many things of my law,
 but they regarded them as something alien.
 13 They offer sacrifices given to me
 and they eat the meat,
 but the LORD is not pleased with them.
 Now he will remember their wickedness
 and punish their sins:
 They will return to Egypt.
 14 Israel has forgotten his Maker
 and built palaces;
 Judah has fortified many towns.
 But I will send fire upon their cities that will consume their fortresses."

Punishment for Israel

9 Do not rejoice, O Israel;
 do not be jubilant like the other nations.
 For you have been unfaithful to your God;
 you love the wages of a prostitute
 at every threshing floor.
 2 Threshing floors and winepresses will not feed
 the people;
 the new wine will fail them.
 3 They will not remain in the LORD's land;
 Ephraim will return to Egypt and eat unclean^b food in Assyria.
 4 They will not pour out wine offerings to the LORD,
 nor will their sacrifices please him.
 Such sacrifices will be to them like the bread of mourners,
 all who eat them will be unclean.
 This food will be for themselves;
 it will not come into the temple of the LORD.
 5 What will you do on the day of your appointed
 feasts,
 on the festival days of the LORD?
 6 Even if they escape from destruction,
 Egypt will gather them,
 and Memphis will bury them.
 Their treasures of silver will be taken over by briers,
 and thorns will overrun their tents.
 7 The days of punishment are coming,
 the days of reckoning are at hand.
 Let Israel know this.
 Because your sins are so many
 and your hostility so great,
 the prophet is considered a fool,
 the inspired man a maniac.

8:11 How to Be Religious Without Pleasing God

The Israelites didn't think they were rejecting God. In fact, they became increasingly pious. (See 8:2, 11, 13; 10:1; and, probably, 6:1-3 for their expressions of faith.) But they wanted to worship on their terms, not God's. While their sacrifices to God increased, they kept on worshipping idols as well.

¹The prophet, along with my God, is the watchman over Ephraim,^a yet snares await him on all his paths,
and hostility in the house of his God.
²They have sunk deep into corruption,
as in the days of Gibeah God will remember their wickedness
and punish them for their sins
When I found Israel,
it was like finding grapes in the desert;
when I saw your fathers,
it was like seeing the early fruit on the fig
tree
But when they came to Baal Peor, they consecrated themselves to that shameful idol
and became as vile as the thing they loved.
Ephraim's glory will fly away like a bird—
no birth, no pregnancy, no conception.
³Even if they rear children,
I will bereave them of every one
Woe to them
when I turn away from them!
I have seen Ephraim, like Tyre, planted in a pleasant place
But Ephraim will bring out their children to the slayer." ⁴Give them, O LORD—
what will you give them?
Give them wombs that miscarry
and breasts that are dry.
⁵"Because of all their wickedness in Gilgal,
I hated them there
Because of their sinful deeds,
I will drive them out of my house.
I will no longer love them,
all their leaders are rebellious.
⁶Ephraim is blighted,
their root is withered,
they yield no fruit
Even if they bear children,
I will slay their cherished offspring."
My God will reject them
because they have not obeyed him;
they will be wanderers among the nations.

he brought forth fruit for himself

9:9 Two Instances of Evil

The "days of Gibeah" evidently refers to the vicious murder of a woman, told in Judges 19-21. This horrifying incident was a version of Sodom and Gomorrah right in Israel. Another incident (verse 10), equally bad in its own way, occurred at Baal Peor (see Numbers 25:1-3). Israelite men en route to the promised land slept with Moabite women and worshiped their gods. From both these incidents, Hosea proves that sin is nothing new to Israel.

As his fruit increased,
he built more altars,
as his land prospered,
he adorned his sacred stones ²Their heart is deceitful, and now they must bear their guilt
The LORD will demolish their altars and destroy their sacred stones ³Then they will say, "We have no king
because we did not revere the LORD.
But even if we had a king,
what could he do for us?"
⁴They make many promises,
take false oaths
and make agreements;
therefore lawsuits spring up
like poisonous weeds in a plowed field.
⁵The people who live in Samaria fear for the calf-idol of Beth Aven.^b Its people will mourn over it,
and so will its idolatrous priests,
those who had rejoiced over its splendor,
because it is taken from them into exile.
⁶It will be carried to Assyria
as tribute for the great king.
Ephraim will be disgraced;
Israel will be ashamed of its wooden idols.^c ⁷Samaria and its king will float away like a twig on the surface of the waters ⁸The high places of wickedness^d will be destroyed—
it is the sin of Israel Thorns and thistles will grow up and cover their altars
Then they will say to the mountains, "Cover
us!"
and to the hills, "Fall on us!"
⁹"Since the days of Gibeah, you have sinned,
O Israel,
and there you have remained.^e
Did not war overtake the evildoers in Gibeah?^f ¹⁰When I please, I will punish them;
nations will be gathered against them
to put them in bonds for their double sin.

10:5 The New Golden Calf

Beth Aven ("house of wickedness") is a sarcastic reference to Bethel ("house of God"), which is mentioned more times in the Bible than any other city except Jerusalem. When Israel split into North and South the Northern king, Jeroboam I, made Bethel the chief religious sanctuary, to replace Jerusalem. There he put up a golden calf for people to worship (1 Kings 12:26-30). Mixing worship of the one true God with the idol worship of Baal was, according to Hosea, the root of Israel's trouble.

and Jacob must break up the ground.
¹²Sow for yourselves righteousness,
reap the fruit of unfailing love,
and break up your unplowed ground;
for it is time to seek the LORD,
until he comes
and showers righteousness on you.
¹³But you have planted wickedness,
you have reaped evil,
you have eaten the fruit of deception.
Because you have depended on your own
strength
and on your many warriors,

God's Love for Israel

11 When Israel was a child, I loved him,
and out of Egypt I called my son.
²But the more I^a called Israel,
the further they went from me.^b
They sacrificed to the Baals
and they burned incense to images.
³It was I who taught Ephraim to walk,
taking them by the arms;
but they did not realize
it was I who healed them.
⁴I led them with cords of human kindness,
with ties of love;
I lifted the yoke from their neck
and bent down to feed them.
⁵"Will they not return to Egypt and will not Assyria rule over them because they refuse to repent?
⁶Swords will flash in their cities,
will destroy the bars of their gates
and put an end to their plans.
⁷My people are determined to turn from me.
Even if they call to the Most High,
he will by no means exalt them.
⁸"How can I give you up, Ephraim?
How can I hand you over, Israel?
How can I treat you like Admah?
How can I make you like Zeboiim?
My heart is changed within me;
all my compassion is aroused.
⁹I will not carry out my fierce anger,
nor will I turn and devastate Ephraim.
For I am God, and not man—

the Holy One among you.
I will not come in wrath.^c

he will roar like a lion.
When he roars,
his children will come trembling from the

declares the LORD.

Israel's Sin

the house of Israel with deceit.

him;
he wept and begged for his favor.

the LORD is his name of renown!

maintain love and justice,
and wait for your God always.

⁷The merchant uses dishonest scales;
he loves to defraud.
⁸Ephraim boasts,
"I am very rich; I have become wealthy
With all my wealth they will not find in me any iniquity or sin."

⁹"I am the LORD your God,
[who brought you] out of Egypt;
I will make you live in tents again,
as in the days of your appointed feasts
¹⁰I spoke to the prophets,

12:2 Jacob, a Man and a Country

"Israel" was a nation named after a man—a man also known as Jacob, whose story is told principally in Genesis 25-35. He was greedy and grasping, and he went into exile for it. Yet he had another side: an eagerness to meet God and be blessed by him, culminating in his nighttime "wrestling with God" (Genesis 32). Though Jacob went into exile, as would Israel, he came back with God's blessing on his future. So, Hosea suggests, could the nation that carried his name.

Repentance to Bring Blessing

14 Return, O Israel, to the Lord your God.
Your sins have been your downfall!

"Take words with you and return to the Lord.

Say to him:

"Forgive all our sins
and receive us graciously,
that we may offer the fruit of our lips."

"Assyria cannot save us;
we will not mount war-horses.

We will never again say 'Our gods'
to what our own hands have made,
for in you the fatherless find compassion."

"I will heal their waywardness and love them freely,
for my anger has turned away from them.

"I will be like the dew to Israel;
he will blossom like a lily.

Like a cedar of Lebanon
he will send down his roots;
his young shoots will grow.

His splendor will be like an olive tree,
his fragrance like a cedar of Lebanon.

"Men will dwell again in his shade.
He will flourish like the grain.

14:4 As Reliable as the Wind

The fruitlessness of Israel's deeds is beautifully expressed in the metaphor of wind: they feed on it, they pursue it all day (12:1), they sow it, and they reap the whirlwind (8:7). Their love is like the morning mist, or dew (6:4), and their lives will be as lasting as the early dew or as chaff or as smoke escaping out a window (13:3).

JOEL

INTRODUCTION

The Meaning of a Natural Disaster

What's behind a devastating locust plague?

Before them the earth shakes, the sky trembles, the sun and moon are darkened, and the stars no longer shine. 2:10

Their number was astounding; the whole face of the mountain was black with them. (Joel 1:4) They came like a living deluge. We dug trenches, and kindled fires, and beat and burned to death heaps upon heaps; but the effort was utterly useless. Wave after wave rolled up the mountainside and poured over rocks, walls, ditches and hedges—those behind covering up and bridging over the masses already killed. It was perfectly appalling to watch this animated river as it flowed up the road, and ascended the hill above my house. For four days they continued to pass on toward the east. . . .”

W. M. Thomson is describing a locust plague. Descriptions of the aftermath sound just as awful. When locusts have passed, the terrain looks as though it has been swept by a scorching fire.

Why Have I Lived?

Many awestruck observers have written accounts of locust swarms, but none more graphically than the prophet Joel. In striking, polished imagery he described the devastation. His people faced starvation. Joel drew a verbal portrait of grief and fear.

Natural disasters provoke questions. Why did God allow this disaster to happen? Why have I lived and others died? Is there a lesson here? For Joel, a plague of locusts led to deep insights into God's universal plan.

Joel had no doubt that God was behind the plague. In fact, he pictured God leading the locusts like an army into battle (2:11). They represented “the day of the Lord,” a judgment on Israel. Unlike many of the other prophets, Joel did not devote time to an analysis of Israel's failings. He concentrated, instead, on a cure.

Joel urged the priests to call a nationwide day of prayer and fasting to lead the people back to God. Then God would roll back the damage done by the locusts, and more: “You will have plenty to eat, until you are full, and you will praise the name of the Lord your God, who has worked wonders for you” (2:26). They would emerge from the experience with new, durable confidence in God's love. So it has often proved for God's people: a disaster has pressed them to a deeper relationship with him.

God's Bigger Plans

Though the locust plague was by far the worst Joel had ever heard of (1:2-3), no historical record of this particular invasion has endured, other than the one Joel left us. The truth is, even the worst natural disasters fade from memory. Joel wanted the disaster to turn people's attention toward something more lasting—to an eternal God.

Joel wanted God's people to believe that God controlled the locusts, and even more importantly, that God shaped the entire course of history to his plan. As terribly as the locusts had destroyed, and as wonderfully as God had rolled back their destruction, these events only foreshadowed far more terrible and wonderful things. Joel saw that God's Spirit would transform his people into those who love him constantly, not just when a disaster catches their attention. After a time of terrible judgment, God would create a renewed, secure city for his people in which he himself would live.

How to Read Joel

Joel breaks naturally into two parts. Up to 2:28, it talks about a locust invasion and the response of God's people to such a natural disaster. From that verse on, however, Joel's view rises above the local situation and deals with the far-off future.

Joel rarely refers to unfamiliar people, places, or events, so you can read it fairly easily without using any outside reference like a Bible dictionary. The challenge is to connect his understanding of a natural disaster—a locust plague—with his vision of the future.

The Bible often refers to “the day of the LORD” as the time when God will completely take charge of our world. But Joel seems to see “the day of the LORD” partly revealed in the disasters of his day. As you read, try to see the similarities Joel draws between the locust invasion and the final consummation of history. Ask yourself: how do I respond to disaster? How would Joel want me to respond?

PLAN 2: All of Joel in 3 Days

- ☐ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3

1 The word of the LORD that came to Joel son of Pethuel

An Invasion of Locusts

²Hear this, you elders;
listen, all who live in the land.
Has anything like this ever happened in your
days

or in the days of your forefathers?
³Tell it to your children,
and let your children tell it to their children,
and their children to the next generation.

⁴What the locust swarm has left the great locusts have eaten;
what the great locusts have left
the young locusts have eaten;
what the young locusts have left
other locusts^a have eaten.

⁵Wake up, you drunkards, and weep!
Wail, all you drinkers of wine;
wail because of the new wine,
for it has been snatched from your lips.

⁶A nation has invaded my land,
powerful and without number;
it has the teeth of a lion,
the fangs of a lioness.

⁷It has laid waste my vines
and ruined my fig trees.
It has stripped off their bark and thrown it away,
leaving their branches white.

⁸Mourn like a virgin^b in sackcloth
grieving for the husband^c of her youth.

⁹Grain offerings and drink offerings are cut off from the house of the LORD.

The priests are in mourning,
those who minister before the LORD.

¹⁰The fields are ruined,
the ground is dried up^d;
the grain is destroyed,
the new wine is dried up,
the oil fails.

¹¹Despair, you farmers,
wail, you vine growers;
grieve for the wheat and the barley,
because the harvest of the field is destroyed.

¹²The vine is dried up and the fig tree is withered;
the pomegranate, the palm and the apple
tree—

all the trees of the field—are dried up.
Surely the joy of mankind
is withered away.

A Call to Repentance

¹³Put on sackcloth, O priests, and mourn;
wail, you who minister before the altar.
Come, spend the night in sackcloth,
you who minister before my God;
for the grain offerings and drink offerings
are withheld from the house of your God.

¹⁴Declare a holy fast;
call a sacred assembly.

Summon the elders
and all who live in the land to the house of the LORD your God,
and cry out to the LORD.

¹⁵Alas for that day!
For the day of the LORD is near;
it will come like destruction from the Almighty.^e

^a4 The precise meaning of the four Hebrew words used here for locusts is uncertain.

^b10 Or ground mourns

^c15 Hebrew Shaddai

^d8 Or young woman

^e8 Or betrothed

¹⁸Has not the food been cut off before our very eyes—

joy and gladness
from the house of our God?

¹⁹The seeds are shriveled
beneath the clods.^a

The storehouses are in ruins,
the granaries have been broken down,
for the grain has dried up

²⁰How the cattle moan!

The herds mill about
because they have no pasture,
even the flocks of sheep are suffering.

²¹To you, O LORD, I call,

for fire has devoured the open pastures and flames have burned up all the trees of
the field

²²Even the wild animals pant for you;
the streams of water have dried up
and fire has devoured the open pastures.

An Army of Locusts

2 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sound the alarm on my holy hill
Let all who live in the land tremble,
for the day of the LORD is coming
It is close at hand—

² a day of darkness and gloom,
a day of clouds and blackness.
Like dawn spreading across the mountains
a large and mighty army comes,
such as never was of old
nor ever will be in ages to come.

³Before them fire devours,
behind them a flame blazes.
Before them the land is like the garden of Eden,
behind them, a desert waste—
nothing escapes them.

⁴They have the appearance of horses;
they gallop along like cavalry ⁵With a noise like that of chariots
they leap over the mountaintops,
like a crackling fire consuming stubble,
like a mighty army drawn up for battle.

⁶At the sight of them, nations are in anguish;
every face turns pale.

They charge like warriors;
they scale walls like soldiers.
They all march in line,
not swerving from their course.

⁸They do not jostle each other;
each marches straight ahead.
They plunge through defenses
without breaking ranks.

⁹They rush upon the city;
they run along the wall.

They climb into the houses;
like thieves they enter through the windows

¹⁰Before them the earth shakes,
the sky trembles,
the sun and moon are darkened

and the stars no longer shine

¹¹The LORD thunders

at the head of his army;

his voice is like the roar of many waters,
and his might, like the crashing of a great cannon.

¹²The day of the LORD is great,

it is dreadful—

who can endure it?

Rend Your Heart

¹Yes, now " declares the LORD, return to me with all your heart with fasting and weeping and mourning."

²Rend your heart

and not your garments

Return to the LORD your God

for he is gracious and compassionate,

slow to anger and abounding in love and he relents from sending calamity

³Who knows? He may turn and have pity and leave behind a blessing—

grain offerings and drink offerings for the LORD your God

⁴Blow the trumpet in Zion,

declare a holy fast,

call a sacred assembly

⁵Gather the people,

consecrate the assembly,

bring together the elders,

gather the children,

those nursing at the breast—

Let the bridegroom leave his room and the bride her chamber

⁷Let the priests, who minister before the LORD, weep between the temple porch and the altar.

Let them say, "Spare your people, O LORD
Do not make your inheritance an object of scorn

a byword among the nations

Why should they say among the peoples,

"Where is their God?"

The LORD's Answer

¹⁸Then the LORD will be jealous for his land and take pity on his people.

¹⁹The LORD will reply^b to them

"I am sending you grain, new wine and oil, enough to satisfy you fully;
never again will I make you an object of scorn to the nations

²⁰"I will drive the northern army far from you pushing it into a parched and barren land, with its front columns going into the eastern
sea

and those in the rear into the western sea.^c

And its stench will go up,
its smell will rise

Surely he has done great things^d

²¹Be not afraid, O land.

^a meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain

²⁰ That is, the Dead Sea

²⁰ That is, the Mediterranean

¹⁸ 19 Or I shall relent

and have pity

¹⁹ The LORD replied

²⁰ Or rise Surely it has done great things

be glad and rejoice

Surely the LORD has done great things

²² Be not afraid, O wild animals,
for the open pastures are becoming green.

The trees are bearing their fruit,
the fig tree and the vine yield their riches.

²³ Be glad, O people of Zion, rejoice in the LORD your God,
for he has given you
the autumn rains in righteousness.^a

He sends you abundant showers,
both autumn and spring rains, as before.

²⁴ The threshing floors will be filled with grain;
the vats will overflow with new wine and
oil

²⁵ "I will repay you for the years the locusts have eaten—

the great locust and the young locust,
the other locusts and the locust swarm^b—
my great army that I sent among you.

²⁶ You will have plenty to eat, until you are full,
and you will praise the name of the LORD
your God,

who has worked wonders for you;

never again will my people be shamed.

²⁷ Then you will know that I am in Israel,
that I am the LORD your God,
and that there is no other;
never again will my people be shamed.

The Day of the LORD

²⁸ "And afterward,

I will pour out my Spirit on all people.

Your sons and daughters will prophesy,
your old men will dream dreams,
your young men will see visions.

²⁹ Even on my servants, both men and women,
I will pour out my Spirit in those days.

³⁰ I will show wonders in the heavens
and on the earth,
blood and fire and billows of smoke.

³¹ The sun will be turned to darkness and the moon to blood
before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD.

³² And everyone who calls
on the name of the LORD will be saved;
for on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem
there will be deliverance,
as the LORD has said,
among the survivors
whom the LORD calls.

2:29 The Spirit Poured Out

This prophecy was quoted by Peter on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:17-21). He said it had been fulfilled when the Holy Spirit came on Jesus' disciples. Paul also quoted verse 32 in Romans 10:12-13, making the point that God would respond to Jews and non-Jews without distinction.

The Nations Judged

³ "In those days and at that time, when I restore the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem,

² I will gather all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat.^c

There I will enter into judgment against them concerning my inheritance, my people Israel, for they scattered my people among the
nations

and divided up my land.

³ They cast lots for my people and traded boys for prostitutes;
they sold girls for wine
that they might drink.

⁴ "Now what have you against me, O Tyre and Sidon and all you regions of Philistia? Are you repaying me for something I have done? If you are paying me back, I will swiftly and speedily return on your own heads what you have done. ⁵ For you took my silver and my gold and carried off my finest treasures to your temples. ⁶ You sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks, that you might send them far from their homeland.

⁷ "See, I am going to rouse them out of the places to which you sold them, and I will return on your own heads what you have done. ⁸ I will sell your sons and daughters to the people of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabeans, a nation far away." The LORD has spoken.

⁹ Proclaim this among the nations:
Prepare for war!

Rouse the warriors!

Let all the fighting men draw near and
attack.

¹⁰ Beat your plowshares into swords
and your pruning hooks into spears.

Let the weakling say,
"I am strong!"

¹¹ Come quickly, all you nations from every side,
and assemble there.

Bring down your warriors, O LORD!

¹² "Let the nations be roused;
let them advance into the Valley of Jehoshaphat,
for there I will sit
to judge all the nations on every side.

¹³ Swing the sickle,
for the harvest is ripe.
Come, trample the grapes,
for the winepress is full and the vats overflow—
so great is their wickedness!"

¹⁴ Multitudes, multitudes
in the valley of decision!
For the day of the LORD is near
in the valley of decision.

¹⁵ The sun and moon will be darkened,
and the stars no longer shine.

¹⁶ The LORD will roar from Zion

^a23 Or: the teacher for righteousness

^b25 The precise meaning of the four Hebrew words used here for locusts is uncertain and thunder from Jerusalem;

the earth and the sky will tremble.
But the LORD will be a refuge for his people,
a stronghold for the people of Israel.

Blessings for God's People

¹⁷"Then you will know that I, the LORD your God,
dwell in Zion, my holy hill.
Jerusalem will be holy;
never again will foreigners invade her.

¹⁸"In that day the mountains will drip new wine,
and the hills will flow with milk;

all the ravines of Judah will run with water
A fountain will flow out of the LORD's house
and will water the valley of acacias."

¹⁹But Egypt will be desolate, Edom a desert waste,
because of violence done to the people of Judah,

in whose land they shed innocent blood ²⁰Judah will be inhabited forever and Jerusalem through all generations

²¹Their bloodguilt, which I have not pardoned,
I will pardon."

The LORD dwells in Zion!

AMOS

INTRODUCTION

Justice!

A simple farmer takes on a materialistic nation

Let justice roll on like a river—righteousness like a never-failing stream!” 5:24

Business had never been better. For the first time in generations, Israel faced no military threat. Since they controlled the crucial trade routes, merchants piled up big profits. Luxuries became readily available—new stone houses, ivory-inlaid furniture, good food and fine wine, the best body oils.

Amid such peace and prosperity, one lone voice scraped like fingernails on a blackboard. Amos spoke bluntly with a farmer’s vocabulary, calling the city socialites “cows” (4:1). A mere shepherd—among the poorest of all professions—he treated luxury with scorn. Worst of all, Amos was a foreigner from the South—from Tekoa, a small town in Judah. Since Israel had split from the South about 170 years before, Israelite leaders did not take kindly to criticism from a Southerner.

But to Amos, social acceptance didn’t matter. He was no professional prophet, making his living talking smoothly about God (7:14). God had called him to leave his job and carry a message. God had said go, and Amos had obeyed.

God’s View of “Religion”

The people Amos addressed had plenty of “religion.” They went regularly to shrines for worship. They looked forward to “the day of the Lord,” when God would fulfill all their expectations for their country. But Amos brought unexpected bad news from God: “I hate, I despise your religious feasts . . .” (5:21). God didn’t want sacrifice or singing. He demanded justice.

Amos listed all Israel’s neighbors, announcing God’s judgment for their crimes against humanity. Israelites liked this kind of talk; they felt superior to all these nations. But having caught the Israelites’ attention, Amos circled dramatically home. God would judge Israel too. The people, their beautiful homes, their sacred altars—all would be destroyed.

The Character of God

More than any other book in the Bible, Amos concentrates on injustice. Israel had plenty of other faults he might have blasted. Their religious system, for instance, centered on two calf-idols. But Amos wasted little breath on that. He focused on the facts that met his eyes and ears in every marketplace: oppression of the poor, dishonest business, bribery in court, privilege bought with money.

The wealthy Israelites were getting their luxuries at the expense of the poor. They congratulated themselves on their devotion to God with no sense that they had cut the heart out of their relationship to him. They wanted God to fit conveniently into life as an additive. God showed himself through Amos as lordly, absolute, inescapable. He must be master over all of life, including business affairs.

How to Read Amos

Perhaps because he was a farmer, Amos used a plain writing style, filled with strong country language. The organization of his book is clear too: chapters 1-2 line up the Middle Eastern nations for trial, chapters 3-6 give a series of messages from God (usually beginning with “Hear this word”), and the last three chapters convey God’s judgment through five graphic visions.

Throughout, Amos sticks close to his main concern: cruelty and inhumanity between people. The injustices Amos condemns often sound familiar today. As you read, ask yourself, “What would Amos say about me and about my people?”

It is a good idea to read Amos and Hosea together, for they give two views of the same situation. As a prophet from the South, Amos was shocked by the injustice he saw in every direction. He emphasized the inner dimension—an abused relationship to a loving God. Amos predicted that Israel would be punished, and his prediction proved right. After King Jeroboam, the government deteriorated. Five kings took the throne in the next 13 years—four were assassinated. In 30 years Israel was permanently dismantled by Assyrian armies. For historical background, read 2 Kings 14:23–17:41, noting that the kings of both Israel and Judah are mentioned. For a briefer account, read the summaries of their reigns in “A Lineup of Rulers,” page 118.

1 The words of Amos, one of the shepherds of Tekoa—what he saw concerning Israel two years before the earthquake, when Uzziah was king of Judah and Jeroboam^a son of Jehoash^b was king of Israel.

“The LORD roars from Zion and thunders from Jerusalem,
the pastures of the shepherds dry up,^c
and the top of Carmel withers.”

Judgment on Israel's Neighbors

³This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Damascus,
even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because she threshed Gilead
with sledges having iron teeth,

⁴I will send fire upon the house of Hazael
that will consume the fortresses of Ben-Hadad.

⁵I will break down the gate of Damascus;
I will destroy the king who is in^d the Valley of Aven^d

and the one who holds the scepter in Beth Eden.

The people of Aram will go into exile to Kir,”
says the LORD.

⁶This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Gaza,
even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because she took captive whole communities
and sold them to Edom,

⁷I will send fire upon the walls of Gaza
that will consume her fortresses.

⁸I will destroy the king^e of Ashdod and the one who holds the scepter in Ashkelon.

I will turn my hand against Ekron,

till the last of the Philistines is dead.”

says the Sovereign LORD

⁹This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Tyre

even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because she sold whole communities as captives to Edom,

disregarding a treaty of brotherhood,
¹⁰I will send fire upon the walls of Tyre
that will consume her fortresses.

¹¹This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Edom,

even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because he pursued his brother with a sword,
stifling all compassion,”

because his anger raged continually and his fury flamed unchecked,

¹²I will send fire upon Teman
that will consume the fortresses of Bozrah.”

¹³This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Ammon,

even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because he ripped open the pregnant women of Gilead

in order to extend his borders,

says the LORD.

2 This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Moab,
even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because he burned, as if to lime,
the bones of Edom's king,
I will send fire upon Moab
that will consume the fortresses of Kenoth.^a Moab will go down in great tumult
amid war cries and the blast of the trumpet.
I will destroy her ruler
and kill all her officials with him,"

says the LORD.

"This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Judah,
even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
Because they have rejected the law of the LORD
and have not kept his decrees, because they have been led astray by false gods,^b
the gods their ancestors followed,
I will send fire upon Judah that will consume the fortresses of Jerusalem."

Judgment on Israel

"This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Israel
even for four, I will not turn back my wrath.
They sell the righteous for silver,
and the needy for a pair of sandals.
They trample on the heads of the poor
as upon the dust of the ground and deny justice to the oppressed.
Father and son use the same girl
and so profane my holy name.
They lie down beside every altar
in garments taken in pledge.
In the house of their god
they drink wine taken as fines.
I destroyed the Amorite before them,
though he was tall as the cedars
and strong as the oaks.
I destroyed his fruit above
and his roots below.
I brought you up out of Egypt,
and I led you forty years in the desert
to give you the land of the Amorites.

2:8 Ruthless Bill Collectors

Bankers making loans usually want collateral to back up the promise to repay. In Amos's day poor people resorted to pledging the very clothes on their backs as collateral. Bill collectors who took a debtor's garments flagrantly violated God's law (Exodus 22:25-27). Worse, they were using the clothes as bedding when they went to their shrines to worship God.

"I also raised up prophets from among your sons
and Nazirites from among your young men.
Is this not true, people of Israel?"

declares the LORD.

12 "But you made the Nazirites drink wine and commanded the prophets not to prophesy.

13 "Now then, I will crush you as a cart crushes when loaded with grain.

14 The swift will not escape,
the strong will not muster their strength,
and the warrior will not save his life.

15 The archer will not stand his ground,
the fleet-footed soldier will not get away,
and the horseman will not save his life.

16 Even the bravest warriors will flee naked on that day."

declares the LORD.

Witnesses Summoned Against Israel

3 Hear this word the LORD has spoken against you, O people of Israel—against the whole family I brought up out of Egypt.

2 "You only have I chosen of all the families of the earth,
therefore I will punish you for all your sins."

3 Do two walk together
unless they have agreed to do so?

4 Does a lion roar in the thicket
when he has no prey?

Does he growl in his den
when he has caught nothing?

5 Does a bird fall into a trap on the ground
where no snare has been set?

Does a trap spring up from the earth
when there is nothing to catch?

6 When a trumpet sounds in a city,
do not the people tremble?

When disaster comes to a city,
has not the LORD caused it?

"Surely the Sovereign LORD does nothing without revealing his plan
to his servants the prophets.

7 The lion has roared—who will not fear?

The Sovereign LORD has spoken—
who can but prophesy?

9 Proclaim to the fortresses of Ashdod
and to the fortresses of Egypt:

"Assemble yourselves on the mountains of Samana,

see the great unrest within her
and the oppression among her people."

10 "They do not know how to do right," declares
the LORD,

"who hoard plunder and loot in their fortresses."

11 Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD
says.

^a Or of her cities

^b Or by her

^c Or him

An enemy will overrun the land
he will pull down your strongholds and your towers will be destroyed.

The Sovereign Lord says:

“I will send rain on the house of Bethel only two or three times in a year or at all and the Israelites be saved
on the edge of their beds
and in their houses on their couches.”

“Hear this and testify against the house of Israel,” declares the Lord, the Lord God Almighty.

“On the day I punish Israel for her sin,
I will destroy the altar of Bethel
the horns of the altar will be cut off and fall to the ground.”

“I will tear down the winter house along with the summer house
the houses adorned with ivory will be destroyed
and the mansions will be demolished,”
declares the Lord.

Israel Has Not Returned to God

“Hear this word, you cows of Bashan on Mount Samaria
you women who oppress the poor and crush
the needy
and say to your husbands, “Bring us some drink!”

The Sovereign Lord has sworn by his holiness.
The time will surely come when you will be taken away with hooks,
the last of you with fishhooks.

“You will each go straight out through breaks in the wall,
and you will be cast out toward Harmon,”
declares the Lord.

“Go to Bethel and sin,
go to Gilgal and sin yet more Bring your sacrifices every morning,
your tithes every three years.”

“Burn leavened bread as a thank offering and brag about your freewill offerings—
boast about them, you Israelites, for this is what you love to do,”
declares the Sovereign Lord.

4:1 Sinful Luxury

With searing scornfulness, Amos paints a picture of women living in sheer luxury. These “cows” thought only of their pleasure, not of the oppressed poor who made it possible. Amos paints their punishment just as vividly. The brutal Assyrian armies, who later captured Israel and took its people into exile, left monuments portraying their captives being dragged off with hooks in their mouths.

“I have your empty stomachs^a in every city and lack of food in every town,
yet you have not returned to me,”
declares the Lord.

“I also withheld rain from you when the harvest was still three months
away.

I sent rain on one town,
but withheld it from another (the field had rain,
another had none and dried up.

“People staggered from town to town for water
but did not get enough to drink,
yet you have not returned to me,”
declares the Lord.

“Many times I struck your gardens and
vineyards,
I struck them with blight and mildew
Locusts devoured your fig and olive trees,
yet you have not returned to me,”
declares the Lord.

“I sent plagues among you
as I did to Egypt.
I killed your young men with the sword,
along with your captured horses.
I filled your nostrils with the stench of your camps,
yet you have not returned to me,”
declares the Lord.

“I overthrew some of you
as I overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.
You were like a burning stick snatched from the fire,
yet you have not returned to me,”
declares the Lord.

“Therefore this is what I will do to you, Israel,
and because I will do this to you,
prepare to meet your God, O Israel.”

“He who forms the mountains, creates the wind,
and reveals his thoughts to man,
he who turns dawn to darkness,
and treads the high places of the earth—
the Lord God Almighty is his name.”

A Lament and Call to Repentance

5 Hear this word, O house of Israel, this lament I take up concerning you:

2“Fallen is Virgin Israel,
never to rise again,
deserted in her own land,
with no one to lift her up.”

3This is what the Sovereign Lord says:

“The city that marches out a thousand strong for Israel
will have only a hundred left;
the town that marches out a hundred strong will have only ten left.”

^a12 The meaning of the Hebrew for this line is uncertain.

¹⁰you hate the one who reproves in court and despise him who tells the truth

¹¹You trample on the poor and force him to give you grain.
Therefore, though you have built stone mansions,
you will not live in them;
though you have planted lush vineyards,
you will not drink their wine.
¹²For I know how many are your offenses
and how great your sins.

You oppress the righteous and take bribes and you deprive the poor of justice in the courts.

¹³Therefore the prudent man keeps quiet in such times,
for the times are evil.

¹⁴Seek good, not evil,
that you may live.
Then the LORD God Almighty will be with you,
just as you say he is.
¹⁵Hate evil, love good;
maintain justice in the courts.
Perhaps the LORD God Almighty will have mercy
on the remnant of Joseph.

¹⁶Therefore this is what the Lord, the LORD God
Almighty, says

“There will be wailing in all the streets and cries of anguish in every public square.
The farmers will be summoned to weep
and the mourners to wail ¹⁷There will be wailing in all the vineyards, for I will pass through your midst,”
says the LORD.

The Day of the Lord

¹⁸Woe to you who long for the day of the LORD!
Why do you long for the day of the LORD?
That day will be darkness, not light ¹⁹It will be as though a man fled from a lion
only to meet a bear,
as though he entered his house
and rested his hand on the wall
only to have a snake bite him.

light—
pitch-dark, without a ray of brightness?

I will not listen to the music of your harps.

which you made for yourselves.

says the LORD, whose name is God
Almighty.

5:20 The Day of the Lord

In Amos's day as today, some religious people looked forward to “the day of the LORD,” when God will intervene personally in history and save his people. Israelites, assuming that “God is on our side,” thought it would be a great day for them.
But Amos contradicted their expectations. In a few words he depicted “the day of the LORD” as a nightmare.

 You strum away on your harps like David and improvise on musical instruments.
 You drink wine by the bowlful
 and use the finest lotions, but you do not grieve over the ruin of Joseph
 Therefore you will be among the first to go into exile.
 your feasting and lounging will end.

The Lord Abhors the Pride of Israel

The Sovereign Lord has sworn by himself—the Lord God Almighty declares

I abhor the pride of Jacob and detest his fortresses,
 I will deliver up the city
 and everything in it."

"If ten men are left in one house, they too will die. ¹⁰And if a relative who is to burn the bodies comes to carry them out of the house and asks of you, 'Is anyone still hiding there, "Is anyone with you?"
 and he says, "No," then he will say, "Hush! We must not mention the name of the Lord."

For the Lord has given the command, and he will smash the great house into pieces
 and the small house into bits.

²Do horses run on the rocky crags?
 Does one plow there with oxen?
 But you have turned justice into poison and the fruit of righteousness into bitterness—

you who rejoice in the conquest of Lo Debar^a and say, "Did we not take Karnaim^b by our own strength?"

⁴For the Lord God Almighty declares,
 'I will stir up a nation against you, O house
 of Israel,
 that will oppress you all the way from Lebo^c Hamath to the valley of the Arabah."

Locusts, Fire and a Plumb Line

7 This is what the Sovereign Lord showed me:
 He was preparing swarms of locusts after the king's share had been harvested and just as the second crop was coming up. ²When they had stripped the land clean, I cried out, "Sovereign Lord, forgive! How can Jacob survive? He is so small!"

³So the Lord relented.
 "This will not happen," the Lord said.

⁴This is what the Sovereign Lord showed me:
 The Sovereign Lord was calling for judgment by fire; it dried up the great deep and devoured the land. ⁵Then I cried out, "Sovereign Lord, I beg you, stop! How can Jacob survive? He is so small!"

⁶So the Lord relented.

"This will not happen either," the Sovereign Lord said.

⁷This is what he showed me: The Lord was standing by a wall that had been built true to plumb, with a plumb line in his hand. ⁸And the Lord asked me, "What do you see, Amos?"

"A plumb line," I replied.

Then the Lord said, "Look, I am setting a plumb line among my people Israel; I will spare them no longer.

⁹"The high places of Isaac will be destroyed and the sanctuaries of Israel will be ruined;
 with my sword I will rise against the house of Jeroboam."

Amos and Amaziah

¹⁰Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel sent a message to Jeroboam king of Israel: "Amos is raising a conspiracy against you in the very heart of Israel.
 The land cannot bear all his words. ¹¹For this is what Amos is saying:

"Jeroboam will die by the sword,
 and Israel will surely go into exile,
 away from their native land."

¹²Then Amaziah said to Amos, "Get out, you seer! Go back to the land of Judah. Earn your bread there and do your prophesying there. ¹³Don't prophesy anymore at Bethel, because this is the king's sanctuary and the temple of the kingdom."

¹⁴Amos answered Amaziah, "I was neither a prophet nor a prophet's son, but I was a shepherd, and I also took care of sycamore-fig trees. ¹⁵But the Lord took me from tending the flock and said to me, 'Go, prophesy to my people Israel.' ¹⁶Now
 then, hear the word of the Lord. You say,

"Do not prophesy against Israel, and stop preaching against the house of Isaac."

¹⁷"Therefore this is what the Lord says:

"Your wife will become a prostitute in the
 city,
 and your sons and daughters will fall by the sword.

Your land will be measured and divided up,
 and you yourself will die in a pagan^d country.

And Israel will certainly go into exile,
 away from their native land."

7:8 A Plumb Line

A plumb line is a weight on the end of a string;
 builders use it to make certain that their walls stand straight. A wall may look right, but if it doesn't match a plumb line, it is not straight.
 Similarly God will use a plumb line to judge
 whether Israel is "straight" by his standards.

A Basket of Ripe Fruit

8 This is what the Sovereign LORD showed me: a basket of ripe fruit. ²"What do you see, Amos?" he asked.

A basket of ripe fruit," I answered.

Then the LORD said to me, "The time is ripe for my people Israel; I will spare them no longer.

³In that day," declares the Sovereign LORD, the songs in the temple will turn to wailing. ⁴Many, many bodies—flung everywhere! Silence!"

⁵Hear this, you who trample the needy and do away with the poor of the land, saying

When will the New Moon be over and the Sabbath be ended

that we may market wheat?"—

skimping the measure,
boosting the price
and cheating with dishonest scales, ⁶buying the poor with silver
and the needy for a pair of sandals,
selling even the sweepings with the wheat.

The LORD has sworn by the Pride of Jacob: "I will never forget anything they have done.

⁸"Will not the land tremble for this,
and all who live in it mourn?
The whole land will rise like the Nile;
it will be stirred up and then sink
like the river of Egypt

⁹"In that day," declares the Sovereign LORD,

"I will make the sun go down at noon
and darken the earth in broad daylight.
¹⁰I will turn your religious feasts into mourning
and all your singing into weeping.
I will make all of you wear sackcloth
and shave your heads.
I will make that time like mourning for an only son
and the end of it like a bitter day.

¹¹"The days are coming," declares the Sovereign LORD,

"when I will send a famine through the
land—
not a famine of food or a thirst for water, but a famine of hearing the words of the
LORD.

¹²Men will stagger from sea to sea and wander from north to east,
searching for the word of the LORD,
but they will not find it.

¹³"In that day

"the lovely young women and strong young
men
will faint because of thirst.

¹⁴They who swear by the shame^b of Samaria, or say, 'As surely as your god lives, O Dan,'

or, 'As surely as the god^c of Beersheba
lives'—
they will fall,
never to rise again."

Israel to Be Destroyed

9 I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and he said:

"Strike the tops of the pillars
so that the thresholds shake.
Bring them down on the heads of all the
people;
those who are left I will kill with the sword.
Not one will get away,
none will escape.

²Though they dig down to the depths of the grave,^d

from there my hand will take them.
Though they climb up to the heavens,

The beautiful verses of Psalm 139:7-12 describe God's inescapable presence as a comfort. Here, in similar poetry, Amos gives the opposite side of that truth. OBADIAH

INTRODUCTION

Poetic Justice

Obadiah gave the final word on a blood feud

"As you have done, it will be done to you." 15

The feud began with twin brothers, Jacob and Esau. Esau, the older by minutes, would have inherited family leadership, but in a moment of hunger he traded it for a meal (Genesis 25:19-34). Jacob went on to become the founding father of the nation of Israel. Esau, a born hunter, moved southeast to desolate mountain country. He founded the nation of Edom.

Their descendants continued the quarrel. Over hundreds of years the two nations battled repeatedly but inconclusively. The Edomites' capital, Sela, sat on a high plateau above a sheer cliff: the only access was by a deep ravine. From that well-protected enclave, the Edomites raided Israel.

Though the Israelites had been commanded, "Do not abhor an Edomite, for he is your brother" (Deuteronomy 23:7), they grew to regard the Edomites as cruel and heartless. Repeatedly the prophets predicted Edom's punishment by God. The final straw came when Babylon dismembered Jerusalem and took its citizens into exile. The Edomites encouraged the conquering army, preyed on fleeing Israelites, and helped plunder Jerusalem. Psalm 137, one of the saddest passages in the Bible, records the Israelite bitterness over this. As Esau had cared more for a meal than for the family name, so his descendants cared more for the profit they could get from plunder than for the compassion they owed a brother.

Fair Return for Cruelty

Obadiah predicts poetic justice for proud Edom: their treachery toward Judah (verses 11-12) repaid with treachery from their own allies (7), their robbery (13) repaid with robbery (5-6), their violence (10) with violence (9), their love of destruction (12-14) repaid with utter destruction (10,18). Obadiah predicts that downtrodden Israel will rise again, while Edom will disappear from the face of the earth.

This prediction came precisely true. Edom was destroyed, not by Israel, but by a series of foreign invaders. The last remnant of Edomites were destroyed in the Roman siege of Jerusalem in 70 A.D. Ironically, the nation that had tormented Jews in Jerusalem later died defending that city.

Why does this blood feud earn a place in Scripture? It demonstrates God's ongoing protection of his people from their enemies. It also shows that God's standards extend beyond his chosen people. Every nation will be judged, like Edom, by their own standard: "As you have done, it will be done to you" (15).

How to Read Obadiah

The shortest book in the Old Testament, Obadiah can easily be read and understood in one sitting. Many readers, however, have a hard time seeing the importance of this ongoing border feud between blood relatives.

A Bible dictionary can summarize the centuries of violence. Look under "Edom." Perhaps, though, you can only fully appreciate Israel's feelings by reflecting on your own when a close relative treats you cruelly. A family betrayal is uniquely offensive to God and humanity. Obadiah reminds us that justice will be done.

JONAH

INTRODUCTION

Good News for the Enemy?

Jonah balked at loving the cruel Assyrians

"Nineveh has more than a hundred and twenty thousand people. . . Should I not be concerned about that great city?" 4:11

Jesus told his followers, "Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you" (Matthew 5:44). While everyone talks admiringly about that command, loving your enemies is no easy thing. Many people doubt whether it is even right.

The book of Jonah tells the story of a man whom God instructed to love his enemies in Nineveh. True to life, the prophet Jonah did just the opposite of what God commanded. He refused to go to the people he hated. Instead, he tried to run away from the Lord.

Nineveh was a large, important city in Assyria, situated on the river Tigris. It posed a grave military threat to tiny Israel. God sent Jonah there, and he responded without hesitation: in Joppa he caught a boat going in the opposite direction. Obviously, Jonah didn't want to warn Nineveh's citizens they were about to be destroyed. He suspected they would repent and God would forgive them.

Why Jonah Didn't Want to Go

We can't be sure why Jonah hated Assyria, but another short Old Testament book, Nahum, gives a clue. This book, also completely dedicated to Nineveh, describes a ruthless, bloodthirsty people. The Assyrians themselves left monuments to their cruelty—long, boastful inscriptions describing their torture and slaughter of people who opposed them.

Israelites had reasons to hate and fear Nineveh. But God loved Nineveh. He wanted to save the city, not destroy it. He knew Nineveh was ripe for change. When Jonah finally preached there, the entire city believed his message and repented. Though cruel and hardened, Nineveh was ready to believe God. Israel had never responded to a prophet like these Assyrians did.

An Attitude Like God's

Since God repeatedly warned the Jews not to intermarry with people of other religions, and even ordered them to drive other nations out of the promised land, some readers conclude that the Old Testament is racially narrow-minded. They say the New Testament gives the first indication that God cares for non-Jewish people.

The book of Jonah contradicts that view. It shows, instead, that God wanted to use Jews like Jonah as agents of his concern. They would preach doom but always with the hope that the warning would lead to repentance.

Jonah needed to develop an attitude like God's toward his enemies. Insistently, God led Jonah to this understanding of his own mind and heart. The book of Jonah is a story of a miraculous change in Nineveh, but even more a story of miraculous change in Jonah.

How to Read Jonah

Like Esther and Ruth, Jonah is a delightful short narrative by a master writer. Its spiritual implications are powerful and obvious. You can easily read it at one sitting.

As you read Jonah, notice the changes that the city of Nineveh goes through. Try also to trace the changes that occur in Jonah, and observe how God pushes him to make these changes. Then ask yourself: what did this book say to its original Jewish readers? What does it say to me?

You may also be interested in following Nineveh's entire history. Though the Ninevites repented in Jonah's time, they later returned to old patterns. Later prophets (Nahum and Zephaniah) predicted Nineveh's downfall for "endless cruelty" (Nahum 3:19), and in 612 B.C. that city was destroyed, never to be inhabited again. A Bible dictionary can summarize Nineveh's long history as a world power, look under "Assyria." To place Jonah in Israelite history, see "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338.

Is Jonah a "fish story"? Interpreters differ over whether it should be read as a parable (not necessarily factual) or as historical fact. At least one reliable account exists of a man swallowed by a sperm whale and later found, alive, in the whale's stomach. Jonah's historical basis cannot be dismissed simply because of the "great fish."

More to the point, Jesus compared himself to Jonah, and the people of his time to Nineveh (Matthew 12:39-41, Luke 11:29-32). He predicted that "the men of Nineveh will stand up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it; for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and now one greater than Jonah is here." It is hard to see how fictional characters could stand up at an event Jesus evidently believed would be historical.

PLANS FOR READING JONAH

PLAN 1: An Overview of Jonah in 1 Day

- ☐ Day 1. Read the Introduction to Jonah, and chapters 3 and 4. These two short chapters tell the less familiar part of the story: how Jonah got to Nineveh and became more bitter than before.

PLAN 2: All of Jonah in 2 Days

- ☐ 1-2 ☐ 3-4

Jonah Flees From the LORD

1 The word of the LORD came to Jonah son of Amittai: ²"Go to the great city of Nineveh and preach against it, because its wickedness has come up before me."

³But Jonah ran away from the LORD and headed for Tarshish. He went down to Joppa, where he found a ship bound for that port. After paying the fare, he went aboard and sailed for Tarshish to flee from the LORD.

⁴Then the LORD sent a great wind on the sea, and such a violent storm arose that the ship threatened to break up. ⁵All the sailors were afraid and each cried out to his own god. And they threw the cargo into the sea to lighten the ship.

But Jonah had gone below deck, where he lay down and fell into a deep sleep. ⁶The captain went to him and said, "How can you sleep? Get up and call on your god! Maybe he will take notice of us, and we will not perish."

⁷Then the sailors said to each other, "Come, let us cast lots to find out who is responsible for this calamity." They cast lots and the lot fell on Jonah.

⁸So they asked him, "Tell us, who is responsible for making all this trouble for us? What do you do? Where do you come from? What is your country? From what people are you?"

⁹He answered, "I am a Hebrew and I worship the LORD, the God of heaven, who made the sea and the land."

¹⁰This terrified them and they asked, "What have you done?" (They knew he was running away from the LORD, because he had already told them so.)

¹¹The sea was getting rougher and rougher. So they asked him, "What should we do to you to make the sea calm down for us?"

¹²"Pick me up and throw me into the sea," he replied, "and it will become calm. I know that it is my fault that this great storm has come upon you."

¹³Instead, the men did their best to row back to land. But they could not, for the sea grew even wilder than before. ¹⁴Then they cried to the LORD, "O LORD, please do not let us die for taking this man's life. Do not hold us accountable for killing an innocent man, for you, O LORD, have done as you pleased." ¹⁵Then they took Jonah and threw him overboard, and the raging sea grew calm. ¹⁶At this the men greatly feared the LORD, and they offered a sacrifice to the LORD and made vows to him.

¹⁷But the LORD provided a great fish to swallow Jonah, and Jonah was inside the fish three days and three nights.

Jonah's Prayer

2 From inside the fish Jonah prayed to the LORD his God. ²He said:

"In my distress I called to the LORD, and he answered me.

From the depths of the grave I called for help, and you listened to my cry.

³You hurled me into the deep, into the very heart of the seas, and the currents swirled about me, all your waves and breakers swept over me.

⁴I said, 'I have been banished

from your sight,
yet I will look again
toward your holy temple.^c

⁵The engulfing waters threatened me,^d
the deep surrounded me,
seaweed was wrapped around my head ⁶To the roots of the mountains I sank down;
the earth beneath barred me in forever
But you brought my life up from the pit,
O LORD my God

⁷"When my life was ebbing away,
I remembered you, LORD,
and my prayer rose to you,
to your holy temple

⁸"Those who cling to worthless idols forfeit the grace that could be theirs

⁹But I, with a song of thanksgiving, will sacrifice to you
What I have vowed I will make good.
Salvation comes from the LORD."

¹⁰And the LORD commanded the fish, and it vomited Jonah onto dry land

Jonah Goes to Nineveh

3 Then the word of the LORD came to Jonah a second time: ²"Go to the great city of Nineveh and proclaim to it the message I give you."

³Jonah obeyed the word of the LORD and went to Nineveh. Now Nineveh was a very important city—a visit required three days. ⁴On the first day, Jonah started into the city. He proclaimed: "Forty more days and Nineveh will be overturned." ⁵The Ninevites believed God. They declared a fast, and all of them, from the greatest to the least, put on sackcloth

⁶When the news reached the king of Nineveh, he rose from his throne, took off his royal robes, covered himself with sackcloth and sat down in the dust. ⁷Then he issued a proclamation in Nineveh:

"By the decree of the king and his nobles:

Do not let any man or beast, herd or flock, taste anything, do not let them eat or drink.

⁸But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth. Let everyone call urgently on God. Let them give up their evil ways and their violence. ⁹Who knows? God may yet relent and with compassion turn from his fierce anger so that we will not perish."

¹⁰When God saw what they did and how they turned from their evil ways, he had compassion and did not bring upon them the destruction he had threatened.

Jonah's Anger at the Lord's Compassion

4 But Jonah was greatly displeased and became angry. ²He prayed to the LORD, "O LORD, is this not what I said when I was still at home? That is why I was so quick to flee to Tarshish. I knew that you are a gracious and compassionate God, slow to anger and abounding in love, a God who relents from sending calamity. ³Now, O LORD, take away my life, for it is better for me to die than to live."

⁴But the LORD replied, "Have you any right to be angry?"

⁵Jonah went out and sat down at a place east of the city. There he made himself a shelter, sat in its shade and waited to see what would happen to the city. ⁶Then the LORD God provided a vine and made it grow up over Jonah to give shade for his head to ease his discomfort, and Jonah was very happy about the vine. ⁷But at dawn the next day God provided a worm, which chewed the vine so that it withered. ⁸When the sun rose, God provided a scorching east wind, and the sun blazed on Jonah's head so that he grew faint. He wanted to die, and said, "It would be better for me to die than to live."

⁹But God said to Jonah, "Do you have a right to be angry about the vine?"

"I do," he said. "I am angry enough to die."

¹⁰But the LORD said, "You have been concerned about this vine, though you did not tend it or make it grow. It sprang up overnight and died overnight. ¹¹But Nineveh has more than a hundred and twenty thousand people who cannot tell their right hand from their left, and many cattle as well. Should I not be concerned about that great city?"

3:3 How Big a City?

Archaeologists who have dug up Nineveh report that at its peak its walls were 7¼ miles in circumference. Since it would not take three days to go around a city of that size, most probably the "three days" refers to the administrative district of which Nineveh was the capital. This comprised four cities with a circumference of about 60 miles. Another possibility: perhaps it took Jonah three days to go to every neighborhood, marketplace, and city gate with his message.

MICAH

INTRODUCTION

Light in a Dark Time

Evil and violence were creeping south toward Jerusalem

And what does the LORD require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God. 6:8

Village boys often are amazed at the big city. They gawk at the tall buildings, the fancy clothes, and the showy symbols of power. Micah was a boy from Moresheth, a small village in the no-man's land southwest of Jerusalem. While his contemporary, Isaiah, moved in and out of the king's palace, Micah shows no sign of traveling in such circles.

Yet this village boy kept his sense of perspective. The blood and violence of his day did not overwhelm him, nor was he intimidated by powerful and wealthy people. He spoke like a person who had seen the world through God's eyes.

Micah lived in one of the darkest times in Israel's history, a time of brutal warfare. The country had long been split into North and South. Micah saw war break out between these sides, with 120,000 deaths on the Southern side alone (2 Chronicles 28:6). Then Assyria, the brutal chief power of the day, smashed the Northern Kingdom after a three-year siege of its capital, Samaria. Only a miracle kept those same Assyrian armies out of Jerusalem (2 Chronicles 32). But for how long would the South remain free?

The Sin of the South

Micah had no doubt how to interpret these chaotic events. God had punished the Northern nation of Israel for sins summarized in 2 Kings 17:16-17: idolatry, Baal worship, child sacrifice, magic and sorcery. Now these same activities were creeping south into Judah—so much so that Micah referred in disgust to Jerusalem as a "high place," the traditional setting for pagan idol worship (1:5). The same judgment the North had suffered would come to Judah if people continued to disobey God.

Other historical accounts give more details of the South's sins. They describe how King Ahaz set up a foreign altar in God's temple, altering the temple construction "in deference to the king of Assyria" (2 Kings 16:18). He gave his own children in human sacrifice and shut the Lord's temple, substituting altars on every street corner (2 Chronicles 28:3,24-25). Along with this religious corruption came every other kind of sin: dishonesty (Micah 6:10-11), bribery (3:11), injustice (2:2), and distrust that destroyed families (7:5-6).

Beyond the Darkness

Yet Micah saw light ahead. He perceived a majestic God over all events, who punished his people only to purify and restore them. Along with making some of the Bible's frankest predictions of destruction, Micah gave some of the clearest predictions of the Messiah, the leader who would come to save Israel. Micah's perspective encompassed not only the events of his time but events far in the future, when the nations "will beat their swords into plowshares" (4:3).

Micah looked straight at the darkness of his time and at the darkness yet to come. But his perspective—God's perspective—enabled him to see beyond darkness. "Do not gloat over me, my enemy! Though I have fallen, I will rise. Though I sit in darkness, the LORD will be my light" (7:8).

How to Read Micah

Micah had the big view of history, and thus he covered a lot of ground. His book, only seven chapters, is loaded with pronouncements on the events of several thousand years. Because so much is jammed into so short a space, reading Micah can be confusing. A fragment may deal with the Messiah, for instance, and without warning the next few verses shift to the battle against Assyria.

To grasp Micah's message, think of his book as a collection of short speeches. One speech doesn't necessarily lead into the next. Instead of reading quickly from start to finish, pause after each short section to see whether you understand what it says. Try to understand who is speaking. Sometimes God speaks, sometimes Micah, sometimes the rebellious people.

In general, Micah follows this outline: chapters 1-3 indict both Northern and Southern Kingdoms, with their leaders; chapters 4 and 5 turn to the wonderful future God is planning, the last two chapters give the trial, punishment, and hope of the guilty nations.

It's very helpful to understand Micah's historical situation. Micah 1.1 names the kings of Judah he worked under. You can read about these kings, and their Northern counterparts, in 2 Kings 15:27-20:21 and 2 Chronicles 27-32. For a brief summary, see "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338.

Judgment Against Samaria and Jerusalem

³Look! The LORD is coming from his dwelling

he comes down and treads the high places of all her temple gifts will be burned with fire;

I will destroy all her images.

Since she gathered her gifts from the wages of

as the wages of prostitutes they will again be

Weeping and Mourning

⁸Because of this I will weep and wail;
I will go about barefoot and naked.
I will howl like a jackal

3:12 A Prophecy That Saved Jeremiah's Life

One hundred years after this clear prophecy of its destruction, Jerusalem still stood. By that time Jeremiah was making similar predictions, which led to his arrest for treason. Some of the city leaders, however, quoted Micah's "ancient" prophecy, pointing out that since Micah had not been put to death, neither should Jeremiah be (Jeremiah 26:18-19). Their memory probably saved Jeremiah's life.

Within another 20 years, both Micah's and Jeremiah's predictions came true and Jerusalem was reduced to rubble.

we will walk in the name of the LORD
our God for ever and ever.

The LORD's Plan

⁶"In that day," declares the LORD,
"I will gather the lame;
I will assemble the exiles
and those I have brought to grief.
⁷I will make the lame a remnant,
those driven away a strong nation.
The LORD will rule over them in Mount Zion
from that day and forever.
⁸As for you, O watchtower of the flock,
O stronghold^a of the Daughter of Zion,
the former dominion will be restored to you;
kingship will come to the Daughter of Jerusalem."
⁹Why do you now cry aloud—
have you no king?
Has your counselor perished,
that pain seizes you like that of a woman in labor?
¹⁰Writhe in agony, O Daughter of Zion,
like a woman in labor,
for now you must leave the city
to camp in the open field.
You will go to Babylon;
there you will be rescued.
There the LORD will redeem you out of the hand of your enemies.
¹¹But now many nations
are gathered against you.
They say, "Let her be defiled,
let our eyes gloat over Zion!" ¹²But they do not know
the thoughts of the LORD;
they do not understand his plan,
he who gathers them like sheaves to the threshing floor.
¹³"Rise and thresh, O Daughter of Zion,
for I will give you horns of iron;
I will give you hoofs of bronze and you will break to pieces many nations."
You will devote their ill-gotten gains to the LORD,
their wealth to the Lord of all the earth.

4:3 Parallel with Isaiah

Micah 4:1-3, which describes the wonderful future
in store for the world, has an almost exact parallel in Isaiah 2:2-4. Isaiah must have quoted Micah, or vice versa, or perhaps both quoted a third unknown prophet. Both prophets spoke in Jerusalem at about the same time.

"The remnant of Israel will be abandoned

 And he will wait for his brothers to return

 he will reduce us to seven shepherds,
 and he will scatter the leaders of men.

 the land of Nimrod with drawn sword.
 Then will I bring you from the Assyrian and you will no longer be invaded,
 and you will dwell in your borders."

Seeing in Two Dimensions

The prophets made little distinction between next week and the next thousand years

They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks. 4:3

When you see a mountain range from a distance, it's very difficult to tell which peak is highest. Often a smaller mountain looms largest simply because it is much closer to you than another, higher peak.

Micah and many of the other Old Testament prophets saw the future like that. They made little distinction between events coming next week and events that would come a thousand years later. They seemed to see the future with limited "depth perception."

In the space of one verse, for instance, Micah shifts from a prediction (3:12) that Jerusalem will become a mound of rubble—a prophecy fulfilled about 100 years later—to a prophecy (4:1) that the same mountain will be lifted up "chief among the mountains"—something that has yet to be fulfilled today. In 5:2 comes a prediction that Matthew 2:6 records as fulfilled by Jesus' birth in Bethlehem 700 years later.

In Micah, the thousands of years between these fulfillments are unclear. They all seem to be about the same distance into the future. Almost certainly, Micah himself saw them unclearly. First Peter 1:10-11 comments that "the prophets . . . searched intently and with the greatest care, trying to find out the time and circumstances to which the Spirit of Christ in them was pointing when he predicted the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would follow. It was revealed to them that they were not serving themselves but you . . ."

The Lord's Case Against Israel

- 6 Listen to what the LORD says
 Stand up, plead your case before the mountains,
 let the hills hear what you have to say Hear, O mountains, the LORD's accusation, listen, you everlasting foundations of the earth
 For the LORD has a case against his people,
 he is lodging a charge against Israel
 "My people, what have I done to you?
 How have I burdened you? Answer me
 I brought you up out of Egypt
 and redeemed you from the land of slavery
 I sent Moses to lead you also Aaron and Miriam
 "My people, remember what Balak king of Moab counseled
 and what Balaam son of Beor answered.
 Remember your journey, from Shittim to Gilgal
 that you may know the righteous acts of the LORD
 "With what shall I come before the LORD
 and bow down before the exalted God?
 Shall I come before him with burnt offerings,
 with calves a year old?
 Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams,
 with ten thousand rivers of oil?
 Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression,
 the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?
 "He has showed you, O man, what is good
 And what does the LORD require of you?
 To act justly and to love mercy

6:5 The Meaning of Strange Names

Speaking to people who knew their own history well, Micah needed only to mention names like Balaam and Balak to recall God's goodness and humankind's disobedience. Numbers 22-24 tells the story of Balaam, in which Balak tried to get Balaam to curse Israel. Balaam gave this famous reply: "How can I curse those whom the LORD has not cursed?" (Numbers 23:8). The trip from Shittim to Gilgal apparently refers to Israel's miraculous crossing of the Jordan River (Joshua 3:1; 4:19-20), the final stage in their journey from slavery in Egypt to freedom in the promised land. These events, which had occurred about 500 years before, were as real to the Israelites as yesterday.

Verse 16 offers a different kind of memory: "the statutes of Omri and all the practices of Ahab's house." Omri and his son Ahab were two of the most notoriously wicked kings in Israelite history. (See 1 Kings 16:21-33.) Ahab went so far as to marry Jezebel, a Phoenician princess, and set up a temple for her god, Baal, in the new capital of Samaria. He sponsored her massacre of genuine prophets.

and to walk humbly with your God.

Israel's Guilt and Punishment

- ^aListen! The LORD is calling to the city—and to fear your name is wisdom—
 "Heed the rod and the One who appointed it" ¹⁰Am I still to forget, O wicked house, your ill-gotten treasures
 and the short ephah,^b which is accursed?
¹¹Shall I acquit a man with dishonest scales,
 with a bag of false weights?
¹²Her rich men are violent;
 her people are liars
 and their tongues speak deceitfully.
¹³Therefore, I have begun to destroy you,
 to ruin you because of your sins.
¹⁴You will eat but not be satisfied;
 your stomach will still be empty.^c
 You will store up but save nothing,
 because what you save I will give to the sword ¹⁵You will plant but not harvest;
 you will press olives but not use the oil on yourselves,
 you will crush grapes but not drink the wine ¹⁶You have observed the statutes of Omri
 and all the practices of Ahab's house;
 and you have followed their traditions.
 Therefore I will give you over to ruin
 and your people to derision;
 you will bear the scorn of the nations.^d

Israel's Misery

- 7 What misery is mine!
 I am like one who gathers summer fruit
 at the gleaning of the vineyard;
 there is no cluster of grapes to eat,
 none of the early figs that I crave.
²The godly have been swept from the land;
 not one upright man remains.
 All men lie in wait to shed blood;
 each hunts his brother with a net.
³Both hands are skilled in doing evil;
 the ruler demands gifts,
 the judge accepts bribes,
 the powerful dictate what they desire—
 they all conspire together.
⁴The best of them is like a brier,
 the most upright worse than a thorn hedge.
 The day of your watchmen has come,
 the day God visits you.

6:8 What God Wants

Micah's most famous pronouncement summarizes the qualities that matter to God. Jesus spoke in similar terms to the Pharisees about their religious hypocrisy: they gave a tenth of even their spices to God, yet they neglected justice, mercy, and faithfulness (Matthew 23:23).

 Though I have fallen, I will rise.

 20You will be true to Jacob,
 and show mercy to Abraham,
 as you pledged on oath to our fathers
 in days long ago.

NAHUM

INTRODUCTION

God's Answer to Injustice

A power above the powers

Who can withstand his indignation? Who can endure his fierce anger? 1:6

Is life fair? It rarely seems so, especially in international politics. The most vicious dictators thrive, and raw power is the key ingredient in a successful foreign policy. Weak people get trampled.

As a citizen of Judah, the prophet Nahum felt the force of such injustice. His message from God concerned the greatest city of the time, Nineveh. This city, the capital of Assyria, represented raw, brutal power—"endless cruelty," as Nahum put it (3:19). Though Nineveh was hundreds of miles northeast of Judah, her power dominated the Middle East. In contrast, Judah was a small, fragile state barely clinging to independence.

Nahum's Nerve

Judah's sister nation to the north, Israel, had already been defeated by Assyria and carried into exile. Only God's miraculous intervention had saved Judah on that occasion. And now, in Nahum's time, the Assyrians had returned. They dragged off Manasseh, the king, with a hook in his nose (2 Chronicles 33:11). Judah was forced to pay tribute as a vassal state.

Few people can stare into the face of such raw power and come away unimpressed. Nahum did so only because he had seen a far greater power—the power of a God whose wrath could shatter rocks. If God was angry, how could Nineveh stand? Nahum's absolute confidence in God is underlined throughout this book.

It took nerve to stand up and predict the downfall of the most powerful nation in the world. Yet, in this book, Nahum sounds unintimidated, almost lordly. He spoke with confidence because he knew God's character: "The LORD will not leave the guilty unpunished" (1:3).

Decline and Fall of Nineveh

Within a few years, Nahum's predictions came true. Nineveh did fall, never to rise again. The greatest city in the world became a pile of rubble overgrown with grass. Both Alexander the Great and Napoleon camped near it but had no idea a city had ever been there. The site became known as "the mound of many sheep."

The name Nahum means "comfort." Though Nahum describes God's anger, his message offers comfort to those who live with injustice and evil. "The LORD is good," said Nahum, "a refuge in times of trouble. He cares for those who trust in him, but with an overwhelming flood . . . he will pursue his foes into darkness" (1:7-8). Nineveh is gone, but Nahum's testimony lives on, reminding us that though God's justice seems slow, nothing can ultimately escape it.

How to Read Nahum

Nahum stands out from the other short prophetic books in two ways. He addressed a foreign city—Nineveh—instead of his own home nation, and he used unusually vivid language.

You can read more background on Judah and its relationship to Nineveh in the following historical accounts: 2 Kings 17–19 and 2 Chronicles 32–33:13. The background will help you understand why God was so angry at Nineveh.

As you read Nahum, pay special attention to the vivid imagery. Some of the best examples are the following:

Descriptions of warfare: 2:3-7; 3:1-3

Nineveh like a pool with its water draining out: 2:8

Nineveh like a lions' den, full of bones: 2:11-12

Nineveh like a prostitute shamed in the streets: 3:5-6

Nineveh's fortresses like fig trees, with fruit shaken into the mouth of their attacker
3:12

Nineveh's numerous citizens like grasshoppers: prolific, voracious, and quickly disappearing: 3:15-17

The LORD's Anger Against Nineveh

²The LORD is a jealous and avenging God;
the LORD takes vengeance and is filled with wrath

The LORD takes vengeance on his foes
and maintains his wrath against his enemies.

³The LORD is slow to anger and great in power;
the LORD will not leave the guilty unpunished.

His way is in the whirlwind and the storm,
and clouds are the dust of his feet.

⁴He rebukes the sea and dries it up;
he makes all the rivers run dry.

Bashan and Carmel wither
and the blossoms of Lebanon fade.

⁵The mountains quake before him and the hills melt away.

The earth trembles at his presence,
the world and all who live in it.

⁶Who can withstand his indignation?
Who can endure his fierce anger?
His wrath is poured out like fire,
the rocks are shattered before him.

The LORD is good,

a refuge in times of trouble

He cares for those who trust in him,

⁷ but with an overwhelming flood
he will make an end of Nineveh,
he will pursue his foes into darkness

⁸Whatever they plot against the LORD
he will bring to an end,
trouble will not come a second time

⁹They will be entangled among thorns
and drunk from their wine,
they will be consumed like dry stubble.^a

¹⁰From you, O Nineveh, has one come forth who plots evil against the LORD and counsels wickedness

¹¹This is what the LORD says

"Although they have allies and are numerous,
they will be cut off and pass away

Although I have afflicted you, O Judah,
I will afflict you no more

¹²Now I will break their yoke from your neck
and tear your shackles away"

¹³The LORD has given a command concerning you, Nineveh

"You will have no descendants to bear your
name

I will destroy the carved images and cast idols
that are in the temple of your gods

I will prepare your grave,
for you are vile

¹⁴Look there on the mountains
the feet of one who brings good news
who proclaims peace^b

Celebrate your festivals, O Judah, and fulfill your vows

No more will the wicked invade you.

1:3 God Is Slow to Anger

God's anger against Nineveh had not appeared overnight. Assyria had been the dominant world power for at least 300 years. Once before, Jonah had carried a message of condemnation to its chief city, Nineveh. As was always true with God's prophets, Jonah's condemnation sounded absolute. Actually, it included an escape clause. In Jeremiah 18:7-10, God spelled it out: "If at any time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be uprooted, torn down and destroyed, and if that nation I warned repents of its evil, then I will relent . . ." Hearing Jonah, the Ninevites had repented, and God had spared their city.

The repentance had not lasted, however. By Nahum's time, Nineveh had returned to her evil ways. God's anger, while slow to develop, was sure.

they will be completely destroyed.

Nineveh to Fall

2 An attacker advances against you, Nineveh, Guard the fortress,
watch the road,
brace yourselves,
marshal all your strength!

²The Lord will restore the splendor of Jacob like the splendor of Israel, though destroyers have laid them waste
and have ruined their vines.

³The shields of his soldiers are red;
the warriors are clad in scarlet.

The metal on the chariots flashes
on the day they are made ready;
the spears of pine are brandished.^a rushing back and forth through the squares.

They look like flaming torches;
they dart about like lightning

⁵He summons his picked troops,
yet they stumble on their way.
They dash to the city wall;
the protective shield is put in place.

⁶The river gates are thrown open and the palace collapses.

be exiled and carried away
Its slave girls moan like doves and beat upon their breasts.

⁸Nineveh is like a pool,
and its water is draining away
"Stop! Stop!" they cry, but no one turns back.

⁹Plunder the silver!
Plunder the gold!
The supply is endless,
the wealth from all its treasures!
¹⁰She is pillaged, plundered, stripped!
Hearts melt, knees give way,
bodies tremble, every face grows pale.

¹¹Where now is the lions' den,
the place where they fed their young,
where the lion and lioness went,
and the cubs, with nothing to fear?

¹²The lion killed enough for his cubs
and strangled the prey for his mate, filling his lairs with the kill
and his dens with the prey.

¹³"I am against you,"
declares the Lord Almighty.
"I will burn up your chariots in smoke,
and the sword will devour your young lions.
I will leave you no prey on the earth.
The voices of your messengers
will no longer be heard."

who enslaved nations by her prostitution
and peoples by her witchcraft.

⁵"I am against you," declares the Lord
Almighty.

"I will lift your skirts over your face.
I will show the nations your nakedness
and the kingdoms your shame.

⁶I will pelt you with filth,
I will treat you with contempt
and make you a spectacle.

⁷All who see you will flee from you and say,
'Nineveh is in ruins—who will mourn for
her?'

Where can I find anyone to comfort you?"

⁸Are you better than Thebes,^c situated on the Nile,
with water around her?
The river was her defense,
the waters her wall.

⁹Cush^d and Egypt were her boundless
strength;
Put and Libya were among her allies.

¹⁰Yet she was taken captive and went into exile.
Her infants were dashed to pieces
at the head of every street.
Lots were cast for her nobles,
and all her great men were put in chains.
¹¹You too will become drunk;
you will go into hiding
and seek refuge from the enemy.

with their first ripe fruit;
when they are shaken,

3:8 Another Powerful City

In approximately 663 B.C. Assyria overwhelmed Thebes, the ancient, wealthy capital of Upper Egypt. This victory seemed to symbolize Assyria's absolute power. To Nahum, however, the battle told a different tale. If Thebes was vulnerable, so was proud Nineveh. About 50 years after capturing Thebes, Nineveh fell to the Babylonians. The mention of Thebes' downfall enables us to date Nahum's message within that 50-year period.

HABAKKUK

INTRODUCTION

The Problem of Evil

Habakkuk's question: "Why is God silent while the wicked succeed?"

The righteous will live by his faith." 2:4

The book of Habakkuk begins with a complaint. The prophet saw injustice, violence, and evil in his own country, yet God remained silent and invisible. Why didn't God intervene? Why did he give no answer when Habakkuk called out for help? Habakkuk took these questions directly to God, in prayer.

God answered him, but hardly in the way Habakkuk had anticipated. God said he was sending the Babylonians to punish Judah. God's words described a ruthless, savage army that would tear Israel apart.

So Habakkuk complained again. Could this be justice—punishing Judah through an even more evil nation? Deeply perplexed, Habakkuk waited to see what answer God would give to his second complaint.

How long he had to wait, we do not know. But God did reply, and his answer is perhaps the best explanation we have of God's attitude toward evil. It satisfied Habakkuk, so that his book, which begins with a complaint, ends with one of the most beautiful songs in the Bible.

Two Certainties to Live By

God pointed out two certainties to Habakkuk. First, the violent, proud Babylonians would be paid back with the very weapons they had used on others. Just as they destroyed nations, they would be destroyed. "Has not the LORD Almighty determined . . . that the nations exhaust themselves for nothing?" (2:13). Evil may dominate the earth, but it always wears itself out.

The second certainty was God's character. He may be silent for a time, but not forever. "The earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea" (2:14). In chapter 3, Habakkuk "saw" this powerful glory, and his heart pounded. It changed his attitude from complaining to joy.

Because the future belongs to God, a believer can cling to the truth embodied in 2:4: "The righteous shall live by his faith." Habakkuk beautifully expressed this attitude of faith in the last three verses of his book: no matter how hard life might become, he would rejoice and find strength in the Lord.

Living by Faith

Did Habakkuk explain why God allows evil? Not precisely. He did affirm that God has not lost control. Evil is moving toward its own logical end of self-destruction, and God's glory will someday fill the earth. Habakkuk offers no proof of this, merely the record of God's communication to him. A believer can find hope and joy through faith in God, regardless of circumstances. Habakkuk's capsule of faith was quoted at three crucial points in the New Testament: Romans 1:17; Galatians 3:11, and Hebrews 10:38.

Though Habakkuk probably did not live to see it, the Babylonians were destroyed. Today they are merely a memory. Yet we, like Habakkuk, must still wait in faith to see the earth "filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD."

How to Read Habakkuk

Other prophets carried messages from God to humankind; Habakkuk addressed God alone. He pondered deep riddles of life while wrestling with two terrible realities: the degeneration of his own nation and the certainty that it was about to be overrun by another, worse nation. How can a just God allow, even use, such evil? To fully delve into Habakkuk's questions, you may want to read the book of Job and Psalm 73, which explore related issues.

The first two chapters of Habakkuk tell of two "complaints" and two answers. As you read, try to imagine the emotional changes Habakkuk experienced as he talked with God. Then read the joyful psalm of chapter 3 (set to music, either by Habakkuk or someone else) and ask yourself: where did this joyful confidence come from?

1 The oracle that Habakkuk the prophet received

Habakkuk's Complaint

How long, O Lord, must I call for help,
but you do not listen?
Or cry out to you, "Violence!"
but you do not save?
Why do you make me look at injustice?
Why do you tolerate wrong?
Destruction and violence are before me;
there is strife, and conflict abounds.
Therefore the law is paralyzed,
and justice never prevails.
The wicked hem in the righteous,
so that justice is perverted.

The Lord's Answer

Look at the nations and watch
and be utterly amazed.
For I am going to do something in your days
that you would not believe,
even if you were told.
I am raising up the Babylonians,^a
that ruthless and impetuous people, who sweep across the whole earth
to seize dwelling places not their own.
They are a feared and dreaded people;
they are a law to themselves
and promote their own honor.
Their horses are swifter than leopards,
faster than wolves at dusk;
their cavalry gallops headlong;
their horsemen come from afar.
They fly like a vulture swooping to devour;
they all come bent on violence.
Their hordes advance like a desert wind
and gather prisoners like sand.
They deride kings
and scoff at rulers.
They laugh at all fortified cities;
they build earthen ramps and capture them.

Then they sweep past like the wind and go on—guilty men, whose own strength is their
god."

Habakkuk's Second Complaint

O Lord, are you not from everlasting?
My God, my Holy One, we will not die.
O Lord, you have appointed them to execute
judgment;
O Rock, you have ordained them to punish.
Your eyes are too pure to look on evil;
you cannot tolerate wrong.
Why then do you tolerate the treacherous?
Why are you silent while the wicked swallow up those more righteous than themselves?
You have made men like fish in the sea,
like sea creatures that have no ruler.
The wicked foe pulls all of them up with hooks,
he catches them in his net,
he gathers them up in his dragnet;
and so he rejoices and is glad.
Therefore he sacrifices to his net,
and burns incense to his dragnet,

The Babylonians had their own gods, but Habakkuk claimed that they really worshiped their "net," that is, their military might. In 1:11, God described them as "guilty men, whose own strength is their god."

ZEPHANIAH

INTRODUCTION

Beyond Darkness

A worldwide catastrophe and a shining light

"The LORD . . . will quiet you with his love, he will rejoice over you with singing." 3:17

Zephaniah wrote not long after Manasseh had ended his 50-year reign in Judah. One of the worst kings on record, Manasseh had made idol worship and child sacrifice common practice. He had built altars for star worshipers in God's temple and had encouraged male prostitution as part of the religious ritual. He had also "shed so much innocent blood that he filled Jerusalem from end to end . . ." (2 Kings 21:16). His son Amon carried on in the same way during his short reign.

Then came King Josiah, who took the throne at the age of eight, after his father's assassination. The Bible says there was never a king like Josiah (2 Kings 23:25). He led a reform, destroying all the pagan idols and restoring the temple. He organized the first Passover celebration in generations.

Zephaniah, who was probably related to the king through his great great grandfather King Hezekiah, apparently spoke just before the big changes. The nation's future hung in the balance, and Zephaniah's words may well have helped tip it toward renewal of faith in God.

From Gloom to Exultation

Zephaniah's book begins in deep gloom. Like other prophets, he condemned the sins of his nation and predicted judgment from God. But he went one big step further. He talked repeatedly about "the day of the LORD," and saw that it would be a supernatural event sweeping clean the whole planet. Zephaniah offered no hope that it could be avoided. The Lord had warned and pleaded, but to no avail (3:6-7). Zephaniah saw hope for a minority only. A faithful, humble remnant could be sheltered from disaster if they would seek God.

Beyond the judgment fires Zephaniah saw something remarkably bright. He predicted that a purified remnant of God's people, truthful and humble, would trust in God. He foresaw a remade world learning to worship God.

Therefore this short book, which starts with such gloom, ends with an ecstatic song of joy: an anticipation of the kingdom to come after the judgment. God's blessing will flow freely as every nation worships him. Zephaniah's words may have been influential in encouraging Josiah's reforms, but his vision extended far beyond. The New Testament speaks often, like Zephaniah, of the worldwide judgment and a renewed world to come.

How to Read Zephaniah

Zephaniah will seem more interesting if you grasp the historical situation in which he wrote. For the decadence that led to King Josiah's reforms, read 2 Kings 21. Josiah's history is told in chapters 22 and 23. Second Chronicles 33-35 tells the same story with slightly different details. You can find a brief summary of these reigns in "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338.

Zephaniah is easily understood. It has a clear and symmetrical structure, opening (after a brief introduction) with a warning of judgment for Judah and its capital of Jerusalem, then extending the judgment to Judah's neighbors, and closing in chapter 3 with good news about Jerusalem.

HAGGAI

INTRODUCTION

The Prophet Who Got Results

For once, God's people listened

The whole remnant of the people obeyed the voice of the LORD their God and the message of the prophet Haggai, because the LORD their God had sent him. 1:12

Sometimes, at crucial moments, a single voice can stir a directionless mass of people to action. Winston Churchill's inspiring oratory may have saved Britain in World War II. True leaders of nations are those who inspire their people to constructive action.

Haggai's words, similarly, rang clear in a time of confusion. The Jews had come back from their exile in Babylon nearly 20 years before. But they seemed to have forgotten the point of returning. After one false start on the temple, the exiles had devoted their energy to building their own houses. The ruins of Solomon's temple stood as a nagging reminder that they had neglected God.

Now Haggai urged these pioneers to "give careful thought" to their situation. He did not rage like Jeremiah or build eloquent poems like Isaiah. He put it simply and logically. They had worked hard, but what had it earned them? Their crops were unsuccessful. Their money disappeared as soon as they earned it. Why? Haggai asked. Because they had mistaken their priorities. They needed to put God first. They needed to rebuild his temple.

A Response from the Heart

People responded to Haggai immediately. Prophets before him, such as Amos, Isaiah, or Jeremiah, had spoken for decades without seeing such a heartfelt reaction. Haggai's messages span a mere four months, but he accomplished everything he set out to do. In four years the temple was complete.

What made the temple so important? After all, the proper sacrifices and rituals could be carried out on a makeshift altar. But God's reputation was at stake. He could not be properly honored so long as the house he called home lay in ruins. The temple symbolized God's presence, and Israel's priorities.

Would rebuilding the temple change Israel's financial situation? Haggai's first words promised nothing. He simply said, "Give careful thought to your ways," and pointed out that Israel's lack of prosperity was God's doing. They had worked hard, but God had withheld the rain their crops needed. A month later (2:1-9) Haggai said that God had glorious plans for Israel, plans that would shake the whole earth. But he referred to God's presence with them, not to good crops.

Only on the last day accounted for in this brief book did Haggai get back to the subject of harvests. He said that God wanted his people to "give careful thought" again—this time to the dramatic difference they would see in their harvests since they had put God first. "From this day on I will bless you," God said through Haggai.

How to Read Haggai

One of the shortest books in the Bible, Haggai can easily be read at a sitting. Haggai's words came at a critical time in the life of the nation of Israel. They mark one of the few times in all history when God spoke and his people quickly and unquestioningly obeyed. For the historical background, read Ezra 1-6. Haggai's crucial message is mentioned in Ezra 5:1-2. "A Lineup of Rulers," page 338, can help you place Haggai in Israelite history.

There is a progression to God's warnings and his promises through Haggai. Study each of Haggai's messages, and note down what encouragement, what warning, and what hope God offered Israel. How did God motivate them to obey him?

Day 1: Read the Introduction to Haggai and chapter 1 which tells how Haggai's message changed Israel's direction

PLAN 2: All of Haggai in 2 Days

A Call to Build the House of the Lord

1 In the second year of King Darius, on the first day of the sixth month, the word of the Lord came through the prophet Haggai to Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest. 2 The Lord Almighty says: "These people have said, 'The Lord's house has not yet come for the people.'"

3 Then the word of the Lord came through the prophet Haggai: 4 "Is it a time for you yourselves to be living in your paneled houses, while this house lies in ruins? 5 Now this is what the Lord Almighty says: "Give careful thought to your ways. 6 You have sown much, but have harvested little. You eat, but never have enough. You drink, but never have your fill. You put on clothes, but are not warm. You earn wages, only to put them in a purse with holes."

7 This is what the Lord Almighty says: "Give careful thought to your ways. 8 Go up into the mountains and bring down timber and build the house so that I may take pleasure in it and be glorified," says the Lord. 9 "You expected much, but it turned out to be little. What you brought in, I blew away. Why?" declares the Lord Almighty. "Because of my house, which remains a ruin, while each of you is busy with his own house. 10 Therefore, because of you the heavens have withheld their dew and the earth its crops. 11 I called for a drought on the fields and the mountains, on the grain, the new wine, the oil and whatever the ground produces, on men and cattle, and on the labor of your hands."

12 Then Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the whole remnant of the people obeyed the voice of the Lord their God and the message of the prophet Haggai, because the Lord their God had sent him. And the people feared the Lord.

13 Then Haggai, the Lord's messenger, gave this message of the Lord to the people: "I am with you," declares the Lord. 14 So the Lord stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of the whole remnant of the people. They came and began to work on the house of the Lord Almighty, their God. 15 On the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month in the second year of King Darius

The Promised Glory of the New House

2 On the twenty-first day of the seventh month, the word of the Lord came through the prophet Haggai: 3 "Speak to Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, to Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people. Ask them, 'Who of you is left who saw this house in its former glory?' How does it look to you now? Does it not seem to you like nothing? 4 But now be strong, O Zerubbabel," declares the Lord. "Be strong, O Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest. Be strong, all you people of the land," declares the Lord, "and work. For I am with you," declares the Lord Almighty. 5 "This is what I covenanted with you when you came out of Egypt: And my Spirit remains among you. Do not fear."

6 "This is what the Lord Almighty says: 'In a little while I will once more shake the heavens and the earth, the sea and the dry land. 7 I will shake all nations, and the desired of all nations will come, and I will fill this house with glory,' says the Lord Almighty. 8 'The silver is mine and the gold is mine,' declares the Lord Almighty. 9 'The glory of this present house will be greater than the glory of the former house,' says the Lord Almighty. 'And in this place I will grant peace,' declares the Lord Almighty."

Blessings for a Defiled People

10 On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the Lord came to the prophet Haggai: 11 "This is what the Lord Almighty says: 'Ask the priests what the law says: 12 If a person carries consecrated meat in the fold of his garment, and that fold touches some bread or stew, some wine, oil or other food, does it become consecrated?'"

The priests answered, "No."

13 Then Haggai said, "If a person defiled by contact with a dead body touches one of these things, does it become defiled?"

"Yes," the priests replied, "it becomes defiled."

* A variant of Jeshua, here and elsewhere in Haggai

¹⁴Then Haggai said, "So it is with this people and this nation in my sight," declares the LORD. "Whatever they do and whatever they offer there is defiled."

¹⁵"Now give careful thought to this from this day on^a—consider how things were before one stone was laid on another in the LORD's temple. ¹⁶When anyone came to a heap of twenty measures, there were only ten. When anyone went to a wine vat to draw fifty measures, there were only twenty. ¹⁷I struck all the work of your hands with blight, mildew and hail, yet you did not turn to me," declares the LORD. ¹⁸"From this day on, from this twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, give careful thought to the day when the foundation of the LORD's temple was laid. Give careful thought! ¹⁹Is there yet any seed left in the barn? Until now, the vine and the fig tree, the pomegranate and the olive tree have not borne fruit."

2:12 The Spread of Good and Evil

"Which is contagious, good or evil?" In the Old Testament law Haggai found that consecrated meat—set aside to be used in sacrificial worship—did not "spread" its holiness. But a person who became "unclean" did spread his or her defilement. Under the Old Testament law, evil spread, but goodness did not. Their failure to rebuild the temple had defiled everything the Israelites touched—even their good deeds.

"From this day on I will bless you."

Zerubbabel the Lord's Signet Ring

²⁰The word of the LORD came to Haggai a second time on the twenty-fourth day of the month. ²¹Tell Zerubbabel governor of Judah that I will shake the heavens and the earth. ²²I will overturn royal thrones and shatter the power of the foreign kingdoms. I will overthrow chariots and their drivers, horses and their riders will fall, each by the sword of his brother.

²³"On that day," declares the LORD Almighty, "I will take you, my servant Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel," declares the LORD, "and I will make you like my signet ring, for I have chosen you," declares the LORD Almighty."

2:23 The Imprint of the Master

Some 78 years before, King Jehoiachin had been captured and taken to Babylon. God had rejected him: "Even if you, Jehoiachin . . . were a signet ring on my right hand, I would still pull you off" (Jeremiah 22:24).

But now his grandson Zerubbabel had come back to Jerusalem, chosen again as the Lord's "signet ring." Such a ring was used in place of a signature, to impress the king's seal on important documents. God had accepted men from the royal line of David as his chosen leaders again. The complete fulfillment of this prophecy would have to wait for Zerubbabel's descendant Jesus, a son of David who fully printed God's image on humanity.

ZECHARIAH

INTRODUCTION

Starting Over

How could they rebuild with broken pieces?

'The LORD says, 'I will return to Jerusalem with mercy, and there my house will be rebuilt.' " 1:16

When the Jews reviewed their history, it looked like a long slide downhill. Consistently, they had responded to God's love by grumbling against him, by disobeying his law, by worshiping idols. Finally, after centuries of warning, punishment had come. Jerusalem was flattened. The survivors marched off in chains toward the other end of the world.

They had not merely lost a battle. They had lost, seemingly, their place in God's heart and their future as his special people.

But hope for a new start came in exile. When Persian emperor Cyrus took power, he offered Jews a chance to return to their land and rebuild their temple. Some jumped at the chance. They took the long journey to a homeland most of them had never seen (you can read about the trip in the first chapters of Ezra). They wanted not merely to rebuild; they hoped somehow to escape the downward, anti-God trend that had plagued their nation from its beginnings.

Hope Begins to Fade

They found a disheartening scene. Their once-beautiful city was a ghost town. Everything of value had been destroyed. Fertile fields were overgrown. The region was almost empty of people.

The small band of returned exiles built an altar on the grounds of the ruined temple. But soon they grew discouraged about actual rebuilding. They had enough trouble finding shelter and eking out a living from the land. When their non-Jewish neighbors fought against rebuilding the temple, the former exiles gave up. Their hopes of a glorious "new beginning" began to fade.

The temple stayed in a state of disrepair for nearly 20 years, until the prophets Haggai and Zechariah stirred up renewed interest. These prophets saw that as long as the temple lay in ruins, Israel's distinctive character as a people of God was ruined, too. At their urging, the Jews organized to build again.

The book of Zechariah is a record from that critical period of rebuilding. Its first recorded message dates from approximately two months after the temple foundation was laid. The temple was completed four years later, at least partly due to Zechariah's encouraging words.

Needed: A Change of Heart

Zechariah wasn't mainly interested in a building, however. More important was the relationship with God that the temple symbolized. In his first recorded words Zechariah warned his people not to be like their ancestors. What good had a temple done them? A really new beginning required a change of heart. "'Return to me,' declares the LORD Almighty, 'and I will return to you'" (1:3).

The last half of Zechariah widens its view to the whole world. The small refugee community of Jews, Zechariah says, holds the world's future. Their new beginning would become the hope of the world.

How to Read Zechariah

Most people find Zechariah difficult to understand. Throughout the book you will find references to people and events that are hard to interpret. A commentary can be a great help, clarifying the meaning of these details. For historical background on Zechariah's times, read Ezra 1-6. Zechariah is mentioned by name in Ezra 5:1.

The book of Zechariah breaks into three parts. The first six chapters offer eight symbolic visions, which were meant to encourage the builders of the temple. They are not too difficult to understand if you take them one at a time and don't rush through them. Their main emphasis: God is at work again. He plans to live with his people in Jerusalem. He will protect them from their enemies, cleanse them from their sin, banish evil. He is making a new beginning for them. Chapters 7-8 address the quality of life God wants his renewed people to enjoy. These words contain many encouraging promises to Israel.

The last six chapters are packed with puzzling references to the struggles Israel must endure in becoming what God wants. You will find predictions of terrible suffering and absolute victory. These chapters, as complex as they are, helped the Gospel writers understand Jesus' suffering, death, and resurrection. The writers quoted these chapters as they wrote of Jesus' final days. The book of Revelation, telling of the final goal of history, also drew on Zechariah's predictions.

A Call to Return to the LORD

1 In the eighth month of the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Zechariah son of Berekiah, the son of Iddo:

²"The LORD was very angry with your forefathers. ³Therefore tell the people: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Return to me,' declares the LORD Almighty, 'and I will return to you,' says the LORD Almighty. ⁴Do not be like your forefathers, to whom the earlier prophets proclaimed: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Turn from your evil ways and your evil practices.' But they would not listen or pay attention to me, declares the LORD. ⁵Where are your forefathers now? And the prophets, do they live forever? ⁶But did not my words and my decrees, which I commanded my servants the prophets, overtake your forefathers?"

"Then they repented and said, 'The LORD Almighty has done to us what our ways and practices deserve, just as he determined to do.'"

The Man Among the Myrtle Trees

⁷On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, the month of Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Zechariah son of Berekiah, the son of Iddo.

⁸During the night I had a vision—and there before me was a man riding a red horse! He was standing among the myrtle trees in a ravine. Behind him were red, brown and white horses.

⁹I asked, "What are these, my lord?"

The angel who was talking with me answered, "I will show you what they are."

¹⁰Then the man standing among the myrtle trees explained, "They are the ones the LORD has sent to go throughout the earth."

¹¹And they reported to the angel of the LORD, who was standing among the myrtle trees, "We have gone throughout the earth and found the whole world at rest and in peace."

¹²Then the angel of the LORD said, "LORD Almighty, how long will you withhold mercy from Jerusalem and from the towns of Judah, which you have been angry with these seventy years?" ¹³So the LORD spoke kind and comforting words to the angel who talked with me.

¹⁴Then the angel who was speaking to me said, "Proclaim this word: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'I am very jealous for Jerusalem and Zion, ¹⁵but I am very angry with the nations that feel secure. I was only a little angry, but they added to the calamity.'"

¹⁶"Therefore, this is what the LORD says: 'I will return to Jerusalem with mercy, and there my house will be rebuilt. And the measuring line will be stretched out over Jerusalem,' declares the LORD Almighty.

¹⁷"Proclaim further: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'My towns will again overflow with prosperity, and the LORD will again comfort Zion and choose Jerusalem.'"

Four Horns and Four Craftsmen

¹⁸Then I looked up—and there before me were four horns! ¹⁹I asked the angel who was speaking to me, "What are these?"

He answered me, "These are the horns that scattered Judah, Israel and Jerusalem."

²⁰Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen. ²¹I asked, "What are these coming to do?"

He answered, "These are the horns that scat-ried Judah so that no one could raise his head, but the craftsmen have come to terrify them and throw down these horns of the nations who lifted up their horns against the land of Judah to scatter its people."

A Man With a Measuring Line

2 Then I looked up—and there before me was a man with a measuring line in his hand! ²He asked, "Where are you going?"

He answered me, "To measure Jerusalem, to find out how wide and how long it is."

³Then the angel who was speaking to me left, and another angel came to meet him ⁴and said to him "Run, tell that young man, 'Jerusalem will be a city without walls because of the great number of men and livestock in it. ⁵And I myself will be a wall of fire around it,' declares the LORD, 'and I will be its glory within.'"

⁶"Come! Come! Flee from the land of the north," declares the LORD, "for I have scattered you to the four winds of heaven," declares the LORD.

⁷"Come, O Zion! Escape, you who live in the Daughter of Babylon!" ⁸For this is what the LORD Almighty says: "After he has honored me and has sent me against the nations that have plundered you—for whoever touches you touches the apple of his eye—⁹I will surely raise my hand against them so that their slaves will plunder them." Then you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me.

¹⁰"Shout and be glad, O Daughter of Zion. For I am coming, and I will live among you," declares the LORD. ¹¹"Many nations will be joined with the LORD in that day and will become my people. I will live among you and you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me to you. ¹²The LORD will inherit Judah as his portion in the holy land and will again choose Jerusalem. ¹³Be still before the LORD, all mankind, because he has roused himself from his holy dwelling."

Clean Garments for the High Priest

3 Then he showed me Joshua^a the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and Satan^c standing at his right side to accuse him. ²The LORD said to Satan, "The LORD rebuke you, Satan! The LORD, who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you! Is not this man a burning stick snatched from the fire?"

³Now Joshua was dressed in filthy clothes as he stood before the angel. ⁴The angel said to those who were standing before him, "Take off his filthy clothes."

Then he said to Joshua, "See, I have taken away your sin, and I will put rich garments on you."

⁵Then I said, "Put a clean turban on his head." So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him, while the angel of the LORD stood by.

⁶The angel of the LORD gave this charge to Joshua: ⁷"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'If you will walk in my ways and keep my requirements, then you will govern my house and have charge of my courts, and I will give you a place among these standing here.

⁸"Listen, O high priest Joshua and your associates seated before you, who are men symbolic of things to come: I am going to bring my servant, the Branch. ⁹See, the stone I have set in front of Joshua! There are seven eyes^d on that one stone, and I will engrave an inscription on it," says the LORD Almighty, "and I will remove the sin of this land in a single day."

¹⁰"In that day each of you will invite his neighbor to sit under his vine and fig tree," declares the LORD Almighty."

The Gold Lampstand and the Two Olive Trees

4 Then the angel who talked with me returned and wakened me, as a man is wakened from his sleep. ²He asked me, "What do you see?"

I answered, "I see a solid gold lampstand with a bowl at the top and seven lights on it, with seven channels to the lights. ³Also there are two olive trees by it, one on the right of the bowl and the other on its left."

⁴I asked the angel who talked with me, "What are these, my lord?"

⁵He answered, "Do you not know what these are?"

"No, my lord," I replied.

⁶So he said to me, "This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel: 'Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit,' says the LORD Almighty."

⁷"What are you, O mighty mountain? Before Zerubbabel you will become level ground. Then he will bring out the capstone to shouts of 'God bless it! God bless it!'"

⁸Then the word of the LORD came to me: ⁹"The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this temple; his hands will also complete it. Then you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me to you."

¹⁰"Who despises the day of small things? Men will rejoice when they see the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel."

"(These seven are the eyes of the LORD, which range throughout the earth.)"

¹¹Then I asked the angel, "What are these two olive trees on the right and the left of the lampstand?"

¹²Again I asked him, "What are these two olive branches beside the two gold pipes that pour out golden oil?"

¹³He replied, "Do you not know what these are?"

"No, my lord," I said.

¹⁴So he said, "These are the two who are anointed to serve the Lord of all the earth."

The Flying Scroll

5 I looked again—and there before me was a flying scroll!

²He asked me, "What do you see?"

I answered, "I see a flying scroll, thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide."

³And he said to me, "This is the curse that is going out over the whole land; for according to what it says on one side, every thief will be banished, and according to what it says on the other, everyone who swears falsely will be banished. ⁴The Lord Almighty declares, 'I will send it out, and it will enter the house of the thief and the house of him who swears falsely by my name. It will remain in his house and destroy it, both its timbers and its stones.'"

The Woman in a Basket

⁵Then the angel who was speaking to me came forward and said to me, "Look up and see what this is that is appearing."

⁶I asked, "What is it?"

He replied, "It is a measuring basket."^a And he added, "This is the iniquity^b of the people throughout the land."

⁷Then the cover of lead was raised, and there in the basket sat a woman! ⁸He said, "This is wickedness," and he pushed her back into the basket and pushed the lead cover down over its mouth.

⁹Then I looked up—and there before me were two women, with the wind in their wings! They had wings like those of a stork, and they lifted up the basket between heaven and earth.

¹⁰"Where are they taking the basket?" I asked the angel who was speaking to me.

¹¹He replied, "To the country of Babylonia^c to build a house for it. When it is ready, the basket will be set there in its place."

Four Chariots

⁶I looked up again—and there before me were four chariots coming out from between two mountains—mountains of bronze! ²The first chariot had red horses, the second black, ³the third white, and the fourth dappled—all of them powerful. ⁴I asked the angel who was speaking to me, "What are these, my lord?"

⁵The angel answered me, "These are the four spirits of heaven, going out from standing in the presence of the Lord of the whole world. ⁶The one with the black horses is going toward the north country, the one with the white horses toward the west, and the one with the dappled horses toward the south."

⁷When the powerful horses went out, they were straining to go throughout the earth. And he said, "Go throughout the earth!" So they went throughout the earth.

⁸Then he called to me, "Look, those going toward the north country have given my Spirit^d rest in the land of the north."

A Crown for Joshua

⁹The word of the Lord came to me: ¹⁰"Take silver and gold, from the exiles Heldai, Tobijah and Jedaiah, who have arrived from Babylon. Go the same day to the house of Josiah son of Zephaniah. ¹¹Take the silver and gold and make a crown, and set it on the head of the high priest, Joshua son of Jehozadak. ¹²Tell him this is what the Lord Almighty says: 'Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the Lord. ¹³It is he who will build the temple of the Lord, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.' ¹⁴The crown will be given to Heldai,^e Tobijah, Jedaiah and Heni son of Zephaniah as a memorial in the temple of the Lord. ¹⁵Those who are far away will come and help to build the temple of the Lord, and you will know that the Lord Almighty has sent me to you. This will happen if you diligently obey the Lord your God."

Justice and Mercy, Not Fasting

⁷In the fourth year of King Darius, the word of the Lord came to Zechariah on the fourth day of the ninth month, the month of Kislev. ²The people of Bethel had sent Sharezer and Regem-Melech, together with their men, to entreat the Lord ³by asking the priests of the house of the Lord Almighty and the prophets, "Should I mourn and fast in the fifth month, as I have done for so many years?"

⁴Then the word of the Lord Almighty came to me: ⁵"Ask all the people of the land and the priests, 'When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and seventh months for the past seventy years, was it really for me that you fasted? ⁶And when you were eating and drinking, were you not just feasting for yourselves? ⁷Are these not the words the Lord proclaimed through the earlier prophets when Jerusalem and its surrounding towns were at rest and prosperous, and the Negev and the western foothills were settled?'"

⁸And the word of the Lord came again to Zechariah: ⁹"This is what the Lord Almighty says: 'Administer true justice; show mercy and compassion

7:3 Repent for How Long?

While in exile, Jews had fasted and mourned on certain days in memory of the siege and overthrow of Jerusalem. Now that they had returned to Jerusalem they wanted to know: should we keep fasting? Zechariah's answer came in 8:19: fasting should now be replaced with feasting. But Zechariah warned that all religious ceremonies, however proper, were meaningless unless people's lives were controlled by God.

5.2 A Message for Everyone

The flying scroll probably symbolizes God's law, which condemns sin. It is unrolled and flying like a banner for all to read—not rolled up for only priests to read.

¹¹"But they refused to pay attention, stubbornly they turned their backs and stopped up their ears. ¹²They made their hearts as hard as flint and would not listen to the law or to the words that the LORD Almighty had sent by his Spirit through the earlier prophets. So the LORD Almighty was very angry."

¹³"When I called, they did not listen; so when they called, I would not listen," says the LORD Almighty. ¹⁴"I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations, where they were strangers. The land was left so desolate behind them that no one could come or go. This is how they made the pleasant land desolate."

The LORD Promises to Bless Jerusalem

8 Again the word of the LORD Almighty came to me. ²This is what the LORD Almighty says: "I am very jealous for Zion; I am burning with jealousy for her."

³This is what the LORD says: "I will return to Zion and dwell in Jerusalem. Then Jerusalem will be called the City of Truth, and the mountain of the LORD Almighty will be called the Holy Mountain."

⁴This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Once again men and women of ripe old age will sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each with cane in hand because of his age. ⁵The city streets will be filled with boys and girls playing there."

⁶This is what the LORD Almighty says: "It may seem marvelous to the remnant of this people at that time, but will it seem marvelous to me?" declares the LORD Almighty.

⁷This is what the LORD Almighty says: "I will save my people from the countries of the east and the west. ⁸I will bring them back to live in Jerusalem; they will be my people, and I will be faithful and righteous to them as their God."

⁹This is what the LORD Almighty says: "You who now hear these words spoken by the prophets who were there when the foundation was laid for the house of the LORD Almighty, let your hands be strong so that the temple may be built. ¹⁰Before that time there were no wages for man or beast. No one could go about his business safely because of his enemy, for I had turned every man against his neighbor. ¹¹But now I will not deal with the remnant of this people as I did in the past," declares the LORD Almighty.

¹²"The seed will grow well, the vine will yield its fruit, the ground will produce its crops, and the heavens will drop their dew. I will give all these things as an inheritance to the remnant of this people. ¹³As you have been an object of cursing among the nations, O Judah and Israel, so will I save you, and you will be a blessing. Do not be afraid, but let your hands be strong."

¹⁴This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Just as I had determined to bring disaster upon you and showed no pity when your fathers angered me," says the LORD Almighty. ¹⁵"so now I have determined to do good again to Jerusalem and Judah. Do not be afraid. ¹⁶These are the things you are to do: Speak the truth to each other, and render true and sound judgment in your courts, ¹⁷do not plot evil against your neighbor, and do not love to swear falsely. I hate all this," declares the LORD.

¹⁸Again the word of the LORD Almighty came to me. ¹⁹This is what the LORD Almighty says: "The fasts of the fourth, fifth, seventh and tenth months will become joyful and glad occasions and happy festivals for Judah. Therefore love truth and peace."

²⁰This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Many peoples and the inhabitants of many cities will yet come, ²¹and the inhabitants of one city will go to another and say, 'Let us go at once to entreat the LORD and seek the LORD Almighty. I myself am going.' ²²And many peoples and powerful nations will come to Jerusalem to seek the LORD Almighty and to entreat him."

²³This is what the LORD Almighty says: "In those days ten men from all languages and nations will take firm hold of one Jew by the hem of his robe and say, 'Let us go with you, because we have heard that God is with you.'"

Gaza will lose her king and Ashkelon will be deserted.

⁷I will take the blood from their mouths, the forbidden food from between their teeth.

Those who are left will belong to our God and become leaders in Judah, and Ekron will be like the Jebusites.

Never again will an oppressor overrun my people,

for now I am keeping watch.

New King, New Kingdom

The paradox of leadership that triumphs through suffering

Your king comes to you, righteous and having salvation, gentle and riding on a donkey 9:9

The book of Zechariah takes a radical turn at chapter 9. A series of messages from God, expressed in fragmented images, tell the future of the world—and the role of God's people in it.

These chapters are difficult to understand, even in our day. The ultimate future is clearly good, however; instead of remaining a small, subject nation, God's people will shake the world. The nations will worship at Jerusalem. "The LORD will be king over the whole earth" (14:9).

How could it be? Even for the Israelites this dream sounded farfetched. In Zechariah's day they needed clearance from the far-off Persian government just to rebuild their temple. Persia was the center of their world. Jerusalem hardly mattered. How could Israel become a great nation?

A Rejected Leader

These chapters of Zechariah show Israel's greatness emerging through struggle and suffering. No one who reads these words could have a false idea that God makes things easy. Evil and misery virtually triumph before God's final intervention.

The key to Israel's future is a coming leader—a very unusual leader. People naturally expected the Messiah to be a triumphant warrior, especially since many Old Testament prophecies spoke of him that way. But this king would come on a donkey instead of a warhorse (9:9). Zechariah speaks of a shepherd—a term for "leader"—who would be rejected by the nation (11:4-17). It describes a nation in mourning for "the one they have pierced" (12:10).

All these predictions of a coming leader were quoted in the New Testament as applying to Jesus: a king without an army, whose crown was made of thorns. In all the Old Testament, only Isaiah (especially in chapter 53) captures so fully the paradox of Jesus' life: gentle leadership that triumphs through suffering.

Life Questions. Who is the "greatest" person you've known up close? Did some kind of suffering contribute to his or her greatness?

³"My anger burns against the shepherds,
and I will punish the leaders;
for the LORD Almighty will care
for his flock, the house of Judah,
and make them like a proud horse in battle.
⁴From Judah will come the cornerstone,
from him the tent peg,
from him the battle bow,
from him every ruler.

⁵Together they^a will be like mighty men trampling the muddy streets in battle.
Because the LORD is with them,
they will fight and overthrow the horsemen.

⁶"I will strengthen the house of Judah and save the house of Joseph.
I will restore them
because I have compassion on them.
They will be as though
I had not rejected them,
for I am the LORD their God
and I will answer them.

⁷The Ephraimites will become like mighty men,
and their hearts will be glad as with wine.
Their children will see it and be joyful;
their hearts will rejoice in the LORD.

⁸I will signal for them and gather them in Surely I will redeem them;
they will be as numerous as before.

⁹Though I scatter them among the peoples,
yet in distant lands they will remember me.
They and their children will survive,
and they will return.

¹⁰I will bring them back from Egypt and gather them from Assyria.
I will bring them to Gilead and Lebanon,
and there will not be room enough for them.

¹¹They will pass through the sea of trouble;
the surging sea will be subdued
and all the depths of the Nile will dry up.
Assyria's pride will be brought down and Egypt's scepter will pass away.

¹²I will strengthen them in the LORD and in his name they will walk,"
declares the LORD.

11 Open your doors, O Lebanon,
so that fire may devour your cedars!
²Wail, O pine tree, for the cedar has fallen;
the stately trees are ruined!
Wail, oaks of Bashan,
the dense forest has been cut down!
³Listen to the wail of the shepherds;
their rich pastures are destroyed!
Listen to the roar of the lions;
the lush thicket of the Jordan is ruined!

Two Shepherds

⁴This is what the LORD my God says: "Pasture
the flock marked for slaughter. ⁵Their buyers slaughter them and go unpunished. Those who sell them say, 'Praise the LORD, I am rich!' Their own shepherds do not spare them. ⁶For I will no longer have pity on the people of the land," declares the LORD. "I will hand everyone over to his neighbor and his king. They will oppress the land, and I will not rescue them from their hands."

⁷So I pastured the flock marked for slaughter, particularly the oppressed of the flock. Then I took two staves and called one Favor and the other Union, and I pastured the flock. ⁸In one month I got rid of the three shepherds.

The flock detested me, and I grew weary of them ⁹and said, "I will not be your shepherd. Let the dying die, and the perishing perish. Let those who are left eat one another's flesh."

¹⁰Then I took my staff called Favor and broke it, revoking the covenant I had made with all the nations. ¹¹It was revoked on that day, and so the afflicted of the flock who were watching me knew it was the word of the LORD.

¹²I told them, "If you think it best, give me my pay; but if not, keep it." So they paid me thirty pieces of silver.

¹³And the LORD said to me, "Throw it to the potter"—the handsome price at which they priced me! So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the LORD to the potter.

¹⁴Then I broke my second staff called Union, breaking the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

¹⁵Then the LORD said to me, "Take again the equipment of a foolish shepherd. ¹⁶For I am going to raise up a shepherd over the land who will not care for the lost, or seek the young, or heal the injured, or feed the healthy, but will eat the meat
of the choice sheep, tearing off their hoofs.

¹⁷"Woe to the worthless shepherd,
who deserts the flock!

May the sword strike his arm and his right eye!
May his arm be completely withered,
his right eye totally blinded!"

Jerusalem's Enemies to Be Destroyed

An Oracle

12 This is the word of the LORD concerning Israel. The LORD, who stretches out the heavens, who lays the foundation of the earth, and who forms the spirit of man within him, declares:
²"I am going to make Jerusalem a cup that sends all the surrounding peoples reeling. Judah will be besieged as well as Jerusalem. ³On that day, when all the nations of the earth are gathered against her, I will make Jerusalem an immovable rock for all the nations. All who try to move it will injure themselves. ⁴On that day I will strike every horse with panic and its rider with madness," declares the LORD. "I will keep a watchful eye over the house of Judah, but I will blind all the horses of the nations.
⁵Then the leaders of Judah will say in their hearts,
'The people of Jerusalem are strong, because the LORD Almighty is their God.'

⁶"On that day I will make the leaders of Judah like a firepot in a woodpile, like a flaming torch among sheaves. They will consume right and left all the surrounding peoples, but Jerusalem will remain intact in her place.

⁷"The LORD will save the dwellings of Judah first, so that the honor of the house of David and of Jerusalem's inhabitants may not be greater than that of Judah. ⁸On that day the LORD will shield those who live in Jerusalem, so that the feeblest among them will be like David, and the house of David will be like God, like the Angel of the LORD going before them. ⁹On that day I will set out to destroy all the nations that attack Jerusalem.

Mourning for the One They Pierced

¹⁰"And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit^a of grace and supplication. They will look on^b me, the one they have pierced, and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child, and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son. ¹¹On that day the weeping in Jerusalem will be great, like the weeping of Hadad Rimmon in the plain of Megiddo. ¹²The land will mourn, each clan by itself, with their wives by themselves: the clan of the house of David and their wives, the clan of the house of Nathan and their wives, ¹³the clan of the house of Levi and their wives, the clan of Shimei and their wives, ¹⁴and all the rest of the clans and their wives.

Cleansing From Sin

13 "On that day a fountain will be opened to the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to cleanse them from sin and impurity.

²"On that day, I will banish the names of the idols from the land, and they will be remembered no more," declares the LORD Almighty. "I will remove both the prophets and the spirit of impurity from the land. ³And if anyone still prophesies, his father and mother, to whom he was born, will say to him, 'You must die, because you have told lies in the LORD's name.' When he prophesies, his own parents will stab him.

⁴"On that day every prophet will be ashamed of his prophetic vision. He will not put on a prophet's garment of hair in order to deceive. ⁵He will say, 'I am not a prophet. I am a farmer; the land has been my livelihood since my youth.'⁶ If someone asks him, 'What are these wounds on your body?' he will answer, 'The wounds I was given at the house of my friends.'

The Shepherd Struck, the Sheep Scattered

⁷"Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, against the man who is close to me!" declares the LORD Almighty.

"Strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered, and I will turn my hand against the little ones.

⁸In the whole land," declares the LORD, "two-thirds will be struck down and perish; yet one-third will be left in it.

⁹This third I will bring into the fire; I will refine them like silver and test them like gold.

They will call on my name and I will answer them; I will say, 'They are my people,' and they will say, 'The LORD is our God.'"

The LORD Comes and Reigns

14 A day of the LORD is coming when your plunder will be divided among you.

²I will gather all the nations to Jerusalem to fight against it; the city will be captured, the houses ransacked, and the women raped. Half of the city will go into exile, but the rest of the people will not be taken from the city.

³Then the LORD will go out and fight against those nations, as he fights in the day of battle. ⁴On that day his feet will stand on the Mount of Olives, east of Jerusalem, and the Mount of Olives will be split in two from east to west, forming a great valley, with half of the mountain moving north and half moving south. ⁵You will flee by my mountain valley, for it will extend to Azel. You will flee as you fled from the earthquake^c in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. Then the LORD my God will come, and all the holy ones with him.

⁶On that day there will be no light, no cold or frost. ⁷It will be a unique day, without daytime or nighttime—a day known to the LORD. When evening comes, there will be light.

⁸On that day living water will flow out from Jerusalem, half to the eastern sea^d and half to the western sea,^e in summer and in winter.

⁹The LORD will be king over the whole earth. On that day there will be one LORD, and his name the only name.

¹⁰The whole land, from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem, will become like the Arabah. But Jerusalem will be raised up and remain in its place, from the Benjamin Gate to the site of the First Gate, to the Corner Gate, and from the Tower of Hananel to the royal winepresses. ¹¹It will be inhabited; never again will it be destroyed. Jerusalem will be secure.

¹²This is the plague with which the LORD will strike all the nations that fought against Jerusalem: Their flesh will rot while they are still standing on their feet, their eyes will rot in their sockets, and their tongues will rot in their mouths. ¹³On that day men will be stricken by the LORD with great panic. Each man will seize the hand of another, and they will attack each other. ¹⁴Judah too will fight at Jerusalem. The wealth of all the surround-

13:7 A Prophecy of Jesus

Jesus applied this verse to himself just before he died (Matthew 26:31). Some commentators believe that his words about the shepherd who "lays his life down for his sheep" (John 10) also drew on this passage. Zechariah's prophecies were on the minds of the Gospel writers: 9:9 is quoted in Matthew 21:5; 12:10 in John 19:37; and 11:12-13 in Matthew 27:9.

ing nations will be collected—great quantities of gold and silver and clothing. ¹⁹A similar plague will strike the horses and mules, the camels and donkeys, and all the animals in those camps.

²⁰Then the survivors from all the nations that have attacked Jerusalem will go up year after year to worship the King, the Lord Almighty, and to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles. ²¹If any of the peoples of the earth do not go up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the Lord Almighty, they will have no rain. If the Egyptian people do not go up and celebrate, they will have no rain. The Lord will bring on them the plague he inflicts on the nations that do not go up to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles. ²²This will be the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that do not go up to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles.

²³On that day HOLY TO THE LORD will be inscribed on the bells of the horses, and the cooking pots in the Lord's house will be like the sacred bowls in front of the altar. ²⁴Every pot in Jerusalem and Judah will be holy to the Lord Almighty, and all who come to sacrifice will take some of the pots and cook in them. And on that day there will no longer be a Canaanite^a in the house of the Lord Almighty.

14:21 No More Secular and Sacred

The priests and the temple had always been separate and more holy than the rest of Israel. HOLY TO THE LORD had been inscribed on the priests' turbans (Exodus 28:36) as a symbol of this. But, Zechariah predicted, in the future such words would decorate even horses. Ordinary kitchen pots would become as sacred as the holy sacramental vessels. There would no longer be a distinction between the sacred and secular, for everything would be sacred.

MALACHI

INTRODUCTION

When Faith Grows Weary

Malachi spoke to people "going through the motions"

"A son honors his father, and a servant his master. If I am a father, where is the honor due me?" 1:6

Success has dangers of its own. When you reach the top, you may tend to slack off. Spiritual life can gradually deteriorate too.

Malachi, in this short book, tried to awaken Israel from slackness in relating to God. Years before, they had optimistically returned to Jerusalem after a long exile. Their faith had grown deeper through difficulties. Despite fierce opposition they had rebuilt the temple, the symbol of their hope in God. They had expected God to supernaturally fill it with his glory and make their nation the center of the world.

By Malachi's time Israel's hope had faded. In fact, life seemed to have passed the Israelites by. They could not see that God loved them (1:2), and they felt that serving God brought no reward (2:17; 3:14).

No Big Sinners

The people of Jerusalem had become lukewarm. Their complaints showed it, and so did their actions. They were not "big" sinners like the people before the exile, who had practiced child sacrifice and brought idols into the temple. Malachi's people had kept their religion, but they had lost contact with the God whom the religion was all about.

While Malachi mentioned the same injustices and evils earlier prophets had blasted (3:5), he concentrated most of his energy on problems that may seem petty in comparison: mixed marriages, divorce, and apathetic worship (shown in their second-rate offerings). Through Malachi's eyes, we see the Israelites going through the motions of their faith, doing the bare minimum.

How do you heat up a lukewarm faith? Malachi used several tactics. He began with God's love. To his audience, it was not apparent. But if they would compare their situation with neighboring Edom's, they would see that God had been caring for them all along.

Curing a Careless Attitude

Malachi then challenged the Jews to take obedience seriously. They were bringing injured or sick animals to God for offerings. "Try offering them to your governor!" Malachi said. "Would he be pleased with you?" (1:8). Malachi urged them to bring the perfect animals God's law demands and his honor requires. Malachi further demanded that they stop marrying women of other religions, a practice that inevitably introduced religious compromise. They must also put an end to divorce. And finally, they must bring a full tenth—the "tithe"—of their income to God at the temple. Their skimping amounted to robbery—robbery from God.

Malachi didn't demand these changes just because they were in the rulebook. They were actions meant to symbolize an inner attitude. The people must practice their faith seriously. "Test me in this," says the Lord Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that you will not have room enough for it" (3:10).

The Last Voice

Malachi's was the last Old Testament voice. It reverberated through 400 or more years of biblical silence. During those years at least some of Malachi's message took hold. Led by the Pharisees, Jews became increasingly devoted to keeping the Old Testament law. Unfortunately, many of them lost Malachi's main point. They forgot that the law was not an end in itself. It was a means by which to give God the honor he deserves.

How to Read Malachi

God's voice dominates Malachi, the voice of a loving father pleading with his children. The people's response is given in the form of seven questions or complaints. The result is a kind of dialogue—almost an argument—which lets you see into the personal attitudes of God and the people he is speaking to.

As in most arguments, a variety of issues are raised, but they are all rooted in a few basic attitudes. As you read through Malachi, try to see what attitudes lay behind the questions, complaints, and problems of God's people. Also note what attitudes lay behind God's words and promises to them.

You can place Malachi's message in the context of Israelite history by looking up "A Lineup of Rulers" page 338.

PLANS FOR READING MALACHI

PLAN 1: An Overview of Malachi in 1 Day

- Day 1. Read the Introduction to Malachi, and chapter 3, which lays out some of God's promises and expectations for his people.

PLAN 2: All of Malachi in 3 Days

1 An oracle: The word of the LORD to Israel through Malachi.^a

Jacob Loved, Esau Hated

²"I have loved you," says the LORD.

"But you ask, 'How have you loved us?'"

Was not Esau Jacob's brother?" the LORD says. "Yet I have loved Jacob, ³but Esau I have hated, and I have turned his mountains into a wasteland and left his inheritance to the desert jackals."

⁴Edom may say, "Though we have been crushed, we will rebuild the ruins."

But this is what the LORD Almighty says: "They may build, but I will demolish. They will be called the Wicked Land, a people always under the wrath of the LORD. ⁵You will see it with your own eyes and say, 'Great is the LORD—even beyond the borders of Israel!'"

Blemished Sacrifices

⁶"A son honors his father, and a servant his master. If I am a father, where is the honor due me? If I am a master, where is the respect due me?" says the LORD Almighty. "It is you, O priests, who show contempt for my name.

"But you ask, 'How have we shown contempt for your name?'"

⁷"You place defiled food on my altar.

But you ask, 'How have we defiled you?'"

By saying that the LORD's table is contemptible. ⁸When you bring blind animals for sacrifice, is that not wrong? When you sacrifice crippled or diseased animals, is that not wrong? Try offering them to your governor! Would he be pleased with you? Would he accept you?" says the LORD Almighty

⁹"Now implore God to be gracious to us. With such offerings from your hands, will he accept you?"—says the LORD Almighty.

¹⁰"Oh, that one of you would shut the temple doors, so that you would not light useless fires on my altar! I am not pleased with you," says the LORD Almighty, "and I will accept no offering from your hands. ¹¹My name will be great among the nations, from the rising to the setting of the sun. In every place incense and pure offerings will be brought to my name, because my name will be great among the nations," says the LORD Almighty.

¹²"But you profane it by saying of the Lord's table, 'It is defiled,' and of its food, 'It is contemptible.' ¹³And you say, 'What a burden!' and you sniff at it contemptuously," says the LORD Almighty.

"When you bring injured, crippled or diseased animals and offer them as sacrifices, should I accept them from your hands?" says the LORD. ¹⁴"Cursed is the cheat who has an acceptable male in his flock and vows to give it, but then sacrifices a blemished animal to the Lord. For I am a great king," says the LORD Almighty, "and my name is to be feared among the nations.

Admonition for the Priests

2 "And now this admonition is for you, O priests. ²If you do not listen, and if you do not set your heart to honor my name," says the LORD Almighty, "I will send a curse upon you, and I will curse your blessings. Yes, I have already cursed them, because you have not set your heart to honor me.

³"Because of you I will rebuke^b your descendants; I will spread on your faces the oil from your festival sacrifices, and you will be carried off with it. ⁴And you will know that I have sent you this admonition so that my covenant with Levi may continue," says the LORD Almighty. ⁵"My covenant was with him, a covenant of life and peace, and I gave them to him; this called for reverence and he revered me and stood in awe of my name. ⁶True instruction was in his mouth and nothing false was found on his lips. He walked with me in peace and uprightness, and turned many from sin.

⁷"For the lips of a priest ought to preserve knowledge, and from his mouth men should seek instruction—because he is the messenger of the LORD Almighty. ⁸But you have turned from the way and by your teaching have caused many to stumble; you have violated the covenant with Levi," says the LORD Almighty. ⁹"So I have caused you to be despised and humiliated before all the people, because you have not followed my ways but have shown partiality in matters of the law."

Judah Unfaithful

¹⁰Have we not all one Father?^b Did not one God create us? Why do we profane the covenant of our fathers by breaking faith with one another?

¹¹Judah has broken faith. A detestable thing has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem: Judah has desecrated the sanctuary the LORD loves, by marrying the daughter of a foreign god. ¹²As for the man who does this, whoever he may be, may the LORD cut him off from the tents of Jacob^c—even though he brings offerings to the LORD Almighty.

¹³Another thing you do: You flood the LORD's altar with tears. You weep and wail because he no longer pays attention to your offerings or accepts them with pleasure from your hands. ¹⁴You ask, "Why?" It is because the LORD is acting as the witness between you and the wife of your youth, because you have broken faith with her, though she is your partner, the wife of your marriage covenant.

¹⁵Has not [the LORD] made them one? In flesh and spirit they are his. And why one? Because he was seeking godly offspring.^d So guard yourself in your spirit, and do not break faith with the wife of your youth.

¹⁶"I hate divorce," says the LORD God of Israel, "and I hate a man's covering himself with violence as well as with his garment," says the LORD Almighty.

So guard yourself in your spirit, and do not break faith.

The Day of Judgment

¹⁷You have wearied the LORD with your words. "How have we wearied him?" you ask.

By saying, "All who do evil are good in the eyes of the LORD, and he is pleased with them" or "Where is the God of justice?"

3 "See, I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the LORD Almighty.

²But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Then the LORD will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness, and the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable to the LORD, as in days gone by, as in former years.

³"So I will come near to you for judgment. I will be quick to testify against sorcerers, adulterers and perjurers, against those who defraud laborers of their wages, who oppress the widows and the fatherless, and deprive aliens of justice, but do not fear me," says the LORD Almighty.

Robbing God

⁴"I the LORD do not change. So you, O descendants of Jacob, are not destroyed. ⁷Ever since the time of your forefathers you have turned away from my decrees and have not kept them. Return to me, and I will return to you," says the LORD Almighty.

"But you ask, 'How are we to return?'

⁸'Will a man rob God? Yet you rob me.

"But you ask, 'How do we rob you?'

⁹'In tithes and offerings. ⁹You are under a curse—the whole nation of you—because you are robbing me. ¹⁰Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house. Test me in this," says the LORD Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that you will not have room enough for it. ¹¹I will prevent pests from devouring your crops, and the vines in your fields will not cast their fruit," says the LORD Almighty. ¹²"Then all the nations will call you blessed, for yours will be a delightful land," says the LORD Almighty.

¹³"You have said harsh things against me," says the LORD.

"Yet you ask, 'What have we said against you?'

3:1 What Difference Does Serving God Make?

Here and in 3:14 people harshly complained they could see no point in serving God, when you got no special reward. In responding, God did not try to convince them that the righteous were, in fact, better off. He told them that he keeps a "scroll of remembrance," on which he records those who fear him, and that sometime in the future he will come as judge, destroying the wicked and preserving those who fear him. The value of serving him will be obvious someday, even if it is not today.

We will not see the arrogant blessed.’”¹⁵“But now we will see the arrogant blessed, for the evildoers will prosper, and even those who sow trouble will escape.”

¹⁶“But those who feared the LORD talked with each other, and the LORD listened and heard. A remembrance was written in his presence for those who feared the LORD and honored his name.”

¹⁷“They will be mine,” says the LORD Almighty, “on the day when I make up my treasured possession.”¹⁸“I will spare them, just as in compassion a man spares his son who serves him.”¹⁹“And you will also see the distinction between the righteous and the wicked, between those who serve God and those who do not.”

The Day of the Lord

† Surely the day is coming; it will burn like a furnace. All the arrogant and every evildoer will be stubble, and that day that is coming will set them on fire,” says the LORD Almighty. “Not a root or a branch will be left to them.”²“But for you who revere my name, the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings. And you will go out and leap like calves released from the stall.”³“Then you will trample down the wicked; they will be ashes under the soles of your feet on the day when I do these things,” says the LORD Almighty.

⁴“Remember the law of my servant Moses, the decrees and laws I gave him at Horeb for all Israel.”

⁵“See, I will send you the prophet Elijah before that great and dreadful day of the LORD comes. He will turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers, or else I will come and strike the land with a curse.”

4:5 The Second Elijah

The prophet Elijah, Malachi predicted, would precede the Lord. This prophecy was carefully noted in the New Testament. Jesus identified John the Baptist as the one predicted (Matthew 11:14; 17:9-13).

MATTHEW

INTRODUCTION

A Bridge from Old to New

Why start with a list of names?

... will give birth to a son, and you are to give him the name Jesus, because he will save his people from their sins." 1:21

For over a hundred years, nothing new was added to the Bible. The prophets fell silent. During the same Middle Eastern empires rose and fell, and the tiny nation of Israel suffered under the domination of greater powers like Greece and Rome.

And then, something momentous happened. A baby was born—a baby unlike any who had ever come before. By introducing this baby who grew into the man Jesus, the book of Matthew opens a whole new section of the Bible—the New Testament.

Matthew makes his intentions clear from the very first sentence: he connects Jesus' arrival with the Old Testament story line. Jesus was a Jew, he says, the son of Abraham. And also a king, the son of David. Matthew then sets out to prove an audacious claim: this Jesus, from the humble town of Nazareth, is the very "Messiah," the deliverer promised back in the Old Testament. (Christ is a Greek translation of the word Messiah).

Jesus' Family Tree

People all over the world, especially Jews, had been eagerly awaiting the Messiah. His coming would change the entire history of the world, they believed. Could this carpenter's son be the long expected king? To answer that question, Matthew starts with a genealogy.

Genealogies—long lists of names—rarely prove interesting to anyone but the people directly involved. To those people, however, the lists are anything but boring.

Listen to one modern author describe what it was like to hear an ancient genealogy: "There is an expression—the peak experience, a moment which emotionally can never again be equaled in your life. I had mine, that first day in the village of Juffure, in black west Africa . . . Goose bumps came out on me the size of marbles." With those words, Alex Haley, author of Roots, recalls the day he first heard, from the lips of an aged storyteller, the account of young Kunta Kinte being taken captive by slave traders in 1752.

The Importance of Roots

Haley's ancestors had descended directly from a native African captured in a tiny village in Gambia. The day he listened to the gentle African elder recite, "And so-and-so took as a wife so-and-so, and begat so-and-so," the final link in Haley's family chain snapped into place. Roots tells the story of this connection.

In a similar way, the book of Matthew doesn't begin with Jesus' birth, but reaches back further to establish his roots. If indeed Jesus is the Messiah, his ancestors must match up to that claim. As any student of history knows, kings don't merely declare themselves; they must belong to a royal line. Matthew traces Jesus' lineage to the father of the Jewish race, Abraham—who first received the promise of the Messiah—then to the great Jewish king, David.

Links to the Old Testament

After recording Jesus' bloodline, Matthew narrates the story of Jesus' life on earth. He relies heavily on the Old Testament, quoting it more frequently than does any other New Testament author. (Note such phrases as "that it might be fulfilled as was spoken by the prophets.")

The first book in the New Testament, then, stands as the Gospel that pulls things together, the link between the old and the new. Matthew starts with Jesus' roots, but he also contrasts Jesus with the traditional Jewish picture of the Messiah. Jesus, a king, ended thousands of years of eager waiting. But he came to establish a wholly new kind of kingdom—a kingdom different from what anyone expected.

How to Read Matthew

Anybody who has looked over an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) form knows what tax collectors like: neat, orderly rows of figures, with all expenses and income classified by type and source. Fittingly, the Gospel attributed to former tax collector Matthew reflects systematic, ledger-sheet thinking. He doesn't tell Jesus' story chronologically; he groups facts topically.

Matthew collects Jesus' sayings in five main places. First comes the famous Sermon on the Mount in chapters 5-7. Chapter 10 records Jesus' instructions to his disciples about their mission; chapter 13, a series of parables on the kingdom; chapter 18, Christ's words on the church as a community; and chapters 23-25, Jesus' thoughts on religious hypocrisy and his predictions of the future. Sandwiched in among these five great discourses you'll find connected scenes of Jesus in action.

The skillful blending of Jesus' action and teaching has helped earn this Gospel an esteemed place in literature. Artists are often drawn to it as a capsule summary of Jesus' ministry: witness J.S. Bach's greatest choral work, St. Matthew's Passion, the joyous play Godspell, and Pasolini's film The Gospel according to St. Matthew. The French skeptic Renan praised Matthew as "the most important book of Christendom—the most important book that has ever been written."

Two approaches will help in a detailed study of Matthew. First, consider how it differs from the other three Gospels; this will give you some idea of Matthew's distinctive purpose. Then, you will find it enlightening to look up many of Matthew's references to the Old Testament. Most are cited in footnotes.

PLANS FOR READING MATTHEW

PLAN 1: An Overview of Matthew in 7 Days

- ☐ Day 1. Read the Introduction to Matthew. Then turn to Matthew 5 and begin the Sermon on the Mount.
- ☐ Day 2. Read chapter 6, a continuation of Jesus' longest single speech, perhaps the most familiar passage in the entire Bible.
- ☐ Day 3. Matthew 13 records some of Jesus' parables—concise stories with a powerful meaning behind them. Read these parables about the "kingdom of heaven," referring to "What Should a Leader Look Like?", for help in understanding.
- ☐ Day 4. As a former tax collector, Matthew was especially sensitive to what Jesus had to say about money. Read his comments on this and other topics in chapter 19.
- ☐ Day 5. The last three chapters of Matthew give a complete, factual account of Jesus' death. Read chapter 26, the story of the arrest and trial.
- ☐ Day 6. Continue the crucifixion story with chapter 27.
- ☐ Day 7. Read chapter 28, which tells of Jesus' resurrection.

PLAN 2: All of Matthew in 28 Days

- ☐ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5 ☐ 6 ☐ 7 ☐ 8 ☐ 9 ☐ 10 ☐ 11 ☐ 12 ☐ 13 ☐ 14 ☐ 15 ☐ 16

The Genealogy of Jesus

1 A record of the genealogy of Jesus Christ the son of David, the son of Abraham

Abraham was the father of Isaac Isaac the father of Jacob
 Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers Judah the father of Perez and Zerah whose mother was Tamar, Perez the father of Hezron
 Hezron the father of Ram,
 Ram the father of Amminadab
 Amminadab the father of Nahshon
 Nahshon the father of Salmon Salmon the father of Boaz, whose mother was Rahab
 Boaz the father of Obed, whose mother was Ruth Obed the father of Jesse and Jesse the father of King David

David was the father of Solomon, whose mother had been Uriah's wife
 Solomon the father of Rehoboam, Rehoboam the father of Abijah, Abijah the father of Asa Asa the father of Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat the father of Jehoram,
 Jehoram the father of Uzziah,
 Uzziah the father of Jotham, Jotham the father of Ahaz,
 Ahaz the father of Hezekiah,
 Hezekiah the father of Manasseh,
 Manasseh the father of Amon, Amon the father of Josiah, and Josiah the father of Jeconiah¹¹ and his brothers at the time of the exile to Babylon

After the exile to Babylon:
 Jeconiah was the father of Shealtiel,
 Shealtiel the father of Zerubbabel, ¹³Zerubbabel the father of Abiud,
 Abiud the father of Eliakim,
 Eliakim the father of Azor, ¹⁴Azor the father of Zadok,
 Zadok the father of Akim,
 Akim the father of Eliud, ¹⁵Eliud the father of Eleazar,
 Eleazar the father of Matthan,
 Matthan the father of Jacob, ¹⁶and Jacob the father of Joseph, the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ

¹⁷Thus there were fourteen generations in all from Abraham to David, fourteen from David to the exile to Babylon, and fourteen from the exile to the Christ.¹⁸

The Birth of Jesus Christ

¹⁸This is how the birth of Jesus Christ came about: His mother Mary was pledged to be married to Joseph, but before they came together, she was found to be with child through the Holy Spirit.

¹⁹Because Joseph her husband was a righteous man and did not want to expose her to public disgrace, he had in mind to divorce her quietly.

²⁰But after he had considered this, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream and said,
 "Joseph son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary home as your wife, because what is conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit. She will give birth to a son, and you are to give him the name Jesus, because he will save his people from their sins."

²¹All this took place to fulfill what the Lord had said through the prophet: ²²"The virgin will be with child and will give birth to a son, and they will call him Immanuel," which means "God with us."

²³When Joseph woke up, he did what the angel of the Lord had commanded him and took Mary home as his wife. ²⁴But he had no union with her until she gave birth to a son. And he gave him the name Jesus.

The Visit of the Magi

2 After Jesus was born in Bethlehem in Judea during the time of King Herod, Magi from the east came to Jerusalem and asked, "Where is the one who has been born king of the Jews? We saw his star in the east and have come to worship
 him."

³When King Herod heard this he was disturbed, and all Jerusalem with him. ⁴When he had called together all the people's chief priests and teachers of the law, he asked them where the Christ⁵ was to be born. ⁵"In Bethlehem in Judea," they replied,
 "for this is what the prophet has written:

^{6a} "But you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, are by no means least among the rulers of Judah;

for out of you will come a ruler
 who will be the shepherd of my people
 Israel."

⁷Then Herod called the Magi secretly and found out from them the exact time the star had appeared. ⁸He sent them to Bethlehem and said, "Go and make a careful search for the child. As soon as you find him, report to me, so that I too may go and worship him."

⁹After they had heard the king, they went on their way, and the star they had seen in the east went ahead of them until it stopped over the place

1:18 More Than Engaged

Jewish custom in Joseph and Mary's day recognized a state called "betrothal" that fell somewhere between our modern commitments of engagement and marriage. A betrothal was more binding than an engagement; it could only be broken with an act of divorce. And if a betrothed woman became pregnant, she was regarded as an adulteress.

¹¹ That is, Jehoiachin, also in verse 12.

Then they opened their treasures and presented him with gifts of gold and of incense and of myrrh. ¹²And having been warned in a dream not to go back to Herod, they returned to their country by another route.

The Escape to Egypt

¹³When they had gone, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream. "Get up," he said, "take the child and his mother and escape to Egypt. Stay there until I tell you, for Herod is going to search for the child to kill him."

¹⁴So he got up, took the child and his mother during the night and left for Egypt, ¹⁵where he stayed until the death of Herod. And so was fulfilled what the Lord had said through the prophet: "Out of Egypt I called my son."^a ¹⁶When Herod realized that he had been outwitted by the Magi, he was furious, and he gave orders to kill all the boys in Bethlehem and its vicinity who were two years old and under, in accordance with the time he had learned from the Magi. ¹⁷Then what was said through the prophet Jeremiah was fulfilled:

¹⁸"A voice is heard in Ramah,
weeping and great mourning,
Rachel weeping for her children
and refusing to be comforted,
because they are no more."^b

The Return to Nazareth

¹⁹After Herod died, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt ²⁰and said, "Get up, take the child and his mother and go to the land of Israel, for those who were trying to take the child's life are dead."

²¹So he got up, took the child and his mother and went to the land of Israel. ²²But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning in Judea in place of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there. Having been warned in a dream, he withdrew to the district of Galilee, ²³and he went and lived in a town called Nazareth. So was fulfilled what was said through the prophets: "He will be called a Nazarene."

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

3 In those days John the Baptist came, preaching in the Desert of Judea ²and saying, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is near." ³This is he who was spoken of through the prophet Isaiah

"A voice of one calling in the desert,
'Prepare the way for the Lord,
make straight paths for him.'"^c

⁴John's clothes were made of camel's hair, and he had a leather belt around his waist. His food was locusts and wild honey. ⁵People went out to him from Jerusalem and all Judea and the whole region of the Jordan. ⁶Confessing their sins, they were baptized by him in the Jordan River.

⁷But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to where he was baptizing, he said to them: "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath? ⁸Produce fruit in keeping with repentance. ⁹And do not think you can say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' I tell you that out of these stones God can raise up children for Abraham. ¹⁰The ax is already at the root of the trees, and every tree that does not produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire.

¹¹"I baptize you with^d water for repentance. But after me will come one who is more powerful than I, whose sandals I am not fit to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. ¹²His winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor, gathering his wheat into the barn and burning up the chaff with unquenchable fire."

The Baptism of Jesus

¹³Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan to be baptized by John. ¹⁴But John tried to deter him, saying, "I need to be baptized by you, and do you come to me?"

¹⁵Jesus replied, "Let it be so now; it is proper for us to do this to fulfill all righteousness." Then John consented.

¹⁶As soon as Jesus was baptized, he went up out of the water. At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and lighting on him. ¹⁷And a voice from heaven said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased."

The Temptation of Jesus

4 Then Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil. ²After fasting forty days and forty nights, he was hungry. ³The tempter came to him and said, "If you are the Son of God, tell these stones to become bread."

⁴Jesus answered, "It is written: 'Man does not live on bread alone, but on every word that comes from the mouth of God.'^e"

⁵Then the devil took him to the holy city and had him stand on the highest point of the temple. ⁶"If you are the Son of God," he said, "throw yourself down. For it is written:

" 'He will command his angels concerning you,
and they will lift you up in their hands,
so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.'^f"

2:11 The Wise Men

Of the four Gospels, Matthew alone tells of the visit of the Magi, or wise men. This incident shows that people from other parts of the world, not just from Israel, were anticipating the Messiah. The Magi's visit underscores that Jesus came for all people, not just the Jews. The last words of this Gospel spell out that mission very clearly.

heaven. ²⁰For I tell you that unless your righteousness surpasses that of the Pharisees and the teachers of the law, you will certainly not enter the kingdom of heaven.

Murder

²¹"You have heard that it was said to the people long ago, 'Do not murder,'^a and anyone who murders will be subject to judgment. ²²But I tell you that anyone who is angry with his brother^b will be subject to judgment. Again, anyone who says to his brother 'Raca'^c is answerable to the Sanhedrin. But anyone who says, 'You fool!' will be in danger of the fire of hell.

²³Therefore, if you are offering your gift at the altar and there remember that your brother has something against you, ²⁴leave your gift there in front of the altar. First go and be reconciled to your brother; then come and offer your gift.

²⁵"Settle matters quickly with your adversary who is taking you to court. Do it while you are still with him on the way, or he may hand you over to the judge, and the judge may hand you over to the officer, and you may be thrown into prison. ²⁶I tell you the truth, you will not get out until you have paid the last penny.^d

Adultery

²⁷"You have heard that it was said, 'Do not commit adultery.'^e ²⁸But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart. ²⁹If your right eye causes you to sin, gouge it out and throw it away. It is better for you to lose one part of your body than for your whole body to be thrown into hell. ³⁰And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It is better for you to lose one part of your body than for your whole body to go into hell.

Divorce

³¹"It has been said, 'Anyone who divorces his wife must give her a certificate of divorce.'^f ³²But I tell you that anyone who divorces his wife, except for marital unfaithfulness, causes her to become an adulteress, and anyone who marries the divorced woman commits adultery.

Oaths

³³"Again, you have heard that it was said to the people long ago, 'Do not break your oath, but keep the oaths you have made to the Lord.'^g ³⁴But I tell you, Do not swear at all: either by heaven, for it is God's throne; ³⁵or by the earth, for it is his footstool; or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the Great King. ³⁶And do not swear by your head, for you cannot make even one hair white or black. ³⁷Simply let your 'Yes' be 'Yes,' and your 'No,' 'No,' anything beyond this comes from the evil one.

An Eye for an Eye

³⁸"You have heard that it was said, 'Eye for eye, and tooth for tooth.'^h ³⁹But I tell you, Do not resist an evil person. If someone strikes you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also. ⁴⁰And if someone wants to sue you and take your tunic, let him have your cloak as well. ⁴¹If someone forces you to go one mile, go with him two miles. ⁴²Give to the one who asks you, and do not turn away from the one who wants to borrow from you.

Love for Enemies

⁴³"You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighborⁱ and hate your enemy.'^j ⁴⁴But I tell you: Love your enemies^k and pray for those who persecute you, ⁴⁵that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. ⁴⁶If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? ⁴⁷And if you greet only your brothers, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? ⁴⁸Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

Giving to the Needy

6 "Be careful not to do your 'acts of righteousness' before men, to be seen by them. If you do, you will have no reward from your Father in heaven.

²"So when you give to the needy, do not announce it with trumpets, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and on the streets, to be honored by men. I tell you the truth, they have received their reward in full. ³But when you give to the needy, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, ⁴so that your giving may be in secret. Then your Father, who sees what is done in secret, will reward you.

Prayer

⁵"And when you pray, do not be like the hypocrites, for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the street corners to be seen by men. I tell you the truth, they have received their reward in full. ⁶But when you pray, go into your room, close the door and pray to your Father, who is unseen. Then your Father, who sees what is done in secret, will reward you. ⁷And when you pray, do not keep on babbling like pagans, for they think they will be heard because of their many words. ⁸Do not be like them, for your Father knows what you need before you ask him.

⁹"This, then, is how you should pray:

5:17 Jesus and Moses' Law

In this statement, Jesus clarifies his relationship to the Law of Moses. The next chapter gets more specific, contrasting Jesus' teaching with many common interpretations of that Law. "You have heard that it was said . . .," he begins, and then concludes, "But I tell you . . ." Jesus revealed the true intent of the Old Testament law, rather than its legalistic interpretations.

Do Not Worry

²⁵"Therefore I tell you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or drink; or about your body, what you will wear. Is not life more important than food, and the body more important than clothes? ²⁶Look at the birds of the air; they do not sow or reap or store away in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not much more valuable than they? ²⁷Who of you by worrying can add a single hour to his life?"

²⁸"And why do you worry about clothes? See how the lilies of the field grow. They do not labor or spin. ²⁹Yet I tell you that not even Solomon in all his splendor was dressed like one of these. ³⁰If that is how God clothes the grass of the field, which is here today and tomorrow is thrown into the fire, will he not much more clothe you, O you of little faith? ³¹So do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' ³²For the pagans run after all these things, and your heavenly Father knows that you need them. ³³But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well. ³⁴Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own.

7 "Do not judge, or you too will be judged. ²For in the same way you judge others, you will be judged, and with the measure you use, it will be measured to you

³"Why do you look at the speck of sawdust in your brother's eye and pay no attention to the plank in your own eye? ⁴How can you say to your brother, 'Let me take the speck out of your eye,' when all the time there is a plank in your own eye? ⁵You hypocrite, first take the plank out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother's eye.

⁶"Do not give dogs what is sacred; do not throw your pearls to pigs. If you do, they may trample them under their feet, and then turn and tear you to pieces.

Ask, Seek, Knock

⁷"Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you. ⁸For everyone who asks receives; he who seeks finds; and to him who knocks, the door will be opened

⁹"Which of you, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? ¹⁰Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a snake? ¹¹If you, then, though you are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give good gifts to those who ask him! ¹²So in everything, do to others what you would have them do to you, for this sums up the Law and the Prophets.

The Narrow and Wide Gates

¹³"Enter through the narrow gate. For wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter through it. ¹⁴But small is the gate and narrow the road that leads to life, and only a few find it.

A Tree and Its Fruit

¹⁵"Watch out for false prophets. They come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ferocious wolves. ¹⁶By their fruit you will recognize them. Do people pick grapes from thornbushes, or figs from thistles? ¹⁷Likewise every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. ¹⁸A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, and a bad tree cannot bear good fruit. ¹⁹Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. ²⁰Thus, by their fruit you will recognize them ²¹"Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only he who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. ²²Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' ²³Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'

The Wise and Foolish Builders

²⁴"Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on the rock. ²⁵The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house; yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the rock. ²⁶But everyone who hears these words of mine and does not put them into practice is like a foolish man who built his house on sand. ²⁷The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell with a great crash."

²⁸When Jesus had finished saying these things, the crowds were amazed at his teaching, ²⁹because he taught as one who had authority, and not as their teachers of the law.

The Man With Leprosy

8 When he came down from the mountainside, large crowds followed him. ²A man with leprosy^b came and knelt before him and said, "Lord, if you are willing, you can make me clean."

³Jesus reached out his hand and touched the man. "I am willing," he said. "Be clean!" Immediately

8:1 Following Up Words with Actions

Typically, Matthew blends together Jesus' words and actions. Chapters 5-7 contain Jesus' longest recorded speech, the Sermon on the Mount—a speech that greatly affected the audience. The next few chapters mention ten miracles performed by Jesus, which further established his authority.

^a 77 Or single cubit to his height

The Faith of the Centurion

⁵When Jesus had entered Capernaum, a centurion came to him, asking for help. ⁶"Lord," he said, "my servant lies at home paralyzed and in terrible suffering."

Jesus said to him, "I will go and heal him."

⁷The centurion replied, "Lord, I do not deserve to have you come under my roof. But just say the word, and my servant will be healed. ⁸For I myself am a man under authority, with soldiers under me. I tell this one, 'Go,' and he goes; and that one, 'Come,' and he comes. I say to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it."

¹⁰When Jesus heard this, he was astonished and said to those following him, "I tell you the truth, I have not found anyone in Israel with such great faith. ¹¹I say to you that many will come from the east and the west, and will take their places at the feast with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. ¹²But the subjects of the kingdom will be thrown outside, into the darkness, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

¹³Then Jesus said to the centurion, "Go! It will be done just as you believed it would." And his servant was healed at that very hour.

Jesus Heals Many

¹⁴When Jesus came into Peter's house, he saw Peter's mother-in-law lying in bed with a fever. ¹⁵He touched her hand and the fever left her, and she got up and began to wait on him.

¹⁶When evening came, many who were demon-possessed were brought to him, and he drove out the spirits with a word and healed all the sick.

¹⁷This was to fulfill what was spoken through the prophet Isaiah

¹⁸"He took up our infirmities and carried our diseases."^b

The Cost of Following Jesus

¹⁹When Jesus saw the crowd around him, he gave orders to cross to the other side of the lake.

²⁰Then a teacher of the law came to him and said, "Teacher, I will follow you wherever you go."

²¹Jesus replied, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has no place to lay his head."

²²Another disciple said to him, "Lord, first let me go and bury my father."

²³But Jesus told him, "Follow me, and let the dead bury their own dead."

Jesus Calms the Storm

²⁴Then he got into the boat and his disciples followed him. ²⁵Without warning, a furious storm came up on the lake, so that the waves swept over the boat. But Jesus was sleeping. ²⁶The disciples went and woke him, saying, "Lord, save us! We're going to drown!"

²⁷He replied, "You of little faith, why are you so afraid?" Then he got up and rebuked the winds and the waves, and it was completely calm.

²⁸The men were amazed and asked, "What kind of man is this? Even the winds and the waves obey him!"

The Healing of Two Demon-possessed Men

²⁹When he arrived at the other side in the region of the Gadarenes,^c two demon-possessed men coming from the tombs met him. They were so violent that no one could pass that way. ³⁰"What do you want with us, Son of God?" they shouted. "Have you come here to torture us before the appointed time?"

³¹Some distance from them a large herd of pigs was feeding. ³²The demons begged Jesus, "If you drive us out, send us into the herd of pigs."

³³He said to them, "Go!" So they came out and went into the pigs, and the whole herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake and died in the water. ³⁴Those tending the pigs ran off, went into the town and reported all this, including what had happened to the demon-possessed men. ³⁵Then the whole town went out to meet Jesus. And when they saw him, they pleaded with him to leave their region.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

³⁶Jesus stepped into a boat, crossed over and came to his own town. ³⁷Some men brought to him a paralytic, lying on a mat. When Jesus saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Take heart, son; your sins are forgiven."

³⁸At this, some of the teachers of the law said to themselves, "This fellow is blaspheming!"

³⁹Knowing their thoughts, Jesus said, "Why do you entertain evil thoughts in your hearts? ⁴⁰Which is easier: to say, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Get up and walk'? ⁴¹But so that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins. . . ." Then he said to the paralytic, "Get up, take your mat and go home." ⁴²And the man got up and went home. ⁴³When the crowd saw this, they were filled with awe; and they praised God, who had given such authority to men.

The Calling of Matthew

⁴⁴As Jesus went on from there, he saw a man named Matthew sitting at the tax collector's booth. "Follow me," he told him, and Matthew got up and followed him.

⁴⁵While Jesus was having dinner at Matthew's house, many tax collectors and "sinners" came and ate with him and his disciples. ⁴⁶When the Pharisees saw this, they asked his disciples, "Why does your teacher eat with tax collectors and 'sinners'?"

⁴⁷On hearing this, Jesus said, "It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. ⁴⁸But go and learn what this means: 'I desire mercy, not sacrifice.' ⁴⁹For I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners."

Jesus' Disciples Ask About Fasting

"Then John's disciples came and asked him, 'Why do you and the Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not fast?'"

Jesus answered, "How can the guests of the bridegroom mourn while he is with them? The time will come when the bridegroom will be taken from them; then they will fast."

"There was a patch of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; the patch will pull away from the garment, making the tear worse." "Neither do men put new wine into old wineskins. If they do, the wine will run out and the skins will be ruined. No, they put new wine in new wineskins, and both are preserved."

A Dead Girl and a Sick Woman

"While he was saying this, a ruler came and knelt before him. 'My daughter has just died,' he said. 'But you came here and my child is alive!' And she got up and went with him, and the crowd followed him."

"Just then a woman who had been subject to bleeding for twelve years came up behind him and touched his robe. 'She said to herself, "If only I touch his robe, I will be healed."'"

Jesus turned and saw her. "Take heart, daughter," he said, "your faith has healed you." And the woman was healed from that moment.

Jesus then entered the ruler's house and saw the girl, crying, and the noisy crowd. "He said, 'Child, get up.' The girl was not dead but asleep." But the crowd began to laugh at him. "After the crowd had been dismissed, he went in and took the girl by the hand and she got up. News of this spread throughout that region."

Jesus Heals the Blind and Mute

"As Jesus went on from there, two blind men followed him, calling out, 'Have mercy on us, Son of David.'"

When he had gone indoors, the blind men came to him, and he asked them, "Do you believe that I am able to do this?"

They said, "Yes, Lord."

"Then he touched their eyes and said, 'According to your faith will it be done to you'; and their sight was restored. Jesus warned them sternly,

'See that no one knows about this.' But they went out and spread the news about him all over that region."

"While they were going out, a man who was demon possessed and could not talk was brought to Jesus. And when the demon was driven out, the man who had been mute spoke. The crowd was amazed and said, 'Nothing like this has ever been seen in Israel.'"

"But the Pharisees said, 'It is by the prince of demons that he drives out demons.'"

The Workers Are Few

"Jesus went through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness. When he saw the crowds, he had compassion on them, because they were harassed and helpless, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, 'The harvest is plentiful but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest field.'"

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve

10 He called his twelve disciples to him and gave them authority to drive out evil spirits and to heal every disease and sickness.

"These are the names of the twelve apostles: first, Simon (who is called Peter) and his brother Andrew, James son of Zebedee, and his brother John, Philip and Bartholomew, Thomas and Matthew the tax collector, James son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, Simon the Zealot and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed him."

"These twelve Jesus sent out with the following instructions: 'Do not go among the Gentiles or enter any town of the Samaritans. Go rather to the lost sheep of Israel. As you go, preach this message: The kingdom of heaven is near. Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse those who have leprosy,^b drive out demons. Freely you have received, freely give. Do not take along any gold or silver or copper in your belts; take no bag for the journey, or extra tunic, or sandals or a staff; for the worker is worth his keep.

"Whatever town or village you enter, search for some worthy person there and stay at his house until you leave. As you enter the home, give it your greeting. If the home is deserving, let your peace rest on it; if it is not, let your peace return to you. If anyone will not welcome you or listen to your words, shake the dust off your feet when you leave that home or town. I tell you the truth, it will be more bearable for Sodom and Gomorrah on the day of judgment than for that town. I am sending you out like sheep among wolves. Therefore be as shrewd as snakes and as innocent as doves.

"Be on your guard against men; they will hand you over to the local councils and flog you in their synagogues. On my account you will be brought before governors and kings as witnesses to them

9:9 A Friend Even to Tax Collectors

Tax collectors like Matthew were even less popular in Jesus' day than now. Many Jews viewed them as traitors serving the hated Roman empire. In this poignant scene, the Gospel tells how Jesus first called Matthew and then came to his house to mingle freely with "tax collectors and sinners." Later Matthew was transformed into a loyal disciple who applied his orderly mind to organize this account of Jesus' life.

Rest for the Weary

²⁵At that time Jesus said, "I praise you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because you have hidden these things from the wise and learned, and revealed them to little children. ²⁶Yes, Father, for this was your good pleasure

²⁷"All things have been committed to me by my Father. No one knows the Son except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.

²⁸"Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. ²⁹Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. ³⁰For my yoke is easy and my burden is light

Lord of the Sabbath

12 At that time Jesus went through the grain-fields on the Sabbath. His disciples were hungry and began to pick some heads of grain and eat them. ²When the Pharisees saw this, they said to him, "Look! Your disciples are doing what is unlawful on the Sabbath."

³He answered, "Haven't you read what David did when he and his companions were hungry? ⁴He entered the house of God, and he and his companions ate the consecrated bread—which was not lawful for them to do, but only for the priests. ⁵Or haven't you read in the Law that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple desecrate the day and yet are innocent? ⁶I tell you that one^a greater than the temple is here. ⁷If you had known what these words mean, 'I desire mercy, not sacrifice,'^b you would not have condemned the innocent. ⁸For the Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath."

⁹Going on from that place, he went into their synagogue, ¹⁰and a man with a shriveled hand was there. Looking for a reason to accuse Jesus, they asked him, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?"

¹¹He said to them, "If any of you has a sheep and it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will you not take hold of it and lift it out? ¹²How much more valuable is a man than a sheep! Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath."

11:20 Miracles Aren't Enough

Surprisingly, seeing supernatural miracles didn't lead people to repent and follow Jesus' teaching. Throughout his ministry, Jesus showed annoyance with crowds who flocked to see a popular leader do something supernatural. He wanted from them not applause, but commitment. Gradually, he relied more and more on parables, which, in private, he would explain to his disciples (see 13:11-17).

¹³Then he said to the man "Stretch out your hand." So he stretched it out and it was completely restored, just as sound as the other. ¹⁴But the Pharisees went out and plotted how they might kill Jesus.

God's Chosen Servant

¹⁵Aware of this, Jesus withdrew from that place. Many followed him, and he healed all their sick, ¹⁶warning them not to tell who he was. ¹⁷This was to fulfill what was spoken through the prophet Isaiah:

¹⁸"Here is my servant whom I have chosen, the one I love, in whom I delight; I will put my Spirit on him, and he will proclaim justice to the nations. ¹⁹He will not quarrel or cry out; no one will hear his voice in the streets. ²⁰A bruised reed he will not break, and a smoldering wick he will not snuff out, till he leads justice to victory. ²¹In his name the nations will put their hope."

Jesus and Beelzebub

²²Then they brought him a demon-possessed man who was blind and mute, and Jesus healed him, so that he could both talk and see. ²³All the people were astonished and said, "Could this be the Son of David?"

²⁴But when the Pharisees heard this, they said, "It is only by Beelzebub,^d the prince of demons, that this fellow drives out demons."

²⁵Jesus knew their thoughts and said to them, "Every kingdom divided against itself will be ruined, and every city or household divided against itself will not stand. ²⁶If Satan drives out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then can his kingdom stand? ²⁷And if I drive out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your people drive them out? So then, they will be your judges. ²⁸But if I drive out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come upon you.

12:12 The Pharisees Take Offense

Chapter 12 gives insight into why the Pharisees were offended by Jesus. First, his disciples picked grain on the Sabbath (verses 1-7), something forbidden by the Pharisees. A provocative healing on the Sabbath followed. Jesus accused the Pharisees of caring more for the letter of the law than the spirit, so much so that they showed more concern for animal life than human.

13 Make a tree good and its fruit will be good, or make a tree bad and its fruit will be bad, for a tree is recognized by its fruit. 14 You brood of vipers, how can you who are evil say anything good? For out of the overflow of the heart the mouth speaks.

15 The good man brings good things out of the good stored up in him, and the evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in him. 16 But I tell you that men will have to give account on the day of judgment for every careless word they have spoken. 17 For by your words you will be acquitted, and by your words you will be condemned."

The Sign of Jonah

18 Then some of the Pharisees and teachers of the law said to him: "Teacher, we want to see a miraculous sign from you."

19 He answered, "A wicked and adulterous generation asks for a miraculous sign! But none will be given it except the sign of the prophet Jonah. 20 For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of a huge fish, so the Son of Man will be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. 21 The men of Nineveh will stand up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and now one greater than Jonah is here. 22 The Queen of the South will rise at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to listen to Solomon's wisdom, and now one greater than Solomon is here."

23 When an evil spirit comes out of a man, it roams through and places seeking rest and does not find it. 24 Then it says, 'I will return to the house I left.' When it arrives, it finds the house unoccupied, swept clean and put in order. 25 Then it goes and takes with it seven other spirits more wicked than itself, and they go in and live there. And the final condition of that man is worse than the first. That is how it will be with this wicked generation.

Jesus' Mother and Brothers

26 While Jesus was still talking to the crowd, his mother and brothers stood outside, wanting to speak to him. 27 Someone told him, "Your mother and brothers are standing outside, wanting to speak to you."

28 He replied to him, "Who is my mother, and who are my brothers?" 29 Pointing to his disciples, he said, "Here are my mother and my brothers. 30 For whoever does the will of my Father in heaven is my brother and sister and mother."

The Parable of the Sower

13 That same day Jesus went out of the house and sat by the lake. 2 Such large crowds gathered around him that he got into a boat and sat in it, while all the people stood on the shore. 3 Then he told them many things in parables, saying: "A farmer went out to sow his seed. As he was sowing, the seed fell along the path, and the birds came and ate it up. 4 Some seed fell on rocky places, where it did not have much soil. It sprang up quickly, because the soil was shallow. 5 But when the sun came up, the plants were scorched, and they withered because they had no root. 6 Other seed fell among the thorns. The thorns grew up and choked the plants. 7 Still other seed fell on good soil, where it produced a crop: a hundred, sixty or thirty times what was sown. 8 He returned at noon, but

9 the disciples came to him and asked: "Why do you speak to the people in parables?"

10 He replied: "The knowledge of the secrets of the kingdom of heaven has been given to you, but not to them. 11 Whoever has will be given more, and he will have an abundance. Whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken from him. 12 This is why I speak to them in parables."

"Though seeing, they do not see;
though hearing, they do not hear or understand."

13 In them is fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah:

"You will be ever hearing but never understanding;
you will be ever seeing but never perceiving.
15 For this people's heart has become calloused,
they hardly hear with their ears,
and they have closed their eyes.
Otherwise they might see with their eyes,
hear with their ears,
understand with their hearts
and turn, and I would heal them."

16 But blessed are your eyes because they see, and your ears because they hear. 17 For I tell you the truth, many prophets and righteous men longed to see what you see but did not see it, and to hear what you hear but did not hear it.

18 Listen then to what the parable of the sower means: 19 When anyone hears the message about the kingdom and does not understand it, the evil one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart. This is the seed sown along the path. 20 The one who received the seed that fell on rocky places is the man who hears the word and at once receives it with joy. 21 But since he has no root, he lasts only a short time. When trouble or persecution comes because of the word, he quickly falls away. 22 The one who received the seed that fell among the thorns is the man who hears the word, but the worries of this life and the deceitfulness of wealth choke it, making it unfruitful. 23 But the one who received the seed that fell on good soil is the man who hears the word and understands it. He produces a crop, yielding a hundred, sixty or thirty times what was sown."

The Parable of the Weeds

24 Jesus told them another parable: "The kingdom of heaven is like a man who sowed good seed in his field. 25 But while everyone was sleeping, his enemy came and sowed weeds among the wheat, and went away. ²⁶When the wheat sprouted and formed heads, then the weeds also appeared.

²⁷"The owner's servants came to him and said, 'Sir, didn't you sow good seed in your field? Where then did the weeds come from?'"

²⁸" 'An enemy did this,' he replied.

"The servants asked him, 'Do you want us to go and pull them up?'"

²⁹" 'No,' he answered, 'because while you are pulling the weeds, you may root up the wheat with them. ³⁰Let both grow together until the harvest. At that time I will tell the harvesters: First collect the weeds and tie them in bundles to be burned; then gather the wheat and bring it into my barn.' "

What Should a Leader Look Like?

Not everyone wanted Jesus' kind of kingdom

"Where did this man get this wisdom and these miraculous powers?" they asked. "Isn't this the carpenter's son?" 13:54-55

Important leaders, such as presidents and prime ministers, work hard to convey an impression of confidence and power. A leader, they assume, should look like a leader, and many of them hire an "image specialist" to learn how. Wherever they go, press agents, bodyguards, loyal assistants, and throngs of eager admirers follow in their wake.

Matthew depicts Jesus as a true leader—a king, in fact—but one who broke stereotypes. Jesus had undeniable power. He could quiet an angry storm and even walk on the surface of a lake. Yet he used that power compassionately, for the sake of others: to feed the hungry and heal the sick. He wasn't concerned about a powerful image.

A New Kind of Kingdom

First-century Jews, who hated the Roman Empire, would have rallied eagerly around a militant Jewish king. They rebelled often until a vengeful Roman general flattened Jerusalem in A.D. 70. The kingdom Jesus presented, however, didn't meet their expectations.

At the beginning of his ministry, Jesus turned down a tempting offer of glory and territory (4:8-11), and he consistently bucked the pressures of the crowd. Although he was the most powerful leader ever, he spent his time telling stories, not raising an army. As a true Messiah, he sought not to satisfy people's false image of him, but to please God.

In chapter 13, Matthew collects several of the stories Jesus told to describe his "kingdom of heaven"—a phrase used 32 times in Matthew. Although Jesus never concisely defined the phrase, he gave many clues about the nature of his kingdom. The kingdom is so important, he said, that belonging to it is worth selling everything a person owns.

Jesus said his kingdom doesn't have geographical boundaries. Unlike, say, Greece or China or Spain, it can't be charted on a map. Its followers live right among their enemies, not separated from them by a moat or a wall. Yet Jesus predicted that his kingdom would show remarkable growth even in an evil environment bent on its destruction.

The Disciples Fail to Understand

The "kingdom of heaven" consists of the rule of God in the world. It's made up of people of all races and from all nations who loyally follow God's will on earth. Jesus stressed that this new kingdom was a major advance in God's plan: its least member, he said, is even greater than John the Baptist (11:11).

The disciples, accustomed to more traditional images of power and leadership, couldn't quite grasp Jesus' concept of the kingdom. They kept asking him to explain his parables even as they jockeyed vainly for status.

As the days passed, the disciples became convinced that Jesus was "the Messiah, the Son of the Living God!" — Peter won warm praise for that assertion (16:17). But he received Jesus' strongest rebuke in the next scene when he recoiled from the idea that his leader might soon suffer and die.

The paradoxes of Jesus' style of leadership deepened as he neared Jerusalem, the capital city. He allowed one moment of public triumph, on the day we call Palm Sunday. Yet, even then he rode not a chariot or a stallion, but a donkey colt. And a few days later he left his followers an enduring emblem: not a royal banner or a scepter, but an executioner's cross.

Life Questions: Could Jesus run for political office? What kind of leader do people want today?

of heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and planted in his field. ⁴²Though it is the smallest of all your seeds, yet when it grows, it is the largest of garden plants and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and perch in its branches."

⁴³He told them still another parable: "The kingdom of heaven is like yeast that a woman took and mixed into a large amount of flour until it worked all through the dough."

⁴⁴Jesus spoke all these things to the crowd in a parable; he did not say anything to them without using a parable. ⁴⁵So was fulfilled what was spoken through the prophet

I will open my mouth in parables,
I will utter things hidden since the creation of the world.

The Parable of the Weeds Explained

⁴⁶When he left the crowd and went into the house, his disciples came to him and said, "Explain to us the parable of the weeds in the field."

He answered: "The one who sowed the good seed is the Son of Man. ⁴⁷The field is the world, and the good seed stands for the sons of the kingdom. The weeds are the sons of the evil one, and the enemy who sows them is the devil. The harvest is the end of the age, and the harvesters are angels.

⁴⁸As the weeds are pulled up and burned in the furnace, so it will be at the end of the age. ⁴⁹The Son of Man will send out his angels, and they will weed out of his kingdom everything that causes sin and all who do evil. ⁵⁰They will throw them into the fiery furnace, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth. ⁵¹Then the righteous will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears, let him hear.

The Parables of the Hidden Treasure and the Pearl

⁴⁴The kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field. When a man found it, he hid it again, and then in his joy went and sold all he had and bought that field.

⁴⁵Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant looking for fine pearls. ⁴⁶When he found one of great value, he went away and sold everything he had and bought it.

The Parable of the Net

⁴⁷Once again, the kingdom of heaven is like a net that was let down into the lake and caught all kinds of fish. ⁴⁸When it was full, the fishermen pulled it up on the shore. Then they sat down and collected the good fish in baskets, but threw the bad away. ⁴⁹This is how it will be at the end of the age. The angels will come and separate the wicked from the righteous ⁵⁰and throw them into the fiery furnace, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

⁵¹"Have you understood all these things?" Jesus asked.

"Yes," they replied.

⁵²He said to them, "Therefore every teacher of the law who has been instructed about the kingdom of heaven is like the owner of a house who brings out of his storeroom new treasures as well as old."

A Prophet Without Honor

⁵³When Jesus had finished these parables, he moved on from there. ⁵⁴Coming to his hometown, he began teaching the people in their synagogue, and they were amazed. "Where did this man get this wisdom and these miraculous powers?" they asked. ⁵⁵"Isn't this the carpenter's son? Isn't his mother's name Mary, and aren't his brothers James, Joseph, Simon and Judas? ⁵⁶Aren't all his sisters with us? Where then did this man get all these things?" ⁵⁷And they took offense at him.

But Jesus said to them, "Only in his hometown and in his own house is a prophet without honor."

⁵⁸And he did not do many miracles there because of their lack of faith.

John the Baptist Beheaded

14 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard the reports about Jesus, and he said to his attendants, "This is John the Baptist; he has risen from the dead! That is why miraculous powers are at work in him."

³Now Herod had arrested John and bound him and put him in prison because of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife, ⁴for John had been saying to him: "It is not lawful for you to have her." ⁵Herod wanted to kill John, but he was afraid of the people, because they considered him a prophet.

⁶On Herod's birthday the daughter of Herodias danced for them and pleased Herod so much ⁷that he promised with an oath to give her whatever she asked. ⁸Prompted by her mother, she said, "Give me here on a platter the head of John the Baptist." ⁹The king was distressed, but because of his oaths and his dinner guests, he ordered that her request be granted ¹⁰and had John beheaded in the prison. ¹¹His head was brought in on a platter and given to the girl, who carried it to her mother. ¹²John's disciples came and took his body and buried it. Then they went and told Jesus.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

¹³When Jesus heard what had happened, he withdrew by boat privately to a solitary place. Hearing of this, the crowds followed him on foot from the towns. ¹⁴When Jesus landed and saw a

13:57 No Respect at Home

Jesus had opened his ministry at home in a synagogue, an occasion marked by a near-riot. When he returned later, he aroused great curiosity but little belief. The townsfolk couldn't fathom that one who'd been raised in their midst by a carpenter was now teaching like a rabbi and performing miracles. Jesus declined to display his supernatural power for them, and quietly withdrew.

large crowd, he had compassion on them and healed their sick.

¹⁵As evening approached, the disciples came to him and said, "This is a remote place, and it's already getting late. Send the crowds away, so they can go to the villages and buy themselves some food."

¹⁶Jesus replied, "They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat."

¹⁸"Bring them here to me," he said. ¹⁹And he directed the people to sit down on the grass. Taking the five loaves and the two fish and looking up to heaven, he gave thanks and broke the loaves. Then he gave them to the disciples, and the disciples gave them to the people. ²⁰They all ate and were satisfied, and the disciples picked up twelve basketfuls of broken pieces that were left over. ²¹The number of those who ate was about five thousand men, besides women and children.

Jesus Walks on the Water

²²Immediately Jesus made the disciples get into the boat and go on ahead of him to the other side, while he dismissed the crowd. ²³After he had dismissed them, he went up on a mountainside by himself to pray. When evening came, he was there alone, ²⁴but the boat was already a considerable distance^a from land, buffeted by the waves because the wind was against it.

²⁵During the fourth watch of the night Jesus went out to them, walking on the lake. ²⁶When the disciples saw him walking on the lake, they were terrified. "It's a ghost," they said, and cried out in fear.

²⁷But Jesus immediately said to them: "Take courage! It is I. Don't be afraid."

²⁸"Lord, if it's you," Peter replied, "tell me to come to you on the water."

²⁹"Come," he said.

Then Peter got down out of the boat, walked on the water and came toward Jesus. ³⁰But when he saw the wind, he was afraid and, beginning to sink, cried out, "Lord, save me!"

³¹Immediately Jesus reached out his hand and caught him. "You of little faith," he said, "why did you doubt?"

³²And when they climbed into the boat, the wind died down. ³³Then those who were in the boat worshiped him, saying, "Truly you are the Son of God."

³⁴When they had crossed over, they landed at Gennesaret. ³⁵And when the men of that place recognized Jesus, they sent word to all the surrounding country. People brought all their sick to him ³⁶and begged him to let the sick just touch the edge of his cloak, and all who touched him were healed.

Clean and Unclean

15 Then some Pharisees and teachers of the law came to Jesus from Jerusalem and asked, ²"Why do your disciples break the tradition of the elders? They don't wash their hands before they eat!"

³Jesus replied, "And why do you break the command of God for the sake of your tradition? ⁴For God said, 'Honor your father and mother'^b and 'Anyone who curses his father or mother must be put to death.'^c ⁵But you say that if a man says to his father or mother, 'Whatever help you might otherwise have received from me is a gift devoted to God,' ⁶he is not to 'honor his father' with it. Thus you nullify the word of God for the sake of your tradition. ⁷You hypocrites! Isaiah was right when he prophesied about you:

⁸"These people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me.

⁹They worship me in vain; their teachings are but rules taught by men."^d

¹⁰Jesus called the crowd to him and said, "Listen and understand. ¹¹What goes into a man's mouth does not make him 'unclean,' but what comes out of his mouth, that is what makes him 'unclean.'"

¹²Then the disciples came to him and asked, "Do you know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this?"

¹³He replied, "Every plant that my heavenly Father has not planted will be pulled up by the roots. ¹⁴Leave them; they are blind guides.^e If a blind man leads a blind man, both will fall into a pit."

¹⁵Peter said, "Explain the parable to us."

¹⁶"Are you still so dull?" Jesus asked them. ¹⁷"Don't you see that whatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and then out of the body? ¹⁸But the things that come out of the mouth come from the heart, and these make a man 'unclean.' ¹⁹For out of the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false testimony, slander. ²⁰These are what make a man 'unclean'; but eating with unwashed hands does not make him 'unclean.'"

The Faith of the Canaanite Woman

²¹Leaving that place, Jesus withdrew to the region of Tyre and Sidon. ²²A Canaanite woman from that vicinity came to him, crying out, "Lord, Son of David, have mercy on me! My daughter is suffering terribly from demon-possession."

²³Jesus did not answer a word. So his disciples came to him and urged him, "Send her away, for she keeps crying out after us."

²⁴He answered, "I was sent only to the lost sheep of Israel."

²⁵The woman came and knelt before him. "Lord, help me!" she said.

15:1 Attacking Legalism

The Pharisees and teachers of the law considered their own strict traditions as binding as Old Testament law. In this passage, Jesus points out glaring inconsistencies in those traditions.

"Yes, Lord," she said, "but even the dogs eat the crumbs that fall from their masters' table."

"Then Jesus answered, 'Woman, you have great faith! Your request is granted.' And her daughter was healed from that very hour."

Jesus Feeds the Four Thousand

Jesus left there and went along the Sea of Galilee. Then he went up on a mountainside and sat down. Great crowds came to him, bringing the blind, the crippled, the mute and many others, and laid them at his feet, and he healed them. The people were amazed when they saw the mute speaking, the crippled made well, the lame walking and the blind seeing. And they praised the God of Israel.

Jesus called his disciples to him and said, "I have compassion for these people, they have already been with me three days and have nothing to eat. I do not want to send them away hungry, or they will collapse on the way."

His disciples answered, "Where could we get enough bread in this remote place to feed such a crowd?"

"How many loaves do you have?" Jesus asked.

"Seven," they replied, "and a few small fish."

He told the crowd to sit down on the ground.

Then he took the seven loaves and the fish, and when he had given thanks, he broke them and gave them to the disciples, and they in turn to the people. They all ate and were satisfied. Afterward the disciples picked up seven basketfuls of broken pieces that were left over. The number of those who ate was four thousand, besides women and children. After Jesus had sent the crowd away, he got into the boat and went to the vicinity of Magadan.

The Demand for a Sign

16 The Pharisees and Sadducees came to Jesus and tested him by asking him to show them a sign from heaven.

He replied, "When evening comes, you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red,' and in the morning, 'Today it will be stormy, for the sky is red and overcast.' You know how to interpret the appearance of the sky, but you cannot interpret the signs of the times. A wicked and adulterous generation looks for a miraculous sign, but none will be given it except the sign of Jonah." Jesus then left them and went away.

The Yeast of the Pharisees and Sadducees

"When they went across the lake, the disciples forgot to take bread. "Be careful," Jesus said to them. "Be on your guard against the yeast of the Pharisees and Sadducees."

They discussed this among themselves and said, "It is because we didn't bring any bread."

Aware of their discussion, Jesus asked, "You of little faith, why are you talking among yourselves about having no bread? Do you still not understand? Don't you remember the five loaves for the five thousand, and how many basketfuls you gathered? Or the seven loaves for the four thousand, and how many basketfuls you gathered? How is it you don't understand that I was not talking to you about bread? But be on your guard against the yeast of the Pharisees and Sadducees." Then they understood that he was not telling them to guard against the yeast used in bread, but against the teaching of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

Peter's Confession of Christ

When Jesus came to the region of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, "Who do people say the Son of Man is?"

They replied, "Some say John the Baptist; others say Elijah; and still others, Jeremiah or one of the prophets."

"But what about you?" he asked. "Who do you say I am?"

Simon Peter answered, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

Jesus replied, "Blessed are you, Simon son of Jonah, for this was not revealed to you by man, but by my Father in heaven. And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it. I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven; whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven." Then he warned his disciples not to tell anyone that he was the Christ.

Jesus Predicts His Death

From that time on Jesus began to explain to his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things at the hands of the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and that he must be killed and on the third day be raised to life.

Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him. "Never, Lord!" he said. "This shall never happen to you!"

Jesus turned and said to Peter, "Get behind me, Satan! You are a stumbling block to me; you do not have in mind the things of God, but the things of men."

Then Jesus said to his disciples, "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever

16:16 Peter's Highs and Lows

The disciple Peter earned a reputation for impulsiveness, and this chapter shows him at his very best and very worst. He won highest praise for discerning Jesus' true identity, but in the very next scene he made one of his biggest blunders. He wanted Jesus to avoid pain, not understanding that the pain of the cross would bring salvation to the whole world.

Or what can a man give in exchange for his soul? ²⁷For the Son of Man is going to come in his Father's glory with his angels, and then he will reward each person according to what he has done. ²⁸I tell you the truth, some who are standing here will not taste death before they see the Son of Man coming in his kingdom."

The Transfiguration

17 After six days Jesus took with him Peter, James and John the brother of James, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. ²There he was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and his clothes became as white as the light. ³Just then there appeared before them Moses and Elijah, talking with Jesus.

⁴Peter said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for us to be here. If you wish, I will put up three shelters—one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah."

⁵While he was still speaking, a bright cloud enveloped them, and a voice from the cloud said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased. Listen to him!"

⁶When the disciples heard this, they fell face-down to the ground, terrified. ⁷But Jesus came and touched them. "Get up," he said. "Don't be afraid." ⁸When they looked up, they saw no one except Jesus.

⁹As they were coming down the mountain, Jesus instructed them, "Don't tell anyone what you have seen, until the Son of Man has been raised from the dead."

¹⁰The disciples asked him, "Why then do the teachers of the law say that Elijah must come first?"

¹¹Jesus replied, "To be sure, Elijah comes and will restore all things. ¹²But I tell you, Elijah has already come, and they did not recognize him, but have done to him everything they wished. In the same way the Son of Man is going to suffer at their hands." ¹³Then the disciples understood that he was talking to them about John the Baptist.

The Healing of a Boy With a Demon

¹⁴When they came to the crowd, a man approached Jesus and knelt before him. ¹⁵"Lord, have mercy on my son," he said. "He has seizures and is suffering greatly. He often falls into the fire or into the water. ¹⁶I brought him to your disciples, but they could not heal him."

¹⁷"O unbelieving and perverse generation," Jesus replied, "how long shall I stay with you? How long shall I put up with you? Bring the boy here to me." ¹⁸Jesus rebuked the demon, and it came out of the boy, and he was healed from that moment.

¹⁹Then the disciples came to Jesus in private and asked, "Why couldn't we drive it out?"

²⁰He replied, "Because you have so little faith. I tell you the truth, if you have faith as small as a mustard seed, you can say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there' and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you."

²²When they came together in Galilee, he said to them, "The Son of Man is going to be betrayed into the hands of men. ²³They will kill him, and on the third day he will be raised to life." And the disciples were filled with grief.

The Temple Tax

²⁴After Jesus and his disciples arrived in Capernaum, the collectors of the two-drachma tax came to Peter and asked, "Doesn't your teacher pay the temple tax?"

²⁵"Yes, he does," he replied.

When Peter came into the house, Jesus was the first to speak. "What do you think, Simon?" he asked. "From whom do the kings of the earth collect duty and taxes—from their own sons or from others?"

²⁶"From others," Peter answered.

"Then the sons are exempt," Jesus said to him.

²⁷"But so that we may not offend them, go to the lake and throw out your line. Take the first fish you catch; open its mouth and you will find a four-drachma coin. Take it and give it to them for my tax and yours."

The Greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven

18 At that time the disciples came to Jesus and asked, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

²He called a little child and had him stand among them. ³And he said: "I tell you the truth, unless you change and become like little children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. ⁴Therefore, whoever humbles himself like this child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven."

⁷"Woe to the world because of the things that cause people to sin! Such things must come, but woe to the man through whom they come! ⁸If your hand or your foot causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It is better for you to enter life maimed or crippled than to have two hands or two feet and be thrown into eternal fire. ⁹And if your eye causes you to sin, gouge it out and throw it

17:5 An Unforgettable Experience

Three of Jesus' disciples had the opportunity to observe this dramatic scene of God's approving of his Son Jesus. Moses, the first great lawgiver, and Elijah, the first great prophet, appeared with Jesus, and God spoke from heaven. The apostle Peter described the impact of this experience in 2 Peter 1:16-18.

¹¹"What do you think? If a man owns a hundred sheep, and one of them wanders away, will he not leave the ninety-nine on the hills and go to look for the one that wandered off? ¹²And if he finds it, I tell you the truth, he is happier about that one sheep than about the ninety-nine that did not wander off. ¹³In the same way your Father in heaven is not willing that any of these little ones should be lost.

A Brother Who Sins Against You

¹⁴If your brother sins against you, go and show him his fault, just between the two of you. If he listens to you, you have won your brother over. ¹⁵But if he will not listen, take one or two others along, so that 'every matter may be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses.' ¹⁶If he refuses to listen to them, tell it to the church, and if he refuses to listen even to the church, treat him as you would a pagan or a tax collector.

The Parable of the Unmerciful Servant

²¹Then Peter came to Jesus and asked, "Lord, how many times shall I forgive my brother when he sins against me? Up to seven times?"

²²Jesus answered, "I tell you, not seven times, but seventy-seven times."

²³"Therefore, the kingdom of heaven is like a king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants. ²⁴As he began the settlement, a man who owed him ten thousand talents¹ was brought to him. ²⁵Since he was not able to pay, the master ordered that he be sold with his wife and children and all his possessions to pay the debt.

²⁶At this, the servant fell on his knees and begged the master to have pity on him. 'Please,' he said, 'be patient with me, and I will pay you back.'

²⁷But the master refused to let him go. 'No,' he said, 'I will have you sold to pay the debt.' So the servant went away, weeping and full of despair.

²⁸Then the master's servant went to a fellow servant who owed him a small amount of money. He demanded that he pay him back at once.

²⁹The fellow servant begged for mercy, saying, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back.' But the master's servant refused. 'No,' he said, 'I will have you sold to pay the debt.' So he took him to the marketplace and sold him to a creditor.

Divorce

19 When Jesus had finished saying these things, he left Galilee and went into the region of Judea to the desert near the village of Bethsaida. Large crowds followed him, and he began to teach them.

Some Pharisees came to him to test him. They asked, "Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for any and every reason?"

"Haven't you read," he replied, "that at the beginning the Creator made them male and female?" And said, "For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and the two will become one flesh." For they are no longer two, but one. Therefore what God has joined together, let man not separate.

"Why then," they asked, "did Moses command that a man give his wife a certificate of divorce and send her away?"

Jesus replied, "Moses permitted you to divorce your wives because your hearts were hard. But it was not this way from the beginning. I tell you, that anyone who divorces his wife except for marital unfaithfulness and marries another woman commits adultery."

The disciples said to him, "If this is the situation between a husband and wife, it is better not to marry."

Jesus replied, "Not everyone can accept this word, but only those to whom it has been given."

"For some are eunuchs because they were born that way; others were made that way by men; and others have renounced marriage because of the

Just as Luke, a doctor, gives more descriptive accounts of physical healings, Matthew, a former tax collector, highlights stories about money. This story in chapter 18, as well as others in chapters 20 and 25, appears only in Matthew's Gospel. Significantly, the former tax collector records Jesus' strongest words on treatment of the poor and needy.

Out to Destroy Jesus

Jesus confronts his enemies

When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard Jesus' parables, they knew he was talking about them. They looked for a way to arrest him, but they were afraid of the crowd. 21:45-46

The mere birth of Jesus had threatened King Herod so much that he had ordered a bloody slaughter of boy babies. The pattern of opposition continued. Early on, Jesus openly predicted his own death.

Beginning in chapter 19, Matthew explains some of the escalating tensions between Jesus and the groups who resisted him. Enemies followed him from town to town, setting traps. Even so, Jesus neither tempered his words nor tried to hide. Instead, he used the occasions of conflict to warn his disciples and the watching crowds against those enemies, whose fury only increased.

Chapter 22 shows Jesus confronting three different groups of enemies on the same day: two religious sects, the Pharisees and the Sadducees, as well as the political Herodians. Jesus easily avoided their carefully devised verbal traps. In fact, he succeeded so brilliantly that Matthew concludes, "From that day on no one dared to ask him any more questions" (22:46).

What Did Jesus Have Against the Pharisees?

Students of history have often puzzled over why Jesus lashed out so strongly at one Jewish sect, the Pharisees—a group the New Testament mentions 100 times. At first glance, they seem like people Jesus should have liked. They were the most religious people of the day. More than any other group, they strove to follow the letter of the Old Testament law. Their very name, meaning "separatists," hinted at their desire to rise above normal behavior.

Pharisees were legalists: besides unduly focusing on minute details of the law, they embellished it with their own strict traditions. For example, a person could ride a donkey without breaking the Sabbath rules, but if he carried a switch to speed up the animal, he would be guilty of laying a burden on it.

A Pharisee could give to a beggar on the Sabbath only if the beggar stuck his hand inside the home of the Pharisee so that he needn't reach outside. A woman couldn't look in the mirror on the Sabbath—she might see a gray hair and be tempted to pull it out.

Matthew 23 records Jesus' eloquent verdict on the Pharisees. He scored them for being proud and cliquish and petty, and for refusing to admit their wrongs. External, showy forms of legalism, he said, tend to divert attention away from a person's inner attitude toward God and other people.

Are There Pharisees Now?

As he entered into the last weeks of his life on earth, Jesus polarized people. He boldly contrasted his own teaching with that of his opponents. In addition, he warned his followers about what to expect after his death. Opposition from enemies like the Pharisees wouldn't fade away when he departed. Rather, it would crescendo until the day of final judgment.

Jesus singled out the Pharisees as an example of legalism carried to an extreme. But he wasn't talking merely against an ancient Jewish sect. His words describe persistent tendencies of human beings, then and now. The errors he mentioned have characterized the church throughout its history. Christians still battle against pride and intolerance and a religion based on works.

Life Questions: Jesus describes characteristics of Pharisees in the first century. But what about our own time? What Pharisee-like qualities exist in your church? In you?

"honor your father and mother,"^a and "love your neighbor as yourself."^b

All these I have kept," the young man said. What do I still lack?"

Jesus answered, "If you want to be perfect, go, sell your possessions and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come, follow me."

When the young man heard this, he went away sad, because he had great wealth.

Then Jesus said to his disciples, "I tell you the truth, it is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. Again I tell you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

When the disciples heard this, they were greatly astonished and asked, "Who then can be saved?"

Jesus looked at them and said, "With man this is impossible, but with God all things are possible."

Peter answered him, "We have left everything to follow you! What then will there be for us?"

Jesus said to them, "I tell you the truth, at the renewal of all things, when the Son of Man sits on his glorious throne, you who have followed me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or children or fields for my sake will receive a hundred times as much and will inherit eternal life. But many who are first will be last, and many who are last will be first."

The Parable of the Workers in the Vineyard

20 For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire men to work in his vineyard. He agreed to pay them a denarius for the day and sent them into his vineyard.

About the third hour he went out and saw others standing in the marketplace doing nothing. He told them, "You also go and work in my vineyard, and I will pay you whatever is right." So they went.

He went out again about the sixth hour and the ninth hour and did the same thing. About the eleventh hour he went out and found still others standing around. He asked them, "Why have you been standing here all day long doing nothing?"

"Because no one has hired us," they answered.

He said to them, "You also go and work in my vineyard."

When evening came, the owner of the vineyard said to his foreman, "Call the workers and pay them their wages, beginning with the last ones hired and going on to the first."

The workers who were hired about the eleventh hour came and each received a denarius. So when those came who were hired first, they expected to receive more. But each one of them also received a denarius. When they received it, they began to grumble against the landowner. "These men who were hired last worked only one hour," they said, "and you have made them equal to us who have borne the burden of the work and the heat of the day."

But he answered one of them, "Friend, I am not being unfair to you. Didn't you agree to work for a denarius? Take your pay and go. I want to give the man who was hired last the same as I gave you. Don't I have the right to do what I want with my own money? Or are you envious because I am generous?"

"So the last will be first, and the first will be last."

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

Now as Jesus was going up to Jerusalem, he took the twelve disciples aside and said to them, "We are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and the teachers of the law. They will condemn him to death and will turn him over to the Gentiles to be mocked and flogged and crucified. On the third day he will be raised to life!"

A Mother's Request

Then the mother of Zebedee's sons came to Jesus with her sons and, kneeling down, asked a favor of him.

"What is it you want?" he asked.

She said, "Grant that one of these two sons of mine may sit at your right and the other at your left in your kingdom."

"You don't know what you are asking," Jesus said to them. "Can you drink the cup I am going to drink?"

"We can," they answered.

Jesus said to them, "You will indeed drink from my cup, but to sit at my right or left is not for me to grant. These places belong to those for whom they have been prepared by my Father."

When the ten heard about this, they were indignant with the two brothers. Jesus called them together and said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their high officials exercise authority over them. Not so with you. Instead, whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant, and whoever wants to be first must be your slave—just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

Two Blind Men Receive Sight

As Jesus and his disciples were leaving Jericho, a large crowd followed him. Two blind men were sitting by the roadside, and when they heard that Jesus was going by, they shouted, "Lord, Son of David, have mercy on us!"

The crowd rebuked them and told them to be quiet, but they shouted all the louder, "Lord, Son of David, have mercy on us!"

Jesus stopped and called them. "What do you want me to do for you?" he asked.

"Lord," they answered, "we want our sight."

Jesus had compassion on them and touched their eyes. Immediately they received their sight and followed him.

The Triumphal Entry

21 As they approached Jerusalem and came to Bethphage on the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two disciples, saying to them, "Go to the village ahead of you, and at once you will find a donkey tied there, with her colt by her. Untie them and bring them to me. ³If anyone says anything to you, tell him that the Lord needs them, and he will send them right away."

⁴This took place to fulfill what was spoken through the prophet:

"Say to the Daughter of Zion,

"See, your king comes to you,

gentle and riding on a donkey,

on a colt, the foal of a donkey."

The disciples went and did as Jesus had instructed them. They brought the donkey and the colt, placed their cloaks on them, and Jesus sat on them. A very large crowd spread their cloaks on the road, and others cut branches from the trees and spread them on the road. ⁹The crowds that went ahead of him and those that followed shouted:

"Hosanna to the Son of David!"

"Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord."

"Hosanna in the highest!"

When Jesus entered Jerusalem, the whole city was stirred and asked, "Who is this?"

The crowds answered, "This is Jesus, the prophet from Nazareth in Galilee."

Jesus at the Temple

Jesus entered the temple area and drove out all who were buying and selling there. He overturned the tables of the money changers and the benches of those selling doves. ¹³"It is written," he said to them, "My house will be called a house of prayer, but you are making it a 'den of robbers.'"

Then the blind and the lame came to him at the temple, and he healed them. ¹⁵But when the chief priests and the teachers of the law saw the wonderful things he did and the children shouting in the temple area, "Hosanna to the Son of David," they were indignant.

¹⁶"Do you hear what these children are saying?" they asked him.

"Yes," replied Jesus, "have you never read

"From the lips of children and infants you have ordained praise'?"

¹⁷And he left them and went out of the city to Bethany, where he spent the night.

The Fig Tree Withers

¹⁸Early in the morning, as he was on his way back to the city, he was hungry. ¹⁹Seeing a fig tree by the road, he went up to it but found nothing on it except leaves. Then he said to it, "May you never bear fruit again!" Immediately the tree withered.

²⁰When the disciples saw this, they were amazed. "How did the fig tree wither so quickly?" they asked.

²¹Jesus replied, "I tell you the truth, if you have faith and do not doubt, not only can you do what was done to the fig tree, but also you can say to this mountain, 'Go, throw yourself into the sea,' and it will be done. ²²If you believe, you will receive whatever you ask for in prayer."

The Authority of Jesus Questioned

²³Jesus entered the temple courts, and, while he was teaching, the chief priests and the elders of the people came to him. "By what authority are you doing these things?" they asked. "And who gave you this authority?"

²⁴Jesus replied, "I will also ask you one question. If you answer me, I will tell you by what authority I am doing these things. ²⁵John's baptism—where did it come from? Was it from heaven, or from men?"

They discussed it among themselves and said, "If we say, 'From heaven,' he will ask, 'Then why didn't you believe him?' ²⁶But if we say, 'From men'—we are afraid of the people, for they all hold that John was a prophet."

²⁷So they answered Jesus, "We don't know."

Then he said, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I am doing these things."

The Parable of the Two Sons

²⁸"What do you think? There was a man who had two sons. He went to the first and said, 'Son, go and work today in the vineyard.'

²⁹"I will not," he answered, but later he changed his mind and went.

³⁰Then the father went to the other son and said the same thing. He answered, 'I will, sir,' but he did not go.

³¹"Which of the two did what his father wanted?"

"The first," they answered.

Jesus said to them, "I tell you the truth, the tax collectors and the prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God ahead of you. ³²For John came to you to show you the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him, but the tax collectors and the pros-

21:12 Drastic Action at the Temple

In Jesus' day, activities at the temple, supposedly the center for worship of God, had taken on a commercial cast. Merchants sold sacrificial animals to pilgrims and foreigners at inflated prices. The system was designed more for profit than for true worship. Jesus responded first by aggressively turning out these "robbers," and then by turning his attention to the people with real needs, the blind and the lame.

The Parable of the Tenants

Listen to another parable: There was a landowner who planted a vineyard. He put a wall around it, dug a winepress in it and built a watchtower. Then he rented the vineyard to some farmers and went away on a journey. ³⁰When the harvest time approached, he sent his servants to the tenants to collect his fruit.

³¹"The tenants seized his servants; they beat one, killed another, and stoned a third. ³²Then he sent other servants to them, more than the first, and the tenants treated them the same way. ³³At last he sent his son to them. 'They will respect my son,' he said.

But when the tenants saw the son, they said to each other, 'This is the heir. Come, let's kill him and take his inheritance.' ³⁴So they took him and threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. Therefore, when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?"

"He will bring those wretches to a wretched end," they replied, "and he will rent the vineyard to other tenants, who will give him his share of the harvest at harvest time."

Jesus said to them, "Have you never read in the scriptures

The stone the builders rejected

and it is marvelous in our eyes⁴³?"

⁴⁴"Therefore I tell you that the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a people who will produce its fruit. ⁴⁵He who falls on this stone will be broken to pieces, but he on whom it falls will be crushed."

⁴⁶When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard Jesus' parables, they knew he was talking about them. ⁴⁷They looked for a way to arrest him, but they were afraid of the crowd because the people held that he was a prophet.

The Parable of the Wedding Banquet

22 Jesus spoke to them again in parables, saying: ²"The kingdom of heaven is like a king who prepared a wedding banquet for his son. ³He sent his servants to those who had been invited to the banquet to tell them to come, but they refused to come.

⁴"Then he sent some more servants and said, 'Tell those who have been invited that I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and fattened cattle have been butchered, and everything is ready. Come to the wedding banquet.'

⁵"But they paid no attention and went off—one to his field, another to his business. ⁶The rest seized his servants, mistreated them and killed them. ⁷The king was enraged. He sent his army and destroyed those murderers and burned their city.

⁸"Then he said to his servants, 'The wedding

banquet is ready, but those I invited did not deserve to come. ⁹Go to the street corners and invite to the banquet anyone you find.' ¹⁰So the servants went out into the streets and gathered all the people they could find, both good and bad, and the wedding hall was filled with guests.

¹¹"But when the king came in to see the guests, he noticed a man there who was not wearing wedding clothes. ¹²'Friend,' he asked, 'how did you get in here without wedding clothes?' The man was speechless.

¹³Then the king told the attendants, 'Tie him hand and foot, and throw him outside, into the darkness, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

¹⁴"For many are invited, but few are chosen."

Paying Taxes to Caesar

¹⁵Then the Pharisees went out and laid plans to trap him in his words. ¹⁶They sent their disciples to him along with the Herodians. "Teacher," they said, "we know you are a man of integrity and that you teach the way of God in accordance with the truth. You aren't swayed by men, because you pay no attention to who they are. ¹⁷Tell us then, what is your opinion? Is it right to pay taxes to Caesar or not?"

¹⁸But Jesus, knowing their evil intent, said, "You hypocrites, why are you trying to trap me? ¹⁹Show me the coin used for paying the tax." They brought him a denarius, ²⁰and he asked them, "Whose portrait is this? And whose inscription?"

²¹"Caesar's," they replied.

Then he said to them, "Give to Caesar what is Caesar's, and to God what is God's."

²²When they heard this, they were amazed. So they left him and went away.

Marriage at the Resurrection

²³That same day the Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to him with a question. ²⁴"Teacher," they said, "Moses told us that if a man dies without having children, his brother must marry the widow and have children for him. ²⁵Now there were seven brothers among us. The first one married and died, and since he had no children, he left his wife to his brother. ²⁶The same thing happened to the second and third brother, right on down to the seventh. ²⁷Finally, the woman died. ²⁸Now then, at the resurrection, whose wife will she be of the seven, since all of them were married to her?"

²⁹Jesus replied, "You are in error because you do

22:17 A Double Bind

The Pharisees, allied with a party following King Herod, posed a question designed to trap Jesus regardless of his answer. If Jesus said, Pay the taxes, he would lose the support of the independence-minded Jews; if he said, Don't pay, he could be turned in to Rome for breaking the law.

He is not the God of the dead but of the living."

³³When the crowds heard this, they were astonished at his teaching.

The Greatest Commandment

³⁴Hearing that Jesus had silenced the Sadducees, the Pharisees got together.³⁵ One of them, an expert in the law, tested him with this question:³⁶ "Teacher, which is the greatest commandment in the Law?"

³⁷Jesus replied: " 'Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.'^b ³⁸This is the first and greatest commandment. ³⁹And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'^c ⁴⁰All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments."

Whose Son Is the Christ?

⁴¹While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, ⁴²"What do you think about the Christ? Whose son is he?"

"The son of David," they replied.

⁴³He said to them, "How is it then that David, speaking by the Spirit, calls him 'Lord'? For he says, ⁴⁴" 'The Lord said to my Lord:

"Sit at my right hand
until I put your enemies
under your feet." ^e

⁴⁵If then David calls him 'Lord,' how can he be his son?" ⁴⁶No one could say a word in reply, and from that day on no one dared to ask him any more questions.

Seven Woes

23 Then Jesus said to the crowds and to his disciples: ²"The teachers of the law and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat. ³So you must obey them and do everything they tell you. But do not do what they do, for they do not practice what they preach. ⁴They tie up heavy loads and put them on men's shoulders, but they themselves are not willing to lift a finger to move them.

⁵"Everything they do is done for men to see: They make their phylacteries^f wide and the tassels on their garments long; ⁶they love the place of honor at banquets and the most important seats in the synagogues; ⁷they love to be greeted in the marketplaces and to have men call them 'Rabbi.'

⁸"But you are not to be called 'Rabbi,' for you have only one Master and you are all brothers. ⁹And do not call anyone on earth 'father,' for you have one Father, and he is in heaven. ¹⁰Nor are you to be called 'teacher,' for you have one Teacher, the Christ.^g ¹¹The greatest among you will be your servant. ¹²For whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted.

¹³"Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You shut the kingdom of heaven in men's faces. You yourselves do not enter, nor will you let those enter who are trying to."

¹⁵"Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You travel over land and sea to win a single convert, and when he becomes one, you make him twice as much a son of hell as you are.

¹⁶"Woe to you, blind guides! You say, 'If anyone swears by the temple, it means nothing; but if anyone swears by the gold of the temple, he is bound by his oath.'^h ¹⁷You blind fools! Which is greater: the gold, or the temple that makes the gold sacred? ¹⁸You also say, 'If anyone swears by the altar, it means nothing; but if anyone swears by the gift on it, he is bound by his oath.'ⁱ ¹⁹You blind men! Which is greater: the gift, or the altar that makes the gift sacred? ²⁰Therefore, he who swears by the altar swears by it and by everything on it. ²¹And he who swears by the temple swears by it and by the one who dwells in it. ²²And he who swears by heaven swears by God's throne and by the one who sits on it.

²³"Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You give a tenth of your spices—mint, dill and cummin. But you have neglected the more important matters of the law—justice, mercy and faithfulness. You should have practiced the latter, without neglecting the former. ²⁴You blind guides! You strain out a gnat but swallow a camel!

²⁵"Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You clean the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of greed and self-indulgence. ²⁶Blind Pharisee! First clean the inside of the cup and dish, and then the outside also will be clean.

town to town.³ And so upon you will come all the righteous blood that has been shed on earth, from the blood of righteous Abel to the blood of Zechariah son of Berechiah, whom you murdered between the temple and the altar.⁴ I tell you the truth, all this will come upon this generation.

⁵“(O) Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who kill the prophets and stone those sent to you, how often I have longed to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you were not willing.⁶ Look, your house is left to you desolate.⁷ For I tell you, you will not see me again until you say, ‘Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.’”

Signs of the End of the Age

24 Jesus left the temple and was walking away when his disciples came up to him to call his attention to its buildings.² “Do you see all these things?” he asked. “I tell you the truth, not one stone here will be left on another; every one will be thrown down.”

³As Jesus was sitting on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to him privately. “Tell us,” they said, “when will this happen, and what will be the sign of your coming and of the end of the age?”

⁴Jesus answered: “Watch out that no one deceives you.⁵ For many will come in my name, claiming, ‘I am the Christ,’ and will deceive many.⁶ You will hear of wars and rumors of wars, but see to it that you are not alarmed. Such things must happen, but the end is still to come.⁷ Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places.⁸ All these are the beginning of birth pains.

⁹“Then you will be handed over to be persecuted and put to death, and you will be hated by all nations because of me.¹⁰ At that time many will turn away from the faith and will betray and hate each other,¹¹ and many false prophets will appear and deceive many people.¹² Because of the increase of wickedness, the love of most will grow cold,¹³ but he who stands firm to the end will be saved.¹⁴ And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come.

¹⁵“So when you see standing in the holy place ‘the abomination that causes desolation,’^c spoken of through the prophet Daniel—let the reader understand—¹⁶then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains.¹⁷ Let no one on the roof of his house go down to take anything out of the house.¹⁸ Let no one in the field go back to get his cloak.¹⁹ How dreadful it will be in those days for pregnant women and nursing mothers!²⁰ Pray that your flight will not take place in winter or on the Sabbath.²¹ For then there will be great distress, unequalled from the beginning of the world until now—and never to be equaled again.²² If those days had not been cut short, no one would survive, but for the sake of the elect those days will be shortened.²³ At that time if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or, ‘There he is!’ do not believe it.²⁴ For false Christs and false prophets will appear and perform great signs and miracles to deceive even the elect—²⁵if that were possible.²⁶ See, I have told you ahead of time.

²⁷So if anyone tells you, ‘There he is, out in the desert,’ do not go out, or, ‘There he is, in the inner rooms,’ do not believe it.²⁸ For as lightning that comes from the east is visible even in the west, so will be the coming of the Son of Man.²⁹ Wherever there is a carcass, there the vultures will gather.

³⁰“Immediately after the distress of those days
“the sun will be darkened,
and the moon will not give its light;
the stars will fall from the sky,
and the heavenly bodies will be shaken.”^d

³¹“At that time the sign of the Son of Man will appear in the sky, and all the nations of the earth will mourn. They will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of the sky, with power and great glory.³² And he will send his angels with a loud trumpet call, and they will gather his elect from the four winds, from one end of the heavens to the other.

³³“Now learn this lesson from the fig tree: As soon as its twigs get tender and its leaves come out, you know that summer is near.³⁴ Even so, when you see all these things, you know that it^e is near, right at the door.³⁵ I tell you the truth, this generation^f will certainly not pass away until all these things have happened.³⁶ Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will never pass away.

The Day and Hour Unknown

³⁷“No one knows about that day or hour, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son,³⁸ but only the Father.³⁹ As it was in the days of Noah, so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man.⁴⁰ For in the days before the flood, people were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, up to the day Noah entered the ark;⁴¹ and they knew nothing about what would happen until the flood came and took them all away. That is how it will be at the coming of the Son of Man.⁴² Two men will be in the field; one will be taken and the other left.⁴³ Two women will be grinding with a hand mill; one will be taken and the other left.

⁴⁴“Therefore keep watch, because you do not know on what day your Lord will come.⁴⁵ But understand this: If the owner of the house had known at what time of night the thief was coming, he would have kept watch and would not have let

24:27 When Will Jesus Return?

Matthew 24 records one of Jesus’ longest statements about the future. Jesus gives direct clues to events that will precede his second coming. But, notably, almost half the chapter consists of warnings that no one can predict the precise time of his coming.

⁴⁵Who then is the faithful and wise servant, whom the master has put in charge of the servants in his household to give them their food at the proper time? ⁴⁶It will be good for that servant whose master finds him doing so when he returns. ⁴⁷I tell you the truth, he will put him in charge of all his possessions. ⁴⁸But suppose that servant is wicked and says to himself, 'My master is staying away a long time,' ⁴⁹and he then begins to beat his fellow servants and to eat and drink with drunkards. ⁵⁰The master of that servant will come on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he is not aware of. ⁵¹He will cut him to pieces and assign him a place with the hypocrites, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

The Parable of the Ten Virgins

25 At that time the kingdom of heaven will be like ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom. ²Five of them were foolish and five were wise. ³The foolish ones took their lamps but did not take any oil with them. ⁴The wise, however, took oil in jars along with their lamps. ⁵The bridegroom was a long time in coming, and they all became drowsy and fell asleep.

⁶At midnight the cry rang out: 'Here's the bridegroom! Come out to meet him!'

⁷Then all the virgins woke up and trimmed their lamps. ⁸The foolish ones said to the wise, 'Give us some of your oil; our lamps are going out.'

⁹'No,' they replied, 'there may not be enough for both us and you. Instead, go to those who sell oil and buy some for yourselves.'

¹⁰But while they were on their way to buy the oil, the bridegroom arrived. The virgins who were ready went in with him to the wedding banquet. And the door was shut.

¹¹Later the others also came. 'Sir! Sir!' they said 'Open the door for us!'

¹²But he replied, 'I tell you the truth, I don't know you.'

¹³Therefore keep watch, because you do not know the day or the hour

The Parable of the Talents

¹⁴Again, it will be like a man going on a journey, who called his servants and entrusted his property to them. ¹⁵To one he gave five talents^a of money, to another two talents, and to another one talent, each according to his ability. Then he went on his journey. ¹⁶The man who had received the five talents went at once and put his money to work and gained five more. ¹⁷So also, the one with the two talents gained two more. ¹⁸But the man who had received the one talent went off, dug a hole in the ground and hid his master's money.

¹⁹After a long time the master of those servants returned and settled accounts with them. ²⁰The man who had received the five talents brought the other five. 'Master,' he said, 'you entrusted me with five talents. See, I have gained five more.'

²¹His master replied, 'Well done, good and faithful servant! You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things. Come and share your master's happiness!'

²²The man with the two talents also came. 'Master,' he said, 'you entrusted me with two talents; see, I have gained two more.'

²³His master replied, 'Well done, good and faithful servant! You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things. Come and share your master's happiness!'

²⁴Then the man who had received the one talent came. 'Master,' he said, 'I knew that you are a hard man, harvesting where you have not sown and gathering where you have not scattered seed. ²⁵So I was afraid and went out and hid your talent in the ground. See, here is what belongs to you.'

²⁶His master replied, 'You wicked, lazy servant! So you knew that I harvest where I have not sown and gather where I have not scattered seed?

²⁷Well then, you should have put my money on deposit with the bankers, so that when I returned I would have received it back with interest.'

²⁸'Take the talent from him and give it to the one who has the ten talents. ²⁹For everyone who has will be given more, and he will have an abundance. Whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken from him. ³⁰And throw that worthless servant outside, into the darkness, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

The Sheep and the Goats

³¹'When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit on his throne in heavenly glory. ³²All the nations will be gathered before him, and he will separate the people one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. ³³He will put the sheep on his right and the goats on his left.

³⁴Then the King will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world. ³⁵For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, ³⁶I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me.'

³⁷Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? ³⁸When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? ³⁹When did we see you sick or in prison and go to visit you?'

⁴⁰The King will reply, 'I tell you the truth, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me.'

⁴¹Then he will say to those on his left, 'Depart from me, you who are cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. ⁴²For I was hungry and you gave me nothing to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me nothing to drink, ⁴³I was a stranger and you did not invite me in, I needed clothes and you did not clothe me, I was sick and in prison and you did not look after me."

⁴⁴"They also will answer, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or needing clothes or sick or in prison, and did not help you?'"

⁴⁵"He will reply, 'I tell you the truth, whatever you did not do for one of the least of these, you did not do for me.'"

⁴⁶Then they will go away to eternal punishment, but the righteous to eternal life."

The Plot Against Jesus

26 When Jesus had finished saying all these things, he said to his disciples, ²"As you know, the Passover is two days away—and the Son of Man will be handed over to be crucified."

³Then the chief priests and the elders of the people assembled in the palace of the high priest, whose name was Caiaphas, ⁴and they plotted to arrest Jesus in some sly way and kill him. ⁵"But not during the Feast," they said, "or there may be a riot among the people."

Jesus Anointed at Bethany

⁶While Jesus was in Bethany in the home of a man known as Simon the Leper, ⁷a woman came to him with an alabaster jar of very expensive perfume, which she poured on his head as he was reclining at the table.

⁸When the disciples saw this, they were indignant. "Why this waste?" they asked. ⁹"This perfume could have been sold at a high price and the money given to the poor."

¹⁰Aware of this, Jesus said to them, "Why are you bothering this woman? She has done a beautiful thing to me. ¹¹The poor you will always have with you, but you will not always have me. ¹²When she poured this perfume on my body, she did it to prepare me for burial. ¹³I tell you the truth, wherever this gospel is preached throughout the world, what she has done will also be told, in memory of her."

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

¹⁴Then one of the Twelve—the one called Judas Iscariot—went to the chief priests ¹⁵and asked, "What are you willing to give me if I hand him over to you?" So they counted out for him thirty silver coins. ¹⁶From then on Judas watched for an opportunity to hand him over.

The Lord's Supper

¹⁷On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the disciples came to Jesus and asked, "Where do you want us to make preparations for you to eat the Passover?"

¹⁸He replied, "Go into the city to a certain man and tell him, 'The Teacher says: My appointed time is near. I am going to celebrate the Passover with my disciples at your house.'"¹⁹So the disci-

The Killing of a King

Arrest, trial, and execution

"What shall I do, then, with Jesus who is called Christ?" Pilate asked. They all answered, "Crucify him!" 27:22

In spare, unadorned language the last three chapters of Matthew draw together the deep ironies of Jesus' life. From the first sentence, Matthew has stressed that Jesus is the Messiah, a true king. This Gospel is sometimes called the "royal" Gospel because it refers so many times to kingship.

But at the end of his life, the man whom wise men had crossed a continent to worship was sold, like a slave, for thirty pieces of silver. Jesus got a royal robe and crown at last—but as a cruel, mocking joke. Blood from the wounds on his back clotted on the robe, and the crown of thorns streaked his face with more blood.

A short time before, he had rebuked the religious leaders with accusations. But when they put him on the stand and accused him, his strong voice stayed mostly silent.

Jesus' Self-Defense

Jesus' enemies asked him two chief questions: "Are you the king of the Jews?" and "Are you the Messiah?" He answered with a simple "Yes, it is as you say," confirming the major themes woven throughout Matthew's book (27:11). Finally he was executed, with his "crime"—being a king—posted above his sagging body.

Jesus was indeed a king, but not the kind of king people expected. Even his disciples, who had known Jesus intimately for three years, slipped away in doubt.

The story, however, doesn't end with the death scene in chapter 27. Good Friday would never have been called "good" without the miracle described next. The king came back! And the writer who opened his book by tracing Jesus' Jewish roots ends it with Jesus' stirring call to take the good news to all nations.

Life Questions The people who crucified Jesus—what did they hate in him? Is it the same today?

ples did as Jesus had directed them and prepared the Passover.

²⁰When evening came, Jesus was reclining at the table with the Twelve. ²¹And while they were eating, he said, "I tell you the truth, one of you will betray me."

²²They were very sad and began to say to him one after the other, "Surely not I, Lord?"

²³Jesus replied, "The one who has dipped his hand into the bowl with me will betray me. ²⁴The Son of Man will go just as it is written about him. But woe to that man who betrays the Son of Man! It would be better for him if he had not been born."

²⁵Then Judas, the one who would betray him, said, "Surely not I, Rabbi?"

Jesus answered, "Yes, it is you."^a

²⁶While they were eating, Jesus took bread, gave thanks and broke it, and gave it to his disciples, saying, "Take and eat; this is my body."

²⁷Then he took the cup, gave thanks and offered it to them, saying, "Drink from it, all of you. ²⁸This is my blood of the^b covenant, which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins. ²⁹I tell you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on until that day when I drink it anew with you in my Father's kingdom."

³⁰When they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

³¹Then Jesus told them, "This very night you will all fall away on account of me, for it is written:

"I will strike the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock will be scattered."

³²But after I have risen, I will go ahead of you into Galilee."

³³Peter replied, "Even if all fall away on account of you, I never will."

³⁴"I tell you the truth," Jesus answered, "this very night, before the rooster crows, you will disown me three times."

³⁵But Peter declared, "Even if I have to die with you, I will never disown you." And all the other disciples said the same.

Gethsemane

³⁶Then Jesus went with his disciples to a place called Gethsemane, and he said to them, "Sit here while I go over there and pray." ³⁷He took Peter and the two sons of Zebedee along with him, and he began to be sorrowful and troubled. ³⁸Then he said to them, "My soul is overwhelmed with sorrow to the point of death. Stay here and keep watch with me."

³⁹Going a little farther, he fell with his face to the ground and prayed, "My Father, if it is possible, may this cup be taken from me. Yet not as I will, but as you will."

⁴⁰Then he returned to his disciples and found them sleeping. "Could you men not keep watch with me for one hour?" he asked Peter. ⁴¹"Watch and pray so that you will not fall into temptation. The spirit is willing, but the body is weak."

⁴²He went away a second time and prayed, "My Father, if it is not possible for this cup to be taken away unless I drink it, may your will be done."

⁴³When he came back, he again found them sleeping, because their eyes were heavy. ⁴⁴So he left them and went away once more and prayed the third time, saying the same thing.

⁴⁵Then he returned to the disciples and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and resting? Look, the hour is near, and the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. ⁴⁶Rise, let us go! Here comes my betrayer!"

Jesus Arrested

⁴⁷While he was still speaking, Judas, one of the Twelve, arrived. With him was a large crowd armed with swords and clubs, sent from the chief priests and the elders of the people. ⁴⁸Now the betrayer had arranged a signal with them: "The one I kiss is the man; arrest him." ⁴⁹Going at once to Jesus, Judas said, "Greetings, Rabbi!" and kissed him.

⁵⁰Jesus replied, "Friend, do what you came for."^d

Then the men stepped forward, seized Jesus and arrested him. ⁵¹With that, one of Jesus' companions reached for his sword, drew it out and struck the servant of the high priest, cutting off his ear.

⁵²"Put your sword back in its place," Jesus said to him, "for all who draw the sword will die by the sword. ⁵³Do you think I cannot call on my Father, and he will at once put at my disposal more than twelve legions of angels? ⁵⁴But how then would the Scriptures be fulfilled that say it must happen in this way?"

⁵⁵At that time Jesus said to the crowd, "Am I leading a rebellion, that you have come out with swords and clubs to capture me? Every day I sat in the temple courts teaching, and you did not arrest me. ⁵⁶But this has all taken place that the writings of the prophets might be fulfilled." Then all the disciples deserted him and fled.

Before the Sanhedrin

⁵⁷Those who had arrested Jesus took him to Caiaphas, the high priest, where the teachers of the law and the elders had assembled. ⁵⁸But Peter followed him at a distance, right up to the court-

26:47 A Name Disgraced

Judas (like Jesus) was a common name for Jewish men in those days; it is the Greek form of Judah. He came from a region called Judea, whereas all the other disciples came from Galilee. Yet he gained enough trust to be named the disciples' treasurer. The Bible gives few details on Judas's motive for betraying Jesus. He may have become disillusioned when Jesus didn't fulfill his expectations of a powerful king and Messiah.

and of the high priest. He entered and sat down with the guards to see the outcome.

The chief priests and the whole Sanhedrin were looking for false evidence against Jesus so that they could put him to death. ⁶⁰But they did not find any, though many false witnesses came forward.

Finally two came forward and declared, "This fellow said, 'I am able to destroy the temple of God and rebuild it in three days.'"

Then the high priest stood up and said to Jesus, "Are you not going to answer? What is this testimony that these men are bringing against you?" ⁶¹But Jesus remained silent.

The high priest said to him, "I charge you under oath by the living God. Tell us if you are the Christ,⁶² the Son of God."

"Yes, it is as you say," Jesus replied. "But I say to all of you: In the future you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Mighty One and coming on the clouds of heaven."

⁶³Then the high priest tore his clothes and said, "He has spoken blasphemy! Why do we need any more witnesses? Look, now you have heard the blasphemy. ⁶⁴What do you think?"

"He is worthy of death," they answered.

⁶⁵Then they spit in his face and struck him with their fists. Others slapped him ⁶⁶and said, "Prophecy to us, Christ. Who hit you?"

Peter Disowns Jesus

⁶⁷Now Peter was sitting out in the courtyard, and a servant girl came to him. "You also were with Jesus of Galilee," she said.

⁶⁸But he denied it before them all. "I don't know what you're talking about," he said.

⁶⁹Then he went out to the gateway, where another girl saw him and said to the people there, "This fellow was with Jesus of Nazareth."

⁷⁰He denied it again, with an oath: "I don't know the man!"

⁷¹After a little while, those standing there went up to Peter and said, "Surely you are one of them, for your accent gives you away."

⁷²Then he began to call down curses on himself and he swore to them, "I don't know the man!"

Immediately a rooster crowed. ⁷³Then Peter remembered the word Jesus had spoken: "Before the rooster crows, you will disown me three times." And he went outside and wept bitterly.

Judas Hangs Himself

27 Early in the morning, all the chief priests and the elders of the people came to the decision to put Jesus to death. ²They bound him, led him away and handed him over to Pilate, the governor.

³When Judas, who had betrayed him, saw that Jesus was condemned, he was seized with remorse and returned the thirty silver coins to the chief priests and the elders. ⁴"I have sinned," he said, "for I have betrayed innocent blood."

"What is that to us?" they replied. "That's your responsibility."

⁵Then Judas threw the money into the temple and left. Then he went away and hanged himself.

⁶The chief priests picked up the coins and said, "It is against the law to put this into the treasury since it is blood money."⁷ So they decided to use the money to buy the potter's field as a burial place for foreigners. ⁸That is why it has been called the Field of Blood to this day. ⁹Then what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet was fulfilled: "They took the thirty silver coins, the price set on him by the people of Israel, ¹⁰and they used them to buy the potter's field, as the Lord commanded me."

Jesus Before Pilate

¹¹Meanwhile Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor asked him, "Are you the king of the Jews?"

"Yes, it is as you say," Jesus replied.

¹²When he was accused by the chief priests and the elders, he gave no answer. ¹³Then Pilate asked him, "Don't you hear the testimony they are bringing against you?" ¹⁴But Jesus made no reply, not even to a single charge—to the great amazement of the governor.

¹⁵Now it was the governor's custom at the Feast to release a prisoner chosen by the crowd. ¹⁶At that time they had a notorious prisoner, called Barabbas. ¹⁷So when the crowd had gathered, Pilate asked them, "Which one do you want me to release to you: Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?" ¹⁸For he knew it was out of envy that they had handed Jesus over to him.

¹⁹While Pilate was sitting on the judge's seat, his wife sent him this message: "Don't have anything to do with that innocent man, for I have suffered a great deal today in a dream because of him."

²⁰But the chief priests and the elders persuaded the crowd to ask for Barabbas and to have Jesus executed.

²¹"Which of the two do you want me to release to you?" asked the governor.

"Barabbas," they answered.

²²"What shall I do, then, with Jesus who is called Christ?" Pilate asked.

They all answered, "Crucify him!"

²³"Why? What crime has he committed?" asked Pilate.

But they shouted all the louder, "Crucify him!"

²⁴When Pilate saw that he was getting nowhere, but that instead an uproar was starting, he took water and washed his hands in front of the crowd. "I am innocent of this man's blood," he said. "It is your responsibility!"

²⁵All the people answered, "Let his blood be on us and on our children!"

²⁶Then he released Barabbas to them. But he had Jesus flogged, and handed him over to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

²⁷Then the governor's soldiers took Jesus into the Praetorium and gathered the whole company of soldiers around him. ²⁸They stripped him and put a scarlet robe on him, ²⁹and then twisted together a crown of thorns and set it on his head. They put a staff in his right hand and knelt in front of him and mocked him. "Hail, king of the Jews!" they said. ³⁰They spit on him, and took the staff and struck him on the head again and again. ³¹After they had mocked him, they took off the robe and put his own clothes on him. Then they led him away to crucify him.

The Crucifixion

³²As they were going out, they met a man from Cyrene, named Simon, and they forced him to carry the cross. ³³They came to a place called Golgotha (which means The Place of the Skull). ³⁴There they offered Jesus wine to drink, mixed with gall, but after tasting it, he refused to drink it. ³⁵When they had crucified him, they divided up his clothes by casting lots. ³⁶And sitting down, they kept watch over him there. ³⁷Above his head they placed the written charge against him: THIS IS JESUS, THE KING OF THE JEWS. ³⁸Two robbers were crucified with him, one on his right and one on his left. ³⁹Those who passed by hurled insults at him, shaking their heads ⁴⁰and saying, "You who are going to destroy the temple and build it in three days, save yourself! Come down from the cross, if you are the Son of God!"

⁴¹In the same way the chief priests, the teachers of the law and the elders mocked him. ⁴²"He saved others," they said, "but he can't save himself! He's the King of Israel! Let him come down now from the cross, and we will believe in him. ⁴³He trusts in God. Let God rescue him now if he wants him, for he said, 'I am the Son of God.' " ⁴⁴In the same way the robbers who were crucified with him also heaped insults on him.

The Death of Jesus

⁴⁵From the sixth hour until the ninth hour darkness came over all the land. ⁴⁶About the ninth hour Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Eloi, Eloi, ^b lama sabachthani?"—which means, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

⁴⁷When some of those standing there heard this, they said, "He's calling Elijah."

⁴⁸Immediately one of them ran and got a sponge. He filled it with wine vinegar, put it on a stick, and offered it to Jesus to drink. ⁴⁹The rest said, "Now leave him alone. Let's see if Elijah comes to save him."

⁵⁰And when Jesus had cried out again in a loud voice, he gave up his spirit.

⁵¹At that moment the curtain of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom. The earth shook and the rocks split. ⁵²The tombs broke open and the bodies of many holy people who had died were raised to life. ⁵³They came out of the tombs, and after Jesus' resurrection they went into the holy city and appeared to many people.

⁵⁴When the centurion and those with him who were guarding Jesus saw the earthquake and all that had happened, they were terrified, and exclaimed, "Surely he was the Son^d of God!"

⁵⁵Many women were there, watching from a distance. They had followed Jesus from Galilee to care for his needs. ⁵⁶Among them were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of Zebedee's sons.

The Burial of Jesus

⁵⁷As evening approached, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who had himself become a disciple of Jesus. ⁵⁸Going to Pilate, he asked for Jesus' body, and Pilate ordered that it be given to him. ⁵⁹Joseph took the body, wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, ⁶⁰and placed it in his own new tomb that he had cut out of the rock. He rolled a big stone in front of the entrance to the tomb and went away. ⁶¹Mary Magdalene and the other Mary were sitting there opposite the tomb.

The Guard at the Tomb

⁶²The next day, the one after Preparation Day, the chief priests and the Pharisees went to Pilate. ⁶³"Sir," they said, "we remember that while he was still alive that deceiver said, 'After three days I will rise again.' ⁶⁴So give the order for the tomb to be made secure until the third day. Otherwise, his disciples may come and steal the body and tell the people that he has been raised from the dead. This last deception will be worse than the first."

⁶⁵"Take a guard," Pilate answered. "Go, make the tomb as secure as you know how." ⁶⁶So they went and made the tomb secure by putting a seal on the stone and posting the guard.

The Resurrection

28 After the Sabbath, at dawn on the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary went to look at the tomb.

²There was a violent earthquake, for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and, going to the tomb, rolled back the stone and sat on it. ³His appearance was like lightning, and his clothes were white as snow. ⁴The guards were so afraid of him that they shook and became like dead men.

⁵The angel said to the women, "Do not be afraid, for I know that you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified. ⁶He is not here; he has risen, just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay. ⁷Then go quickly and tell his disciples: 'He has

27:51 A Curtain Is Torn

At Jesus' death, the massive, thick curtain in the temple in Jerusalem ripped in two. This curtain sealed off the Most Holy Place. No one except the high priest was allowed into the presence of God in that Most Holy Place. And the high priest was permitted in only once a year, on a special day. The author of Hebrews looked on the miraculously torn curtain as symbolic: it signified the immediate access to God made possible by Jesus' death (Hebrews 10:19,20).

men from the dead and is going ahead of you into Galilee. There you will see him.' Now I have told you.

So the women hurried away from the tomb, afraid yet filled with joy, and ran to tell his disciples. Suddenly Jesus met them: "Greetings," he said. They came to him, clasped his feet and worshiped him. Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and tell my brothers to go to Galilee, where they will see me."

The Guards' Report

While the women were on their way, some of the guards went into the city and reported to the chief priests everything that had happened. When the chief priests had met with the elders and devised a plan, they gave the soldiers a large sum of money, telling them, "You are to say, 'His disciples came during the night and stole him away while we were asleep.' " If this report gets to the governor, we will satisfy him and keep you out of trouble. " So the soldiers took the money and did as they were instructed. And this story has been widely circulated among the Jews to this very day.

The Great Commission

Then the eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain where Jesus had told them to go. When they saw him, they worshiped him, but some doubted. Then Jesus came to them and said, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age."

The Rightful King Regains His Throne

The first blessing and command of the new king

Then Jesus came to them and said, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I will be with you always, to the very end of the age. 28:18-20

When a new king was ready to assume his throne in ancient times, tradition required a ceremony of pomp and power. In regal splendor the ruler stepped forward to assume the symbols of authority: a crown, a scepter, or a throne. The former king was gone, defeated or deceased. The new ruler was now elevated to his rightful place and would from this time rule all the territory under his dominion.

Jesus' Resurrection and Enthronement

In the climax of Matthew's Gospel, Jesus the king has finally defeated the "prince of this world." On the cross and in the resurrection he has taken away Satan's power, and now resplendent in glory he speaks to his followers as the one who is enthroned over all the powers of this world. "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me."

The first command of this new king Jesus to "go and make disciples of all nations" is also the first blessing of the enthroned king. It is a blessing that promises the sharing of his power, and the responsibility to assert the rightful reign of God over his entire creation. It is also the blessing of his presence. Surely he will be with us always even "to the very end of the age."

The followers of King Jesus now take the good news to all nations, the news that the illegitimate reign of Satan is coming to an end, that the victory of Jesus has already been established, and the good news that all people everywhere can now begin to obey everything that he has commanded. Life Questions. List some ways in which you see or experience the reign of Jesus today. What difference does this make for those who bring the good news to all nations?

MARK

INTRODUCTION

The Fast paced Gospel

Mark's stories are full of action

News about him spread quickly over the whole region of Galilee (1:28)

A lone figure appears – an eccentric wearing camel's hair and crying something in the thin desert air. So begins Mark.

It helps to imagine the book of Mark as a concisely edited document. Unlike the other Gospels, this one has little tolerance for dialogue and personal reflection. The author is writing to a restless, impatient audience.

Mark deftly controls the focus of the action, alternately showing large crowds and then concentrating on individual people. He leaves no doubt about the main character. After the opening verses on John the Baptist, he turns to focus on Jesus and follows him everywhere.

An Emphasis on Action

Those who look for an outline in Mark come away baffled. Matthew and Luke each give four chapters of historical warm-up before recording a miracle by Jesus. Mark covers three miracles and a group event in the first chapter alone.

In contrast to all its action scenes, the book includes only a sampling of Jesus' parables. It focuses on events, not speeches or editorial comments. Mark shows large crowds pressing around Jesus so tightly that he launches a boat to escape them. Wherever he goes, the crowds follow, buzzing about his remarkable life. "Is he the Holy One of God?" "Is he mad?" "Isn't this the carpenter's boy?"

A Breathless Pace

By dispensing with all but bare-bones action, Mark manages to achieve more drama than perhaps any other biblical writer. Action guarantees an attentive audience, and Mark jams sequences together breathlessly. The heavens open immediately, the Spirit sends Jesus into the wilderness immediately, he calls his disciples immediately. 42 times this book uses that hurry-up adverb (in Greek).

Characters rush from place to place, jostle among crowds, are astonished at mighty works. Mark is a Gospel of exclamation points, full of words like amazed, overwhelmed, terrified. A phenomenon is loose on the earth, and the author is determined to capture its impact for future generations.

How to Read Mark

About 90% of Mark's content appears in the other three Gospels, but the book makes an ideal starting place for someone who knows little about Jesus. Its style – simple sentences, without complicated transitions or long speeches – makes understanding easier. In fact, Mark was probably written as a missionary book to people who knew next to nothing about the new Christian faith.

Except where he cites Jesus' own quotations, Mark quotes the Old Testament directly in only one place (1:2-3). In addition, Mark doesn't refer to the Old Testament Law, a striking difference from the other Gospels. Such facts indicate his book was written to a non-Jewish audience, probably the Romans.

You'll need no special instructions on reading Mark. This book's breezy style makes it as understandable as a newspaper. Because it loosely follows the chronology of Jesus' life, Mark offers an excellent introduction to the life of Jesus. As you read, stop and ponder the events Mark records. Why did Mark select these facts? What meaning did they have for the people in Jesus' day? What about for you?

A PLAN FOR READING MARK

PLAN 1: A of Mark in 15 Days

Reading Mark will give you a quick summary of Jesus' acts on this earth. For this reason, plan to spend two weeks reading all 16 chapters of Mark.

Day 1. Read the Introduction to Mark, then chapter 1.

Day 2. Read chapter 2's record of scenes from Jesus' life during a period of popular acclaim.

Day 3. Read chapter 3, which shows Jesus calling his 12 disciples.

Day 4. Read the brief parables and the account of the calming of a storm in chapter 4.

Day 5. Mark 5 tells of three miracles of healing; note the different crowd reaction to each one.

Day 6. Read chapter 6, which includes several famous miracles and also the story of John the Baptist's beheading.

Day 7. Read chapter 7, which shows the Pharisees' opposition to Jesus beginning to mount.

Day 8. As you read chapter 8, notice, on the one hand, Jesus' increasing popularity, and on the other, the growing tension that will eventually culminate in his death.

Day 9. Read the account of Jesus' transfiguration and the other events recorded in chapter 9.

Day 10. Mark 10 records Jesus' teaching on divorce, humility, and wealth.

Day 11. Read chapter 11's account of Jesus' entry into Jerusalem for the last week of his life.

Day 12. Read chapter 12, which includes Jesus' teaching on a variety of topics.

Day 13. Read chapter 13 for Jesus' predictions of the end of the world.

Day 14. Mark 14 records the events leading up to Jesus' arrest, as well as his trial before a Jewish court.

Day 15. Read chapters 15 and 16, which report the last events in Jesus' life on earth.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

In the beginning of the gospel about Jesus Christ,
the Son of God—

—written in Isaiah the prophet:

“I will send my messenger ahead of you,
who will prepare your way”¹—
the voice of one calling in the desert,
to prepare the way for the Lord,
to make straight paths for him.”²

1 John came baptizing in the desert region and preaching a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. The whole Judean countryside and all the people of Jerusalem went out to him confessing their sins, they were baptized by him in the Jordan River. John wore clothing made of camel hair, with a leather belt around his waist,

and he ate locusts and wild honey. ⁷And this was his message: “After me will come one more powerful than I, the thongs of whose sandals I am not worthy to stoop down and untie. ⁸I baptize you with⁴ water, but he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit.”

The Baptism and Temptation of Jesus

⁹At that time Jesus came from Nazareth in Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan. ¹⁰As Jesus was coming up out of the water, he saw heaven being torn open and the Spirit descending on him like a dove. ¹¹And a voice came from heaven: “You are my Son, whom I love, with you I am well pleased.”

¹²At once the Spirit sent him out into the desert, ¹³and he was in the desert forty days, being tempted by Satan. He was with the wild animals, and angels attended him.

The Calling of the First Disciples

¹⁴After John was put in prison, Jesus went into Galilee, proclaiming the good news of God. ¹⁵"The time has come," he said. "The kingdom of God is near. Repent and believe the good news!"

¹⁶As Jesus walked beside the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and his brother Andrew casting a net into the lake, for they were fishermen. ¹⁷"Come, follow me," Jesus said, "and I will make you fishers of men." ¹⁸At once they left their nets and followed him.

¹⁹When he had gone a little farther, he saw James son of Zebedee and his brother John in a boat, preparing their nets. ²⁰Without delay he called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired men and followed him.

Jesus Drives Out an Evil Spirit

²¹They went to Capernaum, and when the Sabbath came, Jesus went into the synagogue and began to teach. ²²The people were amazed at his teaching, because he taught them as one who had authority, not as the teachers of the law. ²³Just then a man in their synagogue who was possessed by an evil²³ spirit cried out, ²⁴"What do you want with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God!"

²⁵"Be quiet!" said Jesus sternly. "Come out of him!" ²⁶The evil spirit shook the man violently and came out of him with a shriek.

²⁷The people were all so amazed that they asked each other, "What is this? A new teaching—and with authority! He even gives orders to evil spirits and they obey him." ²⁸News about him spread quickly over the whole region of Galilee.

Jesus Heals Many

²⁹As soon as they left the synagogue, they went with James and John to the home of Simon and Andrew. ³⁰Simon's mother-in-law was in bed with a fever, and they told Jesus about her. ³¹So he went to her, took her hand and helped her up. The fever left her and she began to wait on them.

³²That evening after sunset the people brought to Jesus all the sick and demon-possessed. ³³The whole town gathered at the door, ³⁴and Jesus healed many who had various diseases. He also drove out many demons, but he would not let the demons speak because they knew who he was.

Jesus Prays in a Solitary Place

³⁵Very early in the morning, while it was still dark, Jesus got up, left the house and went off to a solitary place, where he prayed. ³⁶Simon and his companions went to look for him, ³⁷and when they found him, they exclaimed: "Everyone is looking for you!"

³⁸Jesus replied, "Let us go somewhere else—to the nearby villages—so I can preach there also. That is why I have come." ³⁹So he traveled throughout Galilee, preaching in their synagogues and driving out demons.

A Man With Leprosy

⁴⁰A man with leprosy⁴⁰ came to him and begged him on his knees, "If you are willing, you can make me clean."

⁴¹Filled with compassion, Jesus reached out his hand and touched the man. "I am willing," he said. "Be clean!" ⁴²Immediately the leprosy left him and he was cured.

⁴³Jesus sent him away at once with a strong warning: ⁴⁴"See that you don't tell this to anyone. But go, show yourself to the priest and offer the sacrifices that Moses commanded for your cleansing, as a testimony to them." ⁴⁵Instead he went out and began to talk freely, spreading the news. As a result, Jesus could no longer enter a town openly but stayed outside in lonely places. Yet the people still came to him from everywhere.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

2 A few days later, when Jesus again entered Capernaum, the people heard that he had come home. ²So many gathered that there was no room left, not even outside the door, and he preached the word to them. ³Some men came, bringing to him a paralytic, carried by four of them. ⁴Since they could not get him to Jesus because of the crowd, they made an opening in the roof above Jesus and, after digging through it, lowered the mat the paralytic man was lying on. ⁵When Jesus saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Son, your sins are forgiven."

⁶Now some teachers of the law were sitting there, thinking to themselves, ⁷"Why does this fellow talk like that? He's blaspheming! Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

⁸Immediately Jesus knew in his spirit that this was what they were thinking in their hearts, and he said to them, "Why are you thinking these things? ⁹Which is easier: to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Get up, take your mat and walk?' ¹⁰But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins. . . ." He said to the paralytic, ¹¹"I tell you, get up, take your mat and go home." ¹²He got up, took his mat and walked out in full view of them all. This amazed everyone and they praised God, saying, "We have never seen anything like this!"

The Calling of Levi

¹³Once again Jesus went out beside the lake. A large crowd came to him, and he began to teach them. ¹⁴As he walked along, he saw Levi son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax collector's booth. "Follow me," Jesus told him, and Levi got up and followed him.

¹⁵While Jesus was having dinner at Levi's house, many tax collectors and "sinners" were eating with him and his disciples, for there were many who followed him. ¹⁶When the teachers of the law who were Pharisees saw him eating with the "sinners" and tax collectors, they asked his disciples: "Why does he eat with tax collectors and 'sinners'?"

²³ Greek unclean; also in verses 26 and 27 leprosy

⁴⁰ The Greek word was used for various diseases affecting the skin—not necessarily

On hearing this, Jesus said to them, "It is not to healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. I have come to call the righteous, but sinners."

Jesus Questioned About Fasting

John's disciples and the Pharisees were fasting. Some people came and asked Jesus, "How is it that John's disciples and the disciples of the Pharisees are fasting, but yours are not?"

Jesus answered, "How can the guests of the bridegroom fast while he is with them? They cannot, so long as they have him with them. But the time will come when the bridegroom will be taken from them, and on that day they will fast."

Someone sews a patch of unshrunk cloth on an old garment. If he does, the new piece will pull away from the old, making the tear worse. And no one pours new wine into old wineskins. If he does, the wine will burst the skins, and both the wine and the wineskins will be ruined. No, he pours new wine into new wineskins."

Lord of the Sabbath

One Sabbath Jesus was going through the grainfields, and as his disciples walked along, they began to pick some heads of grain. The Pharisees said to him, "Look, why are they doing what is unlawful on the Sabbath?"

He answered, "Have you never read what David did when he and his companions were hungry and in need? In the days of Abiathar the high priest, he entered the house of God and ate the consecrated bread, which is lawful only for priests to eat. And he also gave some to his companions."

Then he said to them, "The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. So the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath."

Another time he went into the synagogue, and a man with a shriveled hand was there. Some of them were looking for a reason to accuse Jesus, so they watched him closely to see if he would heal him on the Sabbath. Jesus said to the man with the shriveled hand, "Stand up in front of everyone."

Then Jesus asked them, "Which is lawful on the Sabbath: to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?" But they remained silent.

He looked around at them in anger and, deeply distressed at their stubborn hearts, said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He stretched it out, and his hand was completely restored. Then the Pharisees went out and began to plot with the Herodians how they might kill Jesus.

Crowds Follow Jesus

Jesus withdrew with his disciples to the lake, and a large crowd from Galilee followed. When they heard all he was doing, many people came to him from Judea, Jerusalem, Idumea, and the regions across the Jordan and around Tyre and Sidon. Because of the crowd he told his disciples to have a small boat ready for him, to keep the people from crowding him. For he had healed many, so that those with diseases were pushing forward to touch him. Whenever the evil spirits saw him, they fell down before him and cried out, "You are the Son of God." But he gave them strict orders not to tell who he was.

The Appointing of the Twelve Apostles

Jesus went up on a mountainside and called to him those he wanted, and they came to him. He appointed twelve—designating them apostles—that they might be with him and that he might send them out to preach and to have authority to drive out demons. These are the twelve he appointed: Simon (to whom he gave the name Peter), James son of Zebedee and his brother John (to them he gave the name Boanerges, which means Sons of Thunder), Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Zealot, and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed him.

Jesus and Beelzebul

Then Jesus entered a house, and again a crowd gathered, so that he and his disciples were not even able to eat. When his family heard about this, they went to take charge of him, for they said, "He is out of his mind."

And the teachers of the law who came down from Jerusalem said, "He is possessed by Beelzebul." By the prince of demons he is driving out demons.

So Jesus called them and spoke to them in parables. "How can Satan drive out Satan? If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. If a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand. And if Satan opposes himself and is divided, he cannot stand; his end has come. In fact, no one can enter a strong man's house and carry off his possessions unless he first ties up the strong man. Then he can rob his house. I tell you the truth, all the sins and blasphemies of men will be forgiven them. But whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will never be forgiven; he is guilty of an eternal sin."

He said this because they were saying, "He has an evil spirit."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers

Then Jesus' mother and brothers arrived. Standing outside, they sent someone in to call

3:21 Out of His Mind?

Jesus provoked a strong reaction in just about everyone. In this instance, Jesus' own family members questioned his sanity, and teachers of the law wondered about demon possession. He aroused the fiercest opposition among his own neighbors and among the religious "professionals" of his day. But, as Mark shows, throngs of other people were amazed by his authoritative teaching and his miraculous powers. Personal contact with Jesus left virtually no one unmoved.

him. ³²A crowd was sitting around him and they told him, "Your mother and brothers are outside looking for you."

³³"Who are my mother and my brothers?" he asked.

³⁴Then he looked at those seated in a circle around him and said, "Here are my mother and my brothers' ³⁵Whoever does God's will is my brother and sister and mother.

The Parable of the Sower

4 Again Jesus began to teach by the lake. The crowd that gathered around him was so large that he got into a boat and sat in it out on the lake.

INSIGHT

Why Come to Earth?

The only way God could get through

They were terrified and asked each other, "Who is this? Even the wind and the waves obey him!"
4:41

Paul Harvey tells a modern parable about a religious skeptic who worked as a farmer. One cold winter night the man heard an irregular thumping sound against the kitchen storm door. He went to a window and watched as tiny, shivering sparrows, attracted to the evident warmth inside, beat in vain against the glass.

Touched, the farmer bundled up and trudged through fresh snow to open the barn door for the struggling birds. He turned on the lights and tossed some hay in a corner. But the sparrows, which had scattered in all directions when he emerged from the house, hid in the darkness, afraid.

The man tried various tactics to get them into the barn. He laid down a trail of bread crumbs to direct them. He tried circling behind the birds to drive them toward the barn. Nothing worked. He, a huge, alien creature, had terrified them; the birds couldn't comprehend that he actually desired to help.

The farmer withdrew to his house and watched the doomed sparrows through a window. As he stared, a thought hit him like lightning from a clear blue sky. If only I could become a bird—one of them—just for a moment. Then I wouldn't frighten them so. I could show them the way to warmth and safety.

At the same moment, another thought dawned on him. He had grasped the reason Jesus was born.

When God Came to Earth

A man becoming a bird is nothing compared to God becoming a man. The concept of a sovereign eternal being who created the universe, confining himself to a human body was—and is—too much for some people to believe. But how else could God truly communicate with us?

We don't know what God looked like as a man; no Gospel writer described the physical appearance of Jesus. But, in other ways, Mark painted a full picture of his humanity. Jesus, who claimed to be God, didn't have a supernatural "glow" about him. His own neighbors and family marveled that he seemed so, well, normal.

Mark does not diminish Jesus. He shows the power of a man who healed the blind with a simple touch (8:25), and the authority of a teacher so captivating that people sat three days straight, with empty stomachs, just to hear him (8:2). Even after Jesus hushed them, people wouldn't stop talking about his miracles.

But Mark also reveals the full range of Jesus' emotions: a surge of compassion for a person with leprosy (1:41), a deep sigh in response to nagging Pharisees (8:12), a look of anger and distress at cold-hearted legalists (3:5), and then an awful cry on the cross, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?" (15:34). Jesus was sometimes witty, and he sometimes cried. He got tired—five times, Mark records, he sought a quiet place for rest away from the crowds.

Like No One Else

Jesus was like no other person who ever lived. Twelve men left their jobs and families at a single command to follow him. Yet Jesus was also fully "one of us." He needed food and friends. He got lonely and tired. He showed anger and disappointment. Because Jesus experienced all we experience as human beings, he can understand us completely, and share in our joys and sorrows.

Mark portrays both sides of Jesus—the divine and the human. The disciples needed to see both dimensions to give their lives to him.

Life Questions: Suppose that Jesus had never come, that God had merely sent an elaborate written message. What difference would that make?

While all the people were along the shore at the water's edge.² He taught them many things by parables, and in his teaching said:³ "Listen! A farmer went out to sow his seed.⁴ As he was scattering the seed, some fell along the path, and the birds came and ate it up.⁵ Some fell on rocky places where it did not have much soil. It sprang up quickly because the soil was shallow.⁶ But as the sun came up, the plants were scorched, and they withered because they had no root.⁷ Some seed fell among thorns, which grew up and choked the plants, so that they did not bear grain.⁸ Other seed fell on good soil. It came up, grew and produced a crop, multiplying thirty, sixty, or even a hundred times."

Then Jesus said, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear."

When he was alone, the Twelve and the others around him asked him about the parables.¹¹ He told them, "The secret of the kingdom of God has been given to you. But to those on the outside everything is said in parables,¹² so that they may be ever seeing but never perceiving,

and ever hearing but never understanding,
otherwise they might turn and be forgiven!"¹⁴

Then Jesus said to them, "Don't you understand this parable? How then will you understand any parable?"¹⁴ The farmer sows the word.¹⁵ Some seeds are like seed along the path, where the birds come and eat them. As soon as they hear it, Satan comes and takes away the word that was sown in them.¹⁶ Others, like seed sown on rocky places, hear the word and at once receive it with joy.¹⁷ But since they have no root, they last only a short time. When trouble or persecution comes because of the word, they quickly fall away.¹⁸ Still others, like seed sown among thorns, hear the word,¹⁹ but the cares of this life, the deceitfulness of wealth and the desires for other things come in and choke the word, making it unfruitful.²⁰ Others, like seed sown on good soil, hear the word, accept it, and produce a crop—thirty, sixty or even a hundred times what was sown.

A Lamp on a Stand

He said to them, "Do you bring in a lamp to put it under a bowl or a bed? Instead, don't you put it on its stand?"²² For whatever is hidden is meant to be disclosed, and whatever is concealed is meant to be brought out into the open.²³ If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear."

"Consider carefully what you hear," he continued. "With the measure you use, it will be measured to you—and even more.²⁵ Whoever has will be given more; whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken from him."

The Parable of the Growing Seed

He also said, "This is what the kingdom of God is like. A man scatters seed on the ground.² Night and day, whether he sleeps or gets up, the seed sprouts and grows, though he does not know how.²⁸ All by itself the soil produces grain—first the stalk, then the head, then the full kernel in the head.²⁹ As soon as the grain is ripe, he puts the sickle to it, because the harvest has come."

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

³⁰ Again he said, "What shall we say the kingdom of God is like, or what parable shall we use to describe it?"³¹ It is like a mustard seed, which is the smallest seed you plant in the ground.³² Yet when planted, it grows and becomes the largest of all garden plants, with such big branches that the birds of the air can perch in its shade."

³³ With many similar parables Jesus spoke the word to them, as much as they could understand.³⁴ He did not say anything to them without using a parable. But when he was alone with his own disciples, he explained everything.

Jesus Calms the Storm

³⁵ That day when evening came, he said to his disciples, "Let us go over to the other side."³⁶ Leaving the crowd behind, they took him along, just as he was, in the boat. There were also other boats with him.³⁷ A furious squall came up, and the waves broke over the boat, so that it was nearly swamped.³⁸ Jesus was in the stern, sleeping on a cushion. The disciples woke him and said to him, "Teacher, don't you care if we drown?"

³⁹ He got up, rebuked the wind and said to the waves, "Quiet! Be still!" Then the wind died down and it was completely calm.

⁴⁰ He said to his disciples, "Why are you so afraid? Do you still have no faith?"

⁴¹ They were terrified and asked each other, "Who is this? Even the wind and the waves obey him!"

The Healing of a Demon-possessed Man

5 They went across the lake to the region of the Gerasenes.^b ² When Jesus got out of the boat, a man with an evil^c spirit came from the tombs to meet him.³ This man lived in the tombs, and no one could bind him any more, not even with a chain.⁴ For he had often been chained hand and foot, but he tore the chains apart and broke the irons on his feet. No one was strong enough to subdue him.⁵ Night and day among the tombs and in the hills he would cry out and cut himself with stones.

⁶ When he saw Jesus from a distance, he ran and fell on his knees in front of him.⁷ He shouted at the top of his voice, "What do you want with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? Swear to God

4:30 Scarce Parables

Unlike Matthew and Luke, Mark devotes little space to parables, the unique form of teaching Jesus often relied on. Yet Mark includes as many miracles as does any Gospel. Clearly, this book emphasizes action over words.

that you won't torture me!" For Jesus had said to him, "Come out of this man, you evil spirit!"

Then Jesus asked him, "What is your name?"

"My name is Legion," he replied, "for we are many." And he begged Jesus again and again not to send them out of the area.

A large herd of pigs was feeding on the nearby hillside. The demons begged Jesus, "Send us among the pigs, allow us to go into them." He gave them permission, and the evil spirits came out and went into the pigs. The herd, about two thousand in number, rushed down the steep bank into the lake and were drowned.

Those tending the pigs ran off and reported this in the town and countryside, and the people went out to see what had happened. When they came to Jesus, they saw the man who had been possessed by the legion of demons, sitting there, dressed and in his right mind; and they were afraid. Those who had seen it told the people what had happened to the demon-possessed man—and told about the pigs as well. Then the people began to plead with Jesus to leave their region.

As Jesus was getting into the boat, the man who had been demon-possessed begged to go with him. Jesus did not let him, but said, "Go home to your family and tell them how much the Lord has done for you, and how he has had mercy on you." So the man went away and began to tell in the Decapolis how much Jesus had done for him. And all the people were amazed.

A Dead Girl and a Sick Woman

When Jesus had again crossed over by boat to the other side of the lake, a large crowd gathered around him while he was by the lake. Then one of the synagogue rulers, named Jairus, came there. Seeing Jesus, he fell at his feet and pleaded earnestly with him, "My little daughter is dying. Please come and put your hands on her so that she will be healed and live." So Jesus went with him.

A large crowd followed and pressed around him. And a woman was there who had been subject to bleeding for twelve years. She had suffered a great deal under the care of many doctors and had spent all she had, yet instead of getting better she grew worse. When she heard about Jesus, she came up behind him in the crowd and touched his cloak, because she thought, "If I just touch his clothes, I will be healed." Immediately her bleeding stopped and she felt in her body that she was freed from her suffering.

At once Jesus realized that power had gone out from him. He turned around in the crowd and asked, "Who touched my clothes?"

You see the people crowding against you," his disciples answered, "and yet you can ask, 'Who touched me?'"

But Jesus kept looking around to see who had done it. Then the woman, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell at his feet and, trembling with fear, told him the whole truth. He said to her, "Daughter, your faith has healed you.

Go in peace and be freed from your suffering."

While Jesus was still speaking, some men came from the house of Jairus, the synagogue ruler. "Your daughter is dead," they said. "Why bother the teacher any more?"

Ignoring what they said, Jesus told the synagogue ruler, "Don't be afraid, just believe."

He did not let anyone follow him except Peter, James and John the brother of James. When they came to the home of the synagogue ruler, Jesus saw a commotion, with people crying and wailing loudly. He went in and said to them, "Why all this commotion and wailing? The child is not dead but asleep."

But they laughed at him. After he put them all out, he took the child's father and mother and the disciples who were with him, and went in where the child was. He took her by the hand and said to her, "Talitha koum!" (which means, "Little girl, I say to you, get up!"). Immediately the girl stood up and walked around (she was twelve years old). At this they were completely astonished. He gave strict orders not to let anyone know about this, and told them to give her something to eat.

A Prophet Without Honor

Jesus left there and went to his hometown, accompanied by his disciples. When the Sabbath came, he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were amazed.

"Where did this man get these things?" they asked. "What's this wisdom that has been given him, that he even does miracles? Isn't this the carpenter? Isn't this Mary's son and the brother of James, Joseph,^b Judas and Simon? Aren't his sisters here with us?" And they took offense at him.

Jesus said to them, "Only in his hometown, among his relatives and in his own house is a prophet without honor." He could not do any miracles there, except lay his hands on a few sick people and heal them. And he was amazed at their lack of faith.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve

Then Jesus went around teaching from village to village. Calling the Twelve to him, he sent them out two by two and gave them authority over evil spirits.

These were his instructions: "Take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bread, no bag, no money in your belts. Wear sandals but not an extra tunic. Whenever you enter a house, stay there until you leave that town. And if any place will not welcome you or listen to you, shake the dust off your feet when you leave, as a testimony against them."

They went out and preached that people should repent. They drove out many demons and anointed many sick people with oil and healed them.

He did this because of Herodias, his brother-in-law's wife, whom he had married. For John had been saying to Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

So Herodias nursed a grudge against John and wanted to kill him. But he was not able to.

Because Herod feared John and liked to listen to him, for he knew John to be a righteous and holy man. When Herod heard John, he was greatly puzzled, yet he liked to listen to him.

Finally the opportune time came. On his birthday Herod gave a banquet for his high officials and military commanders and the leading men of Galilee. When the daughter of Herodias came in and danced, she pleased Herod and his dinner guests.

The king said to the girl, "Ask me for anything you want, and I'll give it to you." And he promised her with an oath, "Whatever you ask I will give you, up to half my kingdom."

She went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask for?"

"The head of John the Baptist," she answered.

At once the girl hurried in to the king with the request: "I want you to give me right now the head of John the Baptist on a platter."

The king was greatly distressed, but because of his oaths and his dinner guests, he did not want to refuse her. So he immediately sent an executioner with orders to bring John's head. The man went, beheaded John in the prison, and brought back his head on a platter. He presented it to the girl, and she gave it to her mother. On hearing of this, John's disciples came and took his body and laid it in a tomb.

Eyewitness Reports

Where did Mark get his facts?

He did not let anyone follow him except Peter, James and John the brother of James. 5:37

When people translate the Bible into a new language, they have a lot of explaining to do. How do you convey Christianity to someone who has never heard of Abraham or Moses or the apostles Peter and Paul? Where do you start?

More often than not, translators begin with the book of Mark. Its simple sentences and brief, action-filled scenes allow for easier translation. It reads like a newspaper. And the book seems written for a foreign culture (perhaps the Romans) in the first place; common Jewish customs are explained in parentheses.

The Peter Connection

Perhaps the most compelling feature of Mark to an unfamiliar reader, though, is its vividness. It has the feel of an eyewitness account. Those who study such things have concluded that Mark probably got his facts from Peter, one of Jesus' intimate disciples. Peter, or someone like him, provided believable, close-up details.

Jesus spent his time in the desert "with the wild animals" (1:13). When he went to pray, he got up "very early in the morning, while it was still dark" (1:35)—a memorable detail to Jesus' disciples, sometimes known for their untimely sleeping habits. In the midst of a furious squall Jesus lay in a boat "sleeping on a cushion" (4:38).

Whoever told Mark about the scene on the Mount of Transfiguration described Jesus' clothes as "dazzling white, whiter than anyone in the world could bleach them" (9:3). And only Mark tells us that Peter sat with the guards during Jesus' trial, warming himself by the fire.

Why Details Matter

You can say these details don't matter, and it's true that Matthew and Luke recounted the same events without them. But as any good writer knows, details like these make a story come alive. Vivid images that stuck in the eyewitness's memory will likely stick with the reader as well.

For example, Mark could have matter-of-factly told of people being healed, but it just didn't happen that way. A blind man, "throwing his cloak aside . . . jumped to his feet and came to Jesus" (10:50). And after the paralytic stood up, "This amazed everyone and they praised God, saying, 'We have never seen anything like this!'" (2:12).

Life Questions As you read Mark, what "eyewitness details" stand out to you?

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

11The apostles gathered around Jesus and reported to him all they had done and taught.
12Then, because so many people were coming and going that they did not even have a chance to eat, he said to them, "Come with me by yourselves to a quiet place and get some rest."

13So they went away by themselves in a boat to a solitary place. But when the crowds saw that Jesus was there, they followed him on foot from all the towns and got there ahead of him. When Jesus landed and saw a large crowd, he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. So he began teaching them many things.

14As the time came for him to say good-bye to his disciples, he said, "This is a quiet place. Let's eat." And the disciples were amazed and asked, "The teacher does not eat?" So he said to the astonished disciples, "I have said to you, I am not eating and drinking anything either."

15Then he answered, "Don't give them something to eat?"

16They said to him, "That would take eight months of a man's wages! Are we to go and spend that time to bread and give it to them to eat?"

17"Is a man's life to be lost?" he asked. "Or are you losing it?"

18After they found out they said, "Five—no, ten loaves."

19Then Jesus directed them to have all the people sit down in groups on the green grass. When they sat down in groups of hundreds and fifties, Jesus took the loaves and the fish, gave thanks and broke the loaves. Then he gave them to his disciples to set before the people. He also divided the two fish among them all. After all ate and were satisfied, he said to the disciples, "Pick up the pieces so that we won't lose them. I want to burn them with fire and eat them." The number of the men who had eaten was five thousand.

Jesus Walks on the Water

20Immediately Jesus made his disciples get into the boat and go on ahead of him to Bethsaida while he dismissed the crowd. After leaving them, he went up on a mountainside to pray.

21That evening came, the boat was in the middle of the lake and he was alone in it. He saw the disciples struggling at the oars, because the wind was against them. About the fourth watch of the night he went out to them, walking on the lake. They were about to pass on when they saw him walking on the lake and they thought he was a ghost. They cried out, "Because they all saw him and were terrified."

22Immediately he spoke to them and said, "Take courage! It is I. Don't be afraid." Then he climbed into the boat with them and the wind died down. They were completely amazed. But they said nothing to him about the cakes, their hearts were hardened.

23After that had passed over they arrived at Capernaum and remained there. Was soon as they got out of the boat, people recognized Jesus. They got the message that whose name and image the king of Israel is wherever they went he was there. Wherever he went—and villages, towns and countryside—they placed the sick in the marketplaces. They begged him to let them touch even the edge of his cloak, and all who touched him were healed.

Clean and Unclean

24The Pharisees and some of the teachers of the law who had come from Jerusalem gathered around Jesus and asked him about his disciples eating food with hands that were unclean, that is, unwashed. 25The Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they give their hands a ceremonial washing, holding to the tradition of the elders. 26When they come from the marketplace they do not wash even their hands. And they observe many other customs, such as the washing of cups, jars and kettles.

27So the Pharisees and teachers of the law asked Jesus, "Why don't your disciples live according to the tradition of the elders instead of eating their food with unclean hands?"

28He replied, "Isaiah was right when he prophesied about you hypocrites, as it is written:

"These people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me. They worship me in vain; their teachings are but rules taught by men."

29You have let go of the commands of God and are holding on to the traditions of men."

30And he said to them, "You have a fine way of setting aside the commands of God in order to observe your own traditions." 31For Moses said, 'Honor your father and your mother'—and, 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' But you reject this command of God in order to obey your own traditions. 32Isaiah says that it is a man's heart that is

6:31 The Need to Get Away

Mark graphically shows the press of the crowds around Jesus. Wherever he went, people followed, bringing him the sick to heal and challenging him with questions. In five separate places (3:7-9; 6:31; 6:45; 7:24; 9:30) Mark records that Jesus took his disciples aside to some quiet place, to escape the crush of the crowd.

7:3 Explaining Jewish Customs

The parenthetical remark in verses 3-4 explains a common Jewish custom of ceremonial hand-washing. Such remarks as these indicate Mark was writing to a non-Jewish audience that needed background explanations.

father or mother. "Whatever help you might otherwise have received from me is Corban" (that is, a gift devoted to God), ¹²then you no longer let him do anything for his father or mother. ¹³Thus you nullify the word of God by your tradition that you have handed down. And you do many things like that.

¹⁴Again Jesus called the crowd to him and said, "Listen to me, everyone, and understand this. Nothing outside a man can make him 'unclean' by going into him. Rather, it is what comes out of a man that makes him 'unclean.'"^a

After he had left the crowd and entered the house, his disciples asked him about this parable. "Are you so dull?" he asked. "Don't you see that nothing that enters a man from the outside can make him 'unclean'? ¹⁹For it doesn't go into his heart but into his stomach, and then out of his body." (In saying this, Jesus declared all foods clean.)^b

He went on: "What comes out of a man is what makes him 'unclean.' ²¹For from within, out of men's hearts, come evil thoughts, sexual immorality, theft, murder, adultery, ²²greed, malice, deceit, lewdness, envy, slander, arrogance and folly. ²³All these evils come from inside and make a man unclean."

The Faith of a Syrophenician Woman

Jesus left that place and went to the vicinity of Tyre.^c He entered a house and did not want anyone to know it; yet he could not keep his presence secret. ²⁵In fact, as soon as she heard about him, a woman whose little daughter was possessed by an evil spirit came and fell at his feet. ²⁶The woman was a Greek, born in Syrian Phoenicia. She begged Jesus to drive the demon out of her daughter.

"First let the children eat all they want," he told her, "for it is not right to take the children's bread and toss it to their dogs."

²⁸"Yes, Lord," she replied, "but even the dogs under the table eat the children's crumbs."

²⁹Then he told her, "For such a reply, you may go; the demon has left your daughter."

³⁰She went home and found her child lying on the bed, and the demon gone.

The Healing of a Deaf and Mute Man

³¹Then Jesus left the vicinity of Tyre and went through Sidon, down to the Sea of Galilee and into the region of the Decapolis.^d ³²There some people brought to him a man who was deaf and could hardly talk, and they begged him to place his hand on the man.

³³After he took him aside, away from the crowd, Jesus put his fingers into the man's ears. Then he spit and touched the man's tongue. ³⁴He looked up to heaven and with a deep sigh said to him, "Ephphatha!" (which means, "Be opened!"). ³⁵At this, the man's ears were opened, his tongue was loosened and he began to speak plainly.

³⁶Jesus commanded them not to tell anyone. But the more he did so, the more they kept talking about it. ³⁷People were overwhelmed with amazement. "He has done everything well," they said. "He even makes the deaf hear and the mute speak."

Jesus Feeds the Four Thousand

⁸ During those days another large crowd gathered. Since they had nothing to eat, Jesus called his disciples to him and said, ²"I have compassion for these people; they have already been with me three days and have nothing to eat. ³If I send them home hungry, they will collapse on the way, because some of them have come a long distance."

⁴His disciples answered, "But where in this remote place can anyone get enough bread to feed them?"

⁵"How many loaves do you have?" Jesus asked. "Seven," they replied.

⁶He told the crowd to sit down on the ground. When he had taken the seven loaves and given thanks, he broke them and gave them to his disciples to set before the people, and they did so. ⁷They had a few small fish as well; he gave thanks for them also and told the disciples to distribute them. ⁸The people ate and were satisfied. Afterward the disciples picked up seven basketfuls of broken pieces that were left over. ⁹About four thousand men were present. And having sent them away, ¹⁰he got into the boat with his disciples and went to the region of Dalmanutha.

¹¹The Pharisees came and began to question Jesus. To test him, they asked him for a sign from heaven. ¹²He sighed deeply and said, "Why does this generation ask for a miraculous sign? I tell you the truth, no sign will be given to it." ¹³Then he left them, got back into the boat and crossed to the other side.

The Yeast of the Pharisees and Herod

¹⁴The disciples had forgotten to bring bread, except for one loaf they had with them in the boat. ¹⁵"Be careful," Jesus warned them. "Watch out for the yeast of the Pharisees and that of Herod."

¹⁶They discussed this with one another and said, "It is because we have no bread."

¹⁷Aware of their discussion, Jesus asked them: "Why are you talking about having no bread? Do you still not see or understand? Are your hearts hardened? ¹⁸Do you have eyes but fail to see, and ears but fail to hear? And don't you remember? ¹⁹When I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many basketfuls of pieces did you pick up?"

"Twelve," they replied.

²⁰"And when I broke the seven loaves for the four thousand, how many basketfuls of pieces did you pick up?"

They answered, "Seven."

²¹He said to them, "Do you still not understand?"

The Healing of a Blind Man at Bethsaida

²²They came to Bethsaida, and some people brought a blind man and begged Jesus to touch him. ²³He took the blind man by the hand and led him outside the village. When he had spit on the man's eyes and put his hands on him, Jesus asked, "Do you see anything?"

²⁴He looked up and said, "I see people; they look like trees walking around."

²⁵Once more Jesus put his hands on the man's eyes. Then his eyes were opened, his sight was restored, and he saw everything clearly. ²⁶Jesus sent him home, saying, "Don't go into the village."

Peter's Confession of Christ

²⁷Jesus and his disciples went on to the villages around Caesarea Philippi. On the way he asked them, "Who do people say I am?"

²⁸They replied, "Some say John the Baptist; others say Elijah; and still others, one of the prophets."

²⁹"But what about you?" he asked. "Who do you say I am?"

Peter answered, "You are the Christ."¹

³⁰Jesus warned them not to tell anyone about him

Jesus Predicts His Death

³¹He then began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and that he must be killed and after three days rise again. ³²He spoke plainly about this, and Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him.

³³But when Jesus turned and looked at his disciples, he rebuked Peter. "Get behind me, Satan!" he said. "You do not have in mind the things of God, but the things of men."

³⁴Then he called the crowd to him along with his disciples and said: "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. ³⁵For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me and for the gospel will save it. ³⁶What good is it for a man to gain the whole world, yet forfeit his soul? ³⁷Or what can a man give in exchange for his soul? ³⁸If anyone is ashamed of me and my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, the Son of Man will be ashamed of him when he comes in his Father's glory with the holy angels."

8:29 Peter Learns Humility

Most scholars believe that Mark got his eyewitness details from the disciple Peter. If so, the book reveals something about how Peter changed. Mark tells of three separate instances when Jesus rebuked Peter (see, for example, 8:33), but omits several compliments paid him. For example, compare this passage (8:29,30) to a parallel account in Matthew 16:13-20, where Jesus commended Peter highly. Evidently, brash Peter learned a few lessons about humility along the way.

⁹ And he said to them, "I tell you the truth, some who are standing here will not taste death before they see the kingdom of God come with power."

The Transfiguration

²After six days Jesus took Peter, James and John with him and led them up a high mountain, where they were all alone. There he was transfigured before them. ³His clothes became dazzling white, whiter than anyone in the world could bleach them. ⁴And there appeared before them Elijah and Moses, who were talking with Jesus.

⁵Peter said to Jesus, "Rabbi, it is good for us to be here. Let us put up three shelters—one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah." ⁶(He did not know what to say, they were so frightened.)

⁷Then a cloud appeared and enveloped them, and a voice came from the cloud: "This is my Son, whom I love. Listen to him!"

⁸Suddenly, when they looked around, they no longer saw anyone with them except Jesus.

⁹As they were coming down the mountain, Jesus gave them orders not to tell anyone what they had seen until the Son of Man had risen from the dead. ¹⁰They kept the matter to themselves, discussing what "rising from the dead" meant.

¹¹And they asked him, "Why do the teachers of the law say that Elijah must come first?"

¹²Jesus replied, "To be sure, Elijah does come first, and restores all things. Why then is it written that the Son of Man must suffer much and be rejected? ¹³But I tell you, Elijah has come, and they have done to him everything they wished, just as it is written about him."

The Healing of a Boy With an Evil Spirit

¹⁴When they came to the other disciples, they saw a large crowd around them and the teachers of the law arguing with them. ¹⁵As soon as all the people saw Jesus, they were overwhelmed with wonder and ran to greet him.

¹⁶"What are you arguing with them about?" he asked.

¹⁷A man in the crowd answered, "Teacher, I brought you my son, who is possessed by a spirit that has robbed him of speech. ¹⁸Whenever it seizes him, it throws him to the ground. He foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth and becomes rigid. I asked your disciples to drive out the spirit, but they could not."

¹⁹"O unbelieving generation," Jesus replied, "how long shall I stay with you? How long shall I put up with you? Bring the boy to me."

²⁰So they brought him. When the spirit saw Jesus, it immediately threw the boy into a convulsion. He fell to the ground and rolled around, foaming at the mouth.

²¹Jesus asked the boy's father, "How long has he been like this?"

"From childhood," he answered. ²²"It has often thrown him into fire or water to kill him. But if you can do anything, take pity on us and help us."

¹ Some manuscripts Don't go and tell anyone in the village mean "The Anointed One."

²⁹ Or Messiah "The Christ" (Greek) and "the Messiah" (Hebrew) both

³⁵ The Greek word means either life or soul, also in verse 36

“If you can,” said Jesus. “Everything is possible for him who believes.”

“Then,” the boy’s father exclaimed, “I do believe. Help me overcome my unbelief!”

When Jesus saw that a crowd was running to him, he rebuked the evil spirit. “You deaf and dumb spirit,” he said, “I command you come out of him and never enter him again.”

The spirit shrieked, convulsed him violently and he fell. The boy looked so much like a corpse that they said, “He’s dead.” But Jesus took the boy by the hand and lifted him to his feet, and he got up.

After Jesus had gone indoors, his disciples were amazed. “Why couldn’t we drive it out?”

He replied, “This kind can come out only by prayer.”

Then he left that place and passed through Galilee. Jesus did not want anyone to know where they were.³⁶ Because he was teaching his disciples. He said to them, “The Son of Man is going to be betrayed into the hands of men. They will kill him, and after three days he will rise.”³⁷ But they did not understand what he meant and were afraid to ask him about it.

Who Is the Greatest?

“They came to Capernaum. When he was in the house, he asked them, ‘What were you arguing about on the road?’³⁸ But they kept quiet because on the way they had argued about who was the greatest.”

Sitting down, Jesus called the Twelve and said, “If anyone wants to be first, he must be the very last, and the servant of all.”

“He took a little child and had him stand among them. Taking him in his arms, he said to them, ‘Whoever welcomes one of these little children in my name welcomes me; and whoever welcomes

Training the 12 Disciples

A most unpromising group of recruits

“Do you have eyes but fail to see, and ears but fail to hear?” 8:18

A skilled dramatist, Mark describes the crowd reactions to Jesus all through his account. He shows people astonished, confused, and upset by Jesus' actions. Always, twelve people, the disciples, loom in the background, working out the logistics of Jesus' ministry.

At first, the disciples did not distinguish themselves—to put it mildly. Their most obvious trait was stupidity. “Are you so dull?” Jesus asked (7:18) and again, “How long shall I put up with you?” (9:19).

Dense Disciples

Almost halfway through the book of Mark (chapter 8), the focus shifts away from the crowds and the disciples. In spite of their erratic performance, Jesus devoted much of his time to them. They were gathered to watch and listen, but Jesus concentrated on training the Twelve, preparing them to carry on his work after his departure.

How would the disciples handle the increased attention? If anything, they proved even more inept. When Jesus referred to his coming death, they either missed the point or foolishly protested his decision. Sometimes they squabbled about who deserved the most favored position. They obviously did not understand the dazzling events going on around them. In short, the disciples amply demonstrated the mixture of good and bad present in all of us.

Near the end of Mark, as events conspired toward Jesus' death, the disciples grew more anxious and fearful. Jesus singled out two followers in particular, John and Peter, for his strongest endorsement. Yet, despite vigorous pronouncements of loyalty, each one of the Twelve deserted quietly and ashamedly away from Jesus in his moment of deepest need.

A Decisive Change

One event, however, dramatically altered them. Something passed through their lives like a lightning bolt: Jesus' resurrection from death. After that, Jesus' patient hours of training seemed to bear fruit.

The disciples' change in behavior is astonishing. Of the proofs for the resurrection of Jesus, one of the most compelling is simply to compare these cowering disciples as portrayed in a Gospel like Mark with the bold, confident figures in the book of Acts. There, in a remarkable irony, we see the church in the advance of the early church being led by the two disciples with the thickest heads of all, John and Peter.

But sometimes we think of the disciples as saints or heroes, but Mark shows their weakness. What weak spots keep you from following Jesus as you might?

me does not welcome me but the one who sent me."

Whoever Is Not Against Us Is for Us

¹⁸"Teacher," said John, "we saw a man driving out demons in your name and we told him to stop, because he was not one of us."

¹⁹"Do not stop him," Jesus said. "No one who does a miracle in my name can in the next moment say anything bad about me, ⁴⁰for whoever is not against us is for us. ⁴¹I tell you the truth, anyone who gives you a cup of water in my name because you belong to Christ will certainly not lose his reward

Causing to Sin

⁴²"And if anyone causes one of these little ones who believe in me to sin, it would be better for him to be thrown into the sea with a large millstone tied around his neck. ⁴³If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life maimed than with two hands to go into hell, where the fire never goes out. ⁴⁵And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life crippled than to have two feet and be thrown into hell. ⁴⁷And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye than to have two eyes and be thrown into hell, ⁴⁸where

"their worm does not die, and the fire is not quenched."

⁴⁹Everyone will be salted with fire.

⁵⁰"Salt is good, but if it loses its saltiness, how can you make it salty again? Have salt in yourselves, and be at peace with each other."

Divorce

10 Jesus then left that place and went into the region of Judea and across the Jordan. Again crowds of people came to him, and as was his custom, he taught them.

²Some Pharisees came and tested him by asking, "Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?"

³"What did Moses command you?" he replied.

⁴They said, "Moses permitted a man to write a certificate of divorce and send her away."

⁵"It was because your hearts were hard that Moses wrote you this law," Jesus replied. ⁶"But at the beginning of creation God 'made them male and female.' ⁴⁷For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, ⁴⁸and the two will become one flesh.' ⁴⁹So they are no longer two, but one. ⁵⁰Therefore what God has joined together, let man not separate."

¹⁰When they were in the house again, the disciples asked Jesus about this. ¹¹He answered, "Anyone who divorces his wife and marries another woman commits adultery against her. ¹²And if she divorces her husband and marries another man, she commits adultery."

The Little Children and Jesus

¹³People were bringing little children to Jesus to have him touch them, but the disciples rebuked them. ¹⁴When Jesus saw this, he was indignant. He said to them, "Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. ¹⁵I tell you the truth, anyone who will not receive the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it." ¹⁶And he took the children in his arms, put his hands on them and blessed them.

The Rich Young Man

¹⁷As Jesus started on his way, a man ran up to him and fell on his knees before him. "Good teacher," he asked, "what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

¹⁸"Why do you call me good?" Jesus answered. "No one is good—except God alone. ¹⁹You know the commandments: 'Do not murder, do not commit adultery, do not steal, do not give false testimony, do not defraud, honor your father and mother.' ²⁰"

²⁰"Teacher," he declared, "all these I have kept since I was a boy."

²¹Jesus looked at him and loved him. "One thing you lack," he said. "Go, sell everything you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come, follow me."

²²At this the man's face fell. He went away sad, because he had great wealth.

²³Jesus looked around and said to his disciples, "How hard it is for the rich to enter the kingdom of God!"

²⁴The disciples were amazed at his words. But Jesus said again, "Children, how hard it is ²⁵to enter the kingdom of God! ²⁶It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

²⁶The disciples were even more amazed, and said to each other, "Who then can be saved?"

²⁷Jesus looked at them and said, "With man this is impossible, but not with God; all things are possible with God."

²⁸Peter said to him, "We have left everything to follow you!"

²⁹"I tell you the truth," Jesus replied, "no one who has left home or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or fields for me and the gospel ³⁰will fail to receive a hundred times as much in

10:2 Teaching on Divorce

The Pharisees tested Jesus with questions about common practices of divorce and remarriage. Jesus responded by pointing back to the origin of marriage at creation. His disciples were surprised by his strict views on divorce, and questioned him further in private. For other Bible passages on this topic, see Matthew 19:1-12 and 1 Corinthians 7:1-16.

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

They were on their way up to Jerusalem, with Jesus leading the way, and the disciples were alarmed, while those who followed were afraid. As he took the Twelve aside and told them what was going to happen to him, ³³"We are going up to Jerusalem," he said, "and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and teachers of the law. They will condemn him to death and will hand him over to the Gentiles, ³⁴who will mock him and spit on him, flog him and kill him. Three days later he will rise.

The Request of James and John

Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to him. "Teacher," they said, "we want you to do for us whatever we ask."

"What do you want me to do for you?" he asked.

They replied, "Let one of us sit at your right and the other at your left in your glory."

"You don't know what you are asking," Jesus said. "Can you drink the cup I drink or be baptized in the baptism I am baptized with?"

"We can," they answered.

Jesus said to them, "You will drink the cup I drink and be baptized with the baptism I am baptized with, ⁴⁰but to sit at my right or left is not for me to grant. These places belong to those for whom they have been prepared."

When the ten heard about this, they became resentful with James and John. ⁴²Jesus called them together and said, "You know that those who are regarded as rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their high officials exercise authority over them. ⁴³Not so with you. Instead, whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant, ⁴⁴and whoever wants to be first must be slave of all. ⁴⁵For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as ransom for many.

Blind Bartimaeus Receives His Sight

⁴⁶Then they came to Jericho. As Jesus and his disciples, together with a large crowd, were leaving the city, a blind man, Bartimaeus (that is, the son of Timaeus), was sitting by the roadside begging. ⁴⁷When he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to shout, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!"

"Many rebuked him and told him to be quiet, but he shouted all the more, 'Son of David, have mercy on me!'

Jesus stopped and said, "Call him."

So they called to the blind man, "Cheer up! On your feet! He's calling you." ⁵⁰Throwing his cloak aside, he jumped to his feet and came to Jesus.

"What do you want me to do for you?" Jesus asked him.

The blind man said, "Rabbi, I want to see."

⁵²"Go," said Jesus, "your faith has healed you." Immediately he received his sight and followed Jesus along the road.

The Triumphal Entry

11 As they approached Jerusalem and came to Bethphage and Bethany at the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two of his disciples, ²saying to them, "Go to the village ahead of you, and just as you enter it, you will find a colt tied there, which no one has ever ridden. Untie it and bring it here. ³If anyone asks you, 'Why are you doing this?' tell him, 'The Lord needs it and will send it back here shortly.'"

⁴They went and found a colt outside in the street, tied at a doorway. As they untied it, ⁵some people standing there asked, "What are you doing, untying that colt?" ⁶They answered as Jesus had told them to, and the people let them go. ⁷When they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their cloaks over it, he sat on it. ⁸Many people spread their cloaks on the road, while others spread branches they had cut in the fields. ⁹Those who went ahead and those who followed shouted,

"Hosanna!"^a

"Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!"^b

¹⁰"Blessed is the coming kingdom of our father David!"

"Hosanna in the highest!"

¹¹Jesus entered Jerusalem and went to the temple. He looked around at everything, but since it was already late, he went out to Bethany with the Twelve.

Jesus Clears the Temple

¹²The next day as they were leaving Bethany, Jesus was hungry. ¹³Seeing in the distance a fig tree in leaf, he went to find out if it had any fruit. When he reached it, he found nothing but leaves, because it was not the season for figs. ¹⁴Then he said to the tree, "May no one ever eat fruit from you again." And his disciples heard him say it.

¹⁵On reaching Jerusalem, Jesus entered the temple area and began driving out those who were buying and selling there. He overturned the tables of the money changers and the benches of those selling doves, ¹⁶and would not allow anyone to carry merchandise through the temple courts.

11:9 Short-lived Acceptance

During much of his ministry, Jesus hushed up news about his miraculous power and his identity as the true Messiah. But in this rare scene, large crowds clearly recognized him as the Messiah and honored him as such. The next few chapters, however, demonstrate how tragically short-lived public acceptance proved to be.

10 "At the resurrection^a whose wife will she be, since the seven were married to her?"

11 Jesus replied, "Are you not in error because you do not know the Scriptures or the power of God? 12 When the dead rise, they will neither marry nor be given in marriage; they will be like the angels in heaven. 13 Now about the dead rising have you not read in the book of Moses, in the ¹⁴ story of the bush, how God said to him, 'I am ¹⁵ the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?' 16 He is not the God of the dead, but of the living. You are badly mistaken!"

The Greatest Commandment

17 One of the teachers of the law came and heard them debating. Noticing that Jesus had given them a good answer, he asked him, "Of all the commandments, which is the most important?"

18 The most important one," answered Jesus, is this: 'Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is one.' 19 Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.' 20 The second is this: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' There is no commandment greater than these."

21 "Well said, teacher," the man replied. "You are right in saying that God is one and there is no other but him. 22 To love him with all your heart, with all your understanding and with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself is more important than all burnt offerings and sacrifices."

23 When Jesus saw that he had answered wisely, he said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God." And from then on no one dared ask him any more questions.

Whose Son Is the Christ?

24 While Jesus was teaching in the temple courts, he asked, "How is it that the teachers of the law say that the Christ^b is the son of David? 25 David himself, speaking by the Holy Spirit, declared:

The Lord said to my Lord:
Sit at my right hand
until I put your enemies
under your feet."^c

26 David himself calls him 'Lord.' How then can he be his son?"

27 The large crowd listened to him with delight.

28 As he taught, Jesus said, "Watch out for the teachers of the law. They like to walk around in flowing robes and be greeted in the marketplaces, 29 and have the most important seats in the synagogues and the places of honor at banquets. 30 They devour widows' houses and for a show make lengthy prayers. Such men will be punished most severely."

The Widow's Offering

31 Jesus sat down opposite the place where the offerings were put and watched the crowd putting their money into the temple treasury. Many rich people threw in large amounts. 32 But a poor widow came and put in two very small copper coins,^d worth only a fraction of a penny.

33 Calling his disciples to him Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, this poor widow has put more into the treasury than all the others. 34 They all gave out of their wealth, but she, out of her poverty, put in everything—all she had to live on."

Signs of the End of the Age

13 As he was leaving the temple, one of his disciples said to him, "Look, Teacher! What massive stones! What magnificent buildings!"

14 "Do you see all these great buildings?" replied Jesus. "Not one stone here will be left on another, every one will be thrown down."

15 As Jesus was sitting on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, Peter, James, John and Andrew asked him privately, "Tell us, when will these things happen? And what will be the sign that they are all about to be fulfilled?"

16 Jesus said to them: "Watch out that no one deceives you. 17 Many will come in my name, claiming, 'I am he,' and will deceive many. 18 When you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be alarmed. Such things must happen, but the end is still to come. 19 Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes in various places, and famines. These are the beginning of birth pains.

20 "You must be on your guard. You will be handed over to the local councils and flogged in the synagogues. On account of me you will stand before governors and kings as witnesses to them. 21 And the gospel must first be preached to all nations. 22 Whenever you are arrested and brought to trial, do not worry beforehand about what to say. Just say whatever is given you at the time, for it is not you speaking, but the Holy Spirit.

23 "Brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child. Children will rebel against their parents and have them put to death. 24 All men will hate you because of me, but he who stands firm to the end will be saved.

Jesus Anointed at Bethany

14 Now the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread were only two days away, and the chief priests and the teachers of the law were looking for some sly way to arrest Jesus and kill him. ²"But not during the Feast," they said, "or the people may riot."

³While he was in Bethany, reclining at the table in the home of a man known as Simon the Leper, a woman came with an alabaster jar of very expensive perfume, made of pure nard. She broke the jar and poured the perfume on his head.

⁴Some of those present were saying indignantly to one another, "Why this waste of perfume? ⁵It could have been sold for more than a year's wages^c and the money given to the poor." And they rebuked her harshly.

⁶"Leave her alone," said Jesus. "Why are you bothering her? She has done a beautiful thing to me. The poor you will always have with you, and you can help them any time you want. But you will not always have me. ⁷She did what she could. She poured perfume on my body beforehand to prepare for my burial. ⁸I tell you the truth, wherever the gospel is preached throughout the world, what she has done will also be told, in memory of her."

⁹Then Judas Iscariot, one of the Twelve, went to the chief priests to betray Jesus to them. ¹⁰They were delighted to hear this and promised to give him money. So he watched for an opportunity to hand him over.

The Lord's Supper

¹²On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, when it was customary to sacrifice the Passover lamb, Jesus' disciples asked him, "Where do you want us to go and make preparations for you to eat the Passover?"

¹³So he sent two of his disciples, telling them, "Go into the city, and a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him. ¹⁴Say to the owner of the house he enters, 'The Teacher asks: Where is my guest room, where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?' ¹⁵He will show you a large upper room furnished and ready. Make preparations for us there."

¹⁶The disciples left, went into the city and found things just as Jesus had told them. So they prepared the Passover.

¹⁷When evening came, Jesus arrived with the Twelve. ¹⁸While they were reclining at the table eating, he said, "I tell you the truth, one of you will betray me—one who is eating with me."

¹⁹They were saddened, and one by one they said to him, "Surely not I?"

²⁰"It is one of the Twelve," he replied, "one who dips bread into the bowl with me. ²¹The Son of Man will go just as it is written about him. But woe to that man who betrays the Son of Man! It would be better for him if he had not been born."

²²While they were eating, Jesus took bread, gave thanks and broke it, and gave it to his disciples, saying, "Take it; this is my body."

²³Then he took the cup, gave thanks and offered it to them, and they all drank from it.

²⁴"This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many," he said to them. ²⁵"I tell you the truth, I will not drink again of the fruit of

14:1 Festival Time in Jerusalem

The Passover, celebrating the Jews' deliverance from Egypt, was one of the high points of the Jewish calendar. All males older than twelve went to Jerusalem for the holiday. Thus the city was filled with hundreds of thousands of pilgrims at the time of Jesus' death.

14:22 The Origin of the Lord's Supper

Virtually all Christian churches celebrate the practice of Communion (Mass, Eucharist, or Lord's Supper) in some form. Matthew, Mark, and Luke each record the original Passover meal when Jesus instituted the practice.

The Day of Execution

The disciples were totally unprepared

And when the centurion, who stood there in front of Jesus, heard his cry and saw how he died, he said, "Surely this man was the Son of God!" 15:39

Few events in Jesus' life—the birth in a manger, the death on a cross—can become so familiar that we miss the point. They're too close to us. In thinking about them, it sometimes helps to let the mind wander and search out whole new images.

A Bible study group was asked to suggest word images that might apply to Jesus. Common ones surfaced first: a Shepherd, a Lamb, a Door. Then out of nowhere came a wildly different one: a firework in reverse.^a Everyone turned, puzzled, to the middle-aged woman who had suggested it.

"Think about it," she said. "Fireworks explode with brilliant, dazzling colors and loud noises yet they start out in an ordinary-looking paper package. When God became a man, the opposite happened. The Creator of everything in the universe confined himself to an unimpressive human package."

When the Impossible Happened

No event in the life of Jesus fits the woman's metaphor better than his execution in Jerusalem. The idea was inconceivable, even to Jesus' closest followers. The Son of God die? How could this be?

Could the Creator of all things succumb to his creation? Disciples who had slogged through every other confrontation by his side now forsook him. It made no sense for Jesus, the Messiah, to die.

Not until later would other thoughts click into place: memories of Old Testament customs that hauntingly pointed to a cross, prophecies of a Messiah who was King but also a Suffering Servant (see Isaiah 53). To die was, after all, the central reason Jesus came to earth; he had insisted on that from the beginning.

The Most Important Week

Jesus' last week so impressed the disciples that the four chroniclers of his life, including Mark, devoted one-third of their space to that final week in Jerusalem. By the time they wrote it down, of course, they could see his death in a new light, as a mournful prelude to the greatest miracle of all, his resurrection.

Even so, nothing could erase the impact of those fear-filled, final days. When the eerie darkness had lifted and Jesus had breathed his last, the disciples had learned something profound about God, and about love.

Dorothy Sayers put it this way. "Whatever game He is playing with His creation, He has kept His own rules and played fair. He can exact nothing from man that He has not exacted from Himself. He has Himself gone through the whole of human experience, from the trivial irritations of family life and the cramping restriction of hard work and lack of money to the worst horrors of pain and humiliation—defeat, despair, and death. When He was a man, He played the man. He was born in poverty and died in disgrace and thought it well worthwhile" (from Christian Letters to a Post-Christian World).

At no other point in history did the fireworks appear so powerless as the day Jesus died. They had not yet been lit.

Life Questions Put yourself in the disciples' place. How would you have responded to news of Jesus' death? Would you have believed in him still?

have to die with you. I will never disown you." And all the others said the same.

Gethsemane

³³They went to a place called Gethsemane, and Jesus said to his disciples, "Sit here while I pray." ³⁴He took Peter, James and John along with him, and he began to be deeply distressed and troubled. ³⁵My soul is overwhelmed with sorrow to the point of death, he said to them. "Stay here and keep watch."

³⁶Going a little farther, he fell to the ground and prayed that if possible the hour might pass from him. ³⁷"Abba, Father," he said, "everything is possible for you. Take this cup from me. Yet not what I will, but what you will."

³⁸Then he returned to his disciples and found them sleeping. Simon, he said to Peter, are you asleep? Could you not keep watch for one hour? Watch and pray so that you will not fall into temptation. The spirit is willing, but the body is weak.

³⁹Once more he went away and prayed the same thing. When he came back, he again found them sleeping, because their eyes were heavy. They did not know what to say to him.

⁴⁰Returning the third time, he said to them, Are you still sleeping and resting? Enough! The hour has come. Look, the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. ⁴¹Rise! Let us go! Here comes my betrayer!

Jesus Arrested

⁴²Just as he was speaking, Judas, one of the Twelve, appeared. With him was a crowd armed with swords and clubs, sent from the chief priests, the teachers of the law, and the elders.

⁴³Now the betrayer had arranged a signal with them: "The one I kiss is the man; arrest him and lead him away under guard." ⁴⁴Going at once to Jesus, Judas said, "Rabbi!" and kissed him. ⁴⁵The men seized Jesus and arrested him. ⁴⁶Then one of those standing near drew his sword and struck the servant of the high priest, cutting off his ear.

⁴⁷"Am I leading a rebellion," said Jesus, "that you have come out with swords and clubs to capture me? Every day I was with you, teaching in the temple courts, and you did not arrest me. But the Scriptures must be fulfilled." ⁴⁸Then everyone deserted him and fled.

⁴⁹A young man, wearing nothing but a linen garment, was following Jesus. When they seized him, ⁵⁰he fled naked, leaving his garment behind.

Before the Sanhedrin

⁵¹They took Jesus to the high priest, and all the chief priests, elders and teachers of the law came together. ⁵²Peter followed him at a distance, right into the courtyard of the high priest. There he sat with the guards and warmed himself at the fire.

⁵³The chief priests and the whole Sanhedrin were looking for evidence against Jesus so that they could put him to death, but they did not find any. ⁵⁴Many testified falsely against him, but their statements did not agree.

⁵⁵Then some stood up and gave this false testimony against him: ⁵⁶"We heard him say, 'I will destroy this man-made temple and in three days will build another, not made by man.'"⁵⁷Yet even then their testimony did not agree.

⁵⁸Then the high priest stood up before them and asked Jesus, Are you not going to answer? What is this testimony that these men are bringing against you?" ⁵⁹But Jesus remained silent and gave no answer.

Again the high priest asked him, "Are you the Christ, the Son of the Blessed One?"

⁶⁰"I am," said Jesus. "And you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Mighty One and coming on the clouds of heaven."

⁶¹The high priest tore his clothes. "Why do we need any more witnesses?" he asked. ⁶²"You have heard the blasphemy. What do you think?"

They all condemned him as worthy of death. ⁶³Then some began to spit at him, they blindfolded him, struck him with their fists, and said, "Prophecy!" And the guards took him and beat him.

Peter Disowns Jesus

⁶⁴While Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came by. ⁶⁵When she saw Peter warming himself, she looked closely at him.

"You also were with that Nazarene, Jesus," she said.

⁶⁶But he denied it. "I don't know or understand what you're talking about," he said, and went out into the entryway.⁶⁷

⁶⁸When the servant girl saw him there, she said again to those standing around, "This fellow is one of them." ⁶⁹Again he denied it.

After a little while, those standing near said to Peter, "Surely you are one of them, for you are a Galilean."

⁷⁰He began to call down curses on himself, and he swore to them, "I don't know this man you're talking about."

⁷¹Immediately the rooster crowed the second time.⁷² Then Peter remembered the word Jesus had spoken to him: "Before the rooster crows twice, you will disown me three times." And he broke down and wept.

the whole Sanhedrin, reached a decision. They bound Jesus, led him away and handed him over to Pilate.

"Are you the king of the Jews?" asked Pilate. Yes, it is as you say," Jesus replied.

The chief priests accused him of many things. So again Pilate asked him, "Aren't you going to answer? See how many things they are accusing you of."

But Jesus still made no reply, and Pilate was amazed.

"Now it was the custom at the Feast to release a prisoner whom the people requested. ⁷A man called Barabbas was in prison with the insurrectionists who had committed murder in the uprising. ⁸The crowd came up and asked Pilate to do for them what he usually did.

"Do you want me to release to you the king of the Jews?" asked Pilate, ¹⁰knowing it was out of envy that the chief priests had handed Jesus over to him. ¹¹But the chief priests stirred up the crowd to have Pilate release Barabbas instead.

What shall I do, then, with the one you call the king of the Jews?" Pilate asked them.

"Crucify him!" they shouted.

"Why? What crime has he committed?" asked Pilate.

But they shouted all the louder, "Crucify him!"

Wanting to satisfy the crowd, Pilate released Barabbas to them. He had Jesus flogged, and handed him over to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

¹⁶The soldiers led Jesus away into the palace (that is, the Praetorium) and called together the whole company of soldiers. ¹⁷They put a purple robe on him, then twisted together a crown of thorns and set it on him. ¹⁸And they began to call out to him, "Hail, king of the Jews!" ¹⁹Again and again they struck him on the head with a staff and spit on him. Falling on their knees, they paid homage to him. ²⁰And when they had mocked him, they took off the purple robe and put his own clothes on him. Then they led him out to crucify him.

The Crucifixion

²¹A certain man from Cyrene, Simon, the father of Alexander and Rufus, was passing by on his way in from the country, and they forced him to carry the cross. ²²They brought Jesus to the place called Golgotha (which means The Place of the Skull). ²³Then they offered him wine mixed with myrrh, but he did not take it. ²⁴And they crucified him. Dividing up his clothes, they cast lots to see what each would get.

²⁵It was the third hour when they crucified him. ²⁶The written notice of the charge against him read, THE KING OF THE JEWS. ²⁷They crucified two robbers with him, one on his right and one on his left. ²⁸Those who passed by hurled insults at him, shaking their heads and saying, "So! You who are going to destroy the temple and build it in three days, come down from the cross and save yourself!"

³¹In the same way the chief priests and the teachers of the law mocked him, saying, "He saved others; he saved himself." They said, "but he can't save himself." ³²Let this Christ, this King of Israel, come down now from the cross, that we may see and believe." Those crucified with him also heaped insults on him.

The Death of Jesus

³³At the sixth hour darkness came over the whole land until the ninth hour. ³⁴And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out in a loud voice, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?—which means, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

³⁵When some of those standing near heard this, they said, "Listen, he's calling Elijah."

³⁶One man ran, filled a sponge with wine vinegar, put it on a stick, and offered it to Jesus to drink. "Now leave him alone. Let's see if Elijah comes to take him down," he said.

³⁷With a loud cry, Jesus breathed his last.

³⁸The curtain of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom. ³⁹And when the centurion, who stood there in front of Jesus, heard his cry and saw how he died, he said, "Surely this man was the Son of God!"

⁴⁰Some women were watching from a distance. Among them were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James the younger and of Joses, and Salome. ⁴¹In Galilee these women had followed him and cared for his needs. Many other women who had come up with him to Jerusalem were also there.

The Burial of Jesus

⁴²It was Preparation Day (that is, the day before the Sabbath). So as evening approached, ⁴³Joseph of Armathea, a prominent member of the Council, who was himself waiting for the kingdom of God, went boldly to Pilate and asked for Jesus' body. ⁴⁴Pilate was surprised to hear that he was already dead. Summoning the centurion, he asked him if Jesus had already died. ⁴⁵When he learned from the centurion that it was so, he gave the body to Joseph. ⁴⁶So Joseph bought some linen cloth, took down the body, wrapped it in the linen, and placed it in a tomb cut out of rock. Then he rolled a stone against the entrance of the tomb. ⁴⁷Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses saw where he was laid.

15:1 Appeal for a Death Penalty

Roman law granted the Jews many freedoms, including the right to their Jewish court system, the Sanhedrin. However, the Sanhedrin had no authority to order the death penalty. Seeking that sentence, Jesus' opponents sent him to Pilate, the Roman governor.

The Resurrection

16 When the Sabbath was over, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought spices so that they might go to anoint Jesus' body. ²Very early on the first day of the week, just after sunrise, they were on their way to the tomb ³and they asked each other, "Who will roll the stone away from the entrance of the tomb?"

⁴But when they looked up, they saw that the stone, which was very large, had been rolled away. ⁵As they entered the tomb, they saw a young man dressed in a white robe sitting on the right side, and they were alarmed.

"Don't be alarmed," he said. "You are looking for Jesus the Nazarene, who was crucified. He has risen. He is not here. See the place where they laid him. But go, tell his disciples and Peter, 'He is going ahead of you into Galilee. There you will see him, just as he told you.'"

16:1 A Late Anointing

Jewish rules forbade handling dead bodies during the Sabbath. Because Jesus died during the Sabbath celebration, his friends and relatives couldn't properly embalm and prepare his body. They returned to the tomb later for this purpose, only to find the greatest surprise of their lives.

16:7 . . . and Peter

The messenger who informed the women about Jesus' resurrection pointedly asked them to tell "his disciples and Peter," singling out the disciple who had vehemently denied Jesus. John 21 records a further, moving scene in which Jesus specifically reinstated Peter.

⁸Trembling and bewildered, the women went out and fled from the tomb. They said nothing to anyone, because they were afraid.

[The most reliable early manuscripts and other ancient witnesses do not have Mark 16:9-20.]

⁹When Jesus rose early on the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had driven seven demons. ¹⁰She went and told those who had been with him and who were mourning and weeping. ¹¹When they heard that Jesus was alive and that she had seen him, they did not believe it.

¹²Afterward Jesus appeared in a different form to two of them while they were walking in the country. ¹³These returned and reported it to the rest; but they did not believe them either.

¹⁴Later Jesus appeared to the Eleven as they were eating; he rebuked them for their lack of faith and their stubborn refusal to believe those who had seen him after he had risen.

¹⁵He said to them, "Go into all the world and preach the good news to all creation. ¹⁶Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. ¹⁷And these signs will accompany those who believe: In my name they will drive out demons; they will speak in new tongues; ¹⁸they will pick up snakes with their hands; and when they drink deadly poison, it will not hurt them at all; they will place their hands on sick people, and they will get well."

¹⁹After the Lord Jesus had spoken to them, he was taken up into heaven and he sat at the right hand of God. ²⁰Then the disciples went out and preached everywhere, and the Lord worked with them and confirmed his word by the signs that accompanied it.

LUKE

INTRODUCTION

Like a Joy-filled Musical

Something was brewing on planet Earth

But the angel said to them: "Do not be afraid. I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people." 2:10

Although Luke covers the same basic territory as Matthew and Mark, he gives away his own slant in the very first chapters. Matthew begins with a formal family genealogy, Mark opens with a historical Jesus scene. In contrast, Luke describes a hearty celebration.

The way Luke tells of events surrounding Jesus' birth resembled a joy-filled musical. Characters crowded into the scene: a white-haired great uncle, an astonished virgin, a tottery old prophetess. They all smiled broadly and, as likely as not, burst into song.

Once Mary had recovered from the shock of seeing an angel, she let loose with a beautiful song. The old priest Zechariah broke nine months of muteness with a rousing poem, and even the unborn John the Baptist kicked for joy inside his mother's womb (1:44). When Jesus finally made an entrance—in an inconspicuous stable, the sky filled with singing angels. Clearly, something was brewing on planet Earth.

History Split in Two

You get the feeling when you read his account that Luke wanted to capture in words the spirit of great joy that the angel predicted (2:10). Among dreary, defeated villagers in a remote corner of the Roman Empire, something climactically good was bursting out.

The author tells us (1:1-4) that he researched many accounts of Jesus' life. Intimate details in these first two chapters show he relied heavily on eyewitnesses, for no other Gospel writer picked up so many facts. Careful attention to detail and an undergirding tone of joy characterize Luke's book.

Jesus' birth literally split history into two parts, we memorialize the event whenever we write a date. The book of Luke takes us back to the world before there was an A.D. or B.C., when Jesus' life was just beginning.

Even now, almost 2,000 years later, the commemoration of Jesus' birth still gives cause for joy. We eat better during the Christmas season, buy gifts for others, donate to charity, and sing more often. Our feelings of celebration are gentle aftershocks, reminders of the remarkable moment when God became a man and lived on earth.

How to Read Luke

Luke probably did not know Jesus personally. But as a dedicated convert in the early church, he accompanied the apostle Paul on missionary trips. In three of his letters, Paul refers to Luke with great affection.

As he mentions in his introduction, Luke eventually saw the need to draw up a carefully researched account of the life of Christ. Many accounts of varying quality existed then, but Luke set out to interview eyewitnesses and compose a thoughtful summary. His book shows thoroughness and detail. It starts before Jesus' birth, and ends with his ascension into heaven.

You should find Luke a very appealing book to read. Luke was a gifted writer, and the stories he records have won their place among the classics of literature: the Good Samaritan, the Lost Son, the Rich Man and Lazarus. If Mark is a Gospel of action, Luke is a Gospel of relationships. It contains very good character descriptions.

Look for the many different ethnic, religious, economic, and social groups in Luke. Think of the diverse groups in your country. How do you think each of them would respond to Jesus in the flesh?

Note especially two large sections of Luke that present material found nowhere else: chapters 1-2 and chapters 10-19.

Introduction

1 Many have undertaken to draw up an account of the things that have been fulfilled^a among us, ²just as they were handed down to us by those who from the first were eyewitnesses and servants of the word. ³Therefore, since I myself have carefully investigated everything from the beginning, it seemed good also to me to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, ⁴so that you may know the certainty of the things you have been taught.

The Birth of John the Baptist Foretold

⁵In the time of Herod king of Judea there was a priest named Zechariah, who belonged to the priestly division of Abijah; his wife Elizabeth was also a descendant of Aaron. ⁶Both of them were upright in the sight of God, observing all the Lord's commandments and regulations blamelessly. ⁷But they had no children, because Elizabeth was barren; and they were both well along in years

⁸Once when Zechariah's division was on duty and he was serving as priest before God, ⁹he was chosen by lot, according to the custom of the priesthood, to go into the temple of the Lord and burn incense. ¹⁰And when the time for the burning of incense came, all the assembled worshippers were praying outside.

¹¹Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

¹²When Zechariah saw him, he was startled and was gripped with fear. ¹³But the angel said to him: "Do not be afraid, Zechariah; your prayer has been heard. Your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you are to give him the name John. ¹⁴He will be a joy and delight to you, and many will rejoice because of his birth, ¹⁵for he will be great in the sight of the Lord. He is never to take wine or other fermented drink, and he will be filled with the Holy Spirit even from birth. ¹⁶Many of the people of Israel will he bring back to the Lord their God. ¹⁷And he will go on before the Lord, in the spirit and power of Elijah, to turn the hearts of the fathers to their children and the disobedient to the wisdom of the righteous—to make ready a people prepared for the Lord."

¹⁸Zechariah asked the angel, "How can I be sure of this? I am an old man and my wife is well along in years."

¹⁹The angel answered, "I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I have been sent to speak to you and to tell you this good news. ²⁰And now you will be silent and not able to speak until the day this happens, because you did not believe my words, which will come true at their proper time."

²¹Meanwhile, the people were waiting for Zechariah and wondering why he stayed so long in the temple. ²²When he came out, he could not speak to them. They realized he had seen a vision in the temple, for he kept making signs to them but remained unable to speak.

^a1 Or been surely believed

^b15 Or from his mother's womb

²³When his time of service was completed, he returned home. ²⁴After this his wife Elizabeth became pregnant and for five months remained in seclusion. ²⁵"The Lord has done this for me," she said. "In these days he has shown his favor and taken away my disgrace among the people."

The Birth of Jesus Foretold

²⁶In the sixth month, God sent the angel Gabriel to Nazareth, a town in Galilee, ²⁷to a virgin pledged to be married to a man named Joseph, a descendant of David. The virgin's name was Mary. ²⁸The angel went to her and said, "Greetings, you who are highly favored! The Lord is with you."

²⁹Mary was greatly troubled at his words and wondered what kind of greeting this might be. ³⁰But the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary, you have found favor with God. ³¹You will be with child and give birth to a son, and you are to give him the name Jesus. ³²He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne of his father David, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever; his kingdom will never end."

³³"How will this be," Mary asked the angel, "since I am a virgin?"

³⁴The angel answered, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. So the holy one to be born will be called^a the Son of God. ³⁵Even Elizabeth your relative is going to have a child in her old age, and she who was said to be barren is in her sixth month. ³⁷For nothing is impossible with God."

³⁸"I am the Lord's servant," Mary answered. "May it be to me as you have said." Then the angel left her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

³⁹At that time Mary got ready and hurried to a town in the hill country of Judea, ⁴⁰where she entered Zechariah's home and greeted Elizabeth. ⁴¹When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the baby leaped in her womb, and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit. ⁴²In a loud voice she exclaimed:

Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the child you will bear! ⁴³But why am I so favored, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? ⁴⁴As soon as the sound of your greeting reached my ears, the baby in my womb leaped for joy. ⁴⁵Blessed is she who has believed that what the Lord has said to her will be accomplished!"

Mary's Song

⁴⁶And Mary said:

My soul glorifies the Lord

⁴⁷ and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior,

⁴⁸for he has been mindful of the humble state of his servant.

From now on all generations will call me
blessed,

⁴⁹ for the Mighty One has done great things for me—

holy is his name

⁵⁰His mercy extends to those who fear him, from generation to generation

⁵¹He has performed mighty deeds with his arm;
he has scattered those who are proud in their inmost thoughts.

⁵²He has brought down rulers from their thrones
but has lifted up the humble.

⁵³He has filled the hungry with good things
but has sent the rich away empty.

⁵⁴He has helped his servant Israel, remembering to be merciful

⁵⁵to Abraham and his descendants forever,
even as he said to our fathers."

⁵⁶Mary stayed with Elizabeth for about three months and then returned home.

The Birth of John the Baptist

⁵⁷When it was time for Elizabeth to have her baby, she gave birth to a son. ⁵⁸Her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had shown her great mercy, and they shared her joy.

⁵⁹On the eighth day they came to circumcise the child, and they were going to name him after his father Zechariah, ⁶⁰but his mother spoke up and said, "No! He is to be called John."

⁶¹They said to her, "There is no one among your relatives who has that name."

⁶²Then they made signs to his father, to find out what he would like to name the child. ⁶³He asked for a writing tablet, and to everyone's astonishment he wrote, "His name is John." ⁶⁴Immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue was loosed, and he began to speak, praising God. ⁶⁵The neighbors were all filled with awe, and throughout the hill country of Judea people were talking about all these things. ⁶⁶Everyone who heard this wondered about it, asking, "What then is this child going to be?" For the Lord's hand was with him.

Zechariah's Song

⁶⁷His father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit and prophesied:

⁶⁸"Praise be to the Lord, the God of Israel, because he has come and has redeemed his
people.

⁶⁹He has raised up a horn^b of salvation for us in the house of his servant David

⁷⁰(as he said through his holy prophets of long ago),

⁷¹salvation from our enemies
and from the hand of all who hate us—

⁷²to show mercy to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant,

⁷³ the oath he swore to our father Abraham:

⁷⁴to rescue us from the hand of our enemies,

and to enable us to serve him without fear

⁷⁵ in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

⁷⁶And you, my child, will be called a prophet of the Most High;

for you will go on before the Lord to prepare the way for him

The Birth of Jesus

2 In those days Caesar Augustus issued a decree that a census should be taken of the entire Roman world. ³(This was the first census that took place while Quirinius was governor of Syria.)
⁴And everyone went to his own town to register.

⁵So Joseph also went up from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to Judea, to Bethlehem the town of David, because he belonged to the house and line of David. ⁶He went there to register with Mary,
 who was pledged to be married to him and was expecting a child. ⁷While they were there, the time came for the baby to be born, ⁸and she gave birth to her firstborn, a son. She wrapped him in cloths and placed him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

The Shepherds and the Angels

⁹And there were shepherds living out in the fields nearby, keeping watch over their flocks at night. ¹⁰An angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were terrified. ¹¹But the angel said to them,
 "Do not be afraid. I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. ¹²Today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you; he is Christ^a the Lord. ¹³This will be a sign to you: You will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger."

¹⁴Suddenly a great company of the heavenly host appeared with the angel, praising God and saying,

¹⁵"Glory to God in the highest,
 and on earth peace to men on whom his favor rests."

¹⁶When the angels had left them and gone into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let's go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has told us about

¹⁷So they hurried off and found Mary and Joseph and the baby, who was lying in the manger.
¹⁸When they had seen him, they spread the word concerning what had been told them about this child. ¹⁹And all who heard it were amazed at what the shepherds said to them. ²⁰But Mary treasured up all these things and pondered them in her heart. ²¹The shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things they had heard and seen, which were just as they had been told.

Jesus Presented in the Temple

²²On the eighth day, when it was time to circum-cise him, he was named Jesus, the name the angel had given him before he had been conceived.

²³When the time of their purification according to the Law of Moses had been completed, Joseph and Mary took him to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord ²⁴(as it is written in the Law of the Lord,
 "Every firstborn male is to be consecrated to the Lord"^b), ²⁵and to offer a sacrifice in keeping with what is said in the Law of the Lord: "a pair of doves or two young pigeons."^c

²⁶Now there was a man in Jerusalem called Simeon, who was righteous and devout. He was waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. ²⁷It had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not die before he had seen the Lord's Christ. ²⁸Moved by the Spirit, he went into the temple courts. When the parents brought in the child Jesus to do for him what the custom of the Law required, ²⁹Simeon took him in his arms and praised God, saying,

³⁰"Sovereign Lord, as you have promised,
 you now dismiss^d your servant in peace.

³¹For my eyes have seen your salvation,

³²which you have prepared in the sight of all
 people,

³³a light for revelation to the Gentiles and for glory to your people Israel."

³⁴The child's father and mother marveled at what was said about him. ³⁵Then Simeon blessed them and said to Mary, his mother, "This child is destined to cause the falling and rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against, ³⁶so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed. And a sword will pierce your own soul too."

³⁷There was also a prophetess, Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was very old; she had lived with her husband seven years after her marriage, ³⁸and then was a widow until she was eighty-four.^e She never left the temple but worshiped night and day, fasting and praying. ³⁹Coming up to them at that very moment
 she gave thanks to God and spoke about the child to all who were looking forward to the redemption of Jerusalem.

⁴⁰When Joseph and Mary had done everything required by the Law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee to their own town of Nazareth. ⁴¹And the

2:1 Dating by Emperors

Among biblical writers, only Luke dated the events
 he wrote about by referring to Roman emperors.
 He had determined (1:1-4) to write a thorough,
 factual account of Jesus' life, which included setting the events in historical context. Because of the Roman census mentioned here, Mary had to travel from her hometown in a very advanced state of pregnancy. As a result, the Messiah was born in Bethlehem, fulfilling an ancient prophecy.

The Boy Jesus at the Temple

⁴¹Every year his parents went to Jerusalem for the Feast of the Passover. ⁴²When he was twelve years old, they went up to the Feast, according to the custom. ⁴³After the Feast was over, while his parents were returning home, the boy Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem, but they were unaware of it. ⁴⁴Thinking he was in their company, they traveled on for a day. Then they began looking for him among their relatives and friends. ⁴⁵When they did not find him, they went back to Jerusalem to look for him. ⁴⁶After three days they found him in the temple courts, sitting among the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions. ⁴⁷Everyone who heard him was amazed at his understanding and his answers. ⁴⁸When his parents saw him, they were astonished. His mother said to him, "Son, why have you treated us like this? Your father and I have been anxiously searching for you."

⁴⁹"Why were you searching for me?" he asked. "Didn't you know I had to be in my Father's house?" ⁵⁰But they did not understand what he was saying to them.

⁵¹Then he went down to Nazareth with them and was obedient to them. But his mother treasured all these things in her heart. ⁵²And Jesus grew in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

3 In the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar—when Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, Herod tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene—²during the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas, the word of God came to John son of Zechariah in the desert. ³He went into all the country around the Jordan, preaching a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. ⁴As is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet:

A voice of one calling in the desert,
Prepare the way for the Lord,
make straight paths for him.
⁵Every valley shall be filled in,
every mountain and hill made low.
The crooked roads shall become straight,
the rough ways smooth.
⁶And all mankind will see God's salvation.' "^a

2:41 Jesus' Childhood

Most Christmas pageants rely heavily on Luke because of his thoroughness in reporting the facts of Jesus' birth. And only Luke recorded the brief glimpses of Jesus' early years given in this chapter. For this reason, many scholars believe Luke must have interviewed Mary, mother of Jesus, during his investigations into Jesus' life.

⁷John said to the crowds coming out to be baptized by him, "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath? ⁸Produce fruit in keeping with repentance. And do not begin to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I tell you that out of these stones God can raise up children for Abraham. ⁹The ax is already at the root of the trees, and every tree that does not produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire."

¹⁰"What should we do then?" the crowd asked.

¹¹John answered, "The man with two tunics should share with him who has none, and the one who has food should do the same."

¹²Tax collectors also came to be baptized. "Teacher," they asked, "what should we do?"

¹³"Don't collect any more than you are required to," he told them.

¹⁴Then some soldiers asked him, "And what should we do?"

He replied, "Don't extort money and don't accuse people falsely—be content with your pay."

¹⁵The people were waiting expectantly and were all wondering in their hearts if John might possibly be the Christ.^b ¹⁶John answered them all, "I baptize you with water. But one more powerful than I will come, the thongs of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. ¹⁷His winnowing fork is in his hand to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn, but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire." ¹⁸And with many other words John exhorted the people and preached the good news to them.

¹⁹But when John rebuked Herod the tetrarch because of Herodias, his brother's wife, and all the other evil things he had done, ²⁰Herod added this to them all: He locked John up in prison.

The Baptism and Genealogy of Jesus

²¹When all the people were being baptized, Jesus was baptized too. And as he was praying, heaven was opened ²²and the Holy Spirit descended on him in bodily form like a dove. And a voice came from heaven: "You are my Son, whom I love; with you I am well pleased."

²³Now Jesus himself was about thirty years old when he began his ministry. He was the son, so it was thought, of Joseph,

The Temptation of Jesus

4 Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the desert, where for forty days he was tempted by the devil. He ate nothing during those days, and at the end of them he was hungry.

¹The devil said to him, "If you are the Son of God, tell this stone to become bread."

²Jesus answered, "It is written: 'Man does not live on bread alone.'"

³The devil led him up to a high place and showed him in an instant all the kingdoms of the world. ⁴And he said to him, "I will give you all their authority and splendor, for it has been given to me, and I can give it to anyone I want to. ⁵So if you worship me, it will all be yours."

⁶Jesus answered, "It is written: 'Worship the Lord your God and serve him only.'"

⁷The devil led him to Jerusalem and had him stand on the highest point of the temple. "If you are the Son of God," he said, "throw yourself down from here. ⁸For it is written:

" 'He will command his angels concerning you to guard you carefully;

⁹they will lift you up in their hands, so that you will not strike your foot against a stone ' "

3:38 A Gospel for the Gentiles

Matthew's Gospel traced Jesus' roots back to Abraham, father of the Jewish race. But Luke, probably the only Gentile writer of the New Testament, emphasized that Jesus' good news was for all people, not just the Jews. In keeping with that purpose, he carried Jesus' lineage all the way back to the first man, Adam.

¹⁰Jesus answered, "It says: 'Do not put the Lord your God in the test.'"

¹¹When the devil had finished all this tempting, he left him until an opportune time.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

¹²Jesus returned to Galilee in the power of the Spirit, and news about him spread through the whole countryside. ¹³He taught in their synagogues, and everyone praised him.

¹⁴He went to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and on the Sabbath day he went into the synagogue, as was his custom. And he stood up to read. ¹⁵The scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Unrolling it, he found the place where it is written:

¹⁶"The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind,

to release the oppressed,

¹⁷to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

¹⁸Then he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant and sat down. The eyes of everyone in the synagogue were fastened on him, ¹⁹and he began by saying to them, "Today this scripture is fulfilled in your hearing."

²⁰All spoke well of him and were amazed at the gracious words that came from his lips. "Isn't this Joseph's son?" they asked.

²¹Jesus said to them, "Surely you will quote this proverb to me: 'Physician, heal yourself.' Do here in your hometown what we have heard that you did in Capernaum."

²²"I tell you the truth," he continued, "no prophet is accepted in his hometown. ²³I assure you that there were many widows in Israel in Elijah's time, when the sky was shut for three and a half years, and there was a severe famine throughout the land. ²⁴Yet Elijah was not sent to any of them, but to a widow in Zarephath in the region of Sidon. ²⁵And there were many in Israel with leprosy¹ in the time of Elisha the prophet, yet not one of them was cleansed—only Naaman the Syrian."

²⁶All the people in the synagogue were furious when they heard this. ²⁷They got up, drove him out of the town, and took him to the brow of the

4:26 Hard Words for the Jews

Luke's book stresses the universal appeal of the gospel. In both of these Old Testament stories (the Zarephath widow and Naaman), God sent a prophet to perform a miracle for foreigners (non-Jews). Such an emphasis scandalized the Jews, who saw themselves as God's uniquely chosen people. Jesus' words proved so inflammatory that a mob attempted to kill him. As far as is known, Jesus never returned to his home territory of Nazareth.

Jesus Drives Out an Evil Spirit

3 Then he went down to Capernaum, a town in Galilee, and on the Sabbath began to teach the people. 4 They were amazed at his teaching, because his message had authority.

5 In the synagogue there was a man possessed by a demon, an evil spirit. He cried out at the top of his voice: 6 "Ha! What do you want with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God!"

7 "Be quiet!" Jesus said sternly. "Come out of him!" Then the demon threw the man down before him and came out without injuring him.

8 All the people were amazed and said to each other, "What is this teaching? With authority and power he gives orders to evil spirits and they come out!" 9 And the news about him spread throughout the surrounding area.

Jesus Heals Many

38 Jesus left the synagogue and went to the home of Simon. Now Simon's mother-in-law was suffering from a high fever, and they asked Jesus to help her. 39 So he bent over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her. She got up at once and began to wait on them.

40 When the sun was setting, the people brought to Jesus all who had various kinds of sickness, and laying his hands on each one, he healed them.

41 Moreover, demons came out of many people, shouting, "You are the Son of God!" But he

A Physician Looks at the Poor

The surprising emphasis of an upper-class writer

"It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick." 5:31

A great doctor once compared his professional duties to working at the complaint section of a large organization. "All through medical school I studied the body's wonderful engineering. A healthy body is perfect—absolutely beautiful to observe. But in practice I spend my time treating people whose bodies don't work right. I hear only complaints. After a while, it's easy to lose perspective."

Luke, a physician, knew firsthand about sick and suffering people; he, too, heard their daily complaints. Yet somehow he never became callous. In fact, his Gospel focuses on Jesus' ministry to society's "complaint section": the poor, the sick, and the neglected.

Jesus Announces His Mission

In Luke, even Mary's opening song strikes a chord for the poor and hungry (1:46-55). Using his favorite title for Jesus ("Son of Man") 80 times, Luke reveals him as a true servant of all humanity.

Luke 4 shows Jesus boldly declaring why he came to earth. He had just resisted temptations of wealth and power, and returned from the desert to his hometown. There Jesus, a local village boy, announced his unique mission from God: to preach good news to the poor, to free prisoners, heal the blind, and release the oppressed (4:18-19).

With little editorial comment, Luke follows Jesus from town to town. Jesus avoided such fashionable places as the resort town of Tiberias. He stayed near the farming communities and fishing villages clustered around the Sea of Galilee, serving the needs of humble people.

Reaction to Jesus varied. Naturally, the sick clamored for his attention, begging for healing. Even a few powerful people believed in him, including a respected Roman centurion and a synagogue ruler. But the religious leaders constantly challenged his actions, and his own neighbors angrily chased him out of town.

An Unlikely Friend of the Poor

Luke skillfully brings his characters to life in vignettes. Learned and sophisticated, he uses the finest Greek of any Gospel writer; but, ironically, he focuses mainly on the poor and the outcast. Women, largely ignored by ancient historians, play a large role. Luke introduces 13 women mentioned in no other Gospel. He also shows a delight and appreciation for children.

It may seem strange that Luke, by education and profession a member of the upper class, emerged as a champion of the poor and the oppressed. Evidently, Jesus' message had affected him deeply. As Jesus said, "It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." (5:31, 32)

Life Questions As Luke tells it, Jesus threatened the rich and powerful but appealed to the poor and outcast. If Jesus came today, how would those two groups in our society respond to him?

rebuked them and would not allow them to speak, because they knew he was the Christ.^a ⁴²At daybreak Jesus went out to a solitary place. The people were looking for him and when they came to where he was, they tried to keep him from leaving them. ⁴³But he said, "I must preach the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns also, because that is why I was sent." ⁴⁴And he kept on preaching in the synagogues of Judea.^b

5 One day as Jesus was standing by the Lake of Gennesaret,^c with the people crowding around him and listening to the word of God, ²he saw at the water's edge two boats, left there by the fishermen, who were washing their nets. ³He got into one of the boats, the one belonging to Simon, and asked him to put out a little from shore. Then he sat down and taught the people from the boat.

⁴When he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, "Put out into deep water, and let down^d the nets for a catch."

⁵Simon answered, "Master, we've worked hard all night and haven't caught anything. But because you say so, I will let down the nets."

⁶When they had done so, they caught such a large number of fish that their nets began to break.

⁷So they signaled their partners in the other boat to come and help them, and they came and filled both boats so full that they began to sink.

⁸When Simon Peter saw this, he fell at Jesus' knees and said, "Go away from me, Lord; I am a sinful man!" ⁹For he and all his companions were astonished at the catch of fish they had taken, ¹⁰and so were James and John, the sons of Zebedee, Simon's partners.

Then Jesus said to Simon, "Don't be afraid; from now on you will catch men." ¹¹So they pulled their boats up on shore, left everything and followed him.

The Man With Leprosy

¹²While Jesus was in one of the towns, a man came along who was covered with leprosy.^e When he saw Jesus, he fell with his face to the ground and begged him, "Lord, if you are willing, you can make me clean."

¹³Jesus reached out his hand and touched the man. "I am willing," he said. "Be clean!" And immediately the leprosy left him.

¹⁴Then Jesus ordered him, "Don't tell anyone, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer the sacrifices that Moses commanded for your cleansing, as a testimony to them."

¹⁵Yet the news about him spread all the more, so that crowds of people came to hear him and to be healed of their sicknesses. ¹⁶But Jesus often withdrew to lonely places and prayed.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

¹⁷One day as he was teaching, Pharisees and teachers of the law, who had come from every village of Galilee and from Judea and Jerusalem, were sitting there. And the power of the Lord was present for him to heal the sick. ¹⁸Some men came carrying a paralytic on a mat and tried to take him into the house to lay him before Jesus. ¹⁹When they could not find a way to do this because of the crowd, they went up on the roof and lowered him on his mat through the tiles into the middle of the crowd, right in front of Jesus.

²⁰When Jesus saw their faith, he said, "Friend, your sins are forgiven."

²¹The Pharisees and the teachers of the law began thinking to themselves, "Who is this fellow who speaks blasphemy? Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

²²Jesus knew what they were thinking and asked, "Why are you thinking these things in your hearts? ²³Which is easier: to say, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Get up and walk'? ²⁴But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins. . . ." He said to the paralytic, "I tell you, get up, take your mat and go home." ²⁵Immediately he stood up in front of them, took what he had been lying on and went home praising God. ²⁶Everyone was amazed and gave praise to God. They were filled with awe and said, "We have seen remarkable things today."

The Calling of Levi

²⁷After this, Jesus went out and saw a tax collector by the name of Levi sitting at his tax booth. "Follow me," Jesus said to him, ²⁸and Levi got up, left everything and followed him.

²⁹Then Levi held a great banquet for Jesus at his house, and a large crowd of tax collectors and others were eating with them. ³⁰But the Pharisees and the teachers of the law who belonged to their sect complained to his disciples, "Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and 'sinners'?"

³¹Jesus answered them, "It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. ³²I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Jesus Questioned About Fasting

³³They said to him, "John's disciples often fast and pray, and so do the disciples of the Pharisees, but yours go on eating and drinking."

³⁴Jesus answered, "Can you make the guests of the bridegroom fast while he is with them? ³⁵But the time will come when the bridegroom will be taken from them; in those days they will fast."

³⁶He told them this parable: "No one tears a patch from a new garment and sews it on an old one. If he does, he will have torn the new garment, and the patch from the new will not match the old. ³⁷And no one pours new wine into old wineskins. If he does, the new wine will burst the skins, the wine will run out and the wineskins will be ruined. ³⁸No, new wine must be poured into new wineskins. ³⁹And no one after drinking old wine wants the new, for he says, 'The old is better.'"

eat the kernels. ²⁵Some of the Pharisees asked, "Why are you doing what is unlawful on the Sabbath?"

Jesus answered them, "Have you never read what David did when he and his companions were hungry? ⁴He entered the house of God, and taking the consecrated bread, he ate what is lawful only for priests to eat. And he also gave some to his companions." ⁵Then Jesus said to them, "The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath."

⁶On another Sabbath he went into the synagogue and was teaching, and a man was there whose right hand was shriveled. ⁷The Pharisees and the teachers of the law were looking for a reason to accuse Jesus, so they watched him closely to see if he would heal on the Sabbath. ⁸But Jesus knew what they were thinking and said to the man with the shriveled hand, "Get up and stand in front of everyone." So he got up and stood there.

Then Jesus said to them, "I ask you, which is lawful on the Sabbath: to do good or to do evil, to save life or to destroy it?"

¹⁰He looked around at them all, and then said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He did so, and his hand was completely restored. ¹¹But they were furious and began to discuss with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

¹²One of those days Jesus went out to a mountainside to pray, and spent the night praying to God. ¹³When morning came, he called his disciples to him and chose twelve of them, whom he also designated apostles: ¹⁴Simon (whom he named Peter), his brother Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, ¹⁵Matthew, Thomas, James son of Alphaeus, Simon who was called the Zealot, ¹⁶Judas son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.

Blessings and Woes

¹⁷He went down with them and stood on a level place. A large crowd of his disciples was there and a great number of people from all over Judea, from Jerusalem, and from the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who had come to hear him and to be healed of their diseases. Those troubled by evil spirits were cured, ¹⁹and the people all tried to touch him, because power was coming from him and healing them all.

6:9 When Love and Rules Conflict

Luke's vignettes on Jesus and the Sabbath (see also 13:10-17, demonstrate the legalism Jesus opposed. Jews of his day observed very strict rules governing what could be done on the Sabbath. Religious leaders became furious at Jesus for "breaking" the traditions. His crime? Healing people on the Sabbath. Jesus refused to let traditions interfere with compassion for needy people.

²⁰Looking at his disciples, he said:

"Blessed are you who are poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

²¹Blessed are you who hunger now, for you will be satisfied.

Blessed are you who weep now, for you will laugh.

²²Blessed are you when men hate you, when they exclude you and insult you and reject your name as evil, because of the Son of Man.

²³"Rejoice in that day and leap for joy, because great is your reward in heaven. For that is how their fathers treated the prophets.

²⁴"But woe to you who are rich, for you have already received your comfort.

²⁵Woe to you who are well fed now, for you will go hungry.

Woe to you who laugh now, for you will mourn and weep.

²⁶Woe to you when all men speak well of you, for that is how their fathers treated the false prophets.

Love for Enemies

²⁷"But I tell you who hear me: Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, ²⁸bless those who curse you, pray for those who mistreat you. ²⁹If someone strikes you on one cheek, turn to him the other also. If someone takes your cloak, do not stop him from taking your tunic. ³⁰Give to everyone who asks you, and if anyone takes what belongs to you, do not demand it back. ³¹Do to others as you would have them do to you.

³²"If you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? Even 'sinners' love those who love them. ³³And if you do good to those who are good to you, what credit is that to you? Even 'sinners' do that. ³⁴And if you lend to those from whom you expect repayment, what credit is that to you? Even 'sinners' lend to 'sinners,' expecting to be repaid in full. ³⁵But love your enemies, do good to them, and lend to them without expecting to get anything back. Then your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High, because he is kind to the ungrateful and wicked. ³⁶Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful.

³⁷"Do not judge, and you will not be judged. Do not condemn, and you will not be condemned. Forgive, and you will be forgiven. ³⁸Give, and it will be given to you. A good measure, pressed down, shaken together and running over, will be poured into your lap. For with the measure you use, it will be measured to you."

³⁹He also told them this parable: "Can a blind man lead a blind man? Will they not both fall into a pit? ⁴⁰A student is not above his teacher, but everyone who is fully trained will be like his teacher.

⁴¹"Why do you look at the speck of sawdust in your brother's eye and pay no attention to the plank in your own eye? ⁴²How can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me take the speck out of your eye,' when you yourself fail to see the plank in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the plank out of your eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother's eye.

A Tree and Its Fruit

⁴³"No good tree bears bad fruit, nor does a bad tree bear good fruit. ⁴⁴Each tree is recognized by its own fruit. People do not pick figs from thorn-bushes, or grapes from briers. ⁴⁵The good man brings good things out of the good stored up in his heart, and the evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in his heart. For out of the overflow of his heart his mouth speaks.

The Wise and Foolish Builders

⁴⁶"Why do you call me, 'Lord, Lord,' and do not do what I say? ⁴⁷I will show you what he is like who comes to me and hears my words and puts them into practice. ⁴⁸He is like a man building a house, who dug down deep and laid the foundation on rock. When a flood came, the torrent struck that house but could not shake it, because it was well built. ⁴⁹But the one who hears my words and does not put them into practice is like a man who built a house on the ground without a foundation. The moment the torrent struck that house, it collapsed and its destruction was complete."

The Faith of the Centurion

⁷ When Jesus had finished saying all this in the hearing of the people, he entered Capernaum. ² There a centurion's servant, whom his master valued highly, was sick and about to die. ³ The centurion heard of Jesus and sent some elders of the Jews to him, asking him to come and heal his servant. ⁴ When they came to Jesus, they pleaded earnestly with him, "This man deserves to have you do this, ⁵ because he loves our nation and has built our synagogue." ⁶ So Jesus went with them.

He was not far from the house when the centurion sent friends to say to him: "Lord, don't trouble yourself, for I do not deserve to have you come under my roof. ⁷ That is why I did not even consider myself worthy to come to you. But say the word, and my servant will be healed. ⁸ For I myself am a man under authority, with soldiers under me. I tell this one, 'Go,' and he goes; and that one, 'Come,' and he comes. I say to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it."

⁹ When Jesus heard this, he was amazed at him, and turning to the crowd following him, he said, "I tell you, I have not found such great faith even in Israel." ¹⁰ Then the men who had been sent returned to the house and found the servant well.

Jesus Raises a Widow's Son

¹¹ Soon afterward, Jesus went to a town called Nain, and his disciples and a large crowd went along with him. ¹² As he approached the town gate, a dead person was being carried out—the only son of his mother, and she was a widow. And a large crowd from the town was with her. ¹³ When the Lord saw her, his heart went out to her and he said, "Don't cry."

¹⁴ Then he went up and touched the coffin and those carrying it stood still. He said, "Young man, I say to you, get up!" ¹⁵ The dead man sat up and began to talk, and Jesus gave him back to his mother.

¹⁶ They were all filled with awe and praised God. "A great prophet has appeared among us," they said. "God has come to help his people." ¹⁷ This news about Jesus spread throughout Judea and the surrounding country.

Jesus and John the Baptist

¹⁸ John's disciples told him about all these things. Calling two of them, ¹⁹ he sent them to the Lord to ask, "Are you the one who was to come, or should we expect someone else?"

²⁰ When the men came to Jesus, they said, "John the Baptist sent us to you to ask, 'Are you the one who was to come, or should we expect someone else?'"

²¹ At that very time Jesus cured many who had diseases, sicknesses and evil spirits, and gave sight to many who were blind. ²² So he replied to the messengers, "Go back and report to John what you have seen and heard: The blind receive sight, the lame walk, those who have leprosy^a are cured, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the good news is preached to the poor. ²³ Blessed is the man who does not fall away on account of me."

²⁴ After John's messengers left, Jesus began to speak to the crowd about John: "What did you go out into the desert to see? A reed swayed by the wind? ²⁵ If not, what did you go out to see? A man dressed in fine clothes? No, those who wear expensive clothes and indulge in luxury are in palaces. ²⁶ But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. ²⁷ This is the one about whom it is written:

"I will send my messenger ahead of you, who will prepare your way before you."

²⁸ I tell you, among those born of women there is no one greater than John; yet the one who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he."

²⁹ (All the people, even the tax collectors, when they heard Jesus' words, acknowledged that God's way was right, because they had been baptized by John. ³⁰ But the Pharisees and experts in the law

7:19 Even John Questioned

The crowds Jesus attracted wavered between enthusiastic support and outright rejection of him. Evidently, some of the controversy even affected John the Baptist, who had baptized Jesus and pronounced him the Son of God (see John 1:34). John, then in prison, sent his disciples to confirm whether Jesus was the true Messiah. Jesus reassured him with a direct reference to the prophecies of Isaiah 61 (see also Luke 4:18-21).

rejected God's purpose for themselves, because they had not been baptized by John.)

³¹"To what, then, can I compare the people of this generation? What are they like? ³²They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling out to each other

We played the flute for you,
and you did not dance;
we sang a dirge,
and you did not cry.'

³⁴For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, 'He has a demon.'

³⁴The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and you say, 'Here is a glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and "sinners."' ³⁵But wisdom is proved right by all her children."

Jesus Anointed by a Sinful Woman

³⁶Now one of the Pharisees invited Jesus to have dinner with him, so he went to the Pharisee's house and reclined at the table. ³⁷When a woman who had lived a sinful life in that town learned that Jesus was eating at the Pharisee's house, she brought an alabaster jar of perfume, ³⁸and as she stood behind him at his feet weeping, she began to wet his feet with her tears. Then she wiped them with her hair, kissed them and poured perfume on them

³⁹When the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he said to himself, "If this man were a prophet, he would know who is touching him and what kind of woman she is—that she is a sinner."

⁴⁰Jesus answered him, "Simon, I have something to tell you."

"Tell me, teacher," he said

⁴¹"Two men owed money to a certain moneylender. One owed him five hundred denarii,^a and the other fifty. ⁴²Neither of them had the money to pay him back, so he canceled the debts of both. Now which of them will love him more?"

⁴³Simon replied, "I suppose the one who had the bigger debt canceled."

"You have judged correctly," Jesus said.

⁴⁴Then he turned toward the woman and said to Simon, "Do you see this woman? I came into your house. You did not give me any water for my feet, but she wet my feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. ⁴⁵You did not give me a kiss, but this woman, from the time I entered, has not stopped kissing my feet. ⁴⁶You did not put oil on my head, but she has poured perfume on my feet. ⁴⁷Therefore, I tell you, her many sins have been forgiven for she loved much. But he who has been forgiven little loves little."

⁴⁸Then Jesus said to her, "Your sins are forgiven."

⁴⁹The other guests began to say among themselves, "Who is this who even forgives sins?"

⁵⁰Jesus said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you; go in peace."

The Parable of the Sower

8 After this, Jesus traveled about from one town and village to another, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom of God. The Twelve were with him, ²and also some women who had been cured of evil spirits and diseases: Mary (called Magdalene) from whom seven demons had come out; ³Joanna the wife of Cuza, the manager of Herod's household, Susanna; and many others. These women were helping to support them out of their own means.

⁴While a large crowd was gathering and people were coming to Jesus from town after town, he told this parable: ⁵"A farmer went out to sow his seed. As he was scattering the seed, some fell along the path; it was trampled on, and the birds of the air ate it up. ⁶Some fell on rock, and when it came up, the plants withered because they had no moisture. ⁷Other seed fell among thorns, which grew up with it and choked the plants. ⁸Still other seed fell on good soil. It came up and yielded a crop, a hundred times more than was sown."

When he said this, he called out, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear."

⁹His disciples asked him what this parable meant. ¹⁰He said, "The knowledge of the secrets of the kingdom of God has been given to you, but to others I speak in parables, so that,

"though seeing, they may not see;
though hearing, they may not understand."

¹¹"This is the meaning of the parable: The seed is the word of God. ¹²Those along the path are the ones who hear, and then the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts, so that they may not believe and be saved. ¹³Those on the rock are the ones who receive the word with joy when they hear it, but they have no root. They believe for a while, but in the time of testing they fall away. ¹⁴The seed that fell among thorns stands for those who hear, but as they go on their way they are choked by life's worries, riches and pleasures, and they do not mature. ¹⁵But the seed on good soil stands for those with a noble and good heart, who hear the word, retain it, and by persevering produce a crop

¹⁶"No one lights a lamp and hides it in a jar or puts it under a bed. Instead, he puts it on a stand, so that those who come in can see the light. ¹⁷For there is nothing hidden that will not be disclosed,

8:3 How Did Jesus Support Himself?

In the Middle East of that day, teachers traveled from town to town, accepting the gifts of appreciative listeners. Luke points out that certain women who had been healed by Jesus helped provide for him. In all, Luke introduces 13 women who do not appear in the other Gospels.

and nothing concealed that will not be known or brought out into the open. ¹⁸Therefore consider carefully how you listen. Whoever has will be given more; whoever does not have, even what he thinks he has will be taken from him."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers

¹⁹Now Jesus' mother and brothers came to see him, but they were not able to get near him because of the crowd. ²⁰Someone told him, "Your mother and brothers are standing outside, wanting to see you."

²¹He replied, "My mother and brothers are those who hear God's word and put it into practice."

Jesus Calms the Storm

²²One day Jesus said to his disciples, "Let's go over to the other side of the lake." So they got into a boat and set out. ²³As they sailed, he fell asleep. A squall came down on the lake, so that the boat was being swamped, and they were in great danger.

²⁴The disciples went and woke him, saying, "Master, Master, we're going to drown!"

He got up and rebuked the wind and the raging waters; the storm subsided, and all was calm. ²⁵"Where is your faith?" he asked his disciples.

In fear and amazement they asked one another, "Who is this? He commands even the winds and the water, and they obey him."

The Healing of a Demon-possessed Man

²⁶They sailed to the region of the Gerasenes,^a which is across the lake from Galilee. ²⁷When Jesus stepped ashore, he was met by a demon-possessed man from the town. For a long time this man had not worn clothes or lived in a house, but had lived in the tombs. ²⁸When he saw Jesus, he cried out and fell at his feet, shouting at the top of his voice, "What do you want with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg you, don't torture me!" ²⁹For Jesus had commanded the evil^b spirit to come out of the man. Many times it had seized him, and though he was chained hand and foot and kept under guard, he had broken his chains and had been driven by the demon into solitary places.

³⁰Jesus asked him, "What is your name?"

"Legion," he replied, because many demons had gone into him. ³¹And they begged him repeatedly not to order them to go into the Abyss.

³²A large herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside. The demons begged Jesus to let them go into them, and he gave them permission. ³³When the demons came out of the man, they went into the pigs, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake and was drowned.

³⁴When those tending the pigs saw what had happened, they ran off and reported this in the town and countryside, ³⁵and the people went out to see what had happened. When they came to Jesus, they found the man from whom the demons had gone out, sitting at Jesus' feet, dressed and in his right mind; and they were afraid. ³⁶Those who had seen it told the people how the demon-possessed man had been cured. ³⁷Then all the people of the region of the Gerasenes asked Jesus to leave them, because they were overcome with fear. So he got into the boat and left.

³⁸The man from whom the demons had gone out begged to go with him, but Jesus sent him away, saying, ³⁹"Return home and tell how much God has done for you." So the man went away and told all over town how much Jesus had done for him.

A Dead Girl and a Sick Woman

⁴⁰Now when Jesus returned, a crowd welcomed him, for they were all expecting him. ⁴¹Then a man named Jairus, a ruler of the synagogue, came and fell at Jesus' feet, pleading with him to come to his house ⁴²because his only daughter, a girl of about twelve, was dying.

As Jesus was on his way, the crowds almost crushed him. ⁴³And a woman was there who had been subject to bleeding for twelve years,^c but no one could heal her. ⁴⁴She came up behind him and touched the edge of his cloak, and immediately her bleeding stopped.

⁴⁵"Who touched me?" Jesus asked.

When they all denied it, Peter said, "Master, the people are crowding and pressing against you."

⁴⁶But Jesus said, "Someone touched me; I know that power has gone out from me."

⁴⁷Then the woman, seeing that she could not go unnoticed, came trembling and fell at his feet. In the presence of all the people, she told why she had touched him and how she had been instantly healed. ⁴⁸Then he said to her, "Daughter, your faith has healed you. Go in peace."

⁴⁹While Jesus was still speaking, someone came from the house of Jairus, the synagogue ruler. "Your daughter is dead," he said. "Don't bother the teacher any more."

⁵⁰Hearing this, Jesus said to Jairus, "Don't be afraid; just believe, and she will be healed."

⁵¹When he arrived at the house of Jairus, he did not let anyone go in with him except Peter, John and James, and the child's father and mother. ⁵²Meanwhile, all the people were waiting and mourning for her. "Stop wailing," Jesus said. "She is not dead but asleep."

⁵³They laughed at him, knowing that she was dead. ⁵⁴But he took her by the hand and said, "My child, get up!" ⁵⁵Her spirit returned, and at once she stood up. Then Jesus told them to give her something to eat. ⁵⁶Her parents were astonished, but he ordered them not to tell anyone what had happened.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve

9 When Jesus had called the Twelve together, he gave them power and authority to drive out all demons and to cure diseases, ²and he sent them out to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick. ³He told them: "Take nothing for the journey—no staff, no bag, no bread, no money, no extra “Whatever house you enter, stay there until you leave that town. If people do not welcome you, shake the dust off your feet when you leave town, as a testimony against them.”⁶ So they went out and went from village to village, preaching the gospel and healing people everywhere.

Now Herod the tetrarch heard about all that Jesus was doing. And he was perplexed because some were saying that John had been raised from the dead. Others that Elijah had appeared, and still others that one of the prophets of long ago had come back to life. But Herod said, “I beheaded John. Who, then, is this I hear such things about?” And he tried to see him.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

¹⁰When the apostles returned, they reported to Jesus what they had done. Then he took them with him and they withdrew by themselves to a town called Bethsaida, ¹¹but the crowds learned about it

INSIGHT

The Power of a Name

Jesus' time on earth was running out

He who listens to you, listens to me; he who rejects you, rejects me. 10:16

Christians speak in the name of Jesus. But that familiar phrase may not be clear for some of us. It is similar to when someone writes a letter as a representative of a government. The words have more power and effect than if the letter is sent in the name of the writer only.

It is one thing to represent the ruler of your country, it is quite another to represent God and use his name. Yet Jesus had exactly that plan in mind for his followers. He hand-selected simple folk like James and Andrew to bear his name and represent him to the world. In the same way that a governor or president delegates authority to people acting on his behalf, Jesus gave his followers his own authority and power.

Jesus' time on earth was running out. Luke 9:51 records that he “resolutely set out for Jerusalem” on his way to die. Only a few weeks remained for him to train those people who would be left behind to carry his name: “Christ-ians.” Jesus used the time as a crash training course for his followers.

Chapters 9-19 contain many of Jesus' events and sayings found nowhere else in the Bible. First he sent out the Twelve, then 72 others, to announce his message to all who would listen. These chapters convey Jesus' last detailed instructions to his loyal followers.

Final Instructions

Everything about Jesus' life increased in intensity along the treacherous road to Jerusalem. As he taught his small group of disciples, gawking crowds shoved in from all sides, sometimes even trampling each other. From those crowds, Pharisees tossed out hard questions, seeking to trap Jesus.

Jesus did not soften his words in the face of danger. Instead, he emphasized the severe cost of following him. Frequently he talked about prayer, the church's life-giving connection to the Father.

Later, the apostle Paul would say that we, the church, actually form Christ's body in the world. By coming to earth and then leaving, Jesus ushered in a completely new chapter in history. And, as he prepared for departure, he called on his people—the disciples, and us—to represent him. In every sense, we bear his name.

Life Questions What does it mean to pray “in Jesus' name”? How can your life have the power and authority of Jesus behind it?

and followed him. He welcomed them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who needed healing.

¹²Late in the afternoon the Twelve came to him and said, "Send the crowd away so they can go to the surrounding villages and countryside and find food and lodging, because we are in a remote place here."

¹³He replied, "You give them something to eat."

They answered, "We have only five loaves of bread and two fish—unless we go and buy food for all this crowd." ¹⁴(About five thousand men were there.)

But he said to his disciples, "Have them sit down in groups of about fifty each." ¹⁵The disciples did so, and everybody sat down. ¹⁶Taking the five loaves and the two fish and looking up to heaven, he gave thanks and broke them. Then he gave them to the disciples to set before the people. ¹⁷They all ate and were satisfied, and the disciples picked up twelve basketfuls of broken pieces that were left over.

Peter's Confession of Christ

¹⁸Once when Jesus was praying in private and his disciples were with him, he asked them, "Who do the crowds say I am?"

¹⁹They replied, "Some say John the Baptist; others say Elijah; and still others, that one of the prophets of long ago has come back to life."

²⁰"But what about you?" he asked. "Who do you say I am?"

Peter answered, "The Christ^a of God."

²¹Jesus strictly warned them not to tell this to anyone. ²²And he said, "The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and he must be killed and on the third day be raised to life."

²³Then he said to them all: "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me. ²⁴For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me will save it. ²⁵What good is it for a man to gain the whole world, and yet lose or forfeit his very self? ²⁶If anyone is ashamed of me and my words, the Son of Man will be ashamed of him when he comes in his glory and in the glory of the Father and of the holy angels. ²⁷I tell you the truth, some who are standing here will not taste death before they see the kingdom of God."

The Transfiguration

²⁸About eight days after Jesus said this, he took Peter, John and James with him and went up onto a mountain to pray. ²⁹As he was praying, the appearance of his face changed, and his clothes became as bright as a flash of lightning. ³⁰Two men, Moses and Elijah, ³¹appeared in glorious splendor, talking with Jesus. They spoke about his departure, which he was about to bring to fulfillment at Jerusalem. ³²Peter and his companions were very sleepy, but when they became fully awake, they saw his glory and the two men standing with him. ³³As the men were leaving Jesus,

Peter said to him, "Master, it is good for us to be here. Let us put up three shelters—one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah." (He did not know what he was saying.)

³⁴While he was speaking, a cloud appeared and enveloped them, and they were afraid as they entered the cloud. ³⁵A voice came from the cloud, saying, "This is my Son, whom I have chosen, listen to him." ³⁶When the voice had spoken, they found that Jesus was alone. The disciples kept this to themselves, and told no one at that time what they had seen.

The Healing of a Boy With an Evil Spirit

³⁷The next day, when they came down from the mountain, a large crowd met him. ³⁸A man in the crowd called out, "Teacher, I beg you to look at my son, for he is my only child. ³⁹A spirit seizes him and he suddenly screams; it throws him into convulsions so that he foams at the mouth. It scarcely ever leaves him and is destroying him. ⁴⁰I begged your disciples to drive it out, but they could not."

⁴¹"O unbelieving and perverse generation," Jesus replied, "how long shall I stay with you and put up with you? Bring your son here."

⁴²Even while the boy was coming, the demon threw him to the ground in a convulsion. But Jesus rebuked the evil^b spirit, healed the boy and gave him back to his father. ⁴³And they were all amazed at the greatness of God.

While everyone was marveling at all that Jesus did, he said to his disciples, ⁴⁴"Listen carefully to what I am about to tell you: The Son of Man is going to be betrayed into the hands of men." ⁴⁵But they did not understand what this meant. It was hidden from them, so that they did not grasp it, and they were afraid to ask him about it.

Who Will Be the Greatest?

⁴⁶An argument started among the disciples as to which of them would be the greatest. ⁴⁷Jesus, knowing their thoughts, took a little child and had him stand beside him. ⁴⁸Then he said to them, "Whoever welcomes this little child in my name welcomes me; and whoever welcomes me welcomes the one who sent me. For he who is least among you all—he is the greatest."

⁴⁹"Master," said John, "we saw a man driving out demons in your name and we tried to stop him, because he is not one of us."

⁵⁰"Do not stop him," Jesus said, "for whoever is not against you is for you."

Samaritan Opposition

⁵¹As the time approached for him to be taken up to heaven, Jesus resolutely set out for Jerusalem. ⁵²And he sent messengers on ahead, who went into a Samaritan village to get things ready for him. ⁵³But the people there did not welcome him, because he was heading for Jerusalem. ⁵⁴When the disciples James and John saw this, they asked, "Lord, do you want us to call fire down from heaven to destroy them?" ⁵⁵But Jesus turned and rebuked them, ³⁶and they went to another village.

The Cost of Following Jesus

As they were walking along the road, a man said to him, "I will follow you wherever you go."

Jesus replied, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has no place for his head."

He said to another man, "Follow me."

But the man replied, "Lord, first let me go and bury my father."

Jesus said to him, "Let the dead bury their dead, but you go and proclaim the kingdom of God."

Another said, "I will follow you, Lord; but let me go back and say good-by to my family."
